WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — An Air Force jet tanker plane, in trouble and apparently trying to return to base, fell into a residential area Saturday, killing at least 30 persons.

At least 17 persons were injured and scores of persons were left homeless.

Fourteen homes were wiped out in the devastating crash, explosion and fire that spread from the plane. At least 30 other houses were damaged.

The bodies of 23 civilians were taken to a temporary morgue set up in the auditorium of the City-County Health Department. The bodies of six Air Force personnel were taken elsewhere by military authorities.

The Air Force identified the seven men on the plane. None survived.

Center of the crash was near the intersection of 20th St. and Piatt Avenue, six blocks from Wichita State University in northeast Wichita. The area is a predominantly Negro neighborhood with houses in the $10,000 class.

The plane took off from McConnell Air Force Base, six miles south of the crash scene, three minutes before it fell. It was on a test mission with a B52 bomber.

Col. Tom Murphy, director of safety for the 2nd Air Force, said the tanker started dumping fuel over the university and made a turn of almost 180 degrees. It struck the ground while in the turn.

Murphy said members of the plane crew blew open an escape hatch just below the nose of the plane before it crashed.

Officers from McConnell said a radio operator there heard only the word "May Day" — a distress signal — before the crash.

Dr. Robert Daniels, coroner, who reported the number of dead, said the bodies of only five of the civilians were intact enough for visual identification.

The Straotanker was based at Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base, Okla.

A county sheriff's officer, Gilbert Roman, who witnessed the crash, said he saw a metallic fragment fall from its tail just before the tanker crashed into the ground.

Roman said another plane with military markings appeared to be following it, but there was no indication of a collision.

Another witness, Keith Sanborn, Sedgwick County attorney, said the plane appeared to be making a normal left turn and what appeared to be fuel was streaming out of the back of the plane.

"It looked like any other plane making a turn until it started losing altitude and then it appeared to be going straight

Elmer Ellis, who was in his home a block away, said the crash sounded like an earthquake. There followed a series of small explosions which witnesses said resembled the firing of small arms ammunition.

A temporary morgue was set up in a vacant lot a hundred feet from the wreckage and bodies and portions of bodies were brought there.

The devastation and pathos was hard for the mind to grasp, even when you looked at it.

Churchill Weakens

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's strength seemed slowly ebbing early Sunday.

His physician said he had weakened in his fight for survival.

Felled by a stroke Friday, the 90-year-old statesman slept peacefully and painlessly.

After a 31-minute visit to the bedside Saturday night, Churchill's personal doctor, Lord Moran, 82, issued this bulletin:

"Sir Winston is a little weaker but he has slept peacefully throughout the day."

A medical spokesman predicted that Churchill would probably continue to get gradually weaker.

Moran's words gave no hope to the anxious world, or to the hushed hundreds who had gathered in the rain outside Churchill's red brick home in a quiet London residential section.

Sir Winston's son Randolph said after visiting his father that the old man was struggling for life with "a subconscious, indomitable will to survive."

A British Medical Association spokesman said after Lord Moran's latest bulletin was issued:

"I think this must be regarded now — unless there is some improvement — as an indication that he will get gradually weaker."

Moran read his bulletin to a crush of newspaper and television reporters outside the Churchill home.

A crowd of about 300 anxious watchers leaned forward to try to hear the message which Moran brought.

But only those in the front, held back by a swaying line of London bobbies could hear his softly-spoken words.

The drama was played out in a narrow, gas-lit dead end street in South Kensington, in London's West End. The Churchill house is No. 28 Hyde Park Gate — a sedate, red-brick residence.

Every word on Churchill's condition was flashed to worried admirers around the world — from ordinary men in the street to Queen Elizabeth II in her palace and President Johnson at his Texas ranch.

The first bulletin of the day — issued in mid-morning — said: "Sir Winston had a peaceful night. There is no material change in his condition."

A relative, Mrs. Anthony Henley, who had joined Lady Churchill in her bedside vigil, explained that Churchill was not suffering. She said:

"He's very peaceful. He's conscious, or partly so, and doesn't realize he's very ill. He's comfortable."

Mrs. Henley is a cousin of Lady Churchill.

Blizzard Deals Crippling Wallop to Eastern U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — A blizzard hit a huge section of the East with a powerful wallop Saturday, piling up mountainous snowdrifts in spots and making highways hazardous. Several deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the storm.

The blizzard's main fury was unleashed in a roughly triangular area stretching from Baltimore, Md., to Cape Cod, Mass., to Albany, N.Y. But many other areas were hit almost equally as hard by high winds and heavy snow.

The midsection of Indiana was all but paralyzed by a snowstorm driven by 46-mile-an-hour winds which whipped up drifts as high as 10 feet.

Thousands of motorists were stranded on snowblocked Indiana roads and highways. Many were forced to remain in their cars overnight.

Gov. Roger D. Branigin called out the Indiana National Guard for emergency duty.

Indianapolis was crippled by a snowfall of 12 inches, which brought transportation close to a standstill. Many stores remained closed.

New York City called out a work force of 6,000 men in an effort to keep streets clear. The blizzard in the city was marked by gale force winds, temperatures in the low teens and a heavy snow which was expected to continue into Sunday.

The city's woes were multiplied by the fact that in some places three or four inches of snow remained from a previous storm.

The New York Weather Bureau said blizzard conditions prevailed in Connecticut, Long Island and eastern Pennsylvania. Tides along the coast were running about two feet above normal and increasing to four

Cactus Will Not Be Stolen Any More

LONDON (AP) — Officials at Kew Gardens were baffled because the cactus plants were disappearing from the famed Botanical House.

"We lost three plants before we realized what was happening," said one official.

"We have 1,600 types of succulents to choose from. I couldn't understand why they wanted two of the same species."

A youth at a nearby coffee house told newsmen the plants were stolen — one by one — in weekend raids.

The youth said he knew teenagers chewed leaves of the plants at weekend parties. They contained mescaline an hypnotic drug that induces hallucinations. Now the plants are under lock and key.

16 Arrested in Plot to Murder Civil Workers

By ED MCCUSKER

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — U.S. marshals Saturday arrested 18 white men charged by the Justice Department with a Ku Klux Klan-inspired plot that snuffed out the lives of three civil rights workers last summer.

Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, and his deputy, Cecil Price, 26, were among those taken into custody at Philadelphia, Miss., as the season's first snow fell on the tense east-central Mississippi town.

A fiery segregationist Baptist preacher, a high school dropout, several truck drivers and gas station attendants also were picked up. The arrests started a two-pronged attempt by the government to prosecute the men accused of a conspiracy that brought death to two white and one Negro civil rights workers.

A federal grand jury at Jackson — the Mississippi capital — indicted 18 persons in all. But only 16 arrests could be confirmed. The other two men were believed to be somewhere outside Mississippi.

Most of the 18, said the FBI, belonged to or sympathized with the Klan. The FBI said it infiltrated the Klan and questioned more than 480 members in its exhaustive investigation.

The twin indictments revealed for the first time a government charge that Price had held the victims in the Neshoba County Jail while the mob gathered.

Then, the indictment claims, Price and an accomplice, gas station attendant Billy Wayne Posey, 26, drove the trio out of town, where Price put them in a sheriff's car and took them down a lonely road.

Posey, the government then alleged, drove the bodies from the slaying scene to an earthen dam where they were found after a 44-day search by the FBI and 400 sailors sent to the swampy scene on orders of President Johnson.

Shapeless White UFO Sighted by Driver, Students

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP) — Seven high school students and a school bus driver have reported sighting a shapeless white object in the sky north of Waynesboro.

It was the fifth reported sighting of an unidentified flying object in this Shenandoah Valley area in recent weeks.

The Air Force in Washington said it had no report of such an incident.

The students said they saw the object—a shapeless glow of light—in the sky near Dooms about 6 p.m. Thursday.

This was at the same time the Lester Hogshead family of Rt 2 Waynesboro reported seeing a bright object hovering above the ground.

The students and the driver said they saw it for about three minutes. It was not moving.

Mrs. Margueritte Bolton of Waynesboro said she also saw a UFO Thursday night. She said it was round and orange-colored.

Horace Burns, a Grottoes gunsmith, and Kenneth Norton Jr., a 14-year-old Staunton High School student, both said they saw a UFO on Dec. 21. The sightings were not disclosed for several weeks, however.

Burns' report of a UFO beside U.S. 250 between Staunton and Waynesboro brought an Air Force investigation team from

Soviet Atomic Blast Biggest To This Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Saturday that an underground nuclear event in the Soviet Union Friday was the largest recorded to date.

A spokesman refused to call it an explosion, but said if it were assumed to be an explosion it probably was in the low intermediate range of 20 to 200 kilotons.

A kiloton is the equivalent of the explosion of 1,000 tons of TNT. The atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima in World War II was about 20 kilotons.

The official announcement confirmed reports from Uppsala, Sweden Friday.

Bomb Found at Swimming Pool In Viet Capital

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — American servicemen, their wives and children were evacuated from a large swimming pool Saturday when Vietnamese police discovered a huge bomb hidden near the pool.

The bomb, 40 pounds of TNT, was concealed in a large flower pot 10 feet from the normally crowded pool. Detonator wires had been led through holes in the pot so that a magneto could easily be attached.

The swimming pool is operated by the U.S. Command and only American servicemen and

Unions Demand Nationalization of Railroads

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail labor union chiefs urged Saturday that the government buy and operate the country's railroads. A management spokesman called the proposal a pressure tactic by frustrated men.

G.E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, announced the group's decision, which came as a reversal of a 45-year-old union policy of opposition to nationalization of the carriers.

Leighty told a news conference also that "we are quite close to setting a strike date" in a lingering dispute between the railroads and a group of non-operating unions.

Leighty said a majority of the chiefs of the 22 unions making up the Railway Labor Executives' Association reached a unanimous decision for government ownership at a Washington meeting Friday after a week's discussion.

This will be formally adopted by the whole association at a Feb. 22 meeting in Miami when specific legislative proposals are to be drawn, Leighty added.

The general basis for the association's decision, Leighty said, is that "Present management of the railroad industry no longer has sufficient concern for the interests and needs of the general public to be entrusted with the ownership of the most fundamental and most essential part of our nation's transportation system."

More specific reasons, Leighty said, are:

"1. The failure of the railroads to give adequate service, reflected in the 'progressive elimination' of passenger trains and the failure of the carriers to provide adequate equipment and service for freight shipments.

"2. The persistent refusal by rail management to join with railroad labor to establish adequate safety measures for the protection of both passengers and workers.

"3. The 'chaos in the industry's labor relations.'"

J.E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief spokesman for management, said in a statement:

"The labor union spokesmen have let their frustration get the better of their common sense. The men they represent would be hardest hit by nationalization. Furthermore, they are completely out of step with public sentiment which, in a recent nationwide opinion poll rejected nationalization by a 9-1 vote.

"I think the public will recognize this nationalization proposal as a pressure tactic by the unions. If the unions were successful in their demands for the recall of thousands of unnecessary employes the railroads could not survive."

The unions' proposal brought no immediate reaction from the White House.

Leighty, however, said that he "confidently expects serious consideration" of the recommendation by President Johnson and added that there are several senators and representatives — whom he did not name —who are prepared to introduce necessary legislation.

Senators available for comment generally opposed the nationalization idea but some agreed with the idea that the railroads are not meeting their obligations in serving the public.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader from Montana, said nationalization would be "unwise and uncalled for" but mergers should be checked and service improved.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., opposed nationalization but added:

"There is merit in the complaint that railroads don't provide adequate service and should work out a system to protect long-term employes."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said government ownership is no solution but "I've never understood why railroad passenger service in most foreign countries is excellent while ours is so poor."

Leighty gave no specifics of the unions' government-takeover plans but said they would provide for reimbursement of the holders of railroad stocks and bonds, after worth of the carriers had been established. He said estimates of that worth range from $20 billion to $27 billion.

The federal government operated the railroads in World War I but did not take title to them. After the war, operating control reverted to private hands and in 1920 the unions adopted the nationalization position which it held until Saturday.

Leighty's reference to a possible early strike was to the dispute between the carriers and three AFL-CIO shop unions — machinists, electrical workers and sheet metal workers — which has been in state of stalemate since early last month.

Legal delaying procedures having been exhausted earlier, these unions, which have about 49,000 rail employes, are free to set a strike date whenever they wish.

The shop unions' dispute — like others which have brought the country repeatedly to the verge of a general rail shutdown in recent years — centers largely on the question of job security and the loss of jobs through automation and other technological changes.

Shapeless White UFO Sighted by Driver, Students

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP) — Seven high school students and a school bus driver have reported sighting a shapeless white object in the sky north of Waynesboro.

It was the fifth reported sighting of an unidentified flying object in this Shenandoah Valley area in recent weeks.

The Air Force in Washington said it had no report of such an incident.

The students said they saw the object—a shapeless glow of light—in the sky near Dooms about 6 p.m. Thursday.

This was at the same time the Lester Hogshead family of Rt 2 Waynesboro reported seeing a bright object hovering above the ground.

The students and the driver said they saw it for about three minutes. It was not moving.

Mrs. Margueritte Bolton of Waynesboro said she also saw a UFO Thursday night. She said it was round and orange-colored.

Horace Burns, a Grottoes gunsmith, and Kenneth Norton Jr., a 14-year-old Staunton High School student, both said they saw a UFO on Dec. 21. The sightings were not disclosed for several weeks, however.

Burns' report of a UFO beside U.S. 250 between Staunton and Waynesboro brought an Air Force investigation team from

PTA Here Not Pressured by Extremists

While reports indicate that extremist groups are putting pressure on local PTA organizations across the country there is no evidence that anything like that is happening here, it was reported Saturday night.

Mrs. Robert E. (Mary Lou) Anderson, 105 E. Caramillo St., said Saturday night that she does not know of such things happening in Colorado Springs.

She is president of the state Congress of Parents and Teachers, and also has been active in the PTA organizations of the Steele, North Junior High and Palmer High Schools.

Last week, Mrs. Anderson told a reporter in Denver that extremist groups have been putting pressure on PTAs in Colorado.

She said, "They would like very much to dissolve the PTA, to get to educators and education by disrupting the strong

Four Youths Are Caught After Escaping Center

Four youths, two aged 16 and the others 13 and 14 had a brief taste of freedom after they escaped from the Zebulon Pike Center, Saturday afternoon, the sheriff's office reported. They were quickly re-captured.

According to Deputy Sheriff Charles L. White, the two 16-year olds overpowered William A. Gilmore, an officer at the center and took the keys from him. They then locked him in a room with another youngster who refused to join the four in their escape.

Gilmore held the boy up to the ceiling so he could set off the fire alarm with his cigarette

Cactus Will Not Be Stolen Any More

LONDON (AP) — Officials at Kew Gardens were baffled because the cactus plants were disappearing from the famed Botanical House.

"We lost three plants before we realized what was happening," said one official.

"We have 1,000 types of succulents to choose from. I couldn't understand why they wanted two of the same species."

A youth at a nearby coffee house told newsmen the plants were stolen — one by one — in weekend raids.

The youth said he knew teenagers chewed leaves of the plants at weekend parties. They contained mescaline an hypnotic drug that induces hallucinations. Now the plants are under lock and key.

Soviet Atomic Blast Biggest To This Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Saturday that an underground nuclear event in the Soviet Union Friday was the largest recorded to date.

A spokesman refused to call it an explosion, but said if it were assumed to be an explosion it probably was in the low intermediate range of 20 to 200 kilotons.

A kiloton is the equivalent of the explosion of 1,000 tons of TNT. The atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima in World War II was about 20 kilotons.

The official announcement confirmed reports from Uppsala, Sweden Friday.

Bomb Found at Swimming Pool In Viet Capital

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — American servicemen, their wives and children were evacuated from a large swimming pool Saturday when Vietnamese police discovered a huge bomb hidden near the pool.

The bomb, 40 pounds of TNT, was concealed in a large flower pot 10 feet from the normally crowded pool. Detonator wires had been led through holes in the pot so that a magneto could easily be attached.

The swimming pool is operated by the U.S. Command and only American servicemen and

Unions Demand Nationalization of Railroads

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail labor union chiefs urged Saturday that the government buy and operate the country's railroads. A management spokesman called the proposal a pressure tactic by frustrated men.

G.E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, announced the group's decision, which came as a reversal of a 65-year-old union policy of opposition to nationalization of the carriers.

Leighty told a news conference also that "we are quite close to setting a strike date" in a lingering dispute between the railroads and a group of non-operating unions.

Leighty said a majority of the chiefs of the 22 unions making up the Railway Labor Executives' Association reached a unanimous decision for government ownership at a Washington meeting Friday after a week's discussion.

This will be formally adopted by the whole association at a Feb. 22 meeting in Miami when specific legislative proposals are to be drawn, Leighty added.

The general basis for the association's decision, Leighty said, is that "Present management of the railroad industry no longer has sufficient concern for the interests and needs of the general public to be entrusted with the responsibility of the most fundamental and most essential part of our nation's transportation system."

More specific reasons, Leighty said, are:

"1. The failure of the railroads to give adequate service, reflected in the 'progressive elimination' of passenger trains and the failure of the carriers to provide adequate equipment and service for freight shipments.

"2. The persistent refusal by rail management to join with railroad labor to establish adequate safety measures for the protection of both passengers and workers.

"3. The 'chaos in the industry's labor relations."

J.E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief spokesman for management, said in a statement:

"The labor union spokesmen have let their frustration get the better of their common sense. The men they represent would be hardest hit by nationalization. Furthermore, they are completely out of step with public sentiment which, in a recent nationwide opinion poll rejected nationalization by a 9-1 vote.

"I think the public will recognize this nationalization proposal as a pressure tactic by the unions. If the unions were successful in their demands for the recall of thousands of unnecessary employes the railroads could not survive."

The unions' proposal brought no immediate reaction from the White House.

Leighty, however, said that he "confidently expects serious consideration" of the recommendation by President Johnson and added that there are several senators and representatives — whom he did not name —who are prepared to introduce necessary legislation.

Senators available for comment generally opposed the nationalization idea but some agreed with the idea that the railroads are not meeting their obligations in serving the public.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader from Montana, said nationalization would be "unwise and uncalled for" but mergers should be checked and service improved.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., opposed nationalization but added:

"There is merit in the complaint that railroads don't provide adequate service and should work out a system to protect long-term employes."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said government ownership is no solution but "I've never understood why railroad passenger service in most foreign countries is excellent while ours is so poor."

Leighty gave no specifics of the unions' government-takeover plans but said they would provide for reimbursement of the holders of railroad stocks and bonds, after worth of the carriers had been established. He said estimates of that worth range from $20 billion to $27 billion.

The federal government operated the railroads in World War I but did not take title to them. After the war, operating control reverted to private hands and in 1920 the unions adopted the nationalization position which it held until Saturday.

Leighty's reference to a possible early strike was to the dispute between the carriers and three AFL-CIO shop unions — machinists, electrical workers and sheet metal workers — which has been in state of stalemate since early last month.

Legal delaying procedures having been exhausted earlier, these unions, which have about 49,000 rail employes, are free to set a strike date whenever they wish.

The shop unions' dispute — like others which have brought the country repeatedly to the verge of a general rail shutdown in recent years — centers largely on the question of job security and the loss of jobs through automation and other technological changes.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGON — A typically smart LBJ political move, in view of the way the Viet Nam mess is developing, would be to try to condition the nation for a possible American military withdrawal.

For this reason a report which comes from a usually reliable Democratic Congressional source is most intriguing. It is to the effect that the political groundwork is or is about to be laid on an iffy basis, for just such a pullout contingency.

This would be done first through the cooperative efforts of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), the highly respected chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee who is also a longtime friend of the President. Russell has already called for an immediate reappraisal of our Viet Nam intervention policy and thinks a grave mistake was made in the first place by getting so involved in the area.

Should Russell present, either in Senate debate or in open hearings on the Viet Nam problem, the case for consideration of withdrawal, it would carry far greater weight than what various Senators have already been saying along this line.

This would be because of the depth of his military knowledge, which cannot be approached by other Senators such as Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who have been sounding off in favor of a neutrality arrangement so our military can come home.

A full-dress Senate debate, in which the pros and cons of the Administration's Viet Nam policy was discussed by Russell in particular, would clearly help condition the public.

The next move, as it comes in the report on planned strategy, would be for the President to name a top-flight Viet Nam commission composed of high-caliber foreign affairs experts from both political parties. This commission would be sent to Saigon, with orders to return with recommendations as to our future course.

IT WOULD FIT SUCH A MOVE

If any consideration is being given to withdrawal, this sort of move makes sense. Any pull-out move would obviously shock the public unless there were an advance conditioning process.

Therefore, an Administration effort along this psychological line could well be in the White House cards.

The shooting down of two American fighter planes while clearly trying to harass the Viet Cong supply line through Laos only emphasizes the present policy problem. Johnson does not want to escalate the war, but such incidents tend to force a decision on whether to do just that or augment our military assistance or seek an "arrangement" permitting gradual withdrawal.

The President has consistently, of course, insisted that we intend to stay in South Viet Nam and honor our commitments. But there has also been an atmosphere of adding a loophole — to the effect that "we will stay as long as we are wanted." And in addition, among some of the President's closest advisers, the reminder that a stable Saigon government is a primary requirement.

It could be political dynamite for the Democratic Administration to keep the situation rolling very slowly on an "as is" basis for another four years. Viet Nam would then be a key issue in the 1968 Presidential race.

Being the political animal that he is, LBJ would probably do almost anytning to get a settlement before 1968. But the problem is to do so without being accused of a sellout or an Asian Munich.

ERROR ATTRIBUTED TO JFK

In the opinion of many military experts, one of the biggest of many boo-boos contributing to the Viet Nam mess at the present time was made by John F. Kennedy in October, 1963.

Johnson must be well aware of the consequences of that Kennedy announcement, which was to the effect that things were looking up in Viet Nam and that we could soon begin pulling out military units. More than 1,000 uniformed men were to come home right away — and by 1965 all but a few would be returned to our shores.

Kennedy's associates insist that Defense Secretary McNamara and Gen. Mawell Taylor were more responsible for that announcement than JFK. They had just returned from a "fact-finding" trip, but the Pentagon has consistently claimed that the appraisal was generated by the White House for purely political purposes.

We had not more than 12,000 men in Viet Nam at that time. Now our military force numbers over 22,000.

The psychological effect of the Kennedy statement was to leave the impression on the nation that there would be no long-haul American military commitment. This psychology has been difficult to erase ever since, and it must be admitted that Johnson himself has made no monumental effort in that regard.

Nevertheless, the fact is that the military in the Pentagon has from the start of the present buildup operated on the basis that it would take 7 to 10 years to wind up the war, perhaps even 15 or 20.

A MATTER OF MATHEMATICS

Advocates of the stick-with-it policy argue that it is better to have a couple of hundred American soldiers and fliers killed over two years than to have a couple of thousand or more killed in a couple of months of rash action.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGON — A typically smart LBJ political move, in view of the way the Viet Nam mess is developing, would be to try to condition the nation for a possible American military withdrawal.

For this reason a report which comes from a usually reliable Democratic Congressional source is most intriguing. It is to the effect that the political groundwork is or is about to be laid on an iffy basis, for just such a pullout contingency.

This would be done first through the cooperative efforts of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), the highly respected chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee who is also a longtime friend of the President. Russell has already called for an immediate reappraisal of our Viet Nam intervention policy and thinks a grave mistake was made in the first place by getting so involved in the area.

Should Russell present, either in Senate debate or in open hearings on the Viet Nam problem, the case for consideration of withdrawal, it would carry far greater weight than what various Senators have already been saying along this line.

This would be because of the depth of his military knowledge, which cannot be approached by other Senators such as Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who have been sounding off in favor of a neutrality arrangement so our military can come home.

A full-dress Senate debate, in which the pros and cons of the Administration's Viet Nam policy was discussed by Russell in particular, would clearly help condition the public.

The next move, as it comes in the report on planned strategy, would be for the President to name a top-flight Viet Nam commission composed of high-caliber foreign affairs experts from both political parties. This commission would be sent to Saigon, with orders to return with recommendations as to our future course.

IT WOULD FIT SUCH A MOVE

If any consideration is being given to withdrawal, this sort of move makes sense. Any pull-out move would obviously shock the public unless there were an advance conditioning process.

Therefore, an Administration effort along this psychological line could well be in the White House cards.

The shooting down of two American fighter planes while clearly trying to harass the Viet Cong supply line through Laos only emphasizes the present policy problem. Johnson does not want to escalate the war, but such incidents tend to force a decision on whether to do just that or augment our military assistance or seek an "arrangement" permitting gradual withdrawal.

The President has consistently, of course, insisted that we intend to stay in South Viet Nam and honor our commitments. But there has also been an atmosphere of adding a loophole — to the effect that "we will stay as long as we are wanted." And in addition, among some of the President's closest advisers, the reminder that a stable Saigon government is a primary requirement.

It could be political dynamite for the Democratic Administration to keep the situation rolling very slowly on an "as is" basis for another four years. Viet Nam would then be a key issue in the 1968 Presidential race.

Being the political animal that he is, LBJ would probably do almost anytning to get a settlement before 1968. But the problem is to do so without being accused of a sellout or an Asian Munich.

ERROR ATTRIBUTED TO JFK

In the opinion of many military experts, one of the biggest of many boo-boos contributing to the Viet Nam mess at the present time was made by John F. Kennedy in October, 1963.

Johnson must be well aware of the consequences of that Kennedy announcement, which was to the effect that things were looking up in Viet Nam and that we could soon begin pulling out military units. More than 1,000 uniformed men were to come home right away — and by 1965 all but a few would be returned to our shores.

Kennedy's associates insist that Defense Secretary McNamara and Gen. Mawell Taylor were more responsible for that announcement than JFK. They had just returned from a "fact-finding" trip, but the Pentagon has consistently claimed that the appraisal was generated by the White House for purely political purposes.

We had not more than 12,000 men in Viet Nam at that time. Now our military force numbers over 22,000.

The psychological effect of the Kennedy statement was to leave the impression on the nation that there would be no long-haul American military commitment. This psychology has been difficult to erase ever since, and it must be admitted that Johnson himself has made no monumental effort in that regard.

Nevertheless, the fact is that the military in the Pentagon has from the start of the present buildup operated on the basis that it would take 7 to 10 years to wind up the war, perhaps even 15 or 20.

A MATTER OF MATHEMATICS

Advocates of the stick-with-it policy argue that it is better to have a couple of hundred American soldiers and fliers killed over two years than to have a couple of thousand or more killed in a couple of months of rash action.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

Let's take a minute of our time to discuss babies. . .specially where there are several of them!

Naturally, the budget gets low and we have to stretch and save anywhere we can. Babies sometimes come faster than our budget stretches.

Some little tykes "still', like their baby beds as they get older (don't know what it is but psychologists SAY and WRITE that the sense of smell and memories make this so. . . ???).

Now what are you going to do when it's time for the next baby and the oldest doesn't want a new bunk or single bed?

I don't suggest going out and buying a youth bed for that little angel. Why waste money? Utilize it if at all possible.

Here's a little thought that many mamas and papas might appreciate:

Why not saw the legs off that baby bed so that it lowers to bout 12 inches from the floor? Baby will love it. Why?

Because he can crawl into it all by himself, have his own home smells and familiar sleeping surroundings that he is used to!

The adjustable side of the bed can be removed easily (or left on for a few months until he gets used to his new lower bed) and that sweet tyke can flop into his own sweet surroundings when he needs to sleep or rest.

Later, as your baby grows, remove the other side of the bed and your precious one will have his own youth bed. This leaves just the head and foot on the bed . . . just like Mother's and Dad's.

This will allow him to get used to sleeping in a bed without any sides. Then later if he feels real grown up and wants a Hollywood-type bed all his own, just saw the head and foot off entirely. This will leave you with a frame for the springs and mattress.

This idea is especially good for those who have small bedrooms and must put more than one child in a room. Takes less space . . . besides, mother can still use the same sheets, etc., another saving on the budget.

If a mother would prefer to save the frame of the bed intact for the next baby, she can just remove the springs and mattress from the bed itself and set it upon concrete blocks, sturdy wooden boxes, or have daddy build a frame.

How about those budgets? Isn't it a thrill to see what we can save? Love it, love it, love it. . . —Heloise

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

Let's take a minute of our time to discuss babies. . .specially where there are several of them!

Naturally, the budget gets low and we have to stretch and save anywhere we can. Babies sometimes come faster than our budget stretches.

Some little tykes "still', like their baby beds as they get older (don't know what it is but psychologists SAY and WRITE that the sense of smell and memories make this so. . . ???).

Now what are you going to do when it's time for the next baby and the oldest doesn't want a new bunk or single bed?

I don't suggest going out and buying a youth bed for that little angel. Why waste money? Utilize it if at all possible.

Here's a little thought that many mamas and papas might appreciate:

Why not saw the legs off that baby bed so that it lowers to bout 12 inches from the floor? Baby will love it. Why?

Because he can crawl into it all by himself, have his own home smells and familiar sleeping surroundings that he is used to!

The adjustable side of the bed can be removed easily (or left on for a few months until he gets used to his new lower bed) and that sweet tyke can flop into his own sweet surroundings when he needs to sleep or rest.

Later, as your baby grows, remove the other side of the bed and your precious one will have his own youth bed. This leaves just the head and foot on the bed . . . just like Mother's and Dad's.

This will allow him to get used to sleeping in a bed without any sides. Then later if he feels real grown up and wants a Hollywood-type bed all his own, just saw the head and foot off entirely. This will leave you with a frame for the springs and mattress.

This idea is especially good for those who have small bedrooms and must put more than one child in a room. Takes less space . . . besides, mother can still use the same sheets, etc., another saving on the budget.

If a mother would prefer to save the frame of the bed intact for the next baby, she can just remove the springs and mattress from the bed itself and set it upon concrete blocks, sturdy wooden boxes, or have daddy build a frame.

How about those budgets? Isn't it a thrill to see what we can save? Love it, love it, love it. . . —Heloise

Your Outdoors

By MARY SHIRER
For the Pikes Peak Group of the Colorado Mountain Club

Many seasons can be represented in one day in Colorado. On a January day, the sun can be warm and springlike; like the last few days. There may be a gray color on the hillsides and there may be snow scenes in other places with warm sunshine in all places. A Winter morning bids fiar, with the great sun coming up bright in the eastern sky which is all rosy and pink. The mountain peaks are caught in the early morning rays and they became tinted with rosy hues. What a day it is going to be for living to enjoy everything in the outdoors, for hiking or all kinds of sport. In higher country, it is fine for skiing. Could it be spring, driving winter away warm sunshine and mountains all smiling and bright? Colorado winters are just like this.

Yes, we do have cold weather but never in all its fury. Everybody is glad to get back to Colorado after being in other parts of the country. The glorious sunshine is what makes Colorado famous. If it whould be cloudy part of the day, the sun is bound to peep out the rest of the day. The sun is obviously the fundamental control of climate, yet latitude plays an important part in mountain ranges.

The influence of the Rocky Mouhtains is seen in the local effect upon rain and snowfall, acting as a barrier against spreading cold waves and in warming bodies of air as they descent the mountain slopes thus giving us the soft balmy winds known as chinook winds. There is a general agreement among physicians that a good climate has frequent moderate weather changes, fairly marked by annual and diurnal variations of temperature, reasonable amount of cloudiness, plenty of sunshine and sufficient rainfall to provide enough moisture for growth of vegetation and physical welfare of the inhabitants. Such a climate is an intermedhot or permanently cold. It is neither monotonously arid or dull and cloudy. It is a climate that encourages people to spend the maximum time out of doors. People in our region seek the outdoors horseback riding, hiking in the mountains, golf or skiing. Already days are longer with more sunshine and the season of spring is coming closer. A winter day comes to a close, giving a great variety of weather. The sun drops behind the mountain, leaving a gorgeous sunset. Colorado offers us so much in one single day.

Newton Named to Health Council Post

DENVER (UPI) — Quigg Newton, former president of the University of Colorado, has been appointed to a four-year term on the National Advisory Mental Health Council.

Dr. Luther L. Terry, U. S. Surgeon general, made the announcement Friday at Bethesda, Md., for the National Institude of Mental Health. Newton's position will be an advisory one to the surgeon general's office.

QUITE A YEAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Carol Channing, the heroine of the hit musical "Hello Dolly!," celebrating today the show's first anniversary on Broadway, said: "Golly, it's been quite a year." She hasn't missed a performance, has been seen by 624,000 persons who have paid $4 million, and has a contract through June 1967.

Kiwanis Promise To Work for The Community

Vice Mayor Harold Hawks will be given a promissory note Jan. 28 for community service to be performed by the Kiwanis Club of Colorado Springs in honor of the international organization's Golden Anniversary. The event will get under way at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner.

Dubbed a "Blank Check for Service" by Kiwanians, it is a certificate pledging service of the club to the community. The presentation will be made at the Dublin House by Byron Akers, president of the Kiwanis club.

Lou Throgmorton, Texas insurance executive, will be the principal speaker. The three other Kiwanis clubs in the area will take part.

The leader will select some community problem in need of attention and ask the president of the club to help solve it. The club will pledge its efforts to show the kind of service that Kiwanians in the United States and Canada have been performing in their communities for half a century.

Kiwanis International has more than 5,400 clubs with some 265,000 members. Clubs were first established in several European cities two years ago. The men's service organization had its beginning with one club meeting in a hotel in Detroit, Mich., in January, 1915.

Club President Akers said, "We will continue to serve Colorado Springs to make this city a better place in which to live, work and play. We pledge ourselves to strive to accomplish whatever task is requested by the Vice Mayor when he fills in our blank check." Akers also said that the club will continue its regular program of service to the community.

Willis P. Armstrong, local banker, is in charge of the program.

The leader will select some community problem in need of attention and ask the president of the club to help solve it. The club will pledge its efforts to show the kind of service that Kiwanians in the United States and Canada have been performing in their communities for half a century.

Kiwanis International has more than 5,400 clubs with some 265,000 members. Clubs were first established in several European cities two years ago. The men's service organization had its beginning with one club meeting in a hotel in Detroit, Mich., in January, 1915.

Club President Akers said, "We will continue to serve Colorado Springs to make this city a better place in which to live, work and play. We pledge ourselves to strive to accomplish whatever task is requested by the Vice Mayor when he fills in our blank check." Akers also said that the club will continue its regular program of service to the community.

Willis P. Armstrong, local banker, is in charge of the program.

Illustrated Lecture, Films Set for Seminar

A series of illustrated lectures and films of the National Security Seminar will be open to the public when the seminar is held in the City Auditorium Feb. 22 through March 5.

Lt. Col. LeRoy R. Waterman, USAF, here as advance officer for the project, said in an interview that "the primary purpose of the seminar is to give information to Reserve officers in the area, but civilian attendance is highly desirable."

Col. Waterman is also one of the six lecturers who will conduct the seminar, and his specialties are Latin America, Captive Europe, Transportation and Telecommunications, International Affairs, and Civil Defense. Col. Waterman said that the program began in 1947, and since that time has been conducted in some 260 cities throughout the country.

Col. Waterman is stationed at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Ft. McNair, Washington, D. C., and he has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, the Bronze Star, and the U. S. Army Commendation Medal.

Col. Waterman said that the two world wars "emphasized the fact that a war is waged by all, of a nation's resources — human, natural and productive and service capacities." He said that because of this, survival today is a matter of preparedness and strength, and the seminar was one way of assuring that the population of the United States is prepared.

Man Injured In Street Fight

A fight in the vicinity of the Honeybucket on the 500 block of East Pikes Peak Avenue resulted in a Ft. Carson man, being treated at the Ent Dispensary, police said Saturday.

Williams told officers he was walking west on Pikes Peak Avenue with a friend when he met a man who asked Williams why he had been talking to his girl friend. Williams denied having talked to any girl and the man started to fight him.

After Williams had been injured, the man got into a car and drove off.

Mrs. Lydia Sloan Services Set Monday

Graveside Funeral Services will be held Monday in Hardtner, Kan., for Mrs. Lydia R. Sloan, who died Friday at a local nursing home. Mrs. Sloan was 86.

Mrs. Sloan, 225 W. Brookside Ave., had been a resident of Colorado Springs for the past eight years. She was born Jan. 7, 1879, in Bradley County, Ark.

She is survived by three sons, B. M. Sloan, Sacramento, Calif., Fay H. Sloan, Colorado Springs, and Max Sloan, Denver; two daughters, Mrs. Lynn Wiley, Wichita, Kan., and Mrs. Phil Carter, Cathedral City, Calif; a brother, M. O. McClendon, Warren, Ark.; 15 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Man Attacked Outside Local Club Saturday

Jack G. Thompson of Ft. Carson, was attacked by an unknown man outside the Navajo Hogan, 2817 N. Nevada Ave., the sheriff's department said Saturday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Don Fahrenkrug Thompson was leaving the Hogan "by request," and as he quit he said "he had been kicked out of better places." Just after he passed through the door a man hit him on the side of the face, then followed him to his car and struck him again on the face knocking off his glasses.

Burglars Cart Off Tools Valued at $500

Tools worth $500 were stolen from the Country Boy Garage, 701 S. 8th St., the sheriff's office said Saturday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Rolf Wagner entry was made through a window and apparently a car was driven up to the rear of the building to take the tools out.

A second burglary was reported by James H. Morgan, 512 S. Prospect St. who said that someone had pried open the north window on the side of his house and taken five kerosene lamps and some hand tools worth a total of $15.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Snow and flurries will occur Sunday from the Ohio valley and lower Lakes through the north Atlantic states. Warmer weather is anticipated from the southern plains to the upper Lakes. Colder temperatures will be felt over portions of the northern plains. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

their dependents are admitted.

"It would have been enough to kill everyone in the place," a U.S. official said.

A Vietnamese policeman patrolling the pool was credited with spotting the bomb. The policeman, Huynh Van Cho, noticed a partly buried American hand grenade sticking through the soil on the surface of the pot and sounded an alert. The pool was quickly cleared and a bomb squad went to work.

Under the grenade the searchers found the bomb. Experts believe the terrorist had been carrying the grenade to protect himself while planting the bomb and then left it when his work was finished.

The bomb could not have been set off unless someone had connected a battery or magneto to the pot.

Casualties from an explosion on a weekend afternoon probably would have exceeded those in an explosion at the American Brink Hotel here on Christmas Eve. In that explosion two Americans were killed and more than 100 persons were wounded.

Police were alerted to patrolling the pool area earlier in the afternoon when a woman was spotted leaning a bicycle against the wall of the pool grounds. Police became suspicious when it became apparent the bicycle had been abandoned and started checking.

American authorities said the pool would be open as usual on Sunday.

Furniture Center Hit by Burglars

Seven table radios, three television sets and a portable stereo player were stolen from the Furniture Center, 214 S. Tejon St., police reported Saturday.

Entry was made through the roof and the value of the stolen items is still unknown.

30 Died as Jet Tanker Crashes in Wichita

dren, homes vanishing as the flames spread — devastation total and complete.

The Rev. J. H. Mason, associate pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church and a resident of the neighborhood, ran from his home as the blast shook the area. In the next block he found Joe Martin, frantic and hysterically begging for aid.

"Oh, my God, my boys are in there," he screamed.

"As I looked at the house, a boy ran from it," Mason said. "He was in flames. He fell in front of the house with both his arms in the air."

The other Martin boy was found dead in his back yard. The father was taken to an emergency aid station for treatment of shock.

Debris was scattered over the neighborhood. Bits of wreckage broke windows, gouged roofs and ripped siding away from homes three and four blocks away. Nothing but the foundations remained of four small houses in the center of the crash area.

Two aircraft engines remained almost intact, about 75 feet apart. About 150 feet away lay a segment of aircraft wing perhaps 25 feet long. Nearby was wreckage of the tail boom which is used in refueling operations.

Robert Barker, 18, came through without a scratch although wreckage struck the front of his home.

"I was sitting in the den in the front of the house when I heard a rumble. I looked out the window and saw this silver streak hit the street. It burst into flames and the fire engulfed all of the houses across the street. Part of the plane hit our house.

"When firemen arrived I helped at the house across the street. We found five or six bodies in there."

Barker set up a temporary office facility for The Associated Press in his home and kept his telephone line open to the AP bureau in Kansas City for hours.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert telephoned from Washington with his profound regrets over the tragedy. He offered all possible Air Force assistance to the city.

"Personally and on behalf of the United States Air Force, please accept my sincere regrets over the KC135 crash in the city of Wichita," he said in a written message after his telephone call. "Although Air Force pilots take every possible flying safety precaution in performing their air missions, unforseen and regretable circumstances sometimes occur.

"Please convey our deepest sympathy to the families of those who were killed and to those who suffered injuries and property damage in this most unfortunate accident."

Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 2nd Air Force flew to Wichita from Barksdale Field, La., to head a team of Air Force officers investigating the crash.

The KC135 is a four-jet tanker which flies more than 600 miles an hour. It has a 130-foot wing span, is 136 feet long and 38 feet high. It can carry 31,000 gallons of jet fuel and fully loaded is 297,000 pounds. It has a 4,000 mile range. It is the military counterpart to the Boeing 707.

Parman Placed On Most Wanted Criminal List

His five-day reign in the honeymoon suit ended Dec. 4, 1956 when the late Police Chief I. B. Bruce jailed Amalu, Parman and two companions for investigation of fraud.

At the time Bruce said Prince Sam was "an international swindler, con man, forger, paper hanger and counterfeiter."

As the prince's secretary, Parman's signature was on many of the checks the prince forged.

Amalu and Mrs. Jane Tomberlin, divorced wife of a Texas oilman, were married in the Antlers after a publicized whirlwind courtship during which the princess-to-be was left at the altar in Denver's Brown Palace Hotel.

When the prince finally decided to go through with the ceremony, he slipped an expensive ring on his bride's finger which he purchased in the Antlers Indian Shop.

Parman, 32, went to Washington from Minneapolis around New Year's Day, the FBI reported Friday in Washington.

A State Department secretary, Shirley Ann Cary, was found dead in an alleyway early last Saturday, near the Washington Cathedral. Police said the choir singer had been strangled probably with a rope, and sexually molested.

Parman was indicted last Monday in Washington on a charge of first-degree murder. Police said he had been nightclubbing with Miss Cary only a few hours before her body was found. The FBI entered the case on grounds Parman probably had fled across state lines to avoid arrest.

Scott Werner, agent in charge of the FBI in Denver, said Friday he had no reason to believe Parman is in the area. But an all-points fugitive bulletin has been issued.

Parman was arrested by Colorado Springs police Dec. 4, 1956, and was brought before the U.S. Marshall in Denver Dec. 10. He was indicted on 10 counts for using the telephone in inter-state commerce for purposes of fraud.

Parman was sentenced to concurrent three-year terms on each of the 10 counts, in U.S. District Court in Denver May 31, 1957. He was sent to Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary.

The FBI in Washington warned Friday that Parman is considered extremely dangerous, probably carrying firearms. He is a former ex-serviceman, discharged in 1955 after less than a year's duty, for falsifying his enlistment papers.

Man's Hearing Endangered By Beating

Bobby Dean Powell, 9 S. Wahsatch Ave. was beaten so badly early Saturday morning that there is a possibility he may lose his hearing in one ear, police reported.

Powell had been in the Cotton Club and left at closing time Saturday morning in company with three other men he had met in the bar. After they had walked a few blocks all three jumped him, knocked him to the ground and kicked him until he was unconscious.

His wallet containing $9 was stolen and Powell was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He had severe head lacerations and lacerations around the left ear. It is also thought that some of his ribs might have been broken.

Telephone Coin Box Robber, Sheriff Says

The coin box of a public telephone at 1700 S. 8th St. was forced and an unknown amount of money taken, the sheriff's office said Saturday.

The incident is thought to have happened Thursday, the same night as the telephone booth by the Broadmoor Cog Railway was demolished by a bomb causing $375 damage to the booth and $500 to the station at the cog railway.

16 Arrested in Plot to Murder Civil Workers

slaying was skipped over in the indictments, still leaving a mystery as to just how the three met their final fate.

All three — Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, Meridian Negro — had been shot. The bones in Chaney's body had been crushed.

The two indictments were based on old laws enacted during Reconstruction days. One charges the 18 with conspiracy to violently deny civil rights of the trio. The second alleges the 18 men took part in a conspiracy involving law enforcement officers to illegally punish the trio.

Only the state could bring murder charges in this case, since the slayings did not occur on federal property. In Mississippi, the maximum penalty for murder is death. The Neshoba County grand jury meets next month and could consider the case.

If convicted on the first count of the federal indictment, the 18 men could each be sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison and fined $10,000. Conviction on the four-count second indictment carries a penalty of one year and $1,000 fine on each count.

The arrests were carried out swiftly and smoothly by six U.S. marshals. Price, Rainey and a half-dozen other defendants gathered at the Neshoba County courthouse to await the arrests.

Except for spoken threats to newsmen and photographers, there were no incidents.

Rainey put aside his gun and Price got into his Western style jacket with a large fur collar.

The group then accompanied the marshals on a 39-mile trip to Meridian where they went before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter for the second time in little more than a month.

Calling the 16 men into her small, second-floor office at the post office building by twos and threes, Miss Carter read the indictments, then fixed bonds for each at $5,750.

Nearly two-dozen Philadelphia residents followed the defendants over here and stood outside the office while the bond arrangements were made.

On leaving, Rainey put his hand on a newsman's shoulder and said softly, "No, I won't have any statement." Price didn't say anything.

All but one of those indicted were among the 21 men arrested by the FBI Dec. 4 on virtually the same charges. Those charges were dropped later when Miss Carter refused at a preliminary hearing to hear an alleged confession by one of them.

The grand jury did not name four of those arrested previously, and added Richard Andrew Willis, Philadelphia city policeman, to the list.

The three civil rights workers had gone to Philadelphia last June 21 to check on the burning of a Negro church used for civil rights meetings.

On leaving the charred church site, they were stopped by Price for speeding and taken to the county jail. After a six-hour stay, the government said Price took them out to the country.

In the past, Price has said he freed the trio after they posted $20 bond and they headed toward Meridian.

They were not seen again.

backing of the schools by parents.

She said she thinks that the national president, Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, was including Colorado when she declared in Chicago that extremist groups are trying to infiltrate PTAs in 35 states.

Mrs. Moorehead said the PTA was putting out a booklet telling PTA members how to deal with far right and far left pressures.

The booklets that Mrs. Moorehead referred to have not been received by local PTA groups, Mrs. Anderson said.

Mrs. Anderson pointed out that while there is "some evidence" of extremist action, there is nothing "specific" that she knows of.

She pointed out that "so far as I know" there is no special effort being made at this time by extremists to swamp her or any other PTA member with lots of mail.

While nuisance phone calls have been reported a favorite tactic of extremist groups in this nation, there apparently is no report of any such action being taken in this state to harass PTA members.

SIZZLING START FOR WEEK—Mayor Harry Hoth, who as a former Jaycee applied the branding iron on numerous occasions, was on the receiving end Saturday. The mayor became the target when a Jaycee delegation called upon him and indulged in this bit of by-play to focus attention on the start of Jaycee Week in Colorado Springs today. Bill Benton is shown applying the iron while the mayor is held by Fred Reich (left) and Larry Jorgensen in front and Mel Weimer (left) and Jack Duggan in back. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Mayor Starts JC Week by Receiving Special Hotseat

Mayor Harry Hoth, who often is forced onto the hot seat at City Council meetings, found himself walking around with one Saturday, courtesy of the Colorado Springs Jaycees.

The Jaycees cornered His Honor outside his offices at KRDO and when it was over, they left the Jaycee mark on him.

In fact the Mayor was branded into placing his brand and signature at the bottom of a proclamation declaring this week as "Jaycee Week In Colorado Springs."

Mayor Hoth, a former Jaycee here, took the branding good naturally but was completely serious in the proclamation which declared that "This organization of young men has contributed materially to the betterment of this community throughout the year."

The Mayor also urged all citizens of the community to give full consideration to the future services of the Junior Chamber of Commerce."

On the aspect of services, the Jaycees issued a short proclamation of their own thanking "the people and merchants of Colorado Springs for their assistance with the many and varied projects which the Jaycees sponsor."

The Jaycees statement also said "If it were not for the strong backing of the local residents and firms of Colorado Springs, the Jaycees could not exist."

The local chapter boasts a membership of 150 men which join in all Jaycee undertakings. In 1964, the Jaycees launched 44 different projects ranging from Chuck Wagon dinners to the Soap Box Derby.

President Mac Harvey issued the following statement concerning the Jaycees:

"The Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce wants you to know the AIM of the Colorado Springs Jaycees. To make this area a better place to live, and in the process, to improve each Jaycees' own leadership ability. With an eye on tomorrow, and a hand in today, working on projects to benefit the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of our fellowmen.

"WHAT THE JAYCEES ARE DOING FOR COLORADO SPRINGS: Jaycees are leading the way in Colorado Springs in Tourist Promotion, Youth Activities, Trade Promotion, Sports and Recreation and in some areas of Governmental Affairs. Some of the major projects that are sponsored by the Junior Chamber include the Chuck Wagon Dinners in the Garden of the Gods, Information Wagons in the region, Youth Sports Activities including Junior Ski, Hockey, Golf and Tennis programs. Boy and Girl Scout activities and Tourist and Trade promotion.

"In addition, new ideas for projects are always welcomed and carefully considered to meet the important needs of the community.

"We invite you to join. Eligibility: Young men 21-36 are eligible for regular membership in the Junior Chamber. Meetings: Regular Bi-Monthly evening meeting feature a full course dinner, top notch entertainment and a "night out" of real interest to all. Wives: Jaycee Wives Club welcomes wives of all Jaycees to participate in their interesting activities. Dues: Your dues purchase your Jaycee Pin, the local, state and national publications. Fact: Colorado Springs Jaycees are known thruout the nation as one of the outstanding chapters. Colorado Springs is the only group in the nation to have hosted two National Conventions in a five year period. Many prominent business and professional men have past Jaycee experience.

"WHAT THE JAYCEES CAN DO FOR YOU: Contact with business and community leaders through civic work. Opportunities to assume administrative leadership outside your business or job. Experience in human relations through supervision of other young men on a volunteer basis. A chance to think on an administrative level—an important requisite to promotion in modern day business. Actual experience in budget allocations and financial procedures through participation on Jaycee committees. An opportunity to carry out excellent public relations for your employer thru civic participation. Opportunities to meet and associate with other young men of your own age."

in the center of the Inernational Center for the special program. Because of many requests for dinner reservations, additional tables will be placed on the regular stage.

Howard Emrich, of the Scout Executive Board is program director and 134 women from each pack, troop and post were appointed for the hostess committee, headed by Mrs. Jean Cloud. Mrs. John Wear will be chairwoman for special guests and Executive Board tables.

Each Scout unit normally makes a reservation for a table for 12 persons. No more table reservations can be accepted, Col. Wear said, because we exhausted our capacity.

Dist. 8 Will Vote on School Bond Proposal

registered in the El Paso County poll books.

In a public hearing on the proposed bond issue last week, District Eight Superintendent Dean Fleischauer said, if the bond issue passed, the board of education plans to sell about two-thirds of the $600,000 issue to conduct the first phase of a building program, or to take care of the "immediate building needs."

"That will amount to about 7.5 mills," Fleischauer said. "That means each taxpayer will pay an additional $7.50 in school tax for each $1,000 of assessed property he owns."

Three sites will be considered in the "immediate building needs" category. They are North Carson with an expected increase of 267 students, Fountain High School with an expected increase of 208 pupils and Fountain Elementary.

The North Carson addition will be financed completely with federal funds and will not require any of the bond issue money. The board is planning a four-room addition to Fountain Elementary School. A more elaborate plan is prepared for Fountain High School. It includes a library, storage rooms, a study hall, a four-room complex of classroms, with portable walls, two other classrooms and an industrial arts area with a woodshop, a metal shop and an electrical shop.

Four Youths Are Caught After Escaping Center

lighter and warn Kitty Kroger, an attendant, to lock herself in her room as there was an escape in progress.

The youngsters left by the front door, the older ones going north and the younger boys headed south. Members of the sheriff's office, police department and civilians promptly went into action and it was a short time before all four were in custody again.

Stan Wood of the County Farm caught one of the older boys and suffered bites, knocks and kicks in the process. The only other casualty was Police Officer John Donahue who suffered from exhaustion and was treated by a doctor who said his condition was not serious.

After the boys were locked up the two older ones wrecked their rooms and topped off the day's work by stuffing their clothing down the toilet, flushing it and flooding the rooms.

Shapeless White UFO Sighted by Driver, Students

Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio. The team, using a geiger counter three weeks after the reported sighting, said they found no unusual radiation.

But Ernest Gehman, a professor at Eastern Mennonite College who heads a UFO investigation club, said he checked the site nine days after the reported sighting and found a high radiation count.

feet or more during high tide.

The Weather Bureau said another storm was developing in the Cape Hatteras, N.C., area.

Freezing weather extended southward to the Gulf Coast, and the mercury plunged to 32 below zero in Brainerd, Minn., and 24 below in Houlton and Limestone, Maine.

New England was buffeted by winds up to 40 and 50 m.p.h., with snow expected to total 10 inches in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Washington, D.C., anticipated a snowfall of two inches or more. Snow removal units from Ft. Belvoir, Va., were to be moved in during the weekend as a precaution in connection with the forthcoming presidential inaugural.

At Atlanta, Ga., a night shift at the Chevrolet and Fisher body plant was canceled when a number of employes were unable to report for work because of slick roads. The Bowie race course in southern Maryland canceled its Saturday program.

Peculiarly enough, air and rail transportation in the East were not greatly affected.

Several persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and others died in automobile accidents blamed on storm conditions. Others perished in fires which swept their homes.

Most of Ohio was hit by a heavy snowfall, which was expected to total 14 inches in some sections. Columbus recorded seven inches.

Automobile Stolen From Used Car Lot

W. E. Sanders of the J. F. Auto Sales, 1331 S. Tejon St. reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that a 1961 black Chevrolet convertible worth $1,595 had been stolen from the car lot. Sanders also said that the car keys for the vehicle had been taken Thursday and the car stolen Friday night.

It has a black top and no license plates. ID number is 11867S174171.

Illustrated Lecture, Films Set for Seminar

A series of illustrated lectures and films of the National Security Seminar will be open to the public when the seminar is held in the City Auditorium Feb. 22 through March 5.

Lt. Col. LeRoy R. Waterman, USAF, here as advance officer for the project, said in an interview that "the primary purpose of the seminar is to give information to Reserve officers in the area, but civilian attendance is highly desirable."

Col. Waterman is also one of the six lecturers who will conduct the seminar, and his specialties are Latin America, Captive Europe, Transportation and Telecommunications, International Affairs, and Civil Defense. Col. Waterman said that the program began in 1947, and since that time has been conducted in some 260 cities throughout the country.

Col. Waterman is stationed at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Ft. McNair, Washington, D. C., and he has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, the Bronze Star, and the U. S. Army Commendation Medal.

Col. Waterman said that the two world wars "emphasized the fact that a war is waged by all, of a nation's resources — human, natural and productive and service capacities." He said that because of this, survival today is a matter of preparedness and strength, and the seminar was one way of assuring that the population of the United States is prepared.

Man Injured In Street Fight

A fight in the vicinity of the Honeybucket on the 500 block of East Pikes Peak Avenue resulted in a Ft. Carson man, being treated at the Ent Dispensary, police said Saturday.

Williams told officers he was walking west on Pikes Peak Avenue with a friend when he met a man who asked Williams why he had been talking to his girl friend. Williams denied having talked to any girl and the man started to fight him.

After Williams had been injured, the man got into a car and drove off.

Mrs. Lydia Sloan Services Set Monday

Graveside Funeral Services will be held Monday in Hardtner, Kan., for Mrs. Lydia R. Sloan, who died Friday at a local nursing home. Mrs. Sloan was 86.

Mrs. Sloan, 225 W. Brookside Ave., had been a resident of Colorado Springs for the past eight years. She was born Jan. 7, 1879, in Bradley County, Ark.

She is survived by three sons, B. M. Sloan, Sacramento, Calif., Fay H. Sloan, Colorado Springs, and Max Sloan, Denver; two daughters, Mrs. Lynn Wiley, Wichita, Kan., and Mrs. Phil Carter, Cathedral City, Calif; a brother, M. O. McClendon, Warren, Ark.; 15 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Man Attacked Outside Local Club Saturday

Jack G. Thompson of Ft. Carson, was attacked by an unknown man outside the Navajo Hogan, 2817 N. Nevada Ave., the sheriff's department said Saturday.

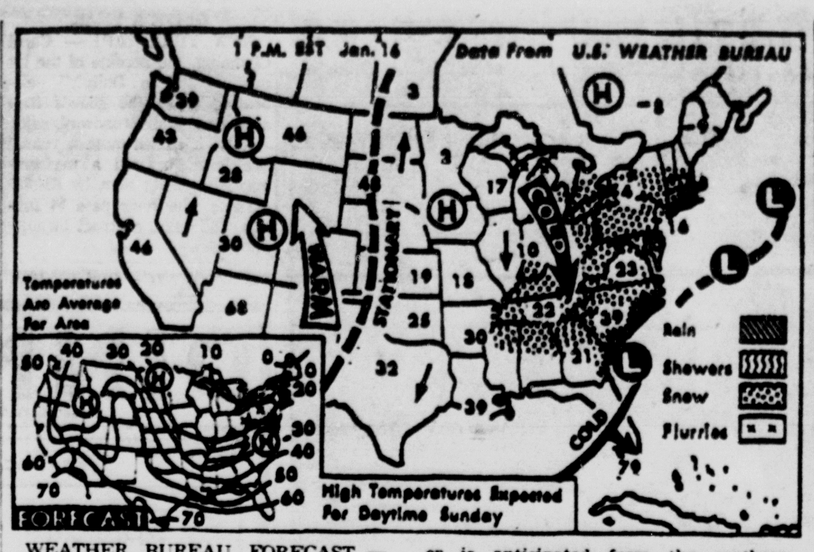
According to Deputy Sheriff Don Fahrenkrug Thompson was leaving the Hogan "by request," and as he quit he said "he had been kicked out of better places." Just after he passed through the door a man hit him on the side of the face, then followed him to his car and struck him again on the face knocking off his glasses.

Burglars Cart Off Tools Valued at $500

Tools worth $500 were stolen from the Country Boy Garage, 701 S. 8th St., the sheriff's office said Saturday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Rolf Wagner entry was made through a window and apparently a car was driven up to the rear of the building to take the tools out.

A second burglary was reported by James H. Morgan, 512 S. Prospect St. who said that someone had pried open the north window on the side of his house and taken five kerosene lamps and some hand tools worth a total of $35.



WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Snow and flurries will occur Sunday from the Ohio valley and lower Lakes through the north Atlantic states. Warmer weather is anticipated from the southern plains to the upper Lakes. Colder temperatures will be felt over portions of the northern plains. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

their dependents are admitted.

"It would have been enough to kill everyone in the place," a U.S. official said.

A Vietnamese policeman patrolling the pool was credited with spotting the bomb. The policeman, Huynh Van Cho, noticed a partly buried American hand grenade sticking through the soil on the surface of the pot and sounded an alert. The pool was quickly cleared and a bomb squad went to work.

Under the grenade the searchers found the bomb. Experts believe the terrorist had been carrying the grenade to protect himself while planting the bomb and then left it when his work was finished.

The bomb could not have been set off unless someone had connected a battery or magneto to the pot.

Casualties from an explosion on a weekend afternoon probably would have exceeded those in an explosion at the American Brink Hotel here on Christmas Eve. In that explosion two Americans were killed and more than 100 persons were wounded.

Police were alerted to patrolling the pool area earlier in the afternoon when a woman was spotted leaning a bicycle against the wall of the pool grounds. Police became suspicious when it became apparent the bicycle had been abandoned and started checking.

American authorities said the pool would be open as usual on Sunday.

Furniture Center Hit by Burglars

Seven table radios, three television sets and a portable stereo player were stolen from the Furniture Center, 214 S. Tejon St., police reported Saturday.

Entry was made through the roof and the value of the stolen items is still unknown.

30 Died as Jet Tanker Crashes in Wichita

dren, homes vanishing as the flames spread — devastation total and complete.

The Rev. J. H. Mason, associate pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church and a resident of the neighborhood, ran from his home as the blast shook the area. In the next block he found Joe Martin, frantic and hysterically begging for aid.

"Oh, my God, my boys are in there," he screamed.

"As I looked at the house, a boy ran from it," Mason said. "He was in flames. He fell in front of the house with both his arms in the air."

The other Martin boy was found dead in his back yard. The father was taken to an emergency aid station for treatment of shock.

Debris was scattered over the neighborhood. Bits of wreckage broke windows, gouged roofs and ripped siding away from homes three and four blocks away. Nothing but the foundations remained of four small houses in the center of the crash area.

Two aircraft engines remained almost intact, about 75 feet apart. About 150 feet away lay a segment of aircraft wing perhaps 25 feet long. Nearby was wreckage of the tail boom which is used in refueling operations.

Robert Barker, 18, came through without a scratch although wreckage struck the front of his home.

"I was sitting in the den in the front of the house when I heard a rumble. I looked out the window and saw this silver streak hit the street. It burst into flames and the fire engulfed all of the houses across the street. Part of the plane hit our house.

"When firemen arrived I helped at the house across the street. We found five or six bodies in there."

Barker set up a temporary office facility for The Associated Press in his home and kept his telephone line open to the AP bureau in Kansas City for hours.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert telephoned from Washington with his profound regrets over the tragedy. He offered all possible Air Force assistance to the city.

"Personally and on behalf of the United States Air Force, please accept my sincere regrets over the KC135 crash in the city of Wichita," he said in a written message after his telephone call. "Although Air Force pilots take every possible flying safety precaution in performing their air missions, unforseen and regretable circumstances sometimes occur.

"Please convey our deepest sympathy to the families of those who were killed and to those who suffered injuries and property damage in this most unfortunate accident."

Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 2nd Air Force flew to Wichita from Barksdale Field, La., to head a team of Air Force officers investigating the crash.

The KC135 is a four-jet tanker which flies more than 600 miles an hour. It has a 130-foot wing span, is 136 feet long and 38 feet high. It can carry 31,000 gallons of jet fuel and fully loaded is 297,000 pounds. It has a 4,000 mile range. It is the military counterpart to the Boeing 707.

Parman Placed On Most Wanted Criminal List

His five-day reign in the honeymoon suit ended Dec. 4, 1956 when the late Police Chief I. B. Bruce jailed Amalu, Parman and two companions for investigation of fraud.

At the time Bruce said Prince Sam was "an international swindler, con man, forger, paper hanger and counterfeiter."

As the prince's secretary, Parman's signature was on many of the checks the prince forged.

Amalu and Mrs. Jane Tomberlin, divorced wife of a Texas oilman, were married in the Antlers after a publicized whirlwind courtship during which the princess-to-be was left at the altar in Denver's Brown Palace Hotel.

When the prince finally decided to go through with the ceremony, he slipped an expensive ring on his bride's finger which he purchased in the Antlers Indian Shop.

Parman, 32, went to Washington from Minneapolis around New Year's Day, the FBI reported Friday in Washington.

A State Department secretary, Shirley Ann Cary, was found dead in an alleyway early last Saturday, near the Washington Cathedral. Police said the choir singer had been strangled probably with a rope, and sexually molested.

Parman was indicted last Monday in Washington on a charge of first-degree murder. Police said he had been nightclubbing with Miss Cary only a few hours before her body was found. The FBI entered the case on grounds Parman probably had fled across state lines to avoid arrest.

Scott Werner, agent in charge of the FBI in Denver, said Friday he had no reason to believe Parman is in the area. But an all-points fugitive bulletin has been issued.

Parman was arrested by Colorado Springs police Dec. 4, 1956, and was brought before the U.S. Marshall in Denver Dec. 10. He was indicted on 10 counts for using the telephone in inter-state commerce for purposes of fraud.

Parman was sentenced to concurrent three-year terms on each of the 10 counts, in U.S. District Court in Denver May 31, 1957. He was sent to Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary.

The FBI in Washington warned Friday that Parman is considered extremely dangerous, probably carrying firearms. He is a former ex-serviceman, discharged in 1955 after less than a year's duty, for falsifying his enlistment papers.

Man's Hearing Endangered By Beating

Bobby Dean Powell, 9 S. Wahsatch Ave. was beaten so badly early Saturday morning that there is a possibility he may lose his hearing in one ear, police reported.

Powell had been in the Cotton Club and left at closing time Saturday morning in company with three other men he had met in the bar. After they had walked a few blocks all three jumped him, knocked him to the ground and kicked him until he was unconscious.

His wallet containing $9 was stolen and Powell was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He had severe head lacerations and lacerations around the left ear. It is also thought that some of his ribs might have been broken.

Telephone Coin Box Robber, Sheriff Says

The coin box of a public telephone at 1700 S. 8th St. was forced and an unknown amount of money taken, the sheriff's office said Saturday.

The incident is thought to have happened Thursday, the same night as the telephone booth by the Broadmoor Cog Railway was demolished by a bomb causing $375 damage to the booth and $500 to the station at the cog railway.

16 Arrested in Plot to Murder Civil Workers

slaying was skipped over in the indictments, still leaving a mystery as to just how the three met their final fate.

All three — Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, Meridian Negro — had been shot. The bones in Chaney's body had been crushed.

The two indictments were based on old laws enacted during Reconstruction days. One charges the 18 with conspiracy to violently deny civil rights of the trio. The second alleges the 18 men took part in a conspiracy involving law enforcement officers to illegally punish the trio.

Only the state could bring murder charges in this case, since the slayings did not occur on federal property. In Mississippi, the maximum penalty for murder is death. The Neshoba County grand jury meets next month and could consider the case.

If convicted on the first count of the federal indictment, the 18 men could each be sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison and fined $10,000. Conviction on the four-count second indictment carries a penalty of one year and $1,000 fine on each count.

The arrests were carried out swiftly and smoothly by six U.S. marshals. Price, Rainey and a half-dozen other defendants gathered at the Neshoba County courthouse to await the arrests.

Except for spoken threats to newsmen and photographers, there were no incidents.

Rainey put aside his gun and Price got into his Western style jacket with a large fur collar.

The group then accompanied the marshals on a 39-mile trip to Meridian where they went before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter for the second time in little more than a month.

Calling the 16 men into her small, second-floor office at the post office building by twos and threes, Miss Carter read the indictments, then fixed bonds for each at $5,750.

Nearly two-dozen Philadelphia residents followed the defendants over here and stood outside the office while the bond arrangements were made.

On leaving, Rainey put his hand on a newsman's shoulder and said softly, "No, I won't have any statement." Price didn't say anything.

All but one of those indicted were among the 21 men arrested by the FBI Dec. 4 on virtually the same charges. Those charges were dropped later when Miss Carter refused at a preliminary hearing to hear an alleged confession by one of them.

The grand jury did not name four of those arrested previously, and added Richard Andrew Willis, Philadelphia city policeman, to the list.

The three civil rights workers had gone to Philadelphia last June 21 to check on the burning of a Negro church used for civil rights meetings.

On leaving the charred church site, they were stopped by Price for speeding and taken to the county jail. After a six-hour stay, the government said Price took them out to the country.

In the past, Price has said he freed the trio after they posted $20 bond and they headed toward Meridian.

They were not seen again.

backing of the schools by parents.

She said she thinks that the national president, Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, was including Colorado when she declared in Chicago that extremist groups are trying to infiltrate PTAs in 35 states.

Mrs. Moorehead said the PTA was putting out a booklet telling PTA members how to deal with far right and far left pressures.

The booklets that Mrs. Moorehead referred to have not been received by local PTA groups, Mrs. Anderson said.

Mrs. Anderson pointed out that while there is "some evidence" of extremist action, there is nothing "specific" that she knows of.

She pointed out that "so far as I know" there is no special effort being made at this time by extremists to swamp her or any other PTA member with lots of mail.

While nuisance phone calls have been reported a favorite tactic of extremist groups in this nation, there apparently is no report of any such action being taken in this state to harass PTA members.

SIZZLING START FOR WEEK—Mayor Harry Hoth, who as a former Jaycee applied the branding iron on numerous occasions, was on the receiving end Saturday. The mayor became the target when a Jaycee delegation called upon him and indulged in this bit of by-play to focus attention on the start of Jaycee Week in Colorado Springs today. Mayor Starts JC Week by Receiving Special Hotseat

The Jaycees cornered His Honor outside his offices at KRDO and when it was over, they left the Jaycee mark on him.

In fact the Mayor was branded into placing his brand and signature at the bottom of a proclamation declaring this week as "Jaycee Week In Colorado Springs."

Mayor Hoth, a former Jaycee here, took the branding good naturally but was completely serious in the proclamation which declared that "This organization of young men has contributed materially to the betterment of this community throughout the year."

The Mayor also urged all citizens of the community to give full consideration to the future services of the Junior Chamber of Commerce."

On the aspect of services, the Jaycees issued a short proclamation of their own thanking "the people and merchants of Colorado Springs for their assistance with the many and varied projects which the Jaycees sponsor."

The Jaycees statement also said "If it were not for the strong backing of the local residents and firms of Colorado Springs, the Jaycees could not exist."

The local chapter boasts a membership of 150 men which join in all Jaycee undertakings. In 1964, the Jaycees launched 44 different projects ranging from Chuck Wagon dinners to the Soap Box Derby.

President Mac Harvey issued the following statement concerning the Jaycees:

"The Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce wants you to know the AIM of the Colorado Springs Jaycees. To make this area a better place to live, and in the process, to improve each Jaycees' own leadership ability. With an eye on tomorrow, and a hand in today, working on projects to benefit the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of our fellowmen.

"WHAT THE JAYCEES ARE DOING FOR COLORADO SPRINGS: Jaycees are leading the way in Colorado Springs in Tourist Promotion, Youth Activities, Trade Promotion, Sports and Recreation and in some areas of Governamental Affairs. Some of the major projects that are sponsored by the Junior Chamber include the Chuck Wagon Dinners in the Garden of the Gods, Information Wagons in the region, Youth Sports Activities including Junior Ski, Hockey, Golf and Tennis programs. Boy and Girl Scout activities and Tourist and Trade promotion.

"In addition, new ideas for projects are always welcomed and carefully considered to meet the important needs of the community.

"We invite you to join. Eligibility: Young men 21-36 are eligible for regular membership in the Junior Chamber. Meetings: Regular Bi-Monthly evening meeting feature a full course dinner, top notch entertainment and a "night out" of real interest to all. Wives: Jaycee Wives Club welcomes wives of all Jaycees to participate in their interesting activities. Dues: Your dues purchase your Jaycee Pin, the local, state and national publications. Fact: Colorado Springs Jaycees are known thruout the nation as one of the outstanding chapters. Colorado Springs is the only group in the nation to have hosted two National Conventions in a five year period. Many prominent business and professional men have past Jaycee experience.

"WHAT THE JAYCEES CAN DO FOR YOU: Contact with business and community leaders through civic work. Opportunities to assume administrative leadership outside your business or job. Experience in human relations through supervision of other young men on a volunteer basis. A chance to think on an administrative level—an important requisite to promotion in modern day business. Actual experience in budget allocations and financial procedures through participation on Jaycee committees. An opportunity to carry out excellent public relations for your employer thru civic participation. Opportunities to meet and associate with other young men of your own age."

Howard Emrich, of the Scout Executive Board is program director and 134 women from each pack, troop and post were appointed for the hostess committee, headed by Mrs. Jean Cloud. Mrs. John Wear will be chairwoman for special guests and Executive Board tables.

Each Scout unit normally makes a reservation for a table for 12 persons. No more table reservations can be accepted, Col. Wear said, because we exhausted our capacity.

Dist. 8 Will Vote on School Bond Proposal

registered in the El Paso County poll books.

In a public hearing on the proposed bond issue last week, District Eight Superintendent Dean Fleischauer said, if the bond issue passed, the board of education plans to sell about two-thirds of the $600,000 issue to conduct the first phase of a building program, or to take care of the "immediate building needs."

"That will amount to about 7.5 mills," Fleischauer said. "That means each taxpayer will pay an additional $7.50 in school tax for each $1,000 of assessed property he owns."

Three sites will be considered in the "immediate building needs" category. They are North Carson with an expected increase of 267 students, Fountain High School with an expected increase of 208 pupils and Fountain Elementary.

The North Carson addition will be financed completely with federal funds and will not require any of the bond issue money. The board is planning a four-room addition to Fountain Elementary School. A more elaborate plan is prepared for Fountain High School. It includes a library, storage rooms, a study hall, a four-room complex of classroms, with portable walls, two other classrooms and an industrial arts area with a woodshop, a metal shop and an electrical shop.

lighter and warn Kitty Kroger, an attendant, to lock herself in her room as there was an escape in progress.

The youngsters left by the front door, the older ones going north and the younger boys headed south. Members of the sheriff's office, police department and civilians promptly went into action and it was a short time before all four were in custody again.

Stan Wood of the County Farm caught one of the older boys and suffered bites, knocks and kicks in the process. The only other casualty was Police Officer John Donahue who suffered from exhaustion and was treated by a doctor who said his condition was not serious.

After the boys were locked up the two older ones wrecked their rooms and topped off the day's work by stuffing their clothing down the toilet, flushing it and flooding the rooms.

The Weather Bureau said another storm was developing in the Cape Hatteras, N.C., area.

Freezing weather extended southward to the Gulf Coast, and the mercury plunged to 32 below zero in Brainerd, Minn., and 24 below in Houlton and Limestone, Maine.

New England was buffeted by winds up to 40 and 50 m.p.h., with snow expected to total 10 inches in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Washington, D.C., anticipated a snowfall of two inches or more. Snow removal units from Ft. Belvoir, Va., were to be moved in during the weekend as a precaution in connection with the forthcoming presidential inaugural.

At Atlanta, Ga., a night shift at the Chevrolet and Fisher body plant was canceled when a number of employes were unable to report for work because of slick roads. The Bowie race course in southern Maryland canceled its Saturday program.

Peculiarly enough, air and rail transportation in the East were not greatly affected.

Several persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and others died in automobile accidents blamed on storm conditions. Others perished in fires which swept their homes.

Most of Ohio was hit by a heavy snowfall, which was expected to total 14 inches in some sections. Columbus recorded seven inches.

Automobile Stolen From Used Car Lot

W. E. Sanders of the J. F. Auto Sales, 1331 S. Tejon St. reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that a 1961 black Chevrolet convertible worth $1,595 had been stolen from the car lot. Sanders also said that the car keys for the vehicle had been taken Thursday and the car stolen Friday night.

CU Team Gets Grant to Study The Atmosphere

A University of Colorado team of astro - geophysicists is working under a three - year $97,000 National Science Foundation grant to study the interactions and motion of the atmosphere high above the Earth.

The research team, headed by Dr. Julius London of the CU Department of Astro-Geophysics, is studying the information gathered from 15 to 50 miles above the Earth, trying to find out more about the motions of the air aloft.

The study concerns a highly toxic gas called ozone, which is found in varying amounts throughout the upper atmosphere.

London explained that ozone is formed when certain radiation from the Sun strikes an oxygen molecule, causing it to break into two atoms. Each of the separated atoms then "joins up" with another normal oxygen molecule, to make an ozone molecule.

The ozone in turn absorbs more solar radiation, and the resulting energy helps to drive, or push, the circulation in the stratosphere, London said.

By using information gathered from about 75 observing stations around the world, London hopes to determine how the varying amounts of ozone in the atmosphere and the changes in wind patterns in the 10- to 20-mile-high stratosphere relate to one another.

He said the project also is being conducted to try to determine the amount of radiation — from both the Sun and the Earth — which is absorbed by the ozone.

Working with London on the project are Research Associate Dr. Takashi Sasamori, doctoral candidate William Kuhn and Patricia Jones, who helps in various administrative and technical work.

Kurdish Rebels Sentenced by Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Turkish criminal court has sentenced 10 persons to prison terms for taking part in a Kurdish rebellion against the state. The verdict ended a five-year trial.

The defendants — eight Iraqi students, an Iranian and a Turk — will not be imprisoned because they had served at least a year in jail awaiting trial. The sentences ranged from six months to a year followed by banishment.

Alcohol Council Provides Book For Libraries

The El Paso County Council on Alcoholism announced today that they have provided Public Libraries, School Districts, Colorado College and the U.S. Air Force Academy Librarians with a copy of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Public Health Service's new issue entitled "Alcoholism-A Selected Bibliography." It was complied by Carl L. Anderson, PH.D. Consultant, Alcoholsim and Drug Abuse, Community Research and Services Branch - National Institute of Mental Health.

The Bibliography is a follow up by the Council to aid in Alcohol Education by disseminating modern available information and publications. In October Films and Speakers were offered to over 35 local schools as part of their health programs. "The Choice Is Yours" was also included and School District No. 11 recently announced a distribution of these to their students. A supply of these pamphlets are available to all schools and youth groups either through the local Alcoholism Information Centered sponsored by the Council, a United Fund Agency. They may also be ordered directly through the Secretary of State of Colorado, Bryon A. Anderson, Denver, Colorado.

Increased inquiries from students wishing to write papers or give talks on Teen-age drinking and Alcoholism have been received at the Center. Many students report they first seek material on this subject through their School and Public Libraries and have found little avialable. The Center has been supplying pamphlets and literature, research material and extending the use of its library to students for this purpose. It will be a great help to students when they are able to locate some of this material in their School, Public and College Libraries.

Officials expressed a desire to furnish copies of the Bibliography to other educational groups, but limited budget does not permit. Any organization wishing a copy of this well compiled Bibliography may obtain a copy by writing to: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 and obtain it for 15 cents per copy.

Springs Pair Selected for Who's Who List

Two Colorado Springs students were among 33 students at Colorado State College, Greeley, selected for Who's Who among Students in American Colleges and Universities of 1964-65. They are Dave Best, 3100 Wood, and Beryl Watson, 2119 Glen Summer.

Students named to Who's Who are all junior or senior students chosen on the basis of service to the college, leadership ability and scholarship. They are chosen by a committee of students, approved by a faculty committee and also approved by the national Who's Who committee.

Best is a senior majoring in math. He is president of Alpha Kappa Lambda social fraternity and is a member of Blue Key, honorary service fraternity; Personnel Council, and Interfraternity Council.

Watson, a junior elementary education major, is vice president of Alpha Kappa Lambda, social fraternity, and Interfraternity Council. He is a member of Blue Key and Intercollegiate Knights. He was a member of the 1964 Homecoming committee.

CU Team Gets Grant to Study The Atmosphere

A University of Colorado team of astro - geophysicists is working under a three - year $97,000 National Science Foundation grant to study the interactions and motion of the atmosphere high above the Earth.

The research team, headed by Dr. Julius London of the CU Department of Astro-Geophysics, is studying the information gathered from 15 to 50 miles above the Earth, trying to find out more about the motions of the air aloft.

The study concerns a highly toxic gas called ozone, which is found in varying amounts throughout the upper atmosphere.

London explained that ozone is formed when certain radiation from the Sun strikes an oxygen molecule, causing it to break into two atoms. Each of the separated atoms then "joins up" with another normal oxygen molecule, to make an ozone molecule.

The ozone in turn absorbs more solar radiation, and the resulting energy helps to drive, or push, the circulation in the stratosphere, London said.

By using information gathered from about 75 observing stations around the world, London hopes to determine how the varying amounts of ozone in the atmosphere and the changes in wind patterns in the 10- to 20-mile-high stratosphere relate to one another.

He said the project also is being conducted to try to determine the amount of radiation — from both the Sun and the Earth — which is absorbed by the ozone.

Working with London on the project are Research Associate Dr. Takashi Sasamori, doctoral candidate William Kuhn and Patricia Jones, who helps in various administrative and technical work.

Kurdish Rebels Sentenced by Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Turkish criminal court has sentenced 10 persons to prison terms for taking part in a Kurdish rebellion against the state. The verdict ended a five-year trial.

The defendants — eight Iraqi students, an Iranian and a Turk — will not be imprisoned because they had served at least a year in jail awaiting trial. The sentences ranged from six months to a year followed by banishment.

Alcohol Council Provides Book For Libraries

The El Paso County Council on Alcoholism announced today that they have provided Public Libraries, School Districts, Colorado College and the U.S. Air Force Academy Librarians with a copy of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Public Health Service's new issue entitled "Alcoholism-A Selected Bibliography." It was compiled by Carl L. Anderson, PH.D. Consultant, Alcoholsim and Drug Abuse, Community Research and Services Branch - National Institute of Mental Health.

The Bibliography is a follow up by the Council to aid in Alcohol Education by disseminating modern available information and publications. In October Films and Speakers were offered to over 35 local schools as part of their health programs. "The Choice Is Yours" was also included and School District No. 11 recently announced a distribution of these to their students. A supply of these pamphlets are available to all schools and youth groups either through the local Alcoholism Information Centered sponsored by the Council, a United Fund Agency. They may also be ordered directly through the Secretary of State of Colorado, Bryon A. Anderson, Denver, Colorado.

Increased inquiries from students wishing to write papers or give talks on Teen-age drinking and Alcoholism have been received at the Center. Many students report they first seek material on this subject through their School and Public Libraries and have found little avialable. The Center has been supplying pamphlets and literature, research material and extending the use of its library to students for this purpose. It will be a great help to students when they are able to locate some of this material in their School, Public and College Libraries.

Officials expressed a desire to furnish copies of the Bibliography to other educational groups, but limited budget does not permit. Any organization wishing a copy of this well compiled Bibliography may obtain a copy by writing to: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 and obtain it for 15 cents per copy.

U.S. Information Agency Spends On Movies

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The U.S. Information Agency, snarled in controversy over a film about the war in South Viet Nam, is in the movie business in a big way — $7.5 million worth this year.

It produced some 600 documentaries, newsreels and short subjects last year in an effort to present the American viewpoint overseas. Officials estimate that some 750 million persons around the world see such movies each year.

USIA's distribution network — which it describes as the world's largest — reaches into more than 100 countries.

This week's flare-up stemmed from an Associated Press account of a mock battle being staged for cameramen in South Viet Nam. USIA Director Carl Rowan ordered an end to any faked fighting scenes but kept the $100,000 Vietnamese film project rolling ahead.

The USIA considers movies one of its most effective ways of presenting the American viewpoint because they can reach people who cannot read or who are in areas without television.

The stated objective of the film South Viet Nam is to show people in non-Communist countries the conditions that exist in Red- pressed South Viet Nam.

All told, USIA has produced films in more than 75 countries. One 14-minute documentary, "The President," showing the White House transition after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. was sent to 111 countries in 39 language versions.

Most USIA motion pictures which do not have to be rushed abroad because of a spot news event are initially sent in the English language to USIA's foreign posts for a review before distribution. The USIA post officers make recommendations on how to make the film more useful locally and advise what languages and how many copies are needed.

USIA then makes a final version for overseas showings. Its movies have been recorded in more than 50 major languages and used by USIA's 228 posts in 106 countries. The agency has 7,350 projectors and 208 mobile motion picture units abroad.

The films are released through various channels. In some countries theater distribution systems carry the USIA product — not always identified as such — for showing in local movie houses. Television stations abroad also use the films. And USIA offices lend the movies to local organizations, show them at USIA posts or go into the field with mobile units.

Oil Pipeline For Springs To Be Probed

DENVER AP — The Colorado Public Utilities Commission postponed today until Feb. 23 a hearing on a proposed petroleum products pipeline from Denver to Colorado Springs and Pueblo. The original date was Jan. 20.

"The matter is of sufficient importance and warrants postponement of the case in order to permit all interested parties to make a thorough investigation of the application and to prepare their protests," said Henry Zarlengo, commission chairman.

The application for the $3.1 million pipeline was filed by the Columbine Pipeline Co. with the commission Jan. 6. It said the pipeline would carry 17,500 barrels of gasoline and fuel oil per day, but the capacity could be increased by installing additional pumping apparatus.

Zarlengo said the commission was informed the Wyco Pipe Line Co. plans to file an application for permission to build a line from Dupont north of Denver to Fountain, south of Colorado Springs.

Sam L. Jackson, Wyco president, told the PUC his firm has spent $100,000 for a 60-acre terminal site near Fountain, and for engineering studies.

Protests against Columbine's proposed line have been filed with the commission by the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, Ward Transport, Inc., and the Petroleum Transport Co.

If Skiers Could Use a Tramway, Why Not Workers and Bulldozers

Text By
Flt. Sgt. DICK WILSON, RCAF
Photos By
SM. Sgt. DICK MADARA USAF

Ever thought of going to work every day on an aerial tramway.

If you are a skier, it probably wouldn't make much difference.

But for non-skiing construction workers who recently completed installation of two microwave antennas on the steep slopes of Cheyenne Mountain, there was no choice. An aerial tram was the only way they could get to work.

The antennas are one of the communications links for North American Air Defense Command's underground combat operations center being built inside the mountain, five miles south of here. One is on the north face of the mountain, the other on the south face.

Both are 8100 feet above sea level, 1000 feet farther up the mountain than the tunnel entrances into the underground complex.

The aerial tramway leads to the south site. It was the brainchild of Kenneth Rennar, construction engineer with Grafe-Wallace Inc., of Denver and the project manager. The project was a joint venture between Grafe-Wallace and J. M. Foster Co., of Chicago, Ill., under contract with American Telephone and Telegraph.

At the outset Rennar was faced with the problem of getting men, materials and equipment up to the virtually inaccessible sites.

First he tackled the north side. This was completed by carving a steep-graded single track road out of the side of the mountain. Four-wheel-drive trucks were used to haul men and materials. Some veteran drivers found the sharp switchbacks and steep grades nerve-wracking but the job was done.

Getting to the south site was something else. It sits on a 45-degree slope. Constructing a road was out of the question. Unpredictable winds swirling about the mountainside ruled out helicopters.

Rennar's solution — borrow from the skiers and build an aerial tramway.

Having initiated the idea, Rennar took an active part in setting up the tramway. He and one of his assistants scrambled up the steep slope trailing a light cable and carrying a small winch.

Once they got high enough to allow sufficient clearance of the tram car, the winch was anchored and the heavy tram cable was hauled up with the light cable. When the installation was completed, Rennar was one of two men to make the first trip.

He wishes he hadn't.

That day a brisk wind made the car sway like the pendulum on a grandfather clock. As Rennar put it, "It was somewhat unsettling to the stomach."

The tram cable is 2,400 feet long and rises out of the winch house at an angle of 35 degrees. It is 1 5/8 inches in diameter and has a capacity of 100 tons when used vertically. At its present angle the capacity is reduced to 45 tons. Always safety conscious, the contractor maintains a 600 per cent safety factor and has restricted loading to a maximum of six tons per trip. Each trip takes seven minutes.

To complete the antenna installation required hauling 12,000 100-pound bags of sand, gravel and cement, 60 tons of reinforcing steel rod, 18,000 board feet of lumber, 300 sheets of plywood, a 9-ton cement mixer — dismantled in three pieces — and a 3½-ton bulldozer — also dismantled.

Some 12 workmen made the trip to and from their work each day and although some were apprehensive at first, it became routine after a couple of days.

The installation takes the form of a solid cement block in the shape of an equilateral triangle 18 feet on a side with the base sunk 28 feet into the solid granite of the mountain. The cement is reinforced with 60 tons of steel rod making it impregnable to anything but a direct hit by a powerful nuclear weapon.

Mounted on the face is a dish-shaped reflector aimed at a distant communications center. Cables running some 1600 feet into the mountain will connect the reflectors at each site to the underground control center.

Asked about the difficutly of this project compared to others he's worked on, Rennar said, "Our biggest difficulty here was transportation — getting to and from the job. Once we solved that, the actual construction phase was routine.

"Our company has built 27 Atlas missile sites and nine Titan sites in parts of the country unfit for human habitation. We also built two Texas Towers in the Atlantic Ocean off the East Coast.

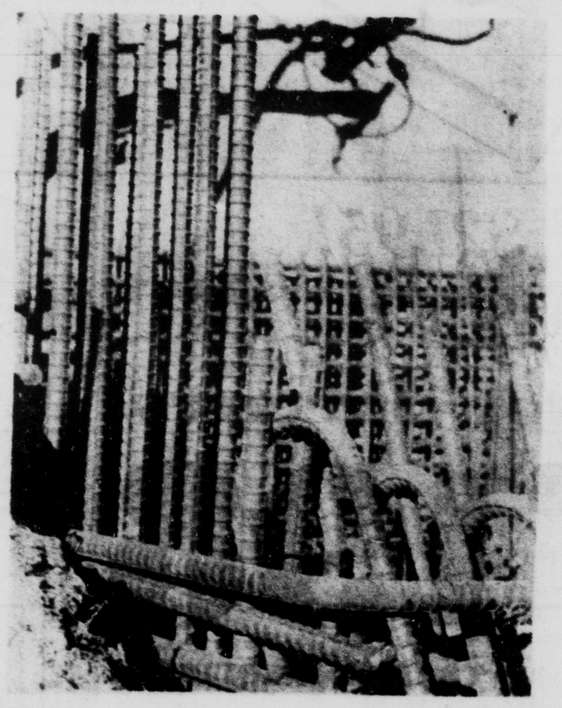
"But I think the roughest job I've ever worked on was at Cape Kennedy where we built several Titan missile stands." Then in the vernacular of his native Texas, he explained, "There the mosquitos were so big, they could stand flat-footed and challenge the turkey gobblers.

"I hope my next project will be a real quiet one. Like a school house in downtown Denver."

It probably won't be.

AT THE TOP OF THE TRAM—"Planted" in the steep slope of Cheyenne Mountain, the microwave antenna is complete except for cleaning up. Horse-collar cement-sprayed trench channels water runoff. Above the emplacement, out of the picture, are two 12-foot domestic swimming pools which serve as water reservoirs. Water was pumped from underground complex some 1,600 feet inside the mountain. The tram carries six men or six tons of material to the site and has a built-in manual braking system in case of runaway. This and other photos on this page were taken exclusively for the Gazette Telegraph.
(NORAD Photo)

PROBLEM IS SOLVED — Project Manager Kenneth Rennar, Grafe-Wallace engineer, left, discusses the project with Royal Canadian Air Force Flight Sgt. Dick Wilson of the NORAD Public Affairs staff. Rennar dreamed up the idea of building an aerial tramway to gain access to the antenna site on the steep slope of Cheyenne Mountain. "Our biggest difficulty here," he said, "was getting to and from the job. Once we solved that, the actual construction was routine but I hope my next job is a quiet one—like a school house in downtown Denver." (NORAD Photo)



DIRECT HIT ONLY—Sixty tons of reinforced steel rod such as this makes the antenna impregnable to all but a direct hit from a powerful nuclear weapon.

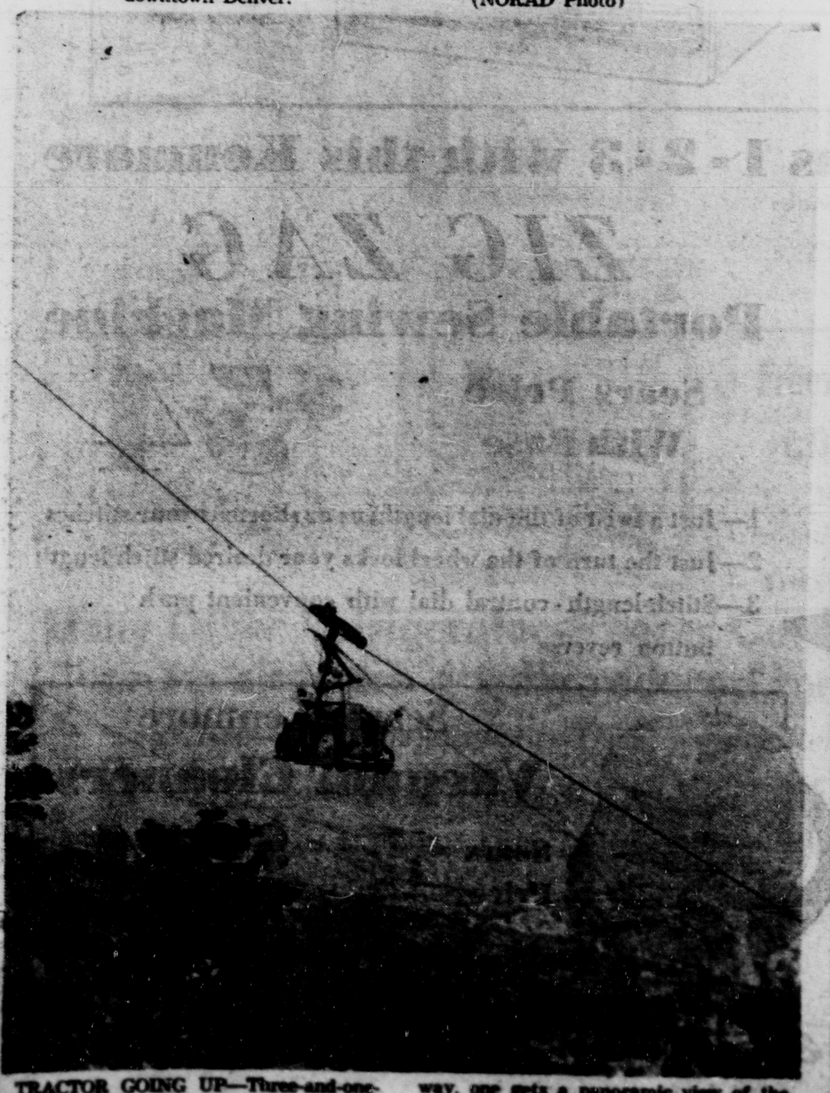
MORE THAN 100 TRIPS—Part of the stockpile of 12,000 bags of cement mixture—sand, gravel and cement—hauled up the mountain. Bags weigh 100 pounds each. This phase required over 100 trips by the tram car. The tons of cement plus the tons of steel reenforcing rod makes the antenna virtually indestructible.
(NORAD Photo)



TRACTOR GOING UP—Three-and-one-half-ton bulldozer is "airlifted" to the top. Trucks and scoop were removed to reduce bulk and allow passage through cable support towers. From the tramway, one gets a panoramic view of the eastern plains and Ft. Carson. The tramway was used to carry other building materials as well as men to the site of the antenna. (NORAD Photo)

LOOKING DOWN — Aerial tram rises out of winch house at an angle of 35 degrees on 2600-ft. cable. Trip to the top —1000 feet of elevation—takes seven minutes. Construction officials said that construction of the tramway was necessary for workers and materials to reach the site high up on Cheyenne Mountain. (NORAD Photo)

If Skiers Could Use a Tramway, Why Not Workers and Bulldozers

Text By
Flt. Sgt. DICK WILSON, RCAF

SM. Sgt. DICK MADARA USAF

Ever thought of going to work every day on an aerial tramway.

If you are a skier, it probably wouldn't make much difference.

But for non-skiing construction workers who recently completed installation of two microwave antennas on the steep slopes of Cheyenne Mountain, there was no choice. An aerial tram was the only way they could get to work.

The antennas are one of the communications links for North American Air Defense Command's underground combat operations center being built inside the mountain, five miles south of here. One is on the north face of the mountain, the other on the south face.

Both are 8100 feet above sea level, 1000 feet farther up the mountain than the tunnel entrances into the underground complex.

The aerial tramway leads to the south site. It was the brainchild of Kenneth Rennar, construction engineer with Grafe-Wallace Inc., of Denver and the project manager. The project was a joint venture between Grafe-Wallace and J. M. Foster Co., of Chicago, Ill., under contract with American Telephone and Telegraph.

At the outset Rennar was faced with the problem of getting men, materials and equipment up to the virtually inaccessible sites.

First he tackled the north side. This was completed by carving a steep-graded single track road out of the side of the mountain. Four-wheel-drive trucks were used to haul men and materials. Some veteran drivers found the sharp switchbacks and steep grades nerve-wracking but the job was done.

Getting to the south site was something else. It sits on a 45-degree slope. Constructing a road was out of the question. Unpredictable winds swirling about the mountainside ruled out helicopters.

Rennar's solution — borrow from the skiers and build an aerial tramway.

Having initiated the idea, Rennar took an active part in setting up the tramway. He and one of his assistants scrambled up the steep slope trailing a light cable and carrying a small winch.

Once they got high enough to allow sufficient clearance of the tram car, the winch was anchored and the heavy tram cable was hauled up with the light cable. When the installation was completed, Rennar was one of two men to make the first trip.

He wishes he hadn't.

That day a brisk wind made the car sway like the pendulum on a grandfather clock. As Rennar put it, "It was somewhat unsettling to the stomach."

The tram cable is 2,400 feet long and rises out of the winch house at an angle of 35 degrees. It is 1 ⅝s inches in diameter and has a capacity of 100 tons when used vertically. At its present angle the capacity is reduced to 45 tons. Always safety conscious, the contractor maintains a 600 per cent safety factor and has restricted loading to a maximum of six tons per trip. Each trip takes seven minutes.

To complete the antenna installation required hauling 12,000 100-pound bags of sand, gravel and cement, 60 tons of reinforcing steel rod, 18,000 board feet of lumber, 300 sheets of plywood, a 9-ton cement mixer — dismantled in three pieces — and a 3½-ton bulldozer — also dismantled.

Some 12 workmen made the trip to and from their work each day and although some were apprehensive at first, it became routine after a couple of days.

The installation takes the form of a solid cement block in the shape of an equilateral triangle 18 feet on a side with the base sunk 28 feet into the solid granite of the mountain. The cement is reinforced with 60 tons of steel rod making it impregnable to anything but a direct hit by a powerful nuclear weapon.

Mounted on the face is a dish-shaped reflector aimed at a distant communications center. Cables running some 1600 feet into the mountain will connect the reflectors at each site to the underground control center.

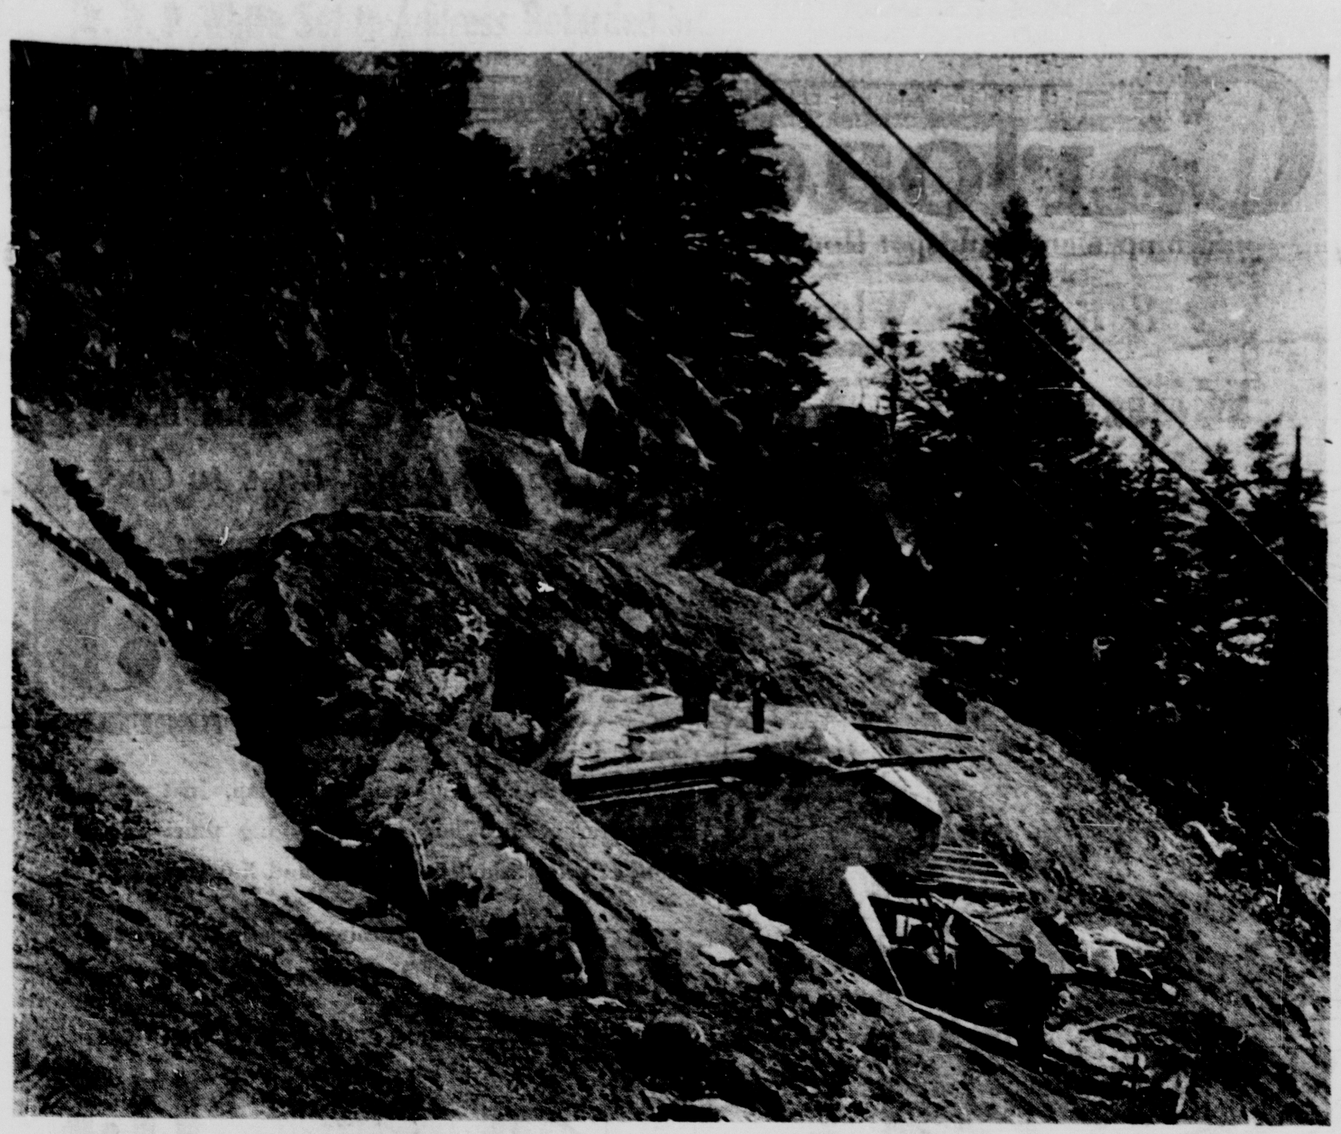
Asked about the difficutly of this project compared to others he's worked on, Rennar said, "Our biggest difficulty here was transportation — getting to and from the job. Once we solved that, the actual construction phase was routine.

"Our company has built 27 Atlas missile sites and nine Titan sites in parts of the country unfit for human habitation. We also built two Texas Towers in the Atlantic Ocean off the East Coast.

"But I think the roughest job I've ever worked on was at Cape Kennedy where we built several Titan missile stands." Then in the vernacular of his native Texas, he explained, "There the mosquitos were so big, they could stand flat-footed and challenge the turkey gobblers.

"I hope my next project will be a real quiet one. Like a school house in downtown Denver."

It probably won't be.



AT THE TOP OF THE TRAM—"Planted" in the steep slope of Cheyenne Mountain, the microwave antenna is complete except for cleaning up. Horse-collar cement-sprayed trench channels water runoff. Above the emplacement, out of the picture, are two 12-foot domestic swimming pools which serve as water reservoirs. Water was pumped from underground complex some 1,600 feet inside the mountain. The tram carries six men or six tons of material to the site and has a built-in manual braking system in case of runaway . This and other photos on this page were taken exclusively for the Gazette Telegraph.

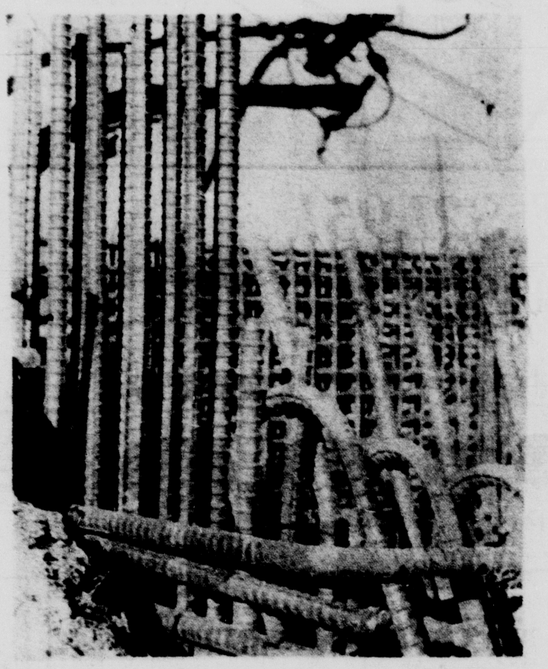
PROBLEM IS SOLVED — Project Manager Kenneth Rennar, Grafe-Wallace engineer, left, discusses the project with Royal Canadian Air Force Flight Sgt. Dick Wilson of the NORAD Public Affairs staff. Rennar dreamed up the idea of building an aerial tramway to gain access to the antenna site on the steep slope of Cheyenne Mountain. "Our biggest difficulty here," he said, "was getting to and from the job. Once we solved that, the actual construction was routine but I hope my next job is a quiet one—like a school house in downtown Denver." (NORAD Photo)



DIRECT HIT ONLY—Sixty tons of reinforced steel rod such as this makes the antenna impregnable to all but a direct hit from a powerful nuclear weapon.
(NORAD Photo)

MORE THAN 100 TRIPS—Part of the stockpile of 12,000 bags of cement mixture—sand, gravel and cement—hauled up the mountain. Bags weigh 100 pounds each. This phase required over 100 trips by the tram car. The tons of cement plus the tons of steel reenforcing rod makes the antenna virtually indestructible.
(NORAD Photo)

TRACTOR GOING UP—Three-and-one-half-ton bulldozer is "airlifted" to the top. Trucks and scoop were removed to reduce bulk and allow passage through cable support towers. From the tramway, one gets a panoramic view of the eastern plains and Ft. Carson. The tramway was used to carry other building materials as well as men to the site of the antenna. (NORAD Photo)

LOOKING DOWN — Aerial tram rises out of winch house at an angle of 35 degrees on 2400-ft. cable. Trip to the top —1000 feet of elevation—takes seven minutes. Construction officials said that construction of the tramway was necessary for workers and materials to reach the site high up on Cheyenne Mountain. (NORAD Photo)

THE FINISHED PRODUCT—With its base sunk 28 feet into solid granite and reinforced with 60 tons of steel rod, completed antenna is virtually indestructible. Reflector, dark circle, was mounted under 20,000 pounds pressure and aimed at a distant communications center. Microwave communication is one of several systems being installed to provide NORAD's underground combat operations center contact with the outside world. (NORAD Photo)

86 YEARS OF SERVICE — Assistant Postmaster A. J. Onufrock presents Retirement Certificates and retirement checks to Lyle Lowe, 3214 Pennsylvania; Jewel Sullivan, 1502 N. Cedar; and Clarence Simmons, 720 E. Moreno, upon their retirement from the Colorado Springs Post Office. The combined postal service time for the three retirees amounts to 86 years.

During the 1963 - 1964 fiscal year, the United States Postal Inspection Service instituted 1985 investigations in the category dealing with people ordering merchandise fraudulently by mail.

Goodwill Aids Handicapped To Become Self-Sustaining

Wages at Goodwill Industries of Colorado Springs totaled $101,904.30 in 1964, and the staff and clients of the organization in the same period paid federal and state taxes amounting to $15,534.13, according to the year end report of Kenneth Olson, executive director, to his board of directors.

Because of these wages, the handicapped became self sustaining and not a tax burden to the Pikes Peak area community, Olson explained. Many of these persons are now presently employable in regular industry and would have been recipients of tax supported welfare programs instead of tax supporters of the community, he said.

There were 12 persons placed by Goodwill in outside employment last year while 10 others found their own jobs, Olson added. These handicapped also might have been a community tax burden had it not been for Goodwill training, he added.

Sales in the organization's three outlets came to $149,000 for the year. On these sales Goodwill paid $2,836 in sales tax to the state of Colorado.

Other taxes paid by the local group included excise tax, $76.86; federal withholding, $8,779.93; state withholding, $1,154.31; social security, $7,199.78; and unemployment compensation, $816.67. Employes paid half, or $3,599.89, of the social security payments. All taxes paid by Goodwill in 1964 totaled $20,144.35.

Goodwill's program of training to handicapped men and women of the area has been made possible by the generous citizens of the community who have contributed discarded, repairable clothing and household items, and to those who have patronized the three sales outlets.

Items donated by residents of the area are cleaned and processed at the Goodwill sheltered workshop, 2307 W. Colorado Ave. before they are placed on sale. Sales outlets are located at 2307 W. Colorado Ave., 112 E. Cucharras and 2328 E. Platte. There are 25 booths located throughout the city where residents may place their discards. In addition to these booths, Goodwill has three trucks at its disposal to pick up items as a follow-up to telephone calls made by those who wish to contribute.

Olson has again emphasized tours of the plant to see operations of the sheltered workshop are open at all times to groups or individuals. Arrangements for such tours may be made by calling 636-2316.

Dr. W. D. White Set to Address Retarded Inc.

The El Paso County Chapter for Retarded Children, Inc. will meet at 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, January 20, in the library of the First Congregational Church, Tejon and St. Vrain. Dr. John Carson, program chairman, said that the Chief of the Division of Mental Retardation of the Department of Institutions - Dr. Wesley D. White - will be the speaker for the evening.

The title of his talk is, "Colorado's Retarded Children: Present Help - Future Plans."

Dr. White has an outstanding professional background in the field of training the mentally retarded. He came to Colorado in 1961 from the position of Superintendent of Rainier State School in Buckley, Washington. He had previously served as Director of Education and Training at Southbury, Connecticut, probably the outstanding state school in the country.

Since he has been in the Colorado Department of Institutions, under the direction of David Hamil, the state has made great progress in improving facilities for retarded persons in the state institutions and in community centered programs. He will be happy to answer questions from parents, educators, physicians and interested laymen.

The public is invited.

Negroes constituted 9.8 per cent of the population of the United States in 1940; 10 per cent in 1950, and 10.6 per cent in 1960.

Accountants Set Meeting For Pueblo

The next regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Colorado Springs-Pueblo Chapter of The National Association of Accountants will be held Tuesday, at the Minnequa Club in Pueblo. Social activities begin at 6:30 P.M. with dinner scheduled for 7 P.M.

The program for the evening will be a speech by Mr. James C. Moore; his topic will be, "Business Uses of Life Insurance".

Moore is connected with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and is manager of the Pueblo Office. He is a native Pueblоan and was educated in that city's public schools and Pueblo College. He has served as president of the Pueblo Chamber of Commerce, Pueblo Single Fund Campaign and the Y.M.C.A. Moore is chairman of the Pueblo City Council Citizens' Advisory Group and a member of the Southern Colorado State College Advisory Group.

The monthly NAA meetings are open to all area accountants and persons interested in accounting. Guests are always welcome to attend. More information may be obtained by calling Leo Smentowski, 673-1242 or 635-0571.

ARRESTED FOR SMUGGLING

BUDAPEST (UPI) — The Communist organ Nepszabadsag Saturday reported the arrest of 32 Hungarians on charges of smuggling $100,000 worth of goods in from Czechoslovakia.

The report said the suspects traveled to Bratislava, the traditional capital of Slovakia, and bought rubber boots, handkerchiefs, sport dresses and other items scarce in Hugary to sell here at high prices.

BUSINESSMEN VISIT—Harold Whitney of the Colorado Springs Executive Association is aided by Spec. 4 John Wiggers, 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry in the use of the M14-E2 rifle. Warren Says '64 Was Great Dynamic Year for Academy

"1964 was a great, dynamic, and progressive year in the Air Force Academy's history," Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren related in an interview this week. "Major and progressive changes," he said, "were made in academics, and military training programs. Wing expansion plans approval and the host of number one Air Force ratings awarded the Academy, all made the past year rewarding and successful."

The superintendent claimed "We made our greatest contribution of the year to the future Air Force last June — when the Academy graduated and commissioned 495 new second lieutenants."

General Warren called Congressional approval of the expansion of the Cadet Wing from 2,500 to an eventual imit of 4,417 cadets as the highlight of the year.

Other major achievements the superintendent outlined included: Introduction of a "Major for all Cadets" program whereby cadets are required to specialize in one of 14 majors; two Rhodes scholarships; seven National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowships; seven Fullbright Scholarships; and constructive changes to the fourth class training system.

The approval of the construction of a field house and another cadet dormitory were other important 1964 nilestones.

As for recognition extended to the Command, General Warren cited the top Air Force award received for the Academy's highly successful Cost Reduction Program; the Airmen's Dining Hall winning the Hennessey Trophy; the Commissary carrying top honors; two traffic safety awards — the National Safety Council and the Doolittle Award; the Finance Center's award for the Academy being the most improved command; and the Falconews being judged the best newspaper in the Air Force.

Planning for another high priority project, an Aerospace Education Center, made considerable headway during the past year. This would be a non-appropriated fund project. "I am confident," the Superintendent said, "that the center will soon be a reality since it is being handled by the Air Force Academy Foundation and they have succeeded in everything else they have undertaken for the Academy — such as Falcon Stadium, the Golf Course,and various memorial parks."

He went on to say, "This center would be a place we could have seminars, national and international meetings. It will be located just west of the cadet area. It also would have dining facilities and limited overnight accommodations. In the center we would be able to tell the Air Force and the Academy's mission, with some spectacular displays to our almost two million visitors each year."

As for the contemplated airfield here, General Warren stated, "Last July the Air Force submitted to the Department of Defense a request for a small 5,000 foot runway. The final decision has not been received."

Asked how much flying training cadets would receive if, and when, the airfield is completed, the superintendent said, "A light plane program will be initiated which provides each cadet 10 hours orientation and an additional 20½ hours of flying training for cadets who qualified and plan to become pilots — essentially the same as ROTC cadets receive now."

Questioned on when construction of buildings will take place to meet the demands of the expansion program, the Academy's top man said, "Site preparation should begin in March of this year. Actual construction of the first increment of cadet quarters should start in the later part of 1965, with the erection of the field house starting around the same time. The addition to the academic building and the cadet physical education extension should get under way during the fall of next year."

Answering the question of when the new cadet dormitory would be needed to meet the increased number of cadets, General Warren related, "Actually it is needed now. The first increment of the cadet quarters will be completed by July, 1967, when the wing will have a strength of 3,200 cadets. Throughout the construction, we will be forced to have many three-men rooms. Our rooms are small and this is undesirable except on a temporary interim basis."

In answer to the question if the same academic standards that prevail at the Academy will be maintained despite the additional number of cadets, the Superintendent emphatically said, "Definitely yes. If anything, the standards may have to be increased either mentally, physically, or through leadership scores to regulate class size — and increase quality."

Continuing, he said, "Each Congressman is now permitted to appoint five instead of four candidates. The number of applicants exceed vacancies by tens of thousands so we hope to be more and more selective."

Additional career tours for certain professors was another progressive change recorded during 1964, Hq. USAF now permits the Academy to nominate highly qualified professors on a "tenure" basis. This means, the Academy can appoint a limited number of highly qualified officers who could remain on a career basis if their performance of duty remains outstanding. These are in addition to the 22 permanent professors authorized by law.

Elaborating further on the subject, the superintendent stated, "Basically, we would select volunteers who have around 15 years of service, are outstanding as professors, and who have earned a Ph.D. degree."

Asked why the Academy has scored so high in the graduate record examinations, General Warren pointed out, "Academy academic achievements can be directly contributed to our outstanding faculty and many innovations in teaching mehods and policy. Instructors are all hand picked from among thousands of volunteers."

In summary, General Warren added, "Thanks to the great support rendered to the Academy by Hq. USAF and field commands of the Air Force and other services, we can look back on a most rewarding and progressive 1964. We're pleased that everyone in the Air Force seems to take a personal interest in the Academy — it helps in many ways."

Dr. W. D. White Set to Address Retarded Inc.

The El Paso County Chapter for Retarded Children, Inc. will meet at 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, January 20, in the library of the First Congregational Church, Tejon and St. Vrain. Dr. John Carson, program chairman, said that the Chief of the Division of Mental Retardation of the Department of Institutions - Dr. Wesley D. White - will be the speaker for the evening.

The title of his talk is, "Colorado's Retarded Children: Present Help - Future Plans."

Dr. White has an outstanding professional background in the field of training the mentally retarded. He came to Colorado in 1961 from the position of Superintendent of Rainier State School in Buckley, Washington. He had previously served as Director of Education and Training at Southbury, Connecticut, probably the outstanding state school in the country.

Since he has been in the Colorado Department of Institutions, under the direction of David Hamil, the state has made great progress in improving faciilities for retarded persons in the state institutions and in community centered programs. He will be happy to answer questions from parents, educators, physicians and interested laymen.

The public is invited.

Negroes constituted 9.8 per cent of the population of the United States in 1940; 10 per cent in 1950, and 10.6 per cent in 1960.

Accountants Set Meeting For Pueblo

The next regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Colorado Springs-Pueblo Chapter of The National Association of Accountants will be held Tuesday, at the Minnequa Club in Pueblo. Social activities begin at 6:30 P.M. with dinner scheduled for 7 P.M.

The program for the evening will be a speech by Mr. James C. Moore; his topic will be, "Business Uses of Life Insurance".

Moore is connected with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and is manager of the Pueblo Office. He is a native Puebloan and was educated in that city's public schools and Pueblo College. He has served as president of the Pueblo Chamber of Commerce, Pueblo Single Fund Campaign and the Y.M.C.A. Moore is chairman of the Pueblo City Council Citizens' Advisory Group and a member of the Southern Colorado State College Advisory Group.

The monthly NAA meetings are open to all area accountants and persons interested in accounting. Guests are always welcome to attend. More information may be obtained by calling Leo Smentowski, 673-1242 or 635-0571.

ARRESTED FOR SMUGGLING

BUDAPEST (UPI) — The Communist organ Nepszabadsag Saturday reported the arrest of 32 Hungarians on charges of smuggling $100,000 worth of goods in from Czechoslovakia.

The report said the suspects traveled to Bratislava, the traditional capital of Slovakia, and bought rubber boots, handkerchiefs, sport dresses and other items scarce in Hugary to sell here at high prices.

BUSINESSMEN VISIT—Harold Whitney of the Colorado Springs Executive Association is aided by Spec. 4 John Wiggers, 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry in the use of the M14-E2 rifle. The group of businessmen who were guests of Maj. Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, commanding general of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division were taken on a tour of the Post where they were explained the function and capabilities of the modern mechanized infantry. (U.S. Army Photo)

Warren Says '64 Was Great Dynamic Year for Academy

"1964 was a great, dynamic, and progressive year in the Air Force Academy's history," Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren related in an interview this week. "Major and progressive changes," he said, "were made in academics, and military training programs. Wing expansion plans approval and the host of number one Air Force ratings awarded the Academy, all made the past year rewarding and successful."

The superintendent claimed "We made our greatest contribution of the year to the future Air Force last June — when the Academy graduated and commissioned 495 new second lieutenants."

General Warren called Congressional approval of the expansion of the Cadet Wing from 2,500 to an eventual imit of 4,417 cadets as the highlight of the year.

Other major achievements the superintendent outlined included: Introduction of a "Major for all Cadets" program whereby cadets are required to specialize in one of 14 majors; two Rhodes scholarships; seven National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowships; seven Fullbright Scholarships; and constructive changes to the fourth class training system.

The approval of the construction of a field house and another cadet dormitory were other important 1964 nilestones.

As for recognition extended to the Command, General Warren cited the top Air Force award received for the Academy's highly successful Cost Reduction Program; the Airmen's Dining Hall winning the Hennessey Trophy; the Commissary carrying top honors; two traffic safety awards — the National Safety Council and the Doolittle Award; the Finance Center's award for the Academy being the most improved command; and the Falconews being judged the best newspaper in the Air Force.

Planning for another high priority project, an Aerospace Education Center, made considerable headway during the past year. This would be a non-appropriated fund project. "I am confident," the Superintendent said, "that the center will soon be a reality since it is being handled by the Air Force Academy Foundation and they have succeeded in everything else they have undertaken for the Academy — such as Falcon Stadium, the Golf Course,and various memorial parks."

He went on to say, "This center would be a place we could have seminars, national and international meetings. It will be located just west of the cadet area. It also would have dining facilities and limited overnight accommodations. In the center we would be able to tell the Air Force and the Academy's mission, with some spectacular displays to our almost two million visitors each year."

As for the contemplated airfield here, General Warren stated, "Last July the Air Force submitted to the Department of Defense a request for a small 5,000 foot runway. The final decision has not been received."

Asked how much flying training cadets would receive if, and when, the airfield is completed, the superintendent said, "A light plane program will be initiated which provides each cadet 10 hours orientation and an additional 25½ hours of flying training for cadets who qualified and plan to become pilots — essentially the same as ROTC cadets receive now."

Questioned on when construction of buildings will take place to meet the demands of the expansion program, the Academy's top man said, "Site preparation should begin in March of this year. Actual construction of the first increment of cadet quarters should start in the later part of 1965, with the erection of the field house starting around the same time. The addition to the academic building and the cadet physical education extension should get under way during the fall of next year."

Answering the question of when the new cadet dormitory would be needed to meet the increased number of cadets, General Warren related, "Actually it is needed now. The first increment of the cadet quarters will be completed by July, 1967, when the wing will have a strength of 3,200 cadets. Throughout the construction, we will be forced to have many three-men rooms. Our rooms are small and this is undesirable except on a temporary interim basis."

In answer to the question if the same academic standards that prevail at the Academy will be maintained despite the additional number of cadets, the Superintendent emphatically said, "Definitely yes. If anything, the standards may have to be increased either mentally, physically, or through leadership scores to regulate class size — and increase quality."

Continuing, he said, "Each Congressman is now permitted to appoint five instead of four candidates. The number of applicants exceed vacancies by tens of thousands so we hope to be more and more selective."

Additional career tours for certain professors was another progressive change recorded during 1964, Hq. USAF now permits the Academy to nominate highly qualified professors on a "tenure" basis. This means, the Academy can appoint a limited number of highly qualified officers who could remain on a career basis if their performance of duty remains outstanding. These are in addition to the 22 permanent professors authorized by law.

Elaborating further on the subject, the superintendent stated, "Basically, we would select volunteers who have around 15-years of service, are outstanding as professors, and who have earned a Ph.D. degree."

Asked why the Academy has scored so high in the graduate record examinations, General Warren pointed out, "Academy academic achievements can be directly contributed to our outstanding faculty and many innovations in teaching mehods and policy. Instructors are all hand picked from among thousands of volunteers."

In summary, General Warren added, "Thanks to the great support rendered to the Academy by Hq. USAF and field commands of the Air Force and other services, we can look back on a most rewarding and progressive 1964. We're pleased that everyone in the Air Force seems to take a personal interest in the Academy — it helps in many ways."

Movie Industry Gets More Smelling Salts

By ROBERT HEARD

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The U.S. movie industry — a jolly greenback giant before a series of body blows floored it in the 1950s — is getting another whiff of smelling salts.

Television, foreign film competition and "run-away" producers who capitalized on cheaper labor overseas, hurt most, but Uncle Sam got in a sharp lick too.

It's the sting from that last punch that now has been removed.

It was an anti-trust jab that separated exhibitors from producers and a lot of people from a lot of money.

For the first time in 14 years, a motion picture exhibiting company hooked up with a producer-distributor.

National General Corp. and Columbia Pictures Corp. announced a joint venture to produce a minimum of three pictures at a probable cost of more than $10 million.

How can they do that and not violate the 1951 antitrust ruling by the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals?

Simple. The U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York decided in June 1963 that National General could contract with a studio to produce films for three years on condition that any other exhibitor who wanted to could bid for the finished product.

The first picture to be produced under the new agreement will be "Divorce, American Style," a satire written by Yorkin Lear.

Junior High Students Set Denver Visit

What they have been reading about in civics classes will become a reality for about 120 North Junior ninth graders when they visit Denver, Tuesday.

The four classes, taught by Richard Heitsmith, William Comer, and Robert Nelson, and just completing their study of Colorado government. During their visit to the capitol, the pupils will spend 45 minutes in each of the legislative houses observing the lawmaking process.

But the day won't end there. The group is also scheduled to visit the Historical Society Museum in the morning, and after lunch they will go to the Museum of Natural History.

The legislative visit will be the culminating activity of the government unit, and the museum tours will introduce the study of Colorado history.

Stamp Club Sets Meeting For Tuesday

The next meeting of the Colorado Springs Stamp Club will be held Tuesday in the Board Room of the YMCA at 7:30 p.m. A short business meeting will start off the evening to discuss a few important matters.

The program for the evening will be under the topic of "My Favorite Stamps". Members have been asked to bring 2 pages of mounted stamps which are, in the opinion of the collector, his or her favorite stamps. Each person will then have an opportunity to display their stamps and give a short talk on why they like the particular stamps they are showing. Some of the subjects to be shown in the displays will be Ancient Art on Stamps, Israels' Airline Advertising Program via Stamps, and some of the United States early Post Cards. An informal discussion period will follow the displays so people will have a chance to ask questions on any of the exhibits.

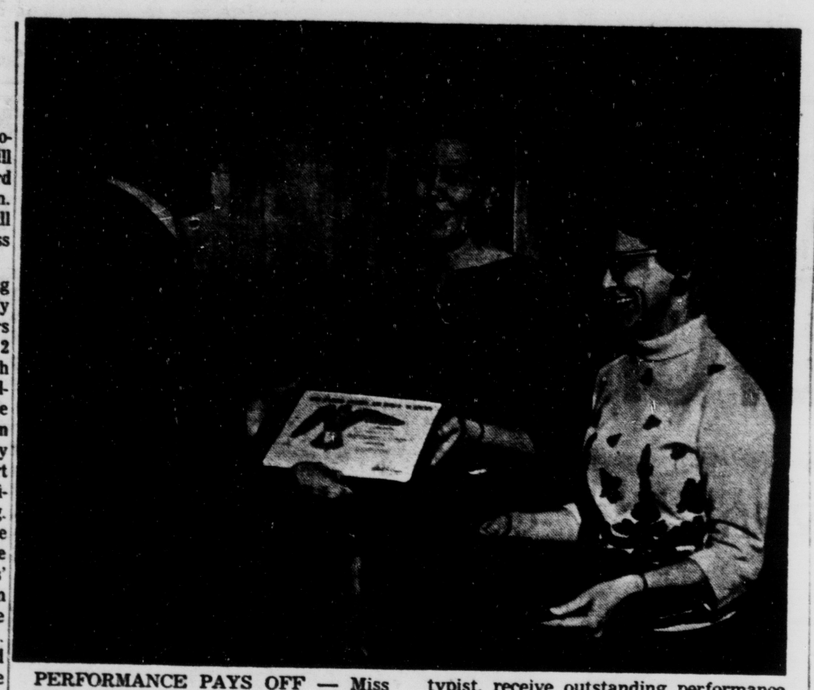
The Colorado Springs Stamp Club meets on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month and is open to all those who enjoy the King of Hobbies - Stamp Collecting.

Airman Awarded Medal for Service

Airman Charles W. Chisman, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chase V. Chisman, State Gine, Tex., was awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal while serving aboard the antisubmarine aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge in Far East.

The medal was awarded to all crew members of the U. S. Seventh Fleet carrier, which provided antisubmarine warfare protection for ships of the fleet operating in the South China Sea off the coast of Viet Nam after Viet Cong PT boat attacks against U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Upon returning to the United States the 18-year-old carrier will enter the shipyard for a six months overhaul in drydock.



PERFORMANCE PAYS OFF — Miss Marjorie H. Burton, secretary to Col. W. H. Ruenheck, professor and head of the Department of History at the Air Force Academy, and Mrs. Bess L. Dull, clerk-typist, receive outstanding performance awards from Maj. J. H. Scrivner, Jr., department executive officer. Miss Burton and Mrs. Dull received cash awards in addition to their certificates.

How to Cut Your Own Income Tax

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You are in for a pleasant surprise when making out your income tax return if during 1964 your total income was considerably more than it had averaged during the four previous years.

This windfall income for 1964 could have come from a big promotion with a substantial salary increase, perhaps a sizable incentive bonus, steady work with much overtime after several lean years or even a clean-up made on a quiz show.

It's all due to a new feature in the Revenue Act of 1964 called "income averaging."

The big purpose of income averaging is to give a tax break to those persons with wide fluctuations in income, usually athletes, prize fighters, authors, actors and actresses. But the principle is not limited to these groups and the tax-saving feature may be used profitably by any taxpayer to whom certain basic rules, which we will explain, apply.

You are now permitted to average all types of income except capital gains, gambling profits, income from gifts and bequests and a premature distribution received by owner-employers under a pension plan. With the tax rate increasing several points with each ascending bracket, the savings resulting from holding income down into a low bracket are readily apparent.

The rule is effective whenever taxable income for 1964 is at least $3,000 more than 4-3 of the average taxable income for the four previous years. This excess is termed averageable income. The tax on it is the tax on 1-5 of the averagable income multiplied by five.

To illustrate the workings of the new rule let's take a hypothetical case:

Tom Jones, a married man whose wife had no income of her own in 1964, has had an average taxable income of $9,000 for the four previous years. Last year, because of a new job on a commission basis, he had a taxable income of $32,000.

As we go through his income averaging procedure you will see how this one rule change has saved him $2,580. Here is how he determined his tax under the new formulate:

Taxable income for 1964	$32,000
4-3 Base Period Income ($9,000)	12,000
Averagable income	$20,000

The tax on 1-5 of the averagable income ($4,000) is found this way(

Tax on $16,000 4-3 of $9,000 plus 1-5 of $20,000)	$3,500
Less tax on $12,000 (4-3 of $9,000)	2,420
Tax on 1-5 Averagable Income	$1,080
To find the total tax:
Tax on $12,000 (4-3 of $9,000)	$2,420
Tax on averagable income (5 X $1,080)	5,400
Total tax	$7,820

A year ago with higher tax rates and no income averaging procedure the same taxpayer would have paid $10,400 on his $32,000 taxable income.

Note that reference has been made throughout this discussion to taxable income and not to gross income for the year. Taxable income is that amount remaining from total income after all deductions, credits for dependents and personal exemptions have been claimed.

The importance of having available your taxable income figures for the four previous years is readily apparent. If you do not have copies of the returns for those years you may obtain photostatic copies from the revenue director in the district in which you filed. He will charge you 50 cents for each page copied.

Because the taxable income figure changed from Page 1 to Page 2 of the returns during some of those years, to be on the safe side order copies of both pages for each of the four years. Should you need those copies, don't wait until the last moment. Your revenue director and his staff will be busy at that time handling the rush of newly filed returns.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Advantages of Dentistry

The profession of dentistry is vost gratifying for its participants. So much more is involved that filling teeth, making bridges, extracting wisdom teeth — or the money derived from doing these things. It's the people behind the teeth. It's liking people, listening to them, understanding them and, best of all, being needed by them: that wonderful feeling of being needed and fulfilling that need.

Can there be any better recommendation to young people for choosing dentistry as a career?

Except for psychoanalysts, dentists have greater rapport with their patients than any other member of the healing arts. They see patients more regularly and more frequently, often for hours at a time, and usually for many hours a year.

A patient who needed some complicated dentistry reported her dentist as saying to her, "You and I are going to get well acquainted. You have lots of dentistry to be done." Much of this pleasant relationship grows silently, but in spite of being stuffed with cotton rolls, saliva ejector, instruments and fingers, some conversation is managed. There's usually an enjoyable interchange of family doings. Most of my patients know about my children and I know about theirs.

Dentistry is a precise art, demanding from its practitioners the utmost skill of hand and brain, and taking its toll of his physical and mental energies. I suspect most patients would include themselves in this last category. In spite of this, or because of it, there developes between patient and dentist a mutually warm relationship. The last part of a letter from a fellow dentist describes this. He wrote, "Kindly call me after you have examined Mrs. M. She is a wonderful person and I am particularly interested in her welfare. Sincerely, Dr. C. T."

The feeling expressed in this letter is not unusual and the interest is typical. Many students who come to New Haven and Yale from every corner of the United States proudly say about their home town dentist, "He's been our dentist since I was a baby. He's a family friend."

Part of this is due to the pleasant, often amusing atmosphere, that prevails in most dental offices. Of course drilling teeth can be boring, but patients are spared the dagger-in-the-breast. Dentists don't have to tell them they have a cancer or a bad heart. It avoids the life and death struggle.

For young people seeking a career in the healing arts, consider the special advantages of dentistry.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

GOOD PRICE RANGE

You should expect to pay at least 4 per cent of the cost of your home for a good warm air heating system, advises American Furnace Company, St. Louis, a leading manufacturer. If the figure is more than 8 per cent, you might be paying too much.

Hearing on New Pipeline Is Postponed

DENVER (UPI)— The Colorado Public Utilities Commission (PUC) Friday postponed to Feb. 23 a hearing on Columbine Pipeline Co.'s application to build a gasoline and fuel oil pipeline from Denver to Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

The hearing had been scheduled for Jan. 20, on Columbine's Jan. 5 application. The PUC said it was informed Friday another company, Wyco Pipe Line Co., planned to file application for a line from Dupont, north of Denver, to Fountain, near Colorado springs.

Henry Zarlengo, PUC chairman, said the matter warranted a postponement to allow all parties to investigate Columbine's application and prepare any protests.

Estimated cost of the Columbine project was $3.1 million. Wyco president Sam L. Jackson told the PUC his company had already conducted engineering studies and investigated a site for terminal facilities near Fountain.

The PUC has received protests to the Columbine application from Ward Transport, Inc., Petroleum Transport Co., and Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad.

Stamp Club Sets Meeting For Tuesday

The next meeting of the Colorado Springs Stamp Club will be held Tuesday in the Board Room of the YMCA at 7:30 p.m. A short business meeting will start off the evening to discuss a few important matters.

The program for the evening will be under the topic of "My Favorite Stamps". Members have been asked to bring 2 pages of mounted stamps which are, in the opinion of the collector, his or her favorite stamps. Each person will then have an opportunity to display their stamps and give a short talk on why they like the particular stamps they are showing. Some of the subjects to be shown in the displays will be Ancient Art on Stamps, Israels' Airline Advertising Program via Stamps, and some of the United States early Post Cards. An informal discussion period will follow the displays so people will have a chance to ask questions on any of the exhibits.

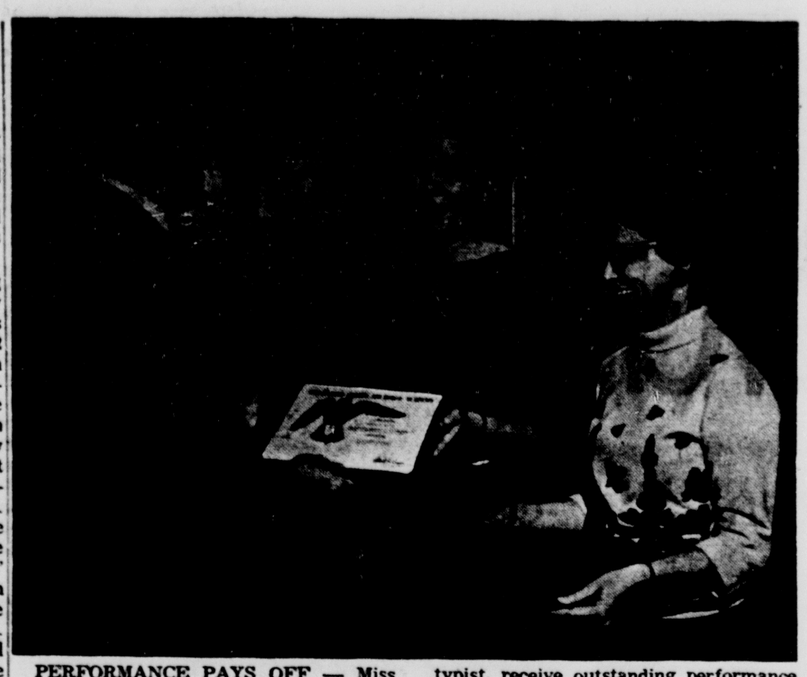
The Colorado Springs Stamp Club meets on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month and is open to all those who enjoy the King of Hobbies - Stamp Collecting.

Airman Awarded Medal for Service

Airman Charles W. Chisman, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chase V. Chisman, State Gine, Tex., was awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal while serving aboard the antisubmarine aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge in Far East.

The medal was awarded to all crew members of the U. S. Seventh Fleet carrier, which provided antisubmarine warfare protection for ships of the fleet operating in the South China Sea off the coast of Viet Nam after Viet Cong PT boat attacks against U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Upon returning to the United States the 18-year-old carrier will enter the shipyard for a six months overhaul in drydock.



PERFORMANCE PAYS OFF — Miss Marjorie H. Burton, secretary to Col. W. H. Ruenheck, professor and head of the Department of History at the Air Force Academy, and Mrs. Bess L. Dull, clerk-typist, receive outstanding performance awards from Maj. J. H. Scrivner, Jr., department executive officer. Miss Burton and Mrs. Dull received cash awards in addition to their certificates.

How to Cut Your Own Income Tax

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You are in for a pleasant surprise when making out your income tax return if during 1964 your total income was considerably more than it had averaged during the four previous years.

This windfall income for 1964 could have come from a big promotion with a substantial salary increase, perhaps a sizable incentive bonus, steady work with much overtime after several lean years or even a clean-up made on a quiz show.

It's all due to a new feature in the Revenue Act of 1964 called "income averaging."

The big purpose of income averaging is to give a tax break to those persons with wide fluctuations in income, usually athletes, prize fighters, authors, actors and actresses. But the principle is not limited to these groups and the tax-saving feature may be used profitably by any taxpayer to whom certain basic rules, which we will explain, apply.

You are now permitted to average all types of income except capital gains, gambling profits, income from gifts and bequests and a premature distribution received by owner-employers under a pension plan. With the tax rate increasing several points with each ascending bracket, the savings resulting from holding income down into a low bracket are readily apparent.

The rule is effective whenever taxable income for 1964 is at least $3,000 more than 4-3 of the average taxable income for the four previous years. This excess is termed averageable income. The tax on it is the tax on 1-5 of the averagable income multiplied by five.

To illustrate the workings of the new rule let's take a hypothetical case:

Tom Jones, a married man whose wife had no income of her own in 1964, has had an average taxable income of $9,000 for the four previous years. Last year, because of a new job on a commission basis, he had a taxable income of $32,000.

As we go through his income averaging procedure you will see how this one rule change has saved him $2,580. Here is how he determined his tax under the new formulate:

Taxable income for 1964	$32,000
4-3 Base Period Income ($9,000)	12,000
Averagable income	$20,000
The tax on 1-5 of the averagable income ($4,000) is found this way(
Tax on $16,000 4-3 of $9,000 plus 1-5 of $20,000)	$3,500
Less tax on $12,000 (4-3 of $9,000)	2,420
Tax on 1-5 Averagable Income	$1,080
To find the total tax:
Tax on $12,000 (4-3 of $9,000)	$2,420
Tax on averagable income (5 X $1,080)	5,400
Total tax	$7,820

A year ago with higher tax rates and no income averaging procedure the same taxpayer would have paid $10,400 on his $32,000 taxable income.

Note that reference has been made throughout this discussion to taxable income and not to gross income for the year. Taxable income is that amount remaining from total income after all deductions, credits for dependents and personal exemptions have been claimed.

The importance of having available your taxable income figures for the four previous years is readily apparent. If you do not have copies of the returns for those years you may obtain photostatic copies from the revenue director in the district in which you filed. He will charge you 50 cents for each page copied.

Because the taxable income figure changed from Page 1 to Page 2 of the returns during some of those years, to be on the safe side order copies of both pages for each of the four years. Should you need those copies, don't wait until the last moment. Your revenue director and his staff will be busy at that time handling the rush of newly filed returns.

Hearing on New Pipeline Is Postponed

DENVER (UPI)— The Colorado Public Utilities Commission (PUC) Friday postponed to Feb. 23 a hearing on Columbine Pipeline Co.'s application to build a gasoline and fuel oil pipeline from Denver to Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

The hearing had been scheduled for Jan. 20, on Columbine's Jan. 5 application. The PUC said it was informed Friday another company, Wyco Pipe Line Co., planned to file application for a line from Dupont, north of Denver, to Fountain, near Colorado springs.

Henry Zarlengo, PUC chairman, said the matter warranted a postponement to allow all parties to investigate Columbine's application and prepare any protests.

Estimated cost of the Columbine project was $3.1 million. Wyco president Sam L. Jackson told the PUC his company had already conducted engineering studies and investigated a site for terminal facilities near Fountain.

The PUC has received protests to the Columbine application from Ward Transport, Inc., Petroleum Transport Co., and Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad.

Mansfield Hits Closing of VA Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana led a wrathful denunciation in the Senate Friday of administration plans to close 11 veterans hospitals as an economy move.

Criticizing the recently announced decision, Mansfield said that economy should be achieved not at the expense of the nation's veterans but by cutting wasteful government practices which he said run into the millions.

He drew strong support from other senators of both parties. And Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of the Senate Veterans Affairs subcommittee, pledged prompt hearings.

Later, Yarborough issued a statement saying his subcommittee's hearings will start Jan. 22. He said W. J. Driver, recently appointed VA administrator, will be the first witness.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., said he and others in Congress had waited and waited to hear in President Johnson's State of the Union address "What the Great Society is going to do for veterans."

"But there wasn't a word about veterans in the President's address," Metcalf said.

He added the President was asking $3.3 billion for foreign aid while trying to save $23 million on services for veterans. "It just doesn't make sense," Metcalf protested.

The VA has estimated at about $23 million a year the savings it expects from closing an 11 hospitals, four veterans' homes, and 17 regional VA offices.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said he doesn't intend "to support any of the President's pie-in-the-sky proposals when we are depriving veterans of the services to which they are entitled."

Mansfield directed his fire particularly at the order to close the VA hospital in Miles City in eastern Montana. Allott said that the closing of a hospital at Grand Junction, Colo., would also work hardship on veterans and their families.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., praising Mansfield's speech, said the people of the United States should be "everlastingly grateful that Montana is represented by a senator of such great courage."

Mansfield said that at the very least he expected some alternative use to be found for the facilities at Miles City.

"Until that is done," he said, "I shall not let this matter be forgotten."

Mansfield also complained he had been given no notice of a Treasury decision to delay the minting of 45 million silver dollars authorized last year by the Congress.

He said it appeared to him there was some chance that the Treasury was seeking to abandon this altogether.

The majority leader said he understood that a resolution criticizing him had been introduced in the Montana Legislature and that the silver dollar decision had played a role in this.

But he declared that it was "utterly false" to imply that he had withheld information about either the proposed closing of the Miles City hospital or the action on the silver dollars until after he was re-elected Nov. 3.

"If I had known about them before the election, I would have laid the facts on the line," he said.

Florence Chief To Present Annual Report

Chief of Police John Camerlo is expected to present his annual police report to the Florence city council Monday night.

Scheduled to come up for further discussion Monday night was the franchise agreement between the city of Florence and the Southern Colorado Power company, which is seeking a new 25-year franchise. However, a delay in a FPC ruling on the company's merger plans in Kansas has delayed any discussion by the council until late in February or early in March.

The council is also expected to pass on final reading Ordinance No. 986 concerning malicious mischief and penalties and fines covering such cases. The bill for Ordinance No. 986 was read at the last council session.

Does this make you wince? You're walking down the street with a friend. Suddenly someone approaches you with a big smile on his face. You know you know him, buy what's his name? He's almost here and your memory's a blank! How the devil will you introduce him to your friend? What can you say?

You don't have a solution? Well, welcome to the club. We always fall apart in this situation, too! So, today we've decided to poll ten of the most active and considerate people we know to see if they can't get some hints for dealing with this "most embarrassing situation."

Let's start with a social-worker pal of ours. "Probably we universally muff this situation," he begins. "I know I've let my wife stand there unintroduced while I chatted with a "nameless' acquaintance. Or I've tried to cover by saying, 'You know my wife' without saying his name. But I'm sure the person always knew I didn't know!"

"I guess it's best to be frank and confess, 'This is crazy, but I just can't remember your name.' "

A staff person at the East-West Center in Honolulu agrees. "Be honest; they'll guess anyway. I know I always do when someone stares at me with that blank look. When I forget, I look foolish for a minute, and then smile and say, 'I'm sorry but I can't recall your name.' "

A high school student body president operates more subtly. "I usually say, 'This is George Mills, and this is . . .' and then I pause and look into the other boy's eyes, and usually he realizes I'm stumped, and comes in with his own name."

A university sophomore also plays it cool. "I just say in a matter-of-fact manner, 'Well, now we're going to have self-introductions.' Then I turn to the girl I know and say, 'Jane, you start off!' "

Do people mind when you forget their names?

"Personally, I don't mind if a person forgets my name once," reports another university student. "But if it happens two or three times, then I feel badly, as if I had made no impression on him at all!"

"What should you do if someone calls you by the wrong name?

"If it happens in a group, I don't say anything so I won't embarrass the person," advises a friendly Maryknoll nun. "But if it's a formal introduction, I do correct the mistake immediately."

A man whose work involves a sea of faces daily, a minister, has strong words for folks who play a "Who am I?" game!

"I think it's rude for people to come up and say, 'Remember me?' It's very poor manners to put another person in this uncomfortable spot!"

An intermediate school teacher agrees. "Students change so; the boys grow taller, the girls begin to apply make-up and they look altogether different.

"Actually, unless a student has been exceptionally bad or outstandingly good, it's very hard to recapture his name," she continues. "When students approach a former teacher, they should immediately identify themselves and explain when and where they knew her!"

A busy businessman offers this system for remembering names. "Whenever I first meet a person, I use his name several times in the conversation, consciously imprinting it in my memory along with a 'picture of his face. This usually works, but if it fails, I simply say, 'Hi, I'm Sam Jones and I can't remember your name.' I prefer to tell him outright and run the risk of being embarrassed, rather than being deceitful."

"I think people are more hurt if you pass them by because you can't think of their names, than if you stop and confess your absentmindedness," says a dramatic coach.

"If you sail past, they think "O, gosh, she doesn't like me!' Actually folks are more comfortable with you if you're not perfect. If you occasionally fumble names that only proves you're human!"

Well, that's a relief! Isn't it great to discover we're not the only name fumblers? From now on, we're going to handle this problem with much less embarrassment. If we forget someone's name, the odds are strong that it's done the same thing recently. So we'll just confess, "My memorys sprung a leak; please remind me of your name," ane carry on!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, the Houston surgeon who operated on the Duke of Windsor, said Thursday President Johnson's proposal for a network of medical centers could make similar treatment readily available to every American.

DeBakey headed the special presidential commission which suggested the President espouse the medical centers proposal. He did so in his health message to Congress.

DeBakey told a news conference that while aneurysms — an arterial disorder which afflicted the duke — are common, "there are at present only a limited number of centers in this country that can give the kind of treatment that is needed."

The ultimate capacity of the new Verrazano Bridge in New York linking Brooklyn to Staten Island is expected to be 48 million vehicles per year.

How Much Is A Hearing Aid Worth?

A plain bar of iron is worth $5.00.

This same bar, when made into horseshoes is worth $10.50.

If made into needles, it is worth $4,285.00.

If turned into balance wheels for watches it becomes worth $250,000.

If used to make a tiny hearing aid part that helps restore hearing to the deafened— it is priceless.

If you have a hearing loss why wait any longer?

Love Tax Plan Said Missing Key Provision

By KEN ROBISON

DENVER (AP) — Democratic leaders in the Colorado Legislature have agreed that the state must have more revenue, but they want to see what they call a "missing piece" in Gov. John A. Love's tax program before deciding how it should be raised.

Rep. Allen Dines, D-Denver, the House speaker, said the Democrats particularly feel that more money is needed for colleges and universities. His statement followed a three-hour conference of Democratic leaders on state financial needs.

Dines said the Democrats won't be able to take a stand on taxes until they see Love's tax bills.

"How you raise it is going to depend on how much you need to raise," he said.

Dines said the Democrats want to know exactly how Love proposes to reduce local property taxes with revenue from an increase in the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent. He said this is a "missing piece" in the governor's tax program.

"It looks to us as though he is counting the same $32 million (from the sales tax) twice," said Dines.

He said Love indicated in his message to the legislature that his program would provide more money for schools, while saying at the same time that the added sales tax money would be used to replace property taxes.

Dines said if the plan to cut property taxes "is a tight scheme, then I don't think it is going to do anything for the schools. It may even be hurting the schools by putting a lid on what they can spend in future years."

Dines said Democrats were led to believe that Love's tax proposals would be introduced during the past week, but they weren't.

"Whether it is because he has run into a buzz-saw within his own party, I don't know," said Dines. "In any event, we want to see those bills."

Dines said Love's tax program calls for $38 million in new taxes at the state level, that a proposal by Senate Majority Leader Paul Wenke, R-Fort Collins, calls for $45 million and a program of Rep. Palmer Burch, R-Denver, would boost state tax collections $100 million.

The speaker said Burch's proposed two per cent gross income tax for schools would raise $80 million more and a five per cent gross tax on business would bring in $20 million.

Wenke proposed a sales tax increase and a 2-cent-a-package cigarette tax increase, the same as Love, and also suggested a one-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax for road construction.

Dines said the Democrats heard an estimate of the state's money needs from the three Democratic members of the Joint Budget Committee.

"We're trying to consider the whole gamut and look at it very carefully," he said. At times we think we're looking at it harder than the other party is."

The Democrats plan a third conference on finances Thursday.

Attending with the legislators and Lt. Gov. Robert L. Knous were State Democratic Chairman Robert Maytag, Prof. Reuben Zubrow of the University of Colorado, Prof. James Carrigan of the University, and Prof. Paul Bechtol of Colorado College.

Dominican Junta Arrests Top Cops

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) —The government junta, composed of three civilians, placed the national police under the armed forces Wednesday and arrested two top police officers.

Those arrested after a meeting of military officials in the national palace were Col. Jose de Jesus Morillo Lopez, aide to the national police chief, Brig. Gen. Belisario Peguero Guerrero, and Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, commander of the police department's radio patrol department.

Informed sources said the action was a direct slap at Gen. Peguero, reported in disfavor with military officials because of what they said was his "dictatorial power."

He was not arrested and the sources said he continued in his job.

Some military troops in the capital were reported to be on an alert basis.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative

STATE AVERAGE SALES TAX TABLES: — Colorado taxpayers may use a new sales tax table as a guideline when filing your 1964 federal income tax returns. The table appearing as part of this column shows the average amount of state sales tax paid by Colorado residents (2 per cent tax; and may be used by taxpayers who itemize their federal income tax deductions. Similar tables have been prepared for 36 other states and the District of Columbia.

For the first time since 1960 when the tables were originally issued there has been a general revision of the amounts. The latest tables are based on summary data showing the patterns of consumer expenditures developed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics from a 1960-1961 study. The previous tables were based on a 1950 study.

Previously, tables were revised only to reflect changes in sales tax rates or the commodities covered by the particular state's laws.

The recent study shows that household operations, property taxes, medical care, personal care services, education and insurance have, for the most part, comprised a larger part of the total consumer expenditures in 1960-1961 than they did in 1950. These items are not usually subjected to state sales taxes. The new tables omit the state sales tax on automobiles purchased, thus providing a uniform treatment of this item for all states. Now taxpayers who purchase an automobile may add the sales taxes paid on the purchase to the amount shown in the table.

The result of the revisions, particularly the elimination of the allowance for autos, has reduced the amount shown on the sales tax tables. The new tables, however, are a more accurate measure of the average sales tax paid in the various states.

I wish to remind you that these tables are not required to be used. They are furnished as a guide for the convenience of taxpayers who itemize deductions on their federal income tax returns but who wish to use a "standard" amount for state sales tax which will not require detailed substantiation. Taxpayers have a choice, of course, of deducting the actual amount of state sales taxes paid.

COMMON TAX FORMS NOW AVAILABLE AT MAIN POST OFFICE: For the convenience of the public we have again made available the common use tax forms for filing your Federal Income Tax return opposite the box section at the WEST END of the main post office. These forms can be obtained on a twenty four hour basis, including Saturday and Sunday. It would be very much appreciated if you would take only your personal needs so others may be able to get their needs satisfied also. Special forms will be available during working hours at our main office at 521 South Tejon Street.

FORM 941 Requirements, Attention Employers: Now its a machine that can "read"! Due to this advance in automation I urge employers to use, if possible, the typewriter or other business machines to complete their Form 941 reports of income tax withheld and social security taxes. I however, wish to emphasize that handwritten returns will be accepted by Internal Revenue if typing cannot be employed. The Social Security Administration will use an "Optical Character Recognition" machine to "read" the Schedule A of Form 941 and related continuation sheets and enter the information directly into its electronic data processing system for maintaining social security records. The machine cannot read colored inks, handwriting, or handprinting. Hence, the Administration has requested that machine typing be employed if possible. Complete instructions are included in the Form 941 package mailed to employers.

SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS: Don't forget to list your social security number on your Federal Income tax return. The law requires it. If both husband and wife have income, they should list their numbers on a joint return. If only one has income, only his number is required. Omission of the number will delay processing of your return. This is time - consuming and inconvenient for you and the government. If you do not have a number, ask our office or Social Security office for application Form SS-5.

Two Sentenced in Manslaughter Case

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —Donald L. Hight, 19, Towaoc, Colo., and Ramus Lopez, 21, Cortez, Colo., were sentenced to 10 years in prison Friday after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The men were indicted last October on a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Henry Behan, 30, Cortez. His body was found beside U.S. 666 north of Shiprock, N.M., last Sept. 21. He had been beaten with chains and slashed with a broken bottle.

U.S. Dist. Judge H. Vearle Payne decreed the sentences.

Fashion Puts Spotlight On Boutique

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The curtain rose today on Italy's 1965 spring and summer fashion showings with the opening spotlight on boutique.

Buyers faced 30 different boutique presentations during the weekend, to be followed by two days of high fashion collections. The showings shift south Wednesday for a final four days in Rome.

Boutique collections are unpredictable and that's part of their charm.

While it is difficult to show a trend, short skirts were at least one thing that appealed to all of the designers interviewed before the showings. They liked them with fancy patterned stockings.

Micia, an Italian knitwear house created by American fashion photographers Leombruno and Bodi, planned to show short, full-skirted black and white dressed with black openwork stockings, for street wear.

Laura Aponte's short hand-knit lace cocktail skirts will be worn with matching sheerer stockings, all worked in gold and apillettes.

SIGN LINE COACH

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Dick Loechtenfeldt, a 1962 graduate of Xavier, has been named offensive line coach of his alma mater, replacing Jim Mullen, who resigned.

Loechenfeldt served for the past two years as coach of Elder High School in Cincinnati and spent the 1962 season as assistant to Paul (Bear) Bryant at Alabama.

BELFAST — Ulster Methodist church leaders now want wine banned at weddings.

Sharp Boost Seen in Industrial Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose sharply in December, the government announced Friday. It also reported "a very strong picture" in the nation's employment situation for the month.

Automobile production, rebounding after recent strikes, set the pace. The Federal Reserve Board said its index of industrial production rose from 134.8 in November to 137.0 in December. The December total was 8 per cent above last December.

The figures are based on 100 as the 1957-59 average.

Automobile production was 12 per cent higher than pre-strike levels last summer and 18 per cent above December 1963. Production of television and radio sets was also up sharply.

The Labor Department, which had announced a December unemployment rate of 4.9 per cent — equalling the lowest figure since 1957 — said construction and manufacturing were the keys to the decline.

Love Tax Plan Said Missing Key Provision

By KEN ROBISON

DENVER (AP) — Democratic leaders in the Colorado Legislature have agreed that the state must have more revenue, but they want to see what they call a "missing piece" in Gov. John A. Love's tax program before deciding how it should be raised.

Rep. Allen Dines, D-Denver, the House speaker, said the Democrats particularly feel that more money is needed for colleges and universities. His statement followed a three-hour conference of Democratic leaders on state financial needs.

Dines said the Democrats won't be able to take a stand on taxes until they see Love's tax bills.

"How you raise it is going to depend on how much you need to raise," he said.

Dines said the Democrats want to know exactly how Love proposes to reduce local property taxes with revenue from an increase in the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent. He said this is a "missing piece" in the governor's tax program.

"It looks to us as though he is counting the same $32 million (from the sales tax) twice," said Dines.

He said Love indicated in his message to the legislature that his program would provide more money for schools, while saying at the same time that the added sales tax money would be used to replace property taxes.

Dines said if the plan to cut property taxes "is a tight scheme, then I don't think it is going to do anything for the schools. It may even be hurting the schools by putting a lid on what they can spend in future years."

Dines said Democrats were led to believe that Love's tax proposals would be introduced during the past week, but they weren't.

"Whether it is because he has run into a buzz-saw within his own party, I don't know," said Dines. "In any event, we want to see those bills."

Dines said Love's tax program calls for $38 million in new taxes at the state level, that a proposal by Senate Majority Leader Paul Wenke, R-Fort Collins, calls for $45 million and a program of Rep. Palmer Burch, R-Denver, would boost state tax collections $100 million.

The speaker said Burch's proposed two per cent gross income tax for schools would raise $80 million more and a five per cent gross tax on business would bring in $20 million.

Wenke proposed a sales tax increase and a 2-cent-a-package cigarette tax increase, the same as Love, and also suggested a one-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax for road construction.

Dines said the Democrats heard an estimate of the state's money needs from the three Democratic members of the Joint Budget Committee.

"We're trying to consider the whole gamut and look at it very carefully," he said. At times we think we're looking at it harder than the other party is."

The Democrats plan a third conference on finances Thursday.

Attending with the legislators and Lt. Gov. Robert L. Knous were State Democratic Chairman Robert Maytag, Prof. Reuben Zubrow of the University of Colorado, Prof. James Carrigan of the University, and Prof. Paul Bechtol of Colorado College.

Dominican Junta Arrests Top Cops

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) —The government junta, composed of three civilians, placed the national police under the armed forces Wednesday and arrested two top police officers.

Those arrested after a meeting of military officials in the national palace were Col. Jose de Jesus Morillo Lopez, aide to the national police chief, Brig. Gen. Belisario Peguero Guerrero, and Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, commander of the police department's radio patrol department.

Informed sources said the action was a direct slap at Gen. Peguero, reported in disfavor with military officials because of what they said was his "dictatorial power."

He was not arrested and the sources said he continued in his job.

Some military troops in the capital were reported to be on an alert basis.

ant Deputy Chief of Staff of ADC Operations, Brig. Gen. William D. Greenfield and Maj. Gen. Dolf E. Muehleisen.

General Greenfield steps into the top ADC Operations job vacated by General McGehee, while General Muehleisen retires from the Air Force this month.

After attending the Air War College in 1954-1955, General McGehee became the deputy chief of staff for Operations, 5th Air Force, Japan and then chief of staff for Operations, 5th Air Force, Japan and then chief of staff until his return to the ZI as vice commander, 31st Air Division (ADC), Minneapolis, Minn. in 1958. From April, 1959 to September, 1960 General McGehee commanded the Grand Forks (ADS) (SAGE) (ADC), Grand Forks, N. C.

He was promoted to brigadier general in May 1960 and in August, 1960, became commander, San Francisco Air Defense Sector with Headquarters at Beale AFB, Calif.

General Greenfield, in July 1963, assumed command of the 4706th air Defense Wing, Air Defense Command, at O'Hare International Airport, Ill. In January 1965, he was transferred to Presque Isle AFB, Maine, where he became commander of the 4711th Air Defense Wing.

In early 1958, he was transferred to Africa and assumed command of the 316th Air Division (Defense) in Rabat, Morocco.

Upon return from overseas in July 1960, General Greenfield was assigned to Air Defense Command as commander of the Syracuse Air Defense Sector (SAGE) at Hancock field, Syracuse, N. Y.

He assumed his present position — Assistant DCS-Operations, Hq. Air Defense Command, July 1964.

During his 32 years of active duty service, Gen. Muehleisen played many parts in the evolution of American aerospace power. Of particular significance are his actions in the field of aerospace defense during the era introducing instantaneous electronic computer and communication systems.

An unusual highlight in his career occurred when, as Commander of the 29th NORAD Region-Air Division, General Muehleisen was selected for the additional duty of Chairman of the Cheyenne Mountain Task Force in December 1963. Alternating between North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., and 29th headquarters at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo., he directed a group of 60 Department of Defense experts reviewing and coordinating all plans for the 70 million dollar NORAD underground Combat Operations Center being constructed within Cheyenne Mountain.

When the North American Air Defense Command was organized in 1957, General Muehleisen was filling Headquarters ADC positions as Assistant Chief of Staff for Programming and as Deputy of Plans. However, two years later he became NORAD Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and Policy, a position he held until his assignment as Commander of the 29th NORAD Region-Air Division.

City Realtors To Attend State Meet in Denver

Officers of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors, Inc. will attend the annual business meeting of the Colorado Association of Real Estate Boards in Denver this Tuesday and Wednesday.

Joe B. Toole, president of the local Board, will head the delegation attending the officers clinics and installation dinner. Making the trip with Toole will be Don T. Weidman, broker of Weidman & Co. and chairman of the CAREB Foundation program; C. V. LeForce, broker of Faith Realty, state membership chairman; Hugh E. Ingels, broker of Smartt Realty Co., state and national director; and George L. Wood, executive vice president of the Colorado Springs organization.

The two - day session will be held at the Hilton Hotel. Installation of officers for CAREB will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel on Wednesday.

Toole, besides being president of the Colorado Springs Board is also a member of the advisory committee of the University of Colorado Extension Service which will meet along with the state Realtor organization. Wood will also be one of the instructors at the officers clinic on Tuesday.

Swedish Businessman Faces Trial as Spy

STOCKHOLM (AP) — John Uno Norman, a 55-year-old Swedish businessman, is on trial on a charge of attempted espionage for the Soviet Union. The trial is closed to the public.

Norman was accused of obtaining U.S. electronic products used by Sweden for defense so that he could sell it to the Russians. The prosecution said the items included microtransistors, radar material and mines.

Linda C. Miller Named Springs' 'Miss J. A.'

Miss Linda C. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Jay Miller, 27 South Garland Avenue, junior at Palmer High School and Secretary of Emecraft was announced as Miss J. A. of Colorado Springs at the annual Achiever Management Conference in Denver Saturday. Emecraft is one of the eighteen local Junior Achievement companies and is counselled by the Emerson-Western Management Club.

Miss Miller was selected by a panel of judges from the J. A. Achievers' Association after taking a qualifying examination and being personally interviewed.

Forty-seven delegates from this area were in attendance at this Junior Achievement Conference held at the University of Denver Student Union Building. The total delegation was over 180 achievers representing J. A. areas in Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver, Loveland and Fort Collins.

The all day conference agenda included discussion groups, work-shops, problem solving, and reports with a banquet and dance in the evening.

Jaycees to Pick 'Junior Miss' At Show Friday

The Colorado Springs Jaycees today announced plans to conduct the 1965 Junior Miss Pageant Friday, in the Studio Club at Alexander Film Co.

The contest seeks to honor the city's outstanding high school senior girl. Candidates will compete for the title of Colorado Springs' Junior Miss and the chance to compete for state and national honors.

The local winner will travel to Englewood January 29 and 30 to compete in the state pageant for the title of Colorado's Junior Miss and the state titlist will compete during March in Mobile, Alabama for the America's Junior Miss Crown.

Girls interested in entering the pageant should register their intention with their faculty advisors at their schools and with the Junior Chamber of Commerce office no later than Tuesday.

To qualify as a Junior Miss contestant a girl must be between 16 and 19 and must be a member in good standing of the senior class in a public or private high school. She must be of good character, attractive, and must possess charm, poise and intelligence. She must be single and must never have been divorced nor have had a marriage annulled.

At the local pageant girls will give a talent presentation which may be a dramatic reading, monologue, singing, dancing, or a three minute talk on a subject of her choice. The girls also will be interviewed by the panel of judges.

At the state and national pageant, in addition to their talent presentations and interviews, the girls will appear in sportswear and in formal gowns.

The local pageant will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday evening. It is free and open to the public. Contestants are requested to be on hand one - half hour earlier.

Master of ceremonies for the pageant will be Jerry Schafer of KYSN Radio.

UNITED STATES ARMY AIR DEFENSE COMMAND — VIGILANT AND INVINCIBLE

PROFILE OF A NON-COM

(This is another in a series of articles portraying non-commissioned officers of the Army Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs. Basic training with its vigorous schedule and stern discipline is tough enough on a young soldier, let alone on a man of 34.

This was the age of Staff Sgt. Jack Spratt Jr., when he entered basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C., in March, 1960.

Now a personnel records supervisor at Army Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs, Sergeant Spratt was not exactly a recruit when he first entered the Army. Prior service in the Navy, both during World War II and the Korean War, makes up for about half of the sergeant's military service.

Because of almost an eight-year break in service between the time he left the Navy in 1952, and his enlistment in the Army in 1960, Sergeant Spratt not only had to undergo basic training, but entered the Army as a private.

The sergeant's age apparently was not too much of a hindrance to him during his training. Upon completion of the eight-week course he was given a letter of commendation as an outstanding trainee.

During his two tours of duty with the Navy, the first from 1943 to 1945, and later from 1950 to 1952, Sergeant Spratt served as a torpedoman. In World War II he was sent to the Pacific following his boot training and during the Korean War was stationed aboard a destroyer which saw action off the east coast of Korea.

The sergeant's five years in the Army, which include a tour of duty in Germany with the 3rd Infantry Division, has been very rewarding in that he has advanced from the grade of private to that of staff sergeant. His plans are to continue his career with the Army.

First assigned to the Colorado Springs area in Sept., 1963, Sergeant Spratt spent a year at Ft. Carson as a personnel sergeant with both the U. S. Army Garrison unit and the 5th Infantry Division.

It was from this assignment that the sergeant was reassigned to ARADCOM headquarters.

As personnel records supervisor for the Officers Branch of the Personnel Services Division, Adjutant General Section, Sergeant Spratt has the responsibility of maintaining officers' personnel records. This includes reporting status changes on officers to the Department of the Army, making entries in the records and verifying efficiency report entries made in the officers' records.

Sergeant Spratt is a member of the Colorado Springs Elks Lodge 309 and participated in their annual Christmas party at the Chief theater for underprivileged children. He was also on the Adjutant General Section committee for the annual Christmas ARADCOM Needy Family program.

The sergeant and his wife, Anita, live at 1223 East San Miguel.

County Vets to Share In $153,630 Bonanza

A $153,620 bonanza will be dropping into the laps of El Paso County veterans this month, thanks to instructions issued by President Johnson to the Veterans Administration.

He ordered that all dividends that will become payable this year to holders of GI insurance be paid now rather than held until the anniversary dates of the policies, when they would normally be paid.

Sharing in the distribution, which will amount to about $224,500,000 will be 4,400,000 veterans of World War II who hold National Service Life Insurance policies and 210,000 World War I veterans who are covered by U. S. Government Life Insurance policies.

Only a fraction of the GI's in the nation, slightly more than 20 per cent of them, have such insurance.

As for the 2,648 local residents who are veterans of the Korean conflict, they will not share in the distribution. The policies they hold do not provide for annual dividend payments.

The $153,620 that is going to veterans in El Paso County will be divided by 3,150 men and women who saw service in either of the two World Wars.

The checks to World War I vets will average $69 each. Those going to the others will be smaller, averaging $48 apiece. In individual cases, the payments will be above or below these figures, varying with the amount of insurance held.

The Veterans Administration explains that the dividends are primarily a return to the insured veterans of part of their premium payments. The money became available because the mortality rate among the GI's has been lower than anticipated.

For those who are eligible to receive these dividends, it adds, "the preparing and mailing of payments are automatic and require no correspondence from veterans or their families."

Many ex-servicemen will gain in other directions, beginning this month. One new law liberalizes the amounts going to pensioners and provides basic cost-of-living increases for most of them.

Another bill grants increased pensions for those with non-service-connected disabilities. This will affect 1,300,000 veterans and their families.

RE-ELECTED

DENVER (AP) — C. J. Burress Jr. of Pueblo was re-elected president Friday of the Colorado Civil Service Commission. William R. Welsh Jr. of Denver was elected vice president.

The commission's third member is Dick Batterton, former Denver mayor.

Fulbright Asks Reassessment Of Priorities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress was asked Friday to require manuacturers to label cigarette packs with a health hazard warning to smokers.

More than a year after the government branded cigarette smoking as a major cause of lung cancer and other diseases, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., introduced a bill that would require this statement on every cigarette pack: "Warning: Continual smoking may be hazardous to your health." Violators would be fined up to $100,000.

Magnuson said the Senate Commerce Committee, which he heads, would begin hearings on the bill soon, possibly within the next month.

Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., whose late senator husband, Richard, suffered from cancer, introduced separate legislation not only calling for a cigarette pack warning but empowering the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to regulate cigarette advertising.

Mrs. Neuberger said Congress had taken no positive action since the surgeon general's report. "It will be very difficult to convince the great majority of smokers that the government takes the report seriously until such warnings are required," she said.

Magnuson said that only a warning on every cigarette pack would convince smokers of "the sober fact that cigarette smoking can be injurious."

Vertebra Can Be Damaged In Fall From Skateboard

By The Colorado Chiropractic Society

One popular new toy has been causing professional men a lot of concern for the injuries it has been causing children.

The skateboard is a lot of fun, but it has been bringing youngsters more cracked heads and broken bones than any other one plaything.

But one of the main objections to the skateboard, according to the Colorado Chiropractic Society, is the injuries it causes which are not detected at all at the time of the accident.

Broken arms and fractured skulls are obvious and easy to determine — but back and neck injuries are another matter entirely. Such injuries to the spinal vertebrae are often never detected at all until much later when a serious problem has developed.

The flexibility of the spine can be its own worst enemy — it is so able to bend in any direction, and even stretch and contract in bending forward and backward, that injuries to it may not be noticed at all. Each vertebra has muscles holding it in place, one on each side, and the individual vertebra fits perfectly with the one both above and below it. But a severe blow — such as a fall from a skateboard — can twist the vertebra out of place. In this case, the muscles may be sore, but if this warning is ignored, the muscles will adjust to the new position in a few days, and the bone will be actually held out of place from then on.

It is important to have a child examined by a doctor of Chiropractic after he has taken a bad fall from a skateboard, or while playing at any other game. A twisted vertebra in itself doesn't sound serious, but this twisting puts pressure on some of the millions of nerves going through the spine, and when this happens paralysis of the arms, legs, or vital organs may come about. This paralysis can range from complete numbness and inactivity to a partial case of illness. When this causes disease, it means the resistance of some part of the body was lowered and could not fight off germ infection.

Parents are advised to have such bone damage repaired through chiropractic adjustment and to beware of pain killers which will hide the trouble rather than bringing about a cure of the real health problem.

Churchill Grandchild Is Expected Soon

LONDON (AP) — The wife of Sir Winston Churchill's grandson and namesake was in the maternity ward of London's Westminster Hospital today.

Minnie Churchill, wife of Winston S. Churchill, is expecting her first child. Doctors indicated the birth might not be imminent but that she had come in for prenatal care because of a possible difficult delivery.

Mrs. Churchill, 24, is the daughter of the late Sir Gerald D'Erlanger, a former chairman of the British Overseas Airways Corp. Her husband is the son of Randolph Churchill.

They married last July and informed Sir Winston in October that he could expect a great-grandchild. Mrs. Churchill's name is Mary Caroline, but she so prefers the nickname Minnie.

Pair Gets Bright Idea That Saves U. S. $500,000 in 64

Two members of the 9th Aerospace Defense Division (ADC) at Ent Air Force Base have initiated action which resulted in a high power radar tube repair program that has saved the taxpayers approximately one-half million dollars in the first year of operation.

Capt. Donald L. Stensrud, Chief of the Electronics Maintenance Division under the Deputy Chief of Staff for Communications and Electronics, and Frederick F. Thomas, an Electronics Maintenance Engineer in the same office, have received Cost Reduction Certificates of Achievement for their outstanding contribution to the Air Force-wide Cost Reduction Program.

In June 1962, Detachment 2 of the 2d Surveillance Squadron at Shemya, Alaska, received orders to destroy 54 high power triode radar tubes which had failed. Shemya is one of several radar sites located throughout the world which make up the U.S. Air Force SPACETRACK System, and the triode tube is the heart of the Shemya radar. Because of the high cost (over $30,000 each) and in view of the fact that a sudden increase in triode tube failure threatened to exhaust the supply of these tubes, Captain Stensrud and Thomas began investigating the feasibility of repairing them versus the procurement of new tubes.

A list of all the failed tubes and causes for failures was obtained and submitted to Air Defense Command Headquarters in mid 1962, recommending that the high-powered tubes be considered for repair rather than disposal. The recommendation was accepted and subsequent investigation showed that the majority of the tubes could be repaired.

The rebuilding program began in January 1964. The cost of each rebuilt tube is slightly over $20,000 which resulted in a savings of over $10,000 per tube. The repair contracts for the power tube rebuild program is administered by Air Force Logistics Command (ROAMA).

During the first six months of 1964, 32 tubes were rebuilt which saved the government $320,367. Forty additional tubes were programmed to be rebuilt during fiscal year 1965 which would add up to another $410,000 savings. In the first half of fiscal year 1965, 17 of these were rebuilt for a savings of approximately $175,000.

Since the program began, several of the rebuilt tubes have been reinstalled and officials state that the performance and reliability of the tubes has proved to be equal to or better than that of new ones.

Captain Stensrud, a native of Minneapolis, Minn. has served over 16 years in the Air Force. He has been with the Ninth Division since May 1962. He enlisted in the Air Force in March 1948 and received a commission through the Officers Candidate School Program in 1953. The Captain is married to the former Mary Charles Shipp of Birmingham, Alabama.

Thomas, of San Francisco, California, is a Technical Representative of the Philco Corporation on contract with the Air Force as an Electronics Maintenance Engineer. He has been with Philco for over 14 years and celebrated his third anniversary with the Ninth on the same day he received the Cost Reduction Certificate of Achievement. He is married to the former Peggy Jo Sullivan of Tuscola, Ill. The couple and their five children reside in Colorado Springs.

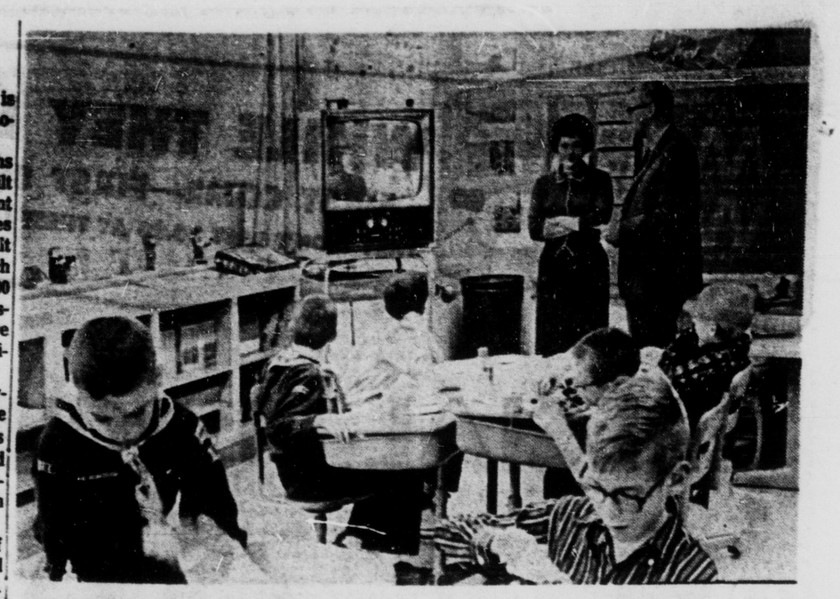
Car Thief Film To Be Shown Here Tuesday

"The Compulsive Car Thief," a filmed interview with a 21-year-old man serving a prison sentence, will highlight the El Paso County Association for Mental Health meeting at noon Tuesday.

The film, the first of four that will be shown for monthly meetings of the association, points out the problem: "Is the psychopath a medical problem or a legal one? Can he be helped? And whose responsibility is he?"

Each film to be shown at association meetings deal with one condition and the same general format is followed in all four cases. These patients describe their feelings in conversations with psychaitrists.

Jack B. Ewing, executive assistant to the superintendent of the Colorado State Hospital, will be discussant for the first film. The association's meeting will be held at Dott's Chicken Shack at 1930 South Nevada. Reservations can be made by calling 633-5306.



NOT INTERESTED—It takes more than a television western to distract John Cooper and Dan Pompea (foreground) from their school work. TV will become more important to them, however, starting about Feb. 1, when part of their instruction will be given to them via TV. In the background Robert Card of the District 11 Audio-Visual Department discusses the project with Mrs. J. Ann Peak, fifth grade teacher, while television receivers are being tested at Stratton School.

WILL STAY

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U Thant says he is planning to serve out his current five-year term as United Nations secretary-general. It ends Nov. 3, 1966.

In talking with correspondents at the United Nations Friday night, Thant denied published reports he planned to resign because of ulcer troubles. He said he had not made up his mind about a second term.

Dist. 11 to Initiate TV Lessons in Lower Grades

By STEVE WILLIAMS
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

A pilot program for a series of televised lessons for elementary classes in some District 11 school rooms will probably be in operation by Feb. 1, according to Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of schools in the district. Doherty said plans for the series are rapidly nearing completion.

During the experimental phase of the program, about 1800 pupils in grades four, five, and six will see the televised lessons. Other school districts in the region have been invited to use the programs which KRDO, Channel 13, will telecast, Doherty said.

District 11 initiated a study of educational television about four years ago, and in September began intesive planning of the present project under the direction of Dr. Arthur R. Olson, deputy superintendent, and William P. Wells, director of audio-visual education.

When they presented the proposed project to representatives of the two local television stations, Dr. Olson said the representatives expressed a desire to participate in the project and offered air time, production facilities, and their complete cooperation.

The district selected KRDO, the deputy superintendent said, primarily because it could offer a time that best fit into the elementary school schedule.

KRDO is donating 30 minutes of air time, five days a week through May 21. There will be no commercial sponsorship of the lessons, Dr. Olson said.

Another phase of the planning got underway in October when the District 11 Audio-Visual Department conducted a careful evaluation of several makes of television receivers. Wells and other audio - visual personnel then conducted reception tests in all 28 elementary schools.

The tests indicated excellent audio and video reception from the television Station in all schools, Wells said.

Additional planning involving teachers, supervisors, principals, and administrators was necessary to consider possible instructional materials and to work out the most effective means of using it in the classroom, Dr. Olson said.

All the lessons have not yet been selected, but there will probably be three series in science, social studies, and language arts which will supplement and enrich the regular classroom instruction, according to Dr. Olson.

The televised lessons will be on film or video tape with a brief introductions and closing done live by a District 11 teacher. Dr. Olson said a committee has completed its auditions of applicants for the specialized teaching job and expects to announce the name of the successful candidate soon.

Dr. Olson expressed the hope that many parents will watch the instructional programs that will give them a better understanding of some of the things children are studying in elementary school.

CU Probes New Uses for TV In Classrooms

The University of Colorado School of Education is experimenting with a new use of television for educational purposes.

Faced with the problem of showing students firsthand what goes on in a classroom before the prospective teachers embark on a semester of student teaching, CU has been trying closed - circuit television.

The CU Bureau of Audio Visual Instruction set up cameras in classrooms in Columbine Elementary School and Casey Junior High School. The classes were telecast to other rooms in the buildings to a large CU class.

In the past, students have observed classes directly, but educators have been looking for a method of observation which does not upset the observed pupils as much.

Closed - circuit television might provide the answer, because it was found that after an initial display of curiosity, the youngsters tend to forget the cameras and to settle into their normal routine. The TV method has been used successfully in other parts of the country.

The telecasting lasted four days — Thursday and Friday of last week and Monday and Tuesday of this week. The experiment was preserved on video tape for further observation later.

In addition, the CU students participating are using the standard direct observation approach.

The various methods are being evaluated for the remainder of this week by both the students and the faculty members involved. The results will help determine whether it is worthwhile to try to expand the television project to possibly pipe the programs back to the classrooms on the CU campus.

Assoc. Prof. E. Harold Harper and Asst. Prof. Bob L. Taylor of the School of Education are in charge of the operation, and Jim Dryden of the Bureau of Audio Visual Instruction handled the technical details. The program was financed by CU research funds.

District 11 Official Helps Write Guide

Miss Katharine Bruce, School District 11 supervisor of physical education, was a member of the Advisory Committee of the State Department of Education which wrote a recently published physical education guide for the elementary schools of Colorado.

In its comprehensive curriculum guide the committee recommends that every child be enrolled in a daily physical education class and that funds for an adequate program be included in regular school district budgets.

The guide presents detailed instructions for an activities program planned to develop physical fitness and social and emotional maturity.

In addition to membership on the Advisory Committee, Miss Bruce has been chairman of the Girls Athletic Activities Committee of the Colorado High Schools Activities Association, Colorado director of Student Services of the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation,, and is a past president of the Colorado Springs Business and Professional Women's Club.

Pair Gets Bright Idea That Saves U. S. $500,000 in 64

Two members of the 9th Aerospace Defense Division (ADC) at Ent Air Force Base have initiated action which resulted in a high power radar tube repair program that has saved the taxpayers approximately one-half million dollars in the first year of operation.

Capt. Donald L. Stensrud, Chief of the Electronics Maintenance Division under the Deputy Chief of Staff for Communications and Electronics, and Frederick F. Thomas, an Electronics Maintenance Engineer in the same office, have received Cost Reduction Certificates of Achievement for their outstanding contribution to the Air Force-wide Cost Reduction Program.

In June 1962, Detachment 2 of the 2d Surveillance Squadron at Shemya, Alaska, received orders to destroy 54 high power triode radar tubes which had failed. Shemya is one of several radar sites located throughout the world which make up the U.S. Air Force SPACETRACK System, and the triode tube is the heart of the Shemya radar. Because of the high cost (over $30,000 each) and in view of the fact that a sudden increase in triode tube failure threatened to exhaust the supply of these tubes, Captain Stensrud and Thomas began investigating the feasibility of repairing them versus the procurement of new tubes.

A list of all the failed tubes and causes for failures was obtained and submitted to Air Defense Command Headquarters in mid 1962, recommending that the high-powered tubes be considered for repair rather than disposal. The recommendation was accepted and subsequent investigation showed that the majority of the tubes could be repaired.

The rebuilding program began in January 1964. The cost of each rebuilt tube is slightly over $20,000 which resulted in a savings of over $10,000 per tube. The repair contracts for the power tube rebuild program is administered by Air Force Logistics Command (ROAMA).

During the first six months of 1964, 32 tubes were rebuilt which saved the government $320,367. Forty additional tubes were programmed to be rebuilt during fiscal year 1965 which would add up to another $410,000 savings. In the first half of fiscal year 1965, 17 of these were rebuilt for a savings of approximately $175,000.

Since the program began, several of the rebuilt tubes have been reinstalled and officials state that the performance and reliability of the tubes has proved to be equal to or better than that of new ones.

Captain Stensrud, a native of Minneapolis, Minn. has served over 16 years in the Air Force. He has been with the Ninth Division since May 1962. He enlisted in the Air Force in March 1948 and received a commission through the Officers Candidate School Program in 1953. The Captain is married to the former Mary Charles Shipp of Birmingham, Alabama.

Thomas, of San Francisco, California, is a Technical Representative of the Philco Corporation on contract with the Air Force as an Electronics Maintenance Engineer. He has been with Philco for over 14 years and celebrated his third anniversary with the Ninth on the same day he received the Cost Reduction Certificate of Achievement. He is married to the former Peggy Jo Sullivan of Tuscola, Ill. The couple and their five children reside in Colorado Springs.

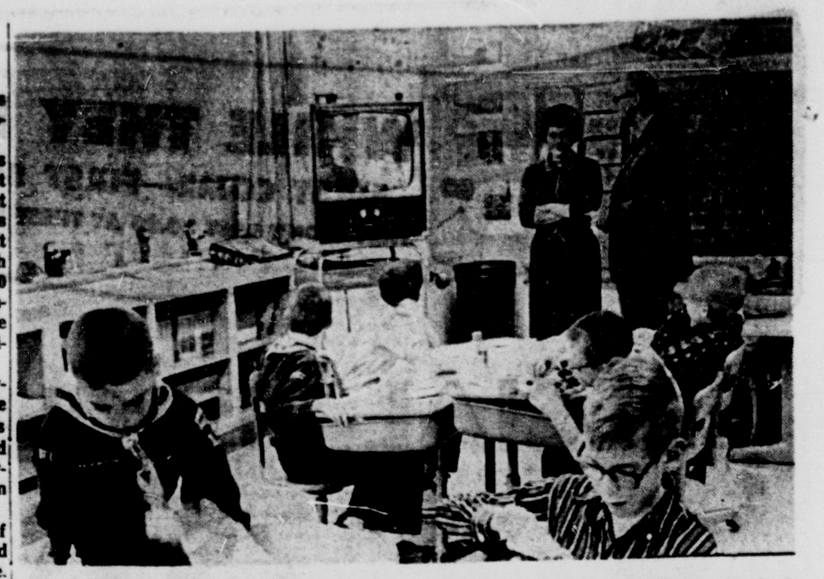
Car Thief Film To Be Shown Here Tuesday

"The Compulsive Car Thief," a filmed interview with a 21-year-old man serving a prison sentence, will highlight the El Paso County Association for Mental Health meeting at noon Tuesday.

The film, the first of four that will be shown for monthly meetings of the association, points out the problem: "Is the psychopath a medical problem or a legal one? Can he be helped? And whose responsibility is he?"

Each film to be shown at association meetings deal with one condition and the same general format is followed in all four cases. These patients describe their feelings in conversations with psychaitrists.

Jack B. Ewing, executive assistant to the superintendent of the Colorado State Hospital, will be discussant for the first film. The association's meeting will be held at Dott's Chicken Shack at 1930 South Nevada. Reservations can be made by calling 633-5306.



NOT INTERESTED—It takes more than a television western to distract John Cooper and Dan Pompea (foreground) from their school work. TV will become more important to them, however, starting about Feb. 1, when part of their instruction will be given to them via TV. In the background Robert Card of the District 11 Audio-Visual Department discusses the project with Mrs. J. Ann Peak, fifth grade teacher, while television receivers are being tested at Stratton School.

Dist. 11 to Initiate TV Lessons in Lower Grades

By STEVE WILLIAMS
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

A pilot program for a series of televised lessons for elementary classes in some District 11 school rooms will probably be in operation by Feb. 1, according to Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of schools in the district. Doherty said plans for the series are rapidly nearing completion.

During the experimental phase of the program, about 1800 pupils in grades four, five, and six will see the televised lessons. Other school districts in the region have been invited to use the programs which KRDO, Channel 13, will telecast, Doherty said.

District 11 initiated a study of educational television about four years ago, and in September began intesive planning of the present project under the direction of Dr. Arthur R. Olson, deputy superintendent, and William P. Wells, director of audio-visual education.

When they presented the proposed project to representatives of the two local television stations, Dr. Olson said the representatives expressed a desire to participate in the project and offered air time, production facilities, and their complete cooperation.

The district selected KRDO, the deputy superintendent said, primarily because it could offer a time that best fit into the elementary school schedule.

KRDO is donating 30 minutes of air time, five days a week through May 21. There will be no commercial sponsorship of the lessons, Dr. Olson said.

Another phase of the planning got underway in October when the District 11 Audio-Visual Department conducted a careful evaluation of several makes of television receivers. Wells and other audio - visual personnel then conducted reception tests in all 28 elementary schools.

The tests indicated excellent audio and video reception from the television Station in all schools, Wells said.

Additional planning involving teachers, supervisors, principals, and administrators was necessary to consider possible instructional materials and to work out the most effective means of using it in the classroom, Dr. Olson said.

All the lessons have not yet been selected, but there will probably be three series in science, social studies, and language arts which will supplement and enrich the regular classroom instruction, according to Dr. Olson.

The televised lessons will be on film or video tape with a brief introductions and closing done live by a District 11 teacher. Dr. Olson said a committee has completed its auditions of applicants for the specialized teaching job and expects to announce the name of the successful candidate soon.

Dr. Olson expressed the hope that many parents will watch the instructional programs that will give them a better understanding of some of the things children are studying in elementary school.

CU Probes New Uses for TV In Classrooms

The University of Colorado School of Education is experimenting with a new use of television for educational purposes.

Faced with the problem of showing students firsthand what goes on in a classroom before the prospective teachers embark on a semester of student teaching, CU has been trying closed - circuit television.

The CU Bureau of Audio Visual Instruction set up cameras in classrooms in Columbine Elementary School and Casey Junior High School. The classes were telecast to other rooms in the buildings to a large CU class.

In the past, students have observed classes directly, but educators have been looking for a method of observation which does not upset the observed pupils as much.

Closed - circuit television might provide the answer, because it was found that after an initial display of curiosity, the youngsters tend to forget the cameras and to settle into their normal routine. The TV method has been used successfully in other parts of the country.

The telecasting lasted four days — Thursday and Friday of last week and Monday and Tuesday of this week. The experiment was preserved on video tape for further observation later.

In addition, the CU students participating are using the standard direct observation approach.

The various methods are being evaluated for the remainder of this week by both the students and the faculty members involved. The results will help determine whether it is worthwhile to try to expand the television project to possibly pipe the programs back to the classrooms on the CU campus.

Assoc. Prof. E. Harold Harper and Asst. Prof. Bob L. Taylor of the School of Education are in charge of the operation, and Jim Dryden of the Bureau of Audio Visual Instruction handled the technical details. The program was financed by CU research funds.

Dr. McGiffert To Participate In Lectures

Dr. Michael McGiffert, associate professor of history at the University of Denver, will be one of the participants in the coming lecture series, "Colorado Faces Change", offered by the University of Colorado Center in cooperation with The Colorado College.

Dr. McGiffert will speak on February 11 on "Scaling the Peaks of Excellence". He will discuss some of the current problems of higher education in historical perspective using the Russell report as one basis for discussion.

Dr. McGiffert has proven capabilities in historical research of institutions of higher education in Colorado. His recently published book entitled, "The Higher Learning in Colorado" is a result of careful study in this area. He received his undergraduate degree at Harvard University and his graduate degree from Yale in 1958. Before joining the faculty at the University of Denver, he taught at Colgate University and at the University of Maryland.

The four lectures comprising the "Colorado Faces Change" series will be held on each Thursday during February from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at Olin Lecture Hall on Colorado College campus. Gerald Jones, of the Colorado Springs National Bank, will preside at the lectures. The fee for the entire series is 5. Tickets will be available at the C. U. offices, 1105 North Nevada Avenue beginning January 20.

Illinois Topped Summer Visitors List for 1964

Illinois ranked No. 1 among the Pikes Peak Region's summer visitors in 1964 on the basis of a sampling of 13,430 registrations in motels.

Illinois showed 1,760 registrations or 13 per cent of the total. Registrations were listed from all 50 states and the District of Columbia in a report presented by Mrs. Fondelete Fulton of the Range View Motel to the Pikes Peak Chapter of the Colorado Motel Assn.

In second place was Colorado, with 1,700 registrations or 12.5 per cent. Texas stood in third place with 1,369 or 10 per cent and California in fourth with 1,027 or 8 per cent.

Others high on the list of summer visitors were:

Fifth place, Kansas, 981 or 7 per cent; sixth, Missouri, 931 or 7 per cent; Seventh, Ohio, 585 or 4 per cent; Eighth, Iowa 585 or 4 per cent; Oklahoma, 478 or 3.5 per cent; tenth, Indiana, 388 or 3 per cent.

Bunched close together with a percentage range from 2.5 to 2 per cent were: Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, New York and New Mexico. Not far behind these states in total registration were Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Louisiana.

The remainder of the states and Washington, D.C. showed smaller proportionate representative, but all were represented in the survey.

Economy Expansion Is Being Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the nation's economy expanded by 6.5 per cent in 1964, almost making President Johnson's economic advisers perfect prophets.

They have predicted that the Gross National Product would reach $620 billion. The department said the final figure was a little shy of that at $612.2 billion.

The Gross National Product is the total of all private and public goods and services.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When Betty's aging mother-in-law moved into the household, no one said a word about money. For the next four years, Betty dutifully performed the various tasks thus added to her chores — including some nursing care. After the older woman died, Betty, backed by her husband, put in a claim against the estate for services rendered.

But another son, fearing a cut in his share, raised an objection.

"Mother never promised to pay for Betty's services," he argued in a court test.

"Not in so many words," conceded Betty. "But a promise should be presumed because of all the extra work I did for her."

However, the court, finding no adequate evidence of a promise - to - pay, denied her claim. And that is the usual rule. The law will not presume, without good reason, that a relative who has joined the household intends to pay for his care.

Of course, special circumstances may convince the court that payment was indeed intended. Suppose, for instance, that the services aere especially onerous. Or that the relative was especially wealthy. Or that the relationship was a distant one. Or that the extra work prevented the claimant from earning money elsewhere. Such facts would argue that, even though nothing was said, payment — sooner or later — was taken for granted.

But by and large, the courts are wary of these claims. After all, in most cases, the issue arises only after the realtive is dead — forever beyond questioning. The claimant might be trying to collect merely as an afterthought, with no prior understanding at all.

Besides, the law is reluctant to find financial motives within the family circle. In one case, a man kept detailed records of his mother - in - law's periodic visits during the last few years of her life. When she died, he presented an itemized bill for his hospitality.

But the court dismissed his claim with this comment:

"It would be a crime against nature and humaniy to give to all the courtesies, favors, and visits that are exchanged between parents and ihildsen the and cents."

Canon Museum Sets Open House Next Month

Members of the board of the Canon City Museum have set up an open house at the museum on Sunday, Feb. 7, from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Purpose of the occasion will be to acquaint local residents with the work that has been done at the museum during the past year, including new exhibits and items that have been added.

The newest contribution to the museum was received only last Thursday, H. O. Wood, curator of the Museum, announced.

George Ripley of Olathe, Colo. son of Henry Ripley, editor of the Canon City Times, one of the community's earliest newspapers, contributed four bound volumes of the newspaper covering March 7, 1872 — the first edition — to April 26, 1877.

"The newspapers are in excellent condition," Wood said, "and are a welcome addition to our historic files. We were happy to receive them."

Henry Ripley came to Canon City with his father, Thomas Ripley, a brick contractor who had the contract to construct the first building of the penitentiary with stone in 1869.

The paper was started by A. B. Bowman, who apparently sold it to the Ripleys later in 1872, after publishing it for several months.

The Ripley family came from England, first to Chicago, then Central City, and finally to Canon City.

A new feature of the museum is a display case of mineral bearing rock specimens illuminated by an ultra - violet light, bring out the fluorescent properties of the ore. The display was developed and constructed by Don Duncan, assistant curator of the museum.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When Betty's aging mother-in-law moved into the household, no one said a word about money. For the next four years, Betty dutifully performed the various tasks thus added to her chores — including some nursing care. After the older woman died, Betty, backed by her husband, put in a claim against the estate for services rendered.

But another son, fearing a cut in his share, raised an objection.

"Mother never promised to pay for Betty's services," he argued in a court test.

"Not in so many words," conceded Betty. "But a promise should be presumed because of all the extra work I did for her."

However, the court, finding no adequate evidence of a promise - to - pay, denied her claim. And that is the usual rule. The law will not presume, without good reason, that a relative who has joined the household intends to pay for his care.

Of course, special circumstances may convince the court that payment was indeed intended. Suppose, for instance, that the services aere especially onerous. Or that the relative was especially wealthy. Or that the relationship was a distant one. Or that the extra work prevented the claimant from earning money elsewhere. Such facts would argue that, even though nothing was said, payment — sooner or later — was taken for granted.

But by and large, the courts are wary of these claims. After all, in most cases, the issue arises only after the realtive is dead — forever beyond questioning. The claimant might be trying to collect merely as an afterthought, with no prior understanding at all.

Besides, the law is reluctant to find financial motives within the family circle. In one case, a man kept detailed records of his mother - in - law's periodic visits during the last few years of her life. When she died, he presented an itemized bill for his hospitality.

But the court dismissed his claim with this comment:

"It would be a crime against nature and humaniy to give to all the courtesies, favors, and visits that are exchanged between parents and ihildsen the and cents."

Canon Museum Sets Open House Next Month

Members of the board of the Canon City Museum have set up an open house at the museum on Sunday, Feb. 7, from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Purpose of the occasion will be to acquaint local residents with the work that has been done at the museum during the past year, including new exhibits and items that have been added.

The newest contribution to the museum was received only last Thursday, H. O. Wood, curator of the Museum, announced.

George Ripley of Olathe, Colo. son of Henry Ripley, editor of the Canon City Times, one of the community's earliest newspapers, contributed four bound volumes of the newspaper covering March 7, 1872 — the first edition — to April 26, 1877.

"The newspapers are in excellent condition," Wood said, "and are a welcome addition to our historic files. We were happy to receive them."

Henry Ripley came to Canon City with his father, Thomas Ripley, a brick contractor who had the contract to construct the first building of the penitentiary with stone in 1869.

The paper was started by A. B. Bowman, who apparently sold it to the Ripleys later in 1872, after publishing it for several months.

The Ripley family came from England, first to Chicago, then Central City, and finally to Canon City.

A new feature of the museum is a display case of mineral bearing rock specimens illuminated by an ultra - violet light, bring out the fluorescent properties of the ore. The display was developed and constructed by Don Duncan, assistant curator of the museum.

Rogers Portrait Received by Rampart College

A portrait of James M. Rogers, one of the original instructors at Rampart College, has been received by the college from Bachrach, nationally known photographer.

The portrait will be placed in the foyer of the proposed memorial library at Rampart College which will bear Rogers' name.

The picture was obtained through the cooperation of Mrs. Rogers, who is cooperating in the raising of funds for the new library.

Rogers, a former vice president of Ingersol Milling Machine Co., Rockford, Ill., died last year in a fire.

U.N. Command Rejects Communist Demands

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United Nations Command today again rejected a Communist demand that it stop introducing new types of weapons into Korea.

U.S. Rear Adm. Paul Blackburn Jr. reiterated that the U.N. Command will ship new equipment into South Korea as long as North Korea continues to violate the 1953 Korean armistice agreement by accepting up-to-date weapons from its Communist allies.

ETHICS CALLED EXCITING

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The "ethical life is an extremely exciting life," famed theologian Paul Tillich told a University of Michigan audience. Said he:

"The moral life is not a life of dull obedience to moral law. It is participation in the creative life, with all its risks . . . There is no spiritual security in abstract moral laws . . . This is so because the concrete situation changes and with it the application to the problem."

Two to Get Corneas Of Executed Man

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A pretty teen-ager, and an elderly man, though they may never meet, will share a common experience due to the last wish of a condemned man.

The girl, a 15-year-old, may receive new sight today when she is wheeled into the university hospital eye operating room to receive a cornea from one of the eyes of William F. Bowen.

Bowen, 31, died in the electric chair at Kilby Prison Friday for the 1961 butcher knife slaying of a Huntsville housewife. He had asked that his eyes be given to the University of Alabama Medical Center here.

One of Bowen's corneas will be transplanted to an eye of the girl, who had an ulcer on the cornea as a child and now has almost no vision in that eye.

The second cornea recipient reportedly will be an elderly man who injured his eyes as a youth. He has cataracts in both eyes and a doctor said the operation will "make the chances of him having more useful vision even better still."

Bowen became very religious while in Kilby Prison and joined Birmingham's Third Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. James Cantrell said the condemned man's first words when the minister arrived at the death cell shortly before the execution were: "Did you bring the doctors to take care of my eyes."

RESEARCH URGED

NEW YOR K(AP) — Like the advertising world, the churches must begin a "great new movement of communications research," instead of ridiculing such studies as unworthy of the holy gospel, a Methodist leader says.

The Rev. Dr. Harry C. Spencer of Nashville a church television-radio executive, told a meeting here that "too frequently psychological research is not related to the proclamation of the gospel . . . Careful research can give us answers to our questions concerning communication."

I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY

C. S. DUDLEY

This is not a Colorado Springs newspaper experience, but it was an interesting story that came my way when I was working in Pasadena, Calif., on a Los Angeles paper.

One day there drove up to the corner of Fair Oaks Avenue and Colorado Street, in the center of the business district, where I happened to be standing at the time, an old man, in an old car, accompanied by a pretty young woman drove up and parked near where I stood. As the car was parked both stood up and addressed those on the sidewalk. As he stood it was noticed that the old man., who was gray and emaciated, was wearing pink tights, which hung in wrinkles from his thin thighs.

The girl began a spiel.

"This," she said pointing to the man in tights, "is my father, the greates human fly in the country. He will now climb this building."

She pointed to an old four-story frame building across the street. Step up and watch him, and contribute anything you may wish to give."

With that the old man was out of the car, across the street and started the perpendicular climb, grasping window sills and decorative woodwork, anything on which he could get a hand or a toe hold.

No arrangements had been made with the police or other city officials for the exploit, and by the time a policeman got around the climber was well on his aerial way, and nothing was done to deter him.

It made one dizzy to watch the stunt.

A crowd collected, and I think many persons in it expected to see the human fly fall any minute. But he didn't. How he hung on was amazing, as up and up he slowly went, umtil he was at the top of the last story and reaching for something to which he could cling to make his way atop an overhanging cornice.

As he did this nails could be heard shrilling a warning that the cornice would give way with him. Looking down at the crowd he called out;

"this wood up here is rotten. I'm afraid it won't hold me. But I promised I would climb to the roof."

The young woman also became excited.

"Don't try, old man," a man in the crowd called out. "Come down. You've already done enough."

The cry was caught up. "Come down! Come down! Get into a window! Dozens were calling to him.

"Come on down, Paw," the daughter called. "It's too dangerous up there."

So the human fly descended, as he had climbed up, and touched ground on his feet whole. A sigh of relief went up from the crowd. The young woman passed a hat and there was quite a jingle of money.

"I'm sorry," said the human fly. "But I tell you what I'll do. Tomorrow, at noon, I'll walk a tight rope across the street between these two high buildings," pointing. "Be here to watch me."

I don't know to this day how the city officials ever permitted this to happen. But they did. Somewhere the human fly obtained a sufficiently long rope and the ends of it were made fast on the roofs of the buildings. The performer appeared on time, his pink tights flapping around his thin legs and, with a long balancing pole, neatly walked across the street on the rope. There was tumultuous applause. And this time a really large collection was taken up.

When the rope had been taken down, the human fly and his pretty daughter, waving their hands, drove on in the direction of Los Angeles. I don't know whatever became of them..

Second Escapee Is Found at State Prison

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)— Prison officers found early Saturday the second of two men sought in a break from the Colorado State Penitentiary.

The prisoner, Theodore Ruark, 28, was hiding in the soap plant and apparently had never left the institution.

Lt. August E. Tornowski said he and Sgt. W. Wilson found Ruark under a platform shortly after midnight. Ruark presumably had been there more than six hours.

A companion, Billy Schearer, 33, was captured by prison guards on Skyline Drive near the prison, less than three hours after he slipped outside the walls. Associate Warden Fred Wyse said the men removed a building stone in the wall. Schearer crawled through the hole, and it had been supposed that Ruark accompanied him.

The pair were first reported missing shortly after supper. They were placed in maximum security units after their capture.

Both men escaped previously —Schearer for four days in September 1963 and Ruark for several hours last May 7 after an ingenious plot involving the use of another prisoner's number and the manufacture of civilian trousers in the prison tailor shop. Ruark also escaped in 1962, holding a woman and her seven children hostage in the Denver area before surrendering.

Ruark is serving a 29 to 50-year sentence for armed robbery. Schearer is under a life sentence for murder.

State Republican Sees 'Bad Shape'

DENVER (AP) — Paul Wolf, chairman of the Colorado state Republican party, described the party Friday as being in "bad shape," and in need of the efforts of newly selected national chairman Ray Bliss of Ohio.

Wolf, a November supporter of defeated Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater, said the naming of BLISS WAS AN "excellent behin the-scenes political maneuver."

Wolf made the remarks in an address to the statewide Lincoln Club in Denver.

C. S. DUDLEY

One day there drove up to the corner of Fair Oaks Avenue and Colorado Street, in the center of the business district, where I happened to be standing at the time, an old man, in an old car, accompanied by a pretty young woman drove up and parked near where I stood. As the car was parked both stood up and addressed those on the sidewalk. As he stood it was noticed that the old man,, who was gray and emaciated, was wearing pink tights, which hung in wrinkles from his thin thighs.

The girl began a spiel.

"This," she said pointing to the man in tights, "is my father, the greates human fly in the country. He will now climb this building."

She pointed to an old four-story frame building across the street. Step up and watch him, and contribute anything you may wish to give."

With that the old man was out of the car, across the street and started the perpendicular climb, grasping window sills and decorative woodwork, anything on which he could get a hand or a toe hold.

No arrangements had been made with the police or other city officials for the exploit, and by the time a policeman got around the climber was well on his aerial way, and nothing was done to deter him.

It made one dizzy to watch the stunt.

A crowd collected, and I think many persons in it expected to see the human fly fall any minute. But he didn't. How he hung on was amazing, as up and up he slowly went, umtil he was at the top of the last story and reaching for something to which he could cling to make his way atop an overhanging cornice.

As he did this nails could be heard shrilling a warning that the cornice would give way with him. Looking down at the crowd he called out;

"this wood up here is rotten. I'm afraid it won't hold me. But I promised I would climb to the roof."

The young woman also became excited.

"Don't try, old man," a man in the crowd called out. "Come down. You've already done enough."

The cry was caught up. "Come down! Come down! Get into a window! Dozens were calling to him.

"Come on down, Paw," the daughter called. "It's too dangerous up there."

So the human fly descended, as he had climbed up, and touched ground on his feet whole. A sigh of relief went up from the crowd. The young woman passed a hat and there was quite a jingle of money.

"I'm sorry," said the human fly. "But I tell you what I'll do. Tomorrow, at noon, I'll walk a tight rope across the street between these two high buildings," pointing. "Be here to watch me."

I don't know to this day how the city officials ever permitted this to happen. But they did. Somewhere the human fly obtained a sufficiently long rope and the ends of it were made fast on the roofs of the buildings. The performer appeared on time, his pink tights flapping around his thin legs and, with a long balancing pole, neatly walked across the street on the rope. There was tumultuous applause. And this time a really large collection was taken up.

When the rope had been taken down, the human fly and his pretty daughter, waving their hands, drove on in the direction of Los Angeles. I don't know whatever became of them..

Second Escapee Is Found at State Prison

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—Prison officers found early Saturday the second of two men sought in a break from the Colorado State Penitentiary.

The prisoner, Theodore Ruark, 28, was hiding in the soap plant and apparently had never left the institution.

Lt. August E. Tornowski said he and Sgt. W. Wilson found Ruark under a platform shortly after midnight. Ruark presumably had been there more than six hours.

A companion, Billy Schearer, 33, was captured by prison guards on Skyline Drive near the prison, less than three hours after he slipped outside the walls. Associate Warden Fred Wyse said the men removed a building stone in the wall. Schearer crawled through the hole, and it had been supposed that Ruark accompanied him.

The pair were first reported missing shortly after supper. They were placed in maximum security units after their capture.

Both men escaped previously —Schearer for four days in September 1963 and Ruark for several hours last May 7 after an ingenious plot involving the use of another prisoner's number and the manufacture of civilian trousers in the prison tailor shop. Ruark also escaped in 1962, holding a woman and her seven children hostage in the Denver area before surrendering.

Ruark is serving a 29 to 50-year sentence for armed robbery. Schearer is under a life sentence for murder.

State Republican Sees 'Bad Shape'

DENVER (AP) — Paul Wolf, chairman of the Colorado state Republican party, described the party Friday as being in "bad shape," and in need of the efforts of newly selected national chairman Ray Bliss of Ohio.

Wolf, a November supporter of defeated Republican presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater, said the naming of BLISS WAS AN "excellent behin the-scenes political maneuver."

Wolf made the remarks in an address to the statewide Lincoln Club in Denver.

Retriever Club Elects Smith As President

George E. Smith was elected president of the Pikes Peak Retriever Club at the organization's annual meeting at the Ent Officers Club.

A total of 35 members and their wives turned out for the annual meeting.

Named to serve with Smith were: Major Willard C. Johnson, vice president; Nelson Brown, secretary treasurer, and Wing Commander G. A. Doolittle, recording secretary and publicity chairman.

Board members for 1965 will include Henry Elkins, Ev Tapey, Henry Elkins, Lieutenant Colonel J. J. Inman and Geo. Smith.

During the dinner Nelson Brown outlined the club's activities for 1965. This will include bi - monthly field training sessions for club members and three AKC licensed field trials. The proposed dates for the licensed trials are May 1 and 2, July 11, and August 14 and 15. Brown emphasized that last August the Pikes Peak Retriever Club set a record for the Rocky Mountain States area when 106 entries from throughout the U.S. were received for the fall licensed field trial. Included were some of the finest retrievers in North America.

The objective of the Pikes Peak Retriever Club is to encourage the breeding and training of retriever dogs to AKC field trial standards. The end result being a fine hunting companion. New members are welcome and further information is obtainable from the recording secretary, Wing Commander G. A. Doolittle, phone 635-2824, or any member of the executive.

Prior to the dinner the outgoing president, Major Willard C. Johnson welcomed several applicants for membership to the club. These were, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hanes, R. Sunshine, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thralko, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Judge and Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Field.

Peace Corps Urged For Eastern Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials are discussing the possible extension of Peace Corps activities into Eastern Europe as a means of forging stronger links with the Communist nations.

President Johnson has committed his administration to improved relations with Eastern Europe and has specified increased trade as a means to that end. The Peace Corps idea, however, is strictly in the discussion stage — and at lower levels of the administration.

Even if the President were to adopt the idea the countries themselves would have to invite the Peace Corps to send in volunteers. There is no assurance such invitations would be forthcoming.

Syrian Infiltrators Reported Intercepted

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A band of Syrian infiltrators on a sabotage mission was intercepted before it could do any damage, an Israeli army spokesman said Thursday. He said one saboteur was wounded and captured.

Cairo radio broadcasts said the Syrians damaged the Israeli national water carrier taking waters from the Sea of Galilee to the Negev Desert and to a bridge on one of Israel's main roads.

These broadcasts said the saboteurs were commandos, and that there were sabotage activities in southern Israel in which three Israeli soldiers were wounded.

Big Ten scoring in football last season was led by Bob Timberlake, Michingan quarterback. He scored 67 points. It was the highest total since 1943 when the late Tony Butkovich of Purdue tallied 78 points in four games.

Widefield High Windup

LUCY PERKINS

The 1964 school year was climaxed by the sixth annual Winter Ball held Dec. 23 in the high school gymnasium.

Sharon Maska escorted by Johnny Revious was crowned the queen of the Christmas dance. Her court of honor was comprised of Frances Holzinger escorted by Troy Hunter; Monica Hotavis escorted by Sterling Payton; Cande Korbelik escorted by Tony Gonzales; and Judy Lee escorted by Rodney Coates. The queen was presented with a bouquet of long stem carnations, and each of the attendants received a Christmas corsage. Mike Parnell, master of ceremonies, was dressed up like Santa Clause. There was a little delay in proceedings during the coronation when Skipper Anderson, the little boy carrying the crown, decided that he didn't like Santa Claus, and he wasn't about to go up and hand the crown to the fat man.

The decorations consisted of a spiraled ceiling of red, green, and white crepe paper streamers. Strings of Christmas lights illuminated the room. Small evergreen trees were set in each of the basketball rims. Tables were decorated with white glittered tissue paper, and each table had a soapbubble snowman placed in the center of an arrangement of evergreen boughs.

The "Persuaders" provided the musical entertainment for the evening. This particular group seems to be a favorite among many of the seniors according to Tony Gonzales.

The French Club sponsored the dance. Traditionally the French Club sponsors the Turkey Trot in November: but since the club was unable to sponsor the Thanksgiving dance, student council requested that French Club sponsor the Winter Ball. In the past years the Winter Ball has shown some deficit; but according to Mr. Luna, sponsor of the French Club, the dance seems to cover all its expenses although a treasurer's report has not yet been given.

Frances Holzinger, president of French Club, said that the club was pleased with the results of the dance even though there wasn't a very high attendance. She said that the club was a little disappointed in the students who stole branches off of Mr. Johnson's aluminum Christmas tree because it was so bare by the end of the dance that the club was obligated to buy a new tree.

Mr. Gerber announced recently to the Life Problems classes that there will be a special night class started. It is designed with seniors in mind. The class will be mainly for those senior students who won't have enough credits to graduate this spring.

The proposed class will meet one night per week for three hours. The course will last one semester and will include material from the four basic academic areas of math, science, social studies, and English.

To enroll and participate in this special course, a student must have a minimum of eight units of credit. In order to participate in this class the student must be enrolled in school and must maintain a good attendance record during the normal school day. He must also maintain a perfect attendance record in the special night class.

The cost of this special semester session will be only twenty dollars.

Basketball:

Saturday, Jan. 9, the Gladiators traveled north to meet the Brighton Bulldogs only to be turned down, 6-46.

Dec. 19, the visiting Widefield cagers were defeated by the Boulder five, 60-52.

Tomorrow evening Widefield will host Air Academy in the opening league game for the Gladiators. Thus far, Widefield's only victory has been at the expense of the Fountain Trojans, 52-44.

Jan. 4, in a league encounter, Widefield's junior varsity defeated the Air Academy JV squad, 49-45.

The junior varsity has two wins and one loss in league play. Tomorrow evening the junior varsity will play host to the Air Academy "B" team.

The new year was rung in four days late by a ReBELLious fire bell that refused to be quieted.

Mr. Richard Compton inaugurated new regulations on the first day back in school.

Changes in the school policy are as follows: 1. A sign out sheet is provided in the office. All students must sign out when leaving the grounds for any reason during the day. This includes students leaving for doctor or dental appointments or errands for teachers. This does not include field trips, classroom extensions, or going home for lunch. 2. Students who are late and therefore skip their 8 a.m. class in order to avoid detention will receive two detention periods and unexcused absence. Unless a valid excuse is provided for absence during the first period, this rule will be applicable. 3. Instead of ten minutes between first and second periods, there will be only seven. 4. An additional tardy slip will be put into effect. This slip will be used by the teachers sending the students out of the classroom for any reason.

WHS is soon to have many new additions made. These new additions will include an auto mechanics shop, a metal shop and a commercial department with a room for the Distributive Education Class, a room for the new computer equipment and two new Home Economic's rooms which will be used ultimately for the band until a new auditorium can be built.

This new building will provide classroom space for a complete technical training program. The new building will also include a new study hall with the present one being converted into a library. The new study hall will then be located westward from the old library. The band room will be converted to a fine arts room. The two present home economics rooms will be changed into two science laboratories, one being for physics and the other one being for biology.

There will also be some new Digital Computer Puncher Card Equipment which is to be used in the new commercial department, math department and also for use in making student schedulings and many other administrative jobs.

In all, this new building will provide six new additional classrooms simply by moving around. This should provide adequate for the next two years, according to Mr. Richard Compton.

Too Many Pheasants Can Paralyze Brain

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedes have been cautioned to limit themselves to three pheasant each. Three to eat, that is.

A veterinary research team reported today that pheasant shot during the fall season had eaten mercury-cured seeds, outlawed last May as a poultry feed.

The researchers found pheasant meat contained as much as 800 times the safe limit of mercury set by the World Health Organization. They warned that eating more than three birds could cause brain damage, blindness or paralysis.

Mines Joins in Search for Useful Earthquake Forecasting Device

This is very possibly the decade when the old dream of a useful earthquake forecasting service will become a reality.

This prediction by a Colorado School of Mines geophysicist was made as it was announced that his department will join the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in development of what is likley to be a key seismic forecasting instrument.

Professor John C. Hollister, Head of Mines' Department of Geophysics, announced the development program at a press conference at Cecil H. Green Geophysical Observatory, a Mines facility.

Under it a temperature compensated and pressure insulated strain seismometer will be developed. It will be much less expensive to put into operation than were the four similar installations now existing in North America.

Dr. Maurice W. Major, a Mines seismologist, will be in charge of the project.

The new device, when developed, should make it possible to gather at much less cost the information needed to develop a theory for prediction. Numerous installations would probably be required.

A device of the type envisaged could be placed in a trench rather than in an expensive tunnel of the type needed by present instruments.

About the beckoning possibility of predicting dangerous quakes, Dr. Major said:

"In the development of a science, there is likely to come a period when scraps of information and new ideas mesh together suddenly and there is rapid progress. That could well be the situation opening up now for earthquake forecasting.

He cited material from professional papers to illustrate the point.

"Recently as a result of the Alaskan Earthquake and terrible damage that it brought to Anchorage and some other cities in Alaska, there has been a very great acceleration in the interest of the U.S. Government," said Dr. John J. Healy of the U.S. Geological Survey.

"We happen to be one of the government agencies that is particularly interested . . . we proposed and expect to begin to carry out within the next year a rather long range and extensive effort of research in the general area of the San Andreas Fault in California.

A special White House panel which is to study the precise causes of quakes and develop data leading to safe building sites and designs also is to report next summer, according to the "National Observer".

Some progress already has been made, Dr. Healy said. "We can already predict where major earthquakes are likely to occur." This permits building to be strengthened as necessary, he said.

So far, "there is no good earthquake insurance scheme in this country," the government seismologist noted. "The reason is that the geophysicist is not able to give an adequate statistical breakdown of the probability of loss."

We are gaining an increasingly clear idea where they occur and how often they are likely," he said. "We can certainly refine these estimates with more measurements."

For forecasting earthquakes, "the thing we should be looking at is the record of some instrument which records changes of strain, changes of deformation in the rock mass, or the tilting of the surface," Dr. Major said. Instrumental records "suggest that something recognizable may go on prior to the occurance of a quake," he commented.

Cecil H. Green Observatory is a member of the World Wide Standardized Seismograph Network. In addition to carrying out many varieties of seismic studies and participating in fed- it is working with earth currents and the earth's magnetic field. Built by private funds from the Colorado School of Mines Foundation, Inc., it has been equipped without expenditure of Colorado tax money.

The Colorado School of Mines which operates it, is the nation's oldest college of mineral engineering a field which extends from studies of ceramics and petroleum to work in physics and underground water. Extensive research work is carried out by its faculty and graduate school.

District Re-(J) Budget Shows $18,000 Increase

In a financial report to the people of school district Re-2(J) released this week by the board of education, a review and study of the various sources of income received by the district is detailed for those interested in the affairs of the school and its function.

Operating on a budget of $701,-781 for the year 1965, it is noted that the district has increased its budget over 1964 by approximately $18,000. Only significant reduction in costs is the $1,675 in plant equipment and maintenance.

Commenting on the report, Superintendent of Schools Barto Babitz noted that the cost of student body activities, $3,500, remains the same. This amount is allotted to the students in the district for such activities as music, dramatics, and similar activities, or about $2.50 per student per year.

Largest single increase is the $13,731.46 for instruction. Increases are also noted for pupil transportation, $1,990.18; operation of plant of equipment, $3,-061.87; and administration, $1,-538.74.

The burden imposed on local property taxpayers for school purposes shows up in several tables printed in the concise brochure. For instance, the increase for local taxpayers' dollars for the 1965 budget is $34,-086.83, a jump from $225,324.27 in 1964 to $259,411.10 in 1965.

The shift of tax load from the state to local property owners and taxpayers is evidence in a comparison of five years as drawn up by the board of education. In 1960-61, for example, the local district tax revenue was $175,572.63 as compared to $171,-902.38 for the state of Colorado. For 1964-65, the local tax load has increased to $260,411.10 while state aid is $200,532.60.

The differential between local tax support and state aid in 1960-61 was $4,670.25, while 1964-65 shows a spread of $59,878.50. In a five-year period state aid in this school district has decrtased $55,208.25 with the shift of burden becoming heavier on the local property owner.

For residents living in Florence, the total levy for 1965 will be the somewhat staggering 90.12 for every $1,000 worth of assessed property.

A breakdown of the percentage of total tax dollar is listed as follows:

Total mill levy, school tax, 49.82; city of Florence, 19.80; Fremont county, 12.80; Florence Sanitation district, 4; fire district, 2; state of Colorado, 1.30; Southeast Colorado Water district, .40.

The brochure points out that in 1961 the total assessed valuation for the district was $9,873,-919, which produced a total asstssed valuation per pupil of $7,704.13. In 1965, by contrast, the assessed valuation for the district has dropped to $9,734,-088, or $6,999.89 per pupil.

Concerning its operation of school cafeterias, the board reported that both the one in Florence and at Penrose are operated on a non-profit basis. Meals are served to students at 25 cents and to adults for 30 cents.

During the school year 1963-64, lunch was served 174 days to 118,126 students and 6,627 adults or an average of 716 meals a day. The total cost of the program was $31,793.26, while the total received was $35,371.84 including $5,921.81 from federal funds.

Memorial Fund Set Up To Honor CU Teacher

A memorial fund has been set up at the University of Colorado in honor of a CU accounting professor who served at the University for 37 years.

The Hazen W. Kendrick Memorial Fund will be used for student loans or scholarships in the University School of Business. Donations are being accepted by the CU Development Foundation.

Kendrick died Jan. 4 He came to the University in 1925, and retired in 1962. He was head of the accounting division of the School of Business Administration from 1950 to 1960, and was acting dean of the school in 1949.

The number of children under five years of age in the nation doubled between 1940-60 from 10.5 million to 20.3 million. By 1970 the total is expected to increase to 25 million.

Controversial Author Set To Speak Monday at SCSC

Vance Packard, author of several best sellers, will appear on the Southern Colorado State College campus Monday a 8 p.m. Packard, who's lecture is the first in a series for winter quarter, has chosen as his topic, "What's Happening to the American Character?"

The lecture will be given in the ballroom of the College Center and is open to the public without charge. However, SCSC students, who present activity

tickets, and faculty will be admitted to the ballroom first. After 7:45, the public will be admitted.

A social critic of the first rank Packard pioneered in alerting the American public to the techniques employed for "persuasion in depth" advertising. He began collecting material on the subject in the early 1950's, and "The Hidden Persuaders," published in 1957, quickly climbed to the No. 1 spot on the nation's best - seller lists. It was translated into nine languages, and nearly a million copies are now in print.

Packard's findings, as set forth in his subsequent book, "The Status Seekers," showed a trend toward a more rigid class system in supposedly classless America which in one way or another affects the lives of every citizen. This book, too, skyrocketed to the top of the best-seller lists, giving its author the unique distinction of having two books in two successive years hit the No. 1 spot.

Packard is mapping plans for more studies of American Society and, meanwhile, writing for magazines. His articles have appeared in such publications as The Atlantic Monthly, Look, Reader's Digest, Ladies' Home Journal and The New York Times Magazine.

A native of Pennsylvania, Packard has been an author, writer and teacher ever since he received his master's degree from Columbia Graduate School of Journalism some twenty-odd years ago. For the past dozen years, he has specialized in bringing to public attention new developments in the social science of broad, general interest. The research and collation of material for his books has been tremendous.

For "The Hidden Persuaders," he drew on more than 1500 sources and read more than three million words on motivational research. For "The Status Seekers," he travelled in 15 states and eight foreign countries and brought together the findings of more than 150 sociologists. His research for "The Waste Makers" was less arduous.

Before his preoccupation with the social sciences, Packard spent five years as a newspaperman in Boston and New York, after which he switched to writing magazine articles and books. Many of his articles appeared in The American Magazine and later Collier's, where he had a staff connection.

In "The Waste Makers," Packard demonstrated that persuasion and a desire for social upgrading are no longer enough to sell the surplus of products industry produces. Productivity is now being maintained, he believes, by such strategies as "planned obsolescence." He showed how waste has become a virtue and "product death" a watchword in American industry.

Though he has no quarrel with legitimate technological advancement, Mr. Packard seriously questions the morality and economic validity of a system that, in order to exist, depends upon artificially shortening the life of useful products.

Residents of Fairfield County, Conn., the Packards and their three children spend their summers in an ancient, rambling house along an isolated stretch of the seashore of Martha's Vineyard. There Packard has time to think ahead, and the thoughts that come to him are likely to result in further lively volumes on the changing American scene that will enrich his fellow citizens' understanding and add some more vivid "catch phrases" to their daily conversation.

Electrified Fence Is Built in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists have built six stretches of electrified fence around West Berlin to make escape more difficult, West Berlin police sources said Thursday.

The sixth stretch was completed Wednesday along the Red wall in downtown Berlin where a refugee was wounded by Red gunfire but was rescued by a U. S. military policeman last September.

Controversial Author Set To Speak Monday at SCSC

Vance Packard, author of several best sellers, will appear on the Southern Colorado State College campus Monday a 8 p.m. Packard, who's lecture is the first in a series for winter quarter, has chosen as his topic, "What's Happening to the American Character?"

The lecture will be given in the ballroom of the College Center and is open to the public without charge. However, SCSC students, who present activity

tickets, and faculty will be admitted to the ballroom first. After 7:45, the public will be admitted.

A social critic of the first rank Packard pioneered in alerting the American public to the techniques employed for "persuasion in depth" advertising. He began collecting material on the subject in the early 1950's, and "The Hidden Persuaders," published in 1957, quickly climbed to the No. 1 spot on the nation's best - seller lists. It was translated into nine languages, and nearly a million copies are now in print.

Packard's findings, as set forth in his subsequent book, "The Status Seekers," showed a trend toward a more rigid class system in supposedly classless America which in one way or another affects the lives of every citizen. Questions and Answers on Alcoholism

Editor's Note: As a public service, the Gazette Telegraph will answer questions on Alcoholism and problem drinking in out region. Send all inquiries to this newspaper. Answers will be supplied by G. L. McDougall, Director Alcoholism Information Center, Out West Bldg., sponsored by the El Paso County Council on Alcoholism.

1. Q. My wife drinks about 2 to 3 quarts of beer every night and she tells me two doctors told her she could not become alcoholic by just drinking beer, is that true?

A. It is doubtful that the doctors were informed as to quantity and constancy of consumption of the beverage. Alcohol is alcohol regardless of form. According to the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation of Ontario's Drink Chart, "Here is how the different kinds of alcoholic drinks compare in terms of alcoholic content: 1½ oz. whiskey equals 3 oz. Port or Sherry equals 12 oz. beer.

2 Q. Could my child become an alcoholic because his father was one?

A. As far as we know, it is not heredity but according to Dr. Marvin Block, if drinking is a psychological crutch used by an unhappy, insecure youth to meet his problems (often products of bickering and conflict in the home), his escape from them is in alcohol, he begins to depend on it as a crutch, thus a potential alcoholic may develop. Over - protectiveness can produce the same results.

3. Q. What about drinking and driving?

A. Alcohol affects everybody — some more quickly than others. 1 or 2 drinks — 1-25 of 1 per cent Blood Level. 3 drinks — Judgment is slower. Co-ordination is a bit off. 5 drinks — Vision a bit blurred. Speech a little fuzzy. Reaction time slowed down.

4. Q Can a person drive safely after cocktailing?

A. A good guide is given by Alcoholism Research Foundation: A driver should wait this many hours before attempting to drive a car: 2 drinks, 2 hours; 3 drinks, 4 hours; 4 drinks, 6 hours; 5 drinks, 8 hours.

5. Q. My less than one year old baby was beaten by my drunken husband. What can I do?

A. After having baby treated, try and get your husband to treatment for his probable illness, alcoholism. Consult your family doctor. Do not leave your baby with an ill person whose behavioral pattern can endanger the child's health and life.

6. Q. What can I do about my husband's drinking that is affecting my teen-age son to the point he is too nervous to do

A. Your husband may have a progressive disease known as Alcoholism, one of the four major health problems of this country. Consult your doctor, spiritual adviser, local Alcoholism Information Center for help for your husband and also seek help for your child

SEE NEXT COLUMN: Should I tell my husband's employer he is an alcoholic. He is responsible for a company car and funds as representative for the company, both of which he is abusing and getting worse.

Paper Urges Cuban Cruises

LONDON (UPI)—The Communist Daily Worker urged its wealthier readers Wednesday to take Caribbean cruises to Cuba.

The worker boosted Cuban tourism in a two-page ad dedicated to the holiday potential of Soviet bloc countries.

Most of the Iron Curtain countries took out advertising space proclaiming their charms for vacationing socialists.

Bulgaria claimed to be "gay . . . romantic . . . sunny." Poland said its holidays were "unforgettable" and East Germany boasted of its appeal for "art lovers."

Czechoslovakia went for the angle that it was an "exciting new holiday land," and Hungary and Romania advertised sunny swimming holidays on their inland seas.

Moscow's Intourist organization, playing it safe, said the Soviet Union was the place "for the best holiday in 1965 by sea, air, rail, coach, car."

A prescription must be written or telephoned by a physician, the Food and Drug Administration reports. Otherwise, a pharmacist is forbidden by law to fill it.

"How I Won the War," by Patrick Ryan (Morrow $3.95): One of the funniest accounts of military experience produced so far by World War II. Veterans who were there should enjoy it as much as the new generation to whom it can be no more than hilarious history. Ryan's satiric intention is indicated by his title and even more by his para-pompous dedication "to all who served under my command in the Second World War, to that happy band of brothers in arms. . .to 12 Platoon, the 4th Musketeers."

His book is presented as th episodic war dairy of Ernest Goodbody, an earnest, educated but utterly unsoldierly young man who offered his services to king and country at the outset of World War II.

Goodbody was hustled off to officers' school because of his unduly officious examination of the records kept by the old-army types in the camp where he was trained. He was commissioned by another fluke, and gradually (inevitably?) become the senior lieutenant in the regiment. Goodbody progresses from the North Africa landings through Italy and Greece to the crossing of the Rhine and the link-up with the Russians.

"Love Lies Bleeding," by Peter Viertel (Doubleday $4.95): An American — a writer — follows a great bullfighter through Spain and France. This is a novel of the favors the maestro of the ring enjoys from the crowd when he pleases and the jeers he takes when he disappoints. Women fall in love with him while his wife waits faithfully at home. But it's the kind of life a Spanish woman must expect when she marries a bullfighter for he's away from home a lot and there isn't much she can do about the women falling for a grand performer. But when a bullfighter starts getting a bit old and can't quite put on as good a show as his younger rivals, what makes him keep going into the ring now that he has enough money for the rest of his life? What makes him strain the limits of his strength and endurance, even after the fans have tired of him? The story concerns Juan Ramon Vasquez, Spain's "Numero Uno," whose public and private lives become more complicated year by year. Driven by passion, ambition and fear, Vasquez lives a precarious life with death or disaster never far away. What price glory? Vasquez' story gives one answer.

Ilyitch Slept Here," by Henry Carlistle (Lippincott $4.95): If cold war confrontations could be resolved as merrily as they are in this book the world would have nothing to fear. Carlisle brings his Russians and Americans together in Bern, Switzerland. The Russian military attache's office gets wind that a house near Bern is for sale that Lenin occupied in the summer of 1916. Not only that but he is rumored to have studied there the U.S. Constitution and the writings of Thomas Paine and written a book, the manuscript of which might still be in the house. But alas, the young American embassy aid and his bride, house hunting, beat the Russians to Lenin's house. And thus the stage is set for spying and counter-spying a la burlesque with plentiful rattling of Commie and 100-per-cent-American cliches. The good-natured satire makes for relaxing reading.

"The 50 Great Pioneers of American Industry," by the editors of News Front (C. S. Hammond Co. $10): a picture book with short biographies of the men (and one woman) whose ideas and activites laid the foundations of America's giant business complex. There are inventors like Cyrus McCormic and Thomas A. Edison; organizers like Harley Procter and R. H. Macy; master salesmen like E. R. Sears and John R. Patterson; bankers like Arthur Morris and A. P. Giannini; Henry Ford, W. K. Kellogg, Ole Evinrude and other giants in their respective fields. The woman? Elizabeth Arden, who founded an industry on women's quest for beauty.

"Wise Men Fish Here," by W. G. Rogers (Harcourt, Brace & World $5.95): This favorite fishing hole of wise men (in this case book lovers) is a crowded book shop in West 47th Street, New York, known as the Gotham Book Mart. But it is more than just a book store it is a mecca for famous authors and others who inhabit the book world. At the center of this shrine is a little 76-year-old woman, Frances Steloff, who never wrote a book but who has always revered the people who write them. She has helped many a young writer to become established and even become famous. The story of her own life is a fascinating one and Rogers has fashioned an entertaining biography from Miss Steloff's recollections and from her army of friends among the literati.

"The ABC of Style," A Guide to Plain English, by Rudolf Flesch (Harper & Row $4.95): Flesch has been an enemy of obscure and pompous writing for many years. He wants people to write what they mean in words and sentences that readers can understand without difficulty. And he has done a great deal toward that end by writing numerous books — Why Johnny Can't Read, The Art of Clear Thinking, The Art of Plain Talks, The Art of Readable Writing. In the ABC of Style his object is to strip the fat from overweight language, use short, easily understood words and expressions in place of pompous and fuzzy ones. Here is a bookful of words and phrases arranged alphabetically with suggestions on how to use them effectively or slim them down.

"The Sterile Cuckoo" by John Nichols (David McKay $4.50): A giddy girl nicknamed Pookie falls rightfully in love with a college freshman who has his problems trying to follow the campus crowd and bowing to the whims of upperclassmen. The adventures of Pooks and Jerry escape the ever-suspecting eyes of the dean of women — enough to make a feller go back and give a coeducational institution another college try. This novel seems written for undergraduates, but might be suitable for old grads plagued with campus nostalgia — dinners for two of hamburgers and potato chips in the drug store, hell weeks as a fraternity pledge and other non-curricular activities which make higher education so incidental.

"Conflift in Laos — The Politics of Neutralization," by Arthur J. Dommen (Praeger $5.95): U.S. prestige and the future of Southeast Asia are at stake in the commitment of American money and blood to save Laos and South Viet Nam from communism. The military and ideological battle has gone badly from the American standpoint. The author, a United Press International correspondent in Asia, blames a basic lack of understanding of the new political forces. But he offers hope that effective neutralization of Laos is still possible. In the beginning, the author says, the United States bound itself to feudal elements, was reluctant to put up funds for economic development while spending millions on "a war without victory," and failed to comprehend the powerful appeal of nationalism. What is needed today, he asserts, is a new American comprehension of the game of power politics in Indochina and a more flexible policy. It is no longes a case of Communist vessus anti-Communist. It is a people's war and the people must be induced to protect their true interests. Since frontal assault on North Viet Nam might only bring a united response of the Communist bloc, the author recommends lightning, guerilla-type strikes against Vietnamese positions — a dose of their own medicine that would have maximum shock effect. Then, he adds, the United States should be prepared to make contact with the Hanoi regime, and even to trade with it to lessen dependence on the Soviet bloc.

"Behold This Dreamer!" by Fulton Oursler (Little, Brown. $5.95): A lively, interesting and often very funny story of a remarkable man — the late Fulton Oursler, author, editor, lecturer, amateur of magic and criminology and sometime secret agent.

The jacket describes the book as an autobiography, but the author preferred to call it "a ragabag of cotten,, silken and velvet memories."

Actually, it begins as one and ends as the other. The organized autobiography Oursler was writing was only a little more than half-completed when death overtook him in 1952. The rest of the book is made up of random fragments placed in perspective by Fulton Jr.

Oursler achieved professional prominence as a magazine editor. He probably will be remembered best, however, as a writer — specifically as the author of the best-selling "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

He also wrote novels, detective stories, plays, movies and radio shows, usually working simultaneously on several projects. He was not a man to heat his irons one by, one.

Even more than most men, Oursler was a complex of fascinating contradictions. Although an innate conservative, he helped promote the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt; he was an agnostic for most of his life, but in his later years he became one of America's leading religious writers.

"Canada A to Z," by Robert S. Kane (Doubleday $4.95): After spending summers touring Canada, Kane has written a complete tourist guide as well as an historical and political outline. Canada's culture has elements derived from the United States, Britain and France, but remains distinctively Canadian, Kane writes. The book tells the visitor to Canada what kind of people he can expect to find. Their standard of living is about as high as the American and their education about the same. It tells where one should go and the places where one shouldn't bother going. Such hints as where to change currency and what is too expensive to buy in Canada and should be taken along from the United States are helpfui to the traveler who wants to keep his expenses down. He doesn't hesitate to warn of facilities which do not meet American standards.

"Anatomy of a Fisherman," by Robert Traver, photographs by Robert W. Kelly (McGraw-Hill $10.95): Handsomely illustrated in color, this book poetically and humorously explores the reasons why the angler makes off through the woods to the streams with fly rod in his hand and mosquito repellent on his face. Traver says, "I fish because I love to; because I love the environs where trout are found, which are invariably beautiful, and hate the environs where crowds of people are found, which are invariably ugly . . ." Chasing trout is compared to chasing women — with woman chasing being less frustrating. Trout fishermen toss in their sleep and dream of the trout as shapely as a mermaid. Fishermen are cranky, moody and neglectful, so about all one can say for fishing is that "it's got work beat a mile and is, if man can stand it, indecently great fun." Traver is the author of the best-selling novel, "Anatomy of a Murder." He and photographer Kelly take the reader on a fishing trip through the Michigan woods but are a bit careful not to identify favorite fishing holes.

Civil Defense Slates Two New Courses Here

Two new training courses will be offered in the Civil Defense Emergency Operations Center, 230 E. Kiowa St.

The first will be an eight hour course in radiological monitoring from 6 to 10 p.m. next Tuesday and Thursday.

The second will be a 12-hour course for explosive ordinance reconnaissance agents from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Feb. 9, 10 and 11.

City - County Civil Defense Director said both courses are open to the public and free.

The second course is designed to provide instruction to civilian or military personnel for locating and identifying unexploded ordinance, submitting appropriate reports and establishing effective safety precautions to protect life and property from the effects of an explosion.

Willoughby said the course on explosive ordainance will be conducted by the 94th Ordinance Detachment, Ft. Carson.

Charter Group Sets Hearing On Sales Tax

The proposed county - wide sales tax for El Paso County will be a topic for open discussion at the annual meeting of the Colorado Springs Charter Association Monday evening according to Broun H. Mayall, association director.

A special committee on "metropolitan government" will report at the dinner meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. at Ruth's Oven.

Interested citizens are invited to attend and may make dinner reservations by calling Mrs. Lewis Abbott (633-6633).

Placement Tests For Center Set

Placement tests and orientation sessions for students planning to enroll for spring semester at the University of Colorado, at the Colorado Springs Center are scheduled Wednesday, according to Wayne Woolston, center administrator.

Beginning students should take the placement exams on Wednesday, at 6:30 p.m. at Jackson House, San Rafael and Nevada, Woolston said. Orientation sessions for students pursuing a degree program at the University will be held the same evening at 8:30 p.m.

Registration for the spring term is January 27, and January 28, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Classes begin the week of February 1.

Gold Guardian Has Certain Frustrations

EDITOR'S NOTE: The United States supply of gold is dwindling and some people are worried. Victor Harkin is surrounded by gold but he has worries, too. He's the guardian of fabled Ft. Knox.

By GEORGE W. HACKETT

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Victor Harkin is surrounded by gold but there is a certain frustration to his job, too.

Daily he's bombarded with letters from youngsters, souvenir hunters and even disappointed prospectors. They all read pretty much the same:

"Dear sir, please send me a gold brick."

They get the same cold, unhospitable treatment as do those who wish to see or touch the approximately $13 billion in bars stored at the impregnable depository.

Harkin, 56, the nation's chief guardian of all this wealth, won't say exactly how much is there. "That's not my job. I'm here to see that nothing happens to it."

Harkin is one of the few men who ever get inside the 2½-story depository with its bombproof roof and vault.

The vault is a two-level steel and concrete space, 40 x 60 feet, with a door weighing more than 20 tons. Inside the gold bars lie unwrapped on steel shelves.

"Just suppose somebody got his hands on one of those bricks," said Harkin. "He'd have a hard time getting rid of it."

Each bar is 6¾ inches long, 3½ inches wide and 1¾ inches thick. It contains about 400 troy ounces of gold. It is worth $14,000.

Around the vault itself there is a corridor fitted with mirrors, enabling the guards to see the space between the two roofs. Each corner of the building contains a pillbox and a steel fence marks the boundaries of the site.

Flood lights are trained on the driveway entrance from Bullion Boulevard and a visitor starting into the entrance is stopped by a voice demanding that he give his name and state his business.

When the guards enter the outside pill boxes, they take along emergency equipment, including machine guns and gas masks. They even have provisions for emergency cooking; and the electrical system is equipped with emergency sources of supply.

The depository was completed in December 1936, at a cost of $560,000. Special trains were used to convey the gold bars to the post.

Once a year a committee appointed by the director of the mint shows up at the depository to inspect the seals and to make sure the gold is all there.

The door to the vault can be opened only by two men working simultaneously and no person is permitted to know both the combinations which open the twin locks.

American citizens haven't been able to exchange currency for gold since this nation went off the gold standard in 1934. Foreign governments are allowed to exchange any dollars they accumulate for gold at the fixed price of $35 an ounce.

Whenever a friend asks Harkin if he can get him into the depository, he always replies:

"You'll have to stand in line behind my wife. She never has been inside my office."

Brochure Tells About Rampart College Plans

A description of the Rampart College Graduate School now is available in a colorful brochure, it was announced today.

"The brochure is being sent to those persons who have expressed an interest in giving support to the college," Robert LeFevre, dean of the school, said. "Rampart College is dedicated to the perpetuation of human liberty and free enterprise."

Copies of the brochure may be obtained from Rampart College on request. The address is Box 165, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Pack 113 Goes on First Field Trip

Cub Scouts of Den 7, Pack 113, went on their first field trip of the year Jan. 14. They visited the Colorado Springs Police Department.

The Cubs were introduced to police officers and were shown through the headquarters and the jail. They were in the lineup and were fingerprinted.

Showdown Seen In Alabama on Voter Issue

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) "This," said Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, "is probably the beginning of the showdown on voter registration in the state."

"This" is the suit filed Friday in U.S. District Court by the Justice Department asking the abolition of the voter literacy test in Alabama.

The suit, filed by acting U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, charges that the test is too difficult, that it discriminates against Negroes because it is so difficult, and that it should, therefore, be abolished.

Furthermore, the suit asks the court to order that the names of all persons rejected as voters for failing the test be added to county voter rolls.

Flowers conceded that the test "is rugged," adding that "had every voter in Alabama passed this test, we would have the most intelligent electorate in the nation."

However, he promised to defend "with every faculty we have" the actions of registrars in administratering the test. He promised to carry the case all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

Gov. George Wallace has not commented on the suit, though his office says he is "aware of it."

Katzenbach contends that requirements of education demanded by the test and the imposing of the test as a voting requirement violate the U.S. Constitution and the Civil Rights Acts of 1957, 1960, and 1964.

The Justice Department claims that the test, in effect, discriminates against Negroes, while not adversely affecting white voters.

Under most conditions, those persons already registered under earlier tests would not have to take the newer, more difficult quiz. The exceptions would be voter candidates of both races just reaching voting age, persons purged from voting roles seeking reinstatement on the rolls, and persons changing their county of residence.

Katzenbach points out that slightly more than 65 per cent of the state's white adult population registered to vote under the less stringent test, while only 19 per cent of Alabama's Negro adult population was so registered.

The suit further contends that the literacy level required by the test is above that of a sixth grade education, presumed by the 1964 Civil Rights Act to be sufficient for voting purposes.

Gold Guardian Has Certain Frustrations

EDITOR'S NOTE: The United States supply of gold is dwindling and some people are worried. Victor Harkin is surrounded by gold but he has worries, too. He's the guardian of fabled Ft. Knox.

By GEORGE W. HACKETT

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Victor Harkin is surrounded by gold but there is a certain frustration to his job, too.

Daily he's bombarded with letters from youngsters, souvenir hunters and even disappointed prospectors. They all read pretty much the same:

"Dear sir, please send me a gold brick."

They get the same cold, unhospitable treatment as do those who wish to see or touch the approximately $13 billion in bars stored at the impregnable depository.

Harkin, 56, the nation's chief guardian of all this wealth, won't say exactly how much is there. "That's not my job. I'm here to see that nothing happens to it."

Harkin is one of the few men who ever get inside the 2½-story depository with its bombproof roof and vault.

The vault is a two-level steel and concrete space, 40 x 60 feet, with a door weighing more than 20 tons. Inside the gold bars lie unwrapped on steel shelves.

"Just suppose somebody got his hands on one of those bricks," said Harkin. "He'd have a hard time getting rid of it."

Each bar is 6¾ inches long, 3½ inches wide and 1¾ inches thick. It contains about 400 troy ounces of gold. It is worth $14,000.

Around the vault itself there is a corridor fitted with mirrors, enabling the guards to see the space between the two roofs. Each corner of the building contains a pillbox and a steel fence marks the boundaries of the site.

Flood lights are trained on the driveway entrance from Bullion Boulevard and a visitor starting into the entrance is stopped by a voice demanding that he give his name and state his business.

When the guards enter the outside pill boxes, they take along emergency equipment, including machine guns and gas masks. They even have provisions for emergency cooking; and the electrical system is equipped with emergency sources of supply.

The depository was completed in December 1936, at a cost of $560,000. Special trains were used to convey the gold bars to the post.

Once a year a committee appointed by the director of the mint shows up at the depository to inspect the seals and to make sure the gold is all there.

The door to the vault can be opened only by two men working simultaneously and no person is permitted to know both the combinations which open the twin locks.

American citizens haven't been able to exchange currency for gold since this nation went off the gold standard in 1934. Foreign governments are allowed to exchange any dollars they accumulate for gold at the fixed price of $35 an ounce.

Whenever a friend asks Harkin if he can get him into the depository, he always replies:

"You'll have to stand in line behind my wife. She never has been inside my office."

Critical Look at LBJ Among Library's New Books

'Badger' Turns Out To Be Plain Skunk

UNION CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Turner Kirkland called in a reporter Thursday, saying he captured a badger — rare in these parts — in a cage-like trap.

"Looks more like a skunk to me," said the reporter.

"He's just got a white spot on his head — not all the way down his back," said Kirkland as he jabbed the animal with a stick to get a better view.

Turned out the reporter was right.

Michigan State Icers Crush CC

BETWEEN THE LINES

by Loy Holman

Cleavage of Coaches

Hockey pretty well cornered the market this weekend for attention to collegiate sporting types — due in part to the travels of the gangling basketball variety of local schools, and also because of the enthusiasm being generated by Colorado College's Bob Johnson.

Although trying his best to stay in the background, the CC hockey coach of little over a year's stay was the mover behind the attempt to form a booster club exclusively for his favorite sport. Appropriately enough, the preliminary name adopted was the "Blue Line Club."

AMO BESSONE
Wants Eastern Teams

Johnson, as anyone who cares knows, hails from the land of ice and snow of Minnesota. Minneapolis is justifiably proud of its Blue Line Club where there's a weekly gathering of assorted people connected in some way with this wintertime mayhem on skates. It was there that this local club was spawned.

For an initial meeting, with short notice when some potential joiners may have had other plans, the organizers were generally optimistic with the 45 or so that showed — even though nearly half were directly involved in the sport as coaches, school administrators or those from the news media always ready for an excuse to break bread with colleagues.

But I'm not attempting to debate the merits of such a club and will let it go at this time by merely reminding anyone interested that it will hold a usually lively meeting each Friday noon that Colorado College has a home game. Next week the University of Michigan will be in town and Coach Al Renfrew will be featured. Definite site will be announced later.

The meat of the first meeting (besides the shaved slices served) was concerning the development of youth hockey here and nationally. This is one of the intended purposes of the Blue Liners, although the emphasis will always be on the college set.

From most every angle the problems of teen type pucksters were discussed. And, as usual, most of it was the dreamy kind of conversation as it centered around an old dilemma of lack of practice time. That stems from too much demand on the available ice. And it reflects in the quality of play.

Putting it simply was Harry Whitworth, coach at Wasson: "Two hours a week just isn't enough time for high school players."

Guest coach Amo Bessone of Michigan State even outlined how other communities, namely in Michigan and Massachusetts, solved a similar problem by building numerous rinks. He gave a logical argument that an outdoor rink costs about a third of one of the swimming pools that are nearly mandatory in modern prep emporiums, and stated that even more use can be derived from one of those frozen puddles, counting 'public skating. Bessone even declared that such an investment can become self-sustaining.

Both Bessone and Johnson have recently returned from the Boston area, where rinks and young hockey players are on the grow even more than around Minnesota. From their remarks, it's likely each will be making a return trip near the end of the season to sell their schools to prospective student athletes.

One point they were especially trying to put across was that hockey need not be restricted by climate. And to punctuate their idea, it was further explained that even in Canada most of the hockey is played on artifically produced ice sheets.

All this more or less was a dodge around the main concern of collegiate hockey coaches and backers. That is the split over whether or not to keep up the far-flung recruiting of Canadians or to try and build a better program here in the States which would provide a flow of talent.

This very thing has brought a cleavage between coaches and schools that would make Jayne Mansfield a little jealous. It's the rumor teams from the Big Ten (Michigan State, Michigan and Minnesota) refuse to play against Denver and North Dakota although in the same league in hockey.

Minnesota's Johnny Mariucci, the ring-leader of the boycott, gets rather bombastic over the principles involved. That is, he deplores the use of older players, say in the 23-25 age bracket, against the teenagers who are more natural students of any college or university. He has a definite point for anyone interested in the true purpose of collegiate athletics—which is not the hiring of professionals just to build a winning team.

Because most of these older players, who have spent a few years in the semi-pro leagues on Canada between high school and college, come from across the border, there are those who construe the whole thing as a battle between Canadians and U.S. kids. It really isn't—and all centers around age.

Of course, Mariucci has had the pick of the youngsters within his state and if all collegians came from Minnesota his team would be perannial champs. This, too, has brought criticism from those who must depend on importing players from anyplace. They say it's no worse to bring 'em in from Canada than to take the leftovers from Maroch's crop. Maybe the new fertile land of New England will change that.

Bessone has a more realistic and logical approach to the boycott, however.

"I'll take those Eastern schools anytime," he said during his stop here this weekend. "And our school officials go along with this.

"I've talked with our school president, and he feels there is no prestige to be gained from playing teams like Denver or North Dakota. Other than the hockey games we've played with them, hardly anyone has even heard of those schools in our area."

For instance, Bessone pointed out that even during the "haydays" of Colorado College hockey, when Red Hay was on his way to making All-America before going on into the NHL, games at East Lansing drew only a couple hundred. And when Denver claimed to have its "super" team a few years ago the limited seating at Michigan State was only half filled.

Of course when we play other Big Ten teams we don't have nearly enough seats," Bessone said. And we can pack 'em in playing any of those well known Eastern schools.

"Give me Yale, Harvard or any of the Ivy Leaguers. Whether or not they play the best hockey doesn't matter that much. But people know these schools and will turn out to see them. Besides, my team can beat them," Bessone said.

All of which gives a new slant on the boycott business and the persistent rumor that in the near future the Big Ten will have a self-contained hockey league. Wisconsin is already playing on a varsity basis, and Illinois and Ohio State are only a step away with their "club" teams.

Miners Beat AFA

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Guard Bob Dibler sparked Texas Western to a 60-57 basketball victory over Air Force Saturday night.

Dibler hit all eight of his shots for 16 points to top Miner scorers. He played only one half the game, but his baskets kept the Miners in a 10-point lead.

The Falcons mounted a late surge that fell short. With two minutes to play Air Force trailed by 10 points.

Ed Sullivan of Air Force hit 17 points for game honors.

The Miners opened up the game with four baskets and then coasted into a 34-22 halftime edge. Texas Western hit a 48.2 field goal percentage. Air Force was about as hot with 46 per cent.

Workhorse rebounder Harry Flournoy of Texas Western pulled down 19 rebounds.

Shamrocks Defeat Cheyenne

PUEBLO—Behind the steady shooting of Bud Reilly, the Pueblo Catholic cagers refused to bow to their Colorado Springs visitors as the Shamrocks dumped Cheyenne Mountain, 67-54, here Saturday night in non-league competition.

Reilly poured in 28 points to pace the Parokes victory as the home team led throughout the contest.

Spartans Even Two-Game Series

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

With the welcome aid of some leaky goal tending from Colorado College, especially in the opening period the Spartans of Michigan State turned the Tigers into mere pussycats Saturday night at the Broadmoor World Arena with a 10-3 victory before an estimated crowd of 2,200.

Michigan State banged out a 5-1 margin in the first period and then lifted that to a five goal lead at the second period. It was no contest from the very beginning in a loosely-called rough-and-tumble Western Collegeiate Hockey Association game.

The victory for the visiting Spartans was their second in four league games. The loss handed CC a 1-3 WCHA record and a resting place at the bottom of the still-young standings. The decision reversed the verdict of Friday night's series opener between the two perennial league tail-enders.

Compared to the previous game, the Tigers looked like someone had twisted their tails too hard. Now they will have an uphill fight the rest of the way in the WCHA race, beating last year's NCAA champions from Michigan University at the World Arena next weekend and then taking on powerful Denver the following week in a home-and--home series.

Michigan State had a trio of players scoring double goals for the heroes' honors, but much of the blame for the lopsided defeat had to be hung on the shoulders of the CC goalies—esepcially little Mike Carter, who started and only little more than a week ago recorded the first shutout for a Colorado College tender in 208 games over eight seasons.

The Spartans came onto the ice in the first period in a vengeful mood, and the pace they set from the opening face off made Friday's 3-1 win by CC look as though it was played in slow motion.

The Tigers could plainly not keep up, and the visitors all but out-skated the Bengals right out of the World Arena.

Scoring in bursts, Michigan State scored two goals in the space of only nine seconds shortly after the contest began. Later in the first period, they countered three more in only 37 seconds.

Actually, under normal circumstances, the score very well could have been knotted at 1-1 at the end of the first period. However, starting goalie Carter had the appearance of Swiss cheese as he allowed four of State's five tallies to clip into the cords when they all could have been stopped with mediocre effort.

As it was, the Tigers were facing a four-goal deficit and the game appeared all but over with 40 minutes of playing time still before them.

Mike Coppo started the blistering attack on the CC cage when he opened the scoring with 4:31 gone on a slap shot from 25 feet that went right through Carter's outstretched glove.

Then at 4:40, Michigan got its only "earned" goal of the period when Bill Faunt skated across the mouth of the CC cage and fired a backhand into the cords.

CC got back into the game at least momentarily at the 13:03 mark when sophomore John Genz scored with State shorthanded on the only penalty of the period.

At that, it was hardly a clean tally as Genz picked up a loose puck and flipped a somewhat lucky shot into the upper corner.

Fired up once again late in the period, the Spartans all but put the game on ice with their three-goal spree in a little over half a minute. Chuck Jacobson got his first at 16:42 as the rolling puck dribbled in off Carter's skate.

Then five seconds later Jacobson got his second counter on an easy flip that sailed past the CC goalie's shoulder, and at 17:19 Brian McAndrew put the Spartans into a 5-1 lead with a 20-footer that came straight at the goal and Carter ducked to avoid the disk.

The Tigers changed goalie at the start of the second period, sending in transfer student Bill Howard who had worked Friday's game. Carter had stopped 15 shots, but let in nearly half that many in his short time on the ice.

Michigan kept hammering away in the second period, however, and before Howard could get adjusted the Spartans had increased their lead by still another point.

This time McAndrew got his second of the night, skating across in front and lifting a tcross in front and lifting a backhand into the net from a sharp angle.

CC, though, trimmed it back to four goals behind, at the 7:24 mark with Dave Peterson hustling in a short shot from eight feet on the right side.

But before the period was out, Michigan pushed its margin to five for a second time as Tom Mikkola tossed in a high shot and this time Howard looked anything but great as it sailed by his shoulder.

Michigan's Mikkola became the third member of his team to score double goals as with only 25 seconds passed in the third period, he looped in a 15-footer from right of the cage.

And then big Doug Roberts increased the margin to 9-2 a minute later on a disputed tally that really made little difference in the end. Howard made the stop, but in falling backfalling backwards he carried across the goal line with him and the red light flashed on.

Palmer's Second Half Battle Fails As Central Takes 51-41 Triumph

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Palmer thwarted its own second half surge with too many fouls Saturday night as Pueblo Central took charity shots and fashioned a 51-41 South Central League victory.

Central built its South Central League lead to 2-0 and dropped the Terrors into the pack with a 1-2 record. In other SCL action, Wasson bounced Trinidad, 50-39, at Trinidad, and East defeated South, 75-61, at Pueblo.

The Terrors couldn't find the range in the first half, most probably suffering mentally after dropping a 59-50 decision the night before to Pueblo Centennial. Central burst to an 18-9 lead at the first quarter on the shooting of Jim Wallace and battled uphill against a reviving Tribe to post a 27-15 halftime lead on 60 per cent shooting from the field.

Palmer came fully alive in the second half but also began committing too many fouls, giving the Wildcats the advantageous one-and-one early in the fourth quarter. Neither team had more than four fouls the first half.

But the Terrors, closing to four points twice, handed Pueblo seven fourth quarter points at the free stripe, crushing any chance to sweep the Wildcats to defeat.

Palmer did manage to hold the Cats to their lowest output of the season. Dan Kochevar paced Pueblo with 12 points. Terry Snider and Wallace each had ten.

Bill McCalvy pumped in 20 points and Bob Pearson added 12 for the Terrors before fouling out in the fourth quarter for the second straight night.

Wallace scored nine of his points in the first nine minutes, then ran into foul trouble. But the Cats had the range on the Palmer Gym baskets and almost couldn't miss. Central imitated Palmer's deliberate offensive tactics, but found the open shot faster than did the hazy Terrors, still miffed at losing to Centennial.

But the game changed quickly the second half. Tom Espinoza and Pearson each hit a pair of free throws and McCalvy put in a field goal to edge nearer, 37-33, with 5:53 left in the fourth quarter.

McCalvy hit a pair of baskets to close the margin 43-39, at 2:50, the last time Palmer was that close to the speedy Cats. The second goal came after Pearson had stolen a pass from Rick Perryman and hastily fired. McCalvy and Central jumping jack Eddie Smith went far above the rim for the ball, but the 5-11 McCalvy was shoulders above the sophomore Wild cat.

Smith had gotten the first one-and-one for Central with 6:50 left to play, Perryman put in another two - shot charity score at 4:55 and Kochevar added still another at 3:46. Central managed only four field goals the fourth quarter while Palmer was scoring 13 points. The foul shots stiff-armed the Terrors.

Central could hit only six field shots the second half and ten shots the second half and ten the last three quarters, but made 13 free shots in the last 24 minutes. Palmer, hitting only 20.6 per cent from the field, had 11 field goals the last three quarters but could make only four free shots in that span.

Palmer gets its chance to even both its season (now 4-5) and conference records Saturday when the Terrors travel to play the less - talented, but tough-at-home Trinidad.

Wasson Bombards Trinidad

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

TRINIDAD—Wasson survived an artic - like first quarter here Saturday night to overcome stubborn Trinidad, 50-39, in a South Central League contest that ended two years of frustration against Miner teams for Dick Westbay's Thunder - birds.

The victory capped a two-night road trip which produced a pair of sweet triumphs for the 'Birds and also lifted them into the center of the furious struggle for the SCL championship. Wasson is now 2-1 in league play and has advanced its over-all record to 4-5 for the campaign.

Saturday's triumph came over a Trinidad team that has none of the fine talent which had been in the ranks the two previous years. But it was especially satisfying for the Thunderbirds who had dropped four straight decisions to Miner clubs — and by a total spread of six points. Wasson lost a pair of two-point battles to Trinidad two years ago and was defeated by one point in both meetings with the Miners last winter.

Craig Gillette, a rubber-legged senior who had been saddled to the bench with an ankle sprain until Friday night but zoomed into prominence with a standout performance against Pueblo East, was an even more effective star against the Miners. He crammed in 14 points, including the clutch baskets that fought off a brief Miner rally in the final period, and yanked down nine rebounds.

Gillette had ample aid on the backboards from veteran Charlie Steel, who picked off 13 rebounds, and Randy Stanley, who had 12, as the Thunderbirds completely dominated that phase of the game against the stubby Miners. Stanley, the bulky junior with the feather touch, also deposited 16 points to head the Wasson scoring.

The Miners, who blew hot and cold throughout the night, were paced by Ralph Guigli, who pumped in 12 points, all from out court.

The Thunderbirds, who had been sizzling hot at the conclusion of Friday night's thrilling overtime win over East, were equally as cold at the start of Saturday's struggle. Nearly three minutes had elapsed and Trinidad had jumped to a 4-0 lead before Mike Martin sent the Birds first point slipping through the net on a free toss.

Lanky Joe Shipp finally broke the field goal drought with 4:07 left in the period and the Miners ahead, 6-1. Wasson continued to warm slowly but the home club still carried an 11-8 lead back to the bench for the first quarter break.

The Thunderbird thaw picked up momentum quickly in the second period while the Wasson defense wrapped a blanket around the smaller shooters. Triggered by the shooting of Stanley and Gillette, the Birds rolled in 12 straight points and had seized an 20-11 advantage before Trinidad finally got on the scoreboard with 4:12 left. But just as the Thunderbirds appeared on the verge of breaking the game open, a rash of floor errors opened the avenue for a closing Trinidad burst that shrank the halftime lead to 24-20.

The T-Birds spurted again at the start of the third period and had wedged out a 29-20 lead before the Miners suddenly caught fire and poured in four straight shots from far outside. But with Stanley and Steel monopolizing the backboards the Thunderbirds weathered the threat and had moved well back in front to a 39-28 heading into the final period.

A Gillette goal off the tip moved Wasson to its biggest lead of the contest at 41-28 but the Miners came scrambling back again on a hot streak by Guilgi and had moved to within six points at 45-39 with 4:05 remaining. However, Gillette coming through with clutch baskets on two occasions, gave the Birds the lift they needed and Wasson went into a ball control game with three minutes left that ran out the clock before the Miners could muster another threat.

Michigan State Icers Crush CC

BETWEEN THE LINES

by Loy Holman

Cleavage of Coaches

Hockey pretty well cornered the market this weekend for attention to collegiate sporting types — due in part to the travels of the gangling basketball variety of local schools, and also because of the enthusiasm being generated by Colorado College's Bob Johnson.

Although trying his best to stay in the background, the CC hockey coach of little over a year's stay was the mover behind the attempt to form a booster club exclusively for his favorite sport. Appropriately enough, the preliminary name adopted was the "Blue Line Club."

AMO BESSONE
Wants Eastern Teams

Johnson, as anyone who cares knows, hails from the land of ice and snow of Minnesota. Minneapolis is justifiably proud of its Blue Line Club where there's a weekly gathering of assorted people connected in some way with this wintertime mayhem on skates. It was there that this local club was spawned.

For an initial meeting, with short notice when some potential joiners may have had other plans, the organizers were generally optimistic with the 45 or so that showed — even though nearly half were directly involved in the sport as coaches, school administrators or those from the news media always ready for an excuse to break bread with colleagues.

But I'm not attempting to debate the merits of such a club and will let it go at this time by merely reminding anyone interested that it will hold a usually lively meeting each Friday noon that Colorado College has a home game. Next week the University of Michigan will be in town and Coach Al Renfrew will be featured. Definite site will be announced later.

The meat of the first meeting (besides the shaved slices served) was concerning the development of youth hockey here and nationally. This is one of the intended purposes of the Blue Liners, although the emphasis will always be on the college set.

From most every angle the problems of teen type pucksters were discussed. And, as usual, most of it was the dreamy kind of conversation as it centered around an old dilemma of lack of practice time. That stems from too much demand on the available ice. And it reflects in the quality of play.

Putting it simply was Harry Whitworth, coach at Wasson: "Two hours a week just isn't enough time for high school players."

Guest coach Arno Bessone of Michigan State even outlined how other communities, namely in Michigan and Massachusetts, solved a similar problem by building numerous rinks. He gave a logical argument that an outdoor rink costs about a third of one of the swimming pools that are nearly mandatory in modern prep emporiums, and stated that even more use can be derived from one of those frozen puddles, counting 'public skating. Bessone even declared that such an investment can become self-sustaining.

Both Bessone and Johnson have recently returned from the Boston area, where rinks and young hockey players are on the grow even more than around Minnesota. From their remarks, it's likely each will be making a return trip near the end of the season to sell their schools to prospective student athletes.

One point they were especially trying to put across was that hockey need not be restricted by climate. And to punctuate their idea, it was further explained that even in Canada most of the hockey is played on artifically produced ice sheets.

All this more or less was a dodge around the main concern of collegiate hockey coaches and backers. That is the split over whether or not to keep up the far-flung recruiting of Canadians or to try and build a better program here in the States which would provide a flow of talent.

This very thing has brought a cleavage between coaches and schools that would make Jayne Mansfield a little jealous. It's the reason teams from the Big Ten (Michigan State, Michigan and Minnesota) refuse to play against Denver and North Dakota although in the same league in hockey.

Minnesota's Johnny Mariucci, the ring-leader of the boycott, gets rather bombastic over the principles involved. That is, he deplores the use of older players, say in the 23-25 age bracket, against the teenagers who are more natural students of any college or university. He has a definite point for anyone interested in the true purpose of collegiate athletics—which is not the hiring of professionals just to build a winning team.

Because most of these older players, who have spent a few years in the semi-pro leagues on Canada between high school and college, come from across the border, there are those who construe the whole thing as a battle between Canadians and U.S. kids. It really isn't—and all centers around age.

Of course, Mariucci has had the pick of the youngsters within his state and if all collegians came from Minnesota his team would be perannial champs. This, too, has brought criticism from those who must depend on importing players from anyplace. They say it's no worse to bring 'em in from Canada than to take the leftovers from Maroch's crop. Maybe the new fertile land of New England will change that.

Bessone has a more realistic and logical approach to the boycott, however.

"I'll take those Eastern schools anytime," he said during his stop here this weekend. "And our school officials go along with this.

"I've talked with our school president, and he feels there is no prestige to be gained from playing teams like Denver or North Dakota. Other than the hockey games we've played with them, hardly anyone has even heard of those schools in our area."

For instance, Bessone pointed out that even during the "hay-days" of Colorado College hockey, when Red Hay was on his way to making All-America before going on into the NHL, games at East Lansing drew only a couple hundred. And when Denver claimed to have its "super" team a few years ago the limited seating at Michigan State was only half filled.

Of course when we play other Big Ten teams we don't have nearly enough seats," Bessone said. And we can pack 'em in playing any of those well known Eastern schools.

"Give me Yale, Harvard or any of the Ivy Leaguers. Whether or not they play the best hockey doesn't matter that much. But people know these schools and will turn out to see them. Besides, my team can beat them," Bessone said.

All of which gives a new slant on the boycott business and the persistent rumor that in the near future the Big Ten will have a self-contained hockey league. Wisconsin is already playing on a varsity basis, and Illinois and Ohio State are only a step away with their "club" teams.

CC has had quite assurance

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Guard Bob Dibler sparked Texas Western to a 60-57 basketball victory over Air Force Saturday night.

Dibler hit all eight of his shots for 16 points to top Miner scorers. He played only one half the game, but his baskets kept the Miners in a 10-point lead.

The Falcons mounted a late surge that fell short. With two minutes to play Air Force trailed by 10 points.

Ed Sullivan of Air Force hit 17 points for game honors.

The Miners opened up the game with four baskets and then coasted into a 34-22 halftime edge. Texas Western hit a 48.2 field goal percentage. Air Force was about as hot with 46 per cent.

Palmer came fully alive in the second half but also began committing too many fouls, giving the Wildcats the advantageous one-and-one early in the fourth quarter. Neither team had more than four fouls the first half.

But the Terrors, closing to four points twice, handed Pueblo seven fourth quarter points at the free stripe, crushing any chance to sweep the Wildcats to defeat.

Palmer did manage to hold the Cats to their lowest output of the season. Dan Kochevar paced Pueblo with 12 points. Terry Snider and Wallace each had ten.

Bill McCalvy pumped in 20 points and Bob Pearson added 12 for the Terrors before fouling out in the fourth quarter for the second straight night.

Wallace scored nine of his points in the first nine minutes, then ran into foul trouble. But the Cats had the range on the Palmer Gym baskets and almost couldn't miss. Central imitated Palmer's deliberate offensive tactics, but found the open shot faster than did the hazy Terrors, still miffed at losing to Centennial.

But the game changed quickly the second half. Tom Espinoza and Pearson each hit a pair of free throws and McCalvy put in a field goal to edge nearer, 37-33, with 5:53 left in the fourth quarter.

McCalvy hit a pair of baskets to close the margin 43-39, at 2:50, the last time Palmer was that close to the speedy Cats. The second goal came after Pearson had stolen a pass from Rick Perryman and hastily fired. McCalvy and Central jumping jack Eddie Smith went far above the rim for the ball, but the 5-11 McCalvy was shoulders above the sophomore Wild cat.

Smith had gotten the first one-and-one for Central with 6:50 left to play, Perryman put in another two - shot charity score at 4:55 and Kochevar added still another at 3:46. Central managed only four field goals the fourth quarter while Palmer was scoring 13 points. The foul shots stiff-armed the Terrors.

Central could hit only six field shots the second half and ten shots the second half and ten the last three quarters, but made 13 free shots in the last 24 minutes. Palmer, hitting only 20.6 per cent from the field, had 11 field goals the last three quarters but could make only four free shots in that span.

Palmer gets its chance to even both its season (now 4-5) and conference records Saturday when the Terrors travel to play the less - talented, but tough-at-home Trinidad.

Wasson Bombards Trinidad

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

TRINIDAD—Wasson survived an artic - like first quarter here Saturday night to overcome stubborn Trinidad, 50-39, in a South Central League contest that ended two years of frustration against Miner teams for Dick Westbay's Thunder - birds.

The victory capped a two-night road trip which produced a pair of sweet triumphs for the 'Birds and also lifted them into the center of the furious struggle for the SCL championship. Wasson is now 2-1 in league play and has advanced its over-all record to 4-5 for the campaign.

Saturday's triumph came over a Trinidad team that has none of the fine talent which had been in the ranks the two previous years. But it was especially satisfying for the Thunderbirds who had dropped four straight decisions to Miner clubs — and by a total spread of six points. Wasson lost a pair of two-point battles to Trinidad two years ago and was defeated by one point in both meetings with the Miners last winter.

Craig Gillette, a rubber-legged senior who had been saddled to the bench with an ankle sprain until Friday night but zoomed into prominence with a standout performance against Pueblo East, was an even more effective star against the Miners. He crammed in 14 points, including the clutch baskets that fought off a brief Miner rally in the final period, and yanked down nine rebounds.

Gillette had ample aid on the backboards from veteran Charlie Steel, who picked off 13 rebounds, and Randy Stanley, who had 12, as the Thunderbirds completely dominated that phase of the game against the stubby Miners. Stanley, the bulky junior with the feather touch, also deposited 16 points to head the Wasson scoring.

The Miners, who blew hot and cold throughout the night, were paced by Ralph Guigli, who pumped in 12 points, all from out court.

The Thunderbirds, who had been sizzling hot at the conclusion of Friday night's thrilling overtime win over East, were equally as cold at the start of Saturday's struggle. Nearly three minutes had elapsed and Trinidad had jumped to a 4-0 lead before Mike Martin sent the Birds first point slipping through the net on a free toss.

Lanky Joe Shipp finally broke the field goal drought with 4:07 left in the period and the Miners ahead, 6-1. Wasson continued to warm slowly but the home club still carried an 11-8 lead back to the bench for the first quarter break.

The Thunderbird thaw picked up momentum quickly in the second period while the Wasson defense wrapped a blanket around the smaller shooters. Triggered by the shooting of Stanley and Gillette, the Birds rolled in 12 straight points and had seized an 20-11 advantage before Trinidad finally got on the scoreboard with 4:12 left. But just as the Thunderbirds appeared on the verge of breaking the game open, a rash of floor errors opened the avenue for a closing Trinidad burst that shrank the halftime lead to 24-20.

The T-Birds spurted again at the start of the third period and had wedged out a 29-20 lead before the Miners suddenly caught fire and poured in four straight shots from far outside. But with Stanley and Steel monopolizing the backboards the Thunderbirds weathered the threat and had moved well back in front to a 39-28 beading into the final period.

A Gillette goal off the tip moved Wasson to its biggest lead of the contest at 41-28 but the Miners came scrambling back again on a hot streak by Guilgi and had moved to within six points at 45-39 with 4:05 remaining. However, Gillette coming through with clutch baskets on two occasions, gave the Birds the lift they needed and Wasson went into a ball control game with three minutes left that ran out the clock before the Miners could muster another threat.

Spartans Even Two-Game Series

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

With the welcome aid of some leaky goal tending from Colorado College, especially in the opening period the Spartans of Michigan State turned the Tigers into mere pussycats Saturday night at the Broadmoor World Arena with a 10-3 victory before an estimated crowd of 2,200.

Michigan State banged out a 5-1 margin in the first period and then lifted that to a five goal lead at the second period. It was no contest from the very beginning in a loosely-called rough-and-tumble Western Collegeiate Hockey Association game.

The victory for the visiting Spartans was their second in four league games. The loss handed CC a 1-3 WCHA record and a resting place at the bottom of the still-young standings. The decision reversed the verdict of Friday night's series opener between the two perennial league tail-enders.

Compared to the previous game, the Tigers looked like someone had twisted their tails too hard. Now they will have an uphill fight the rest of the way in the WCHA race, beating last year's NCAA champions from Michigan University at the World Arena next weekend and then taking on powerful Denver the following week in a home-and-home series.

Michigan State had a trio of players scoring double goals for the heroes' honors, but much of the blame for the lopsided defeat had to be hung on the shoulders of the CC goalies—esepcially little Mike Carter, who started and only little more than a week ago recorded the first shutout for a Colorado College tender in 208 games over eight seasons.

The Spartans came onto the ice in the first period in a vengeful mood, and the pace they set from the opening face off made Friday's 3-1 win by CC look as though it was played in slow motion.

The Tigers could plainly not keep up, and the visitors all but out-skated the Bengals right out of the World Arena.

Scoring in bursts, Michigan State scored two goals in the space of only nine seconds shortly after the contest began. Later in the first period, they countered three more in only 37 seconds.

Actually, under normal circumstances, the score very well could have been knotted at 1-1 at the end of the first period. However, starting goalie Carter had the appearance of Swiss cheese as he allowed four of State's five tallies to slip into the cords when they all could have been stopped with mediocre effort.

As it was, the Tigers were facing a four-goal deficit and the game appeared all but over with 40 minutes of playing time still before them.

Mike Coppo started the blistering attack on the CC cage when he opened the scoring with 4:31 gone on a slap shot from 25 feet that went right through Carter's outstretched glove.

Then at 4:40, Michigan got its only "earned" goal of the period when Bill Faunt skated across the mouth of the CC cage and fired a backhand into the cords.

CC got back into the game at least momentarily at the 13:03 mark when sophomore John Genz scored with State shorthanded on the only penalty of the period.

At that, it was hardly a clean tally as Genz picked up a loose puck and flipped a somewhat lucky shot into the upper corner.

Fired up once again late in the period, the Spartans all but put the game on ice with their three-goal spree in a little over half a minute. Chuck Jacobson got his first at 16:42 as the rolling puck dribbled in off Carter's skate.

Then five seconds later Jacobson got his second counter on an easy flip that sailed past the CC goalie's shoulder, and at 17:19 Brian McAndrew put the Spartans into a 5-1 lead with a 20-footer that came straight at the goal and Carter ducked to avoid the disk.

The Tigers changed goalie at the start of the second period, sending in transfer student Bill Howard who had worked Friday's game. Carter had stopped 15 shots, but let in nearly half that many in his short time on the ice.

Michigan kept hammering away in the second period, however, and before Howard could get adjusted the Spartans had increased their lead by still another point.

This time McAndrew got his second of the night, skating across in front and lifting a tcross in front and lifting a backhand into the net from a sharp angle.

CC, though, trimmed it back to four goals behind, at the 7:24 mark with Dave Peterson hustling in a short shot from eight feet on the right side.

But before the period was out, Michigan pushed its margin to five for a second time as Tom Mikkola tossed in a high shot and this time Howard looked anything but great as it sailed by his shoulder.

Michigan's Mikkola became the third member of his team to score double goals as with only 25 seconds passed in the third period, he looped in a 15-footer from right of the cage.

And then big Doug Roberts increased the margin to 9-2 a minute later on a disputed tally that really made little difference in the end. Howard made the stop, but in falling backfalling backwards he carried across the goal line with him and the red light flashed on.

CC's Bob Magie trimmed one goal off the margin at the 15:20 point but then state's Bob Brawley scored unassisted with two minutes left on a long breakawy that ended the scoring.

Hill Rise Cops San Fernando Race

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Hill Rise, thundering down the stretch on the outside, won the $61,550 San Fernando Stakes for four-year-olds Friday over 1⅛ miles at Santa Anita race track.

Pelegrin, front running leader most of the way, was second and Canadian B., a non-stakes winner from Canada was third. Duel was fourth in the 12-horse field.

Time was 1:48 2-5.

Hill Rise picked up the winner's share of $39,050, second-place Pelegrin got $10,000 and $7,000 went to Canadian B. for third.

Hill Rise returned $6.40, $4 and $3 at the mutuel window. Pelegrin paid $6.60 and $5 and Canadian B. $13.

Hill Rise, under the gentle urging of jockey Donald Pierce, hung back in the pack until the turn into the stretch. Then Pierce went to his whip and Hill Rise, runner-up at the Kentucky Derby, responded with a surge of power. Pierce guided his horse around the field and moved to the outside in a sprint to the wire, winning by two lengths.

Pelegrin moved into an early lead as the field raced past the grand stand packed with 51,794 fans. Maker's Mark and Canadian B. moved up to challenge as the field, closely bunched, swung into the first turn.

As the horses raced across the backstretch Maker's Mark took command, closely challenged by Pelegrin and Canadian B.

West Team Wins AFL All-Star Tilt

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON (AP) — Keith Lincoln caught a 73-yard touchdown pass and scored on an 80-yard run and John Hadl threw three TD passes Saturday in a 38-14 West romp over the East in the transplanted American Football League All-Star Game.

A slim crowd of 15,446 watched the game at Jeppesen Stadium.

The game was moved from New Orleans on short notice last Monday after 21 Negro players claimed racial discrimination.

It was close in the first half when the West took a 17-14 edge, but it turned into a runaway in the second half.

Hadl, San Diego quarterback who played most of the game after Len Dawson of Kansas City suffered a nose injury in the first period, had three touchdown passes but it was Dawson who tossed the bomb to Lincoln, fleet San Diego running back, on the very first scrimmage play of the game.

It was a spotty game, marred by frequent fumbles, played in bright sunshine in 43-degree temperature with a strong 22-mile an hour wind.

Lincoln's run was an 80-yard sprint in the third period after taking a pitchout from Hadl. The former Washington State star broke around his right end and simply ran away from the field. It was a fine comeback for Lincoln, who was knocked out of San Diego's losing Championship game with Buffalo on Dec. 26 with a broken rib.

Hadl hit Clem Daniels of Oakland with a five-yard TD pass in the second period and tossed an eight-yard scorer to Lance Alworth of San Diego and a 17-yard TD pass to Art Powell of Oakland in the second half rout.

Tom Brooker of Kansas City, star of the overtime victory by Dallas in the 1962 AFL title game at this same stadium, kicked a 46-yard field goal for the West. He also addea the five conversions.

The East came to life momentarily in the second period on the passing of Jack Kemp of the champion Buffalo Bills. After two fine passes by Kemp to Ernie Warlick of Buffalo and Larry Garron of Boston set it up, Sid Blanks of Houston crashed home from the five.

On the last play of the first half Abner Haynes of Kansas City fumbled after catching a Hadl pass. Nick Buoniconti of Boston grabbed the fumble and ran 17 yards for a touchdown.

Gino Cappelletti of Boston, the league scoring champion, missed four field goal attempts from 45, 52, 42 and 25 yards and had a fifth blocked.

The victory made it four out of four for the West in the series, this was the most lopsided score. Almost every play was announced as an All-Star record.

Lincoln was voted the outstanding offensive player in the game and Willie Brown of Denver, who intercepted a pass and did a fine job as a cornerback was voted the top defensive player in a press box poll.

The West line, led by big Earl Faison of San Diego, climbed over the East's passers and threw them six thems for 63 yards. The overmatched East made only a net of seven yards rushing.

The one-sided game ended the long, long football season that opened way back in late June with the All-America game at Buffalo, N.Y.

The winning West players got $700 each and the losing East team $500 each. A share of the receipts and the $75,000 television money went into the pension fund.

NFL Players' President Seeks End to Dispute

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ordell Braase, president of the National Football League Players Association, called Saturday night for a "return to the basic issues" in the growing dispute between association leaders and Pete Rozelle, the league commissioner.

Braase, defensive end for the Baltimore Colts said he agrees with Bernie Parrish's statement the players are dissatisfied with treatment by Rozelle.

But Braase stopped short of supporting the suggestion by Parrish, vice president of the association, that Rozelle be ousted and replaced by Paul Brown. Parrish is a defensive back for the Cleveland Browns, formerly coached by Brown.

"The dissatisfaction with Rozelle," said Braase, "stems from lack of player representation on the pension committee. The failure of the commissioner to recognize this is very serious as far as the Players Association is concerned and brought about the recent criticism."

Braase said th association's campaign for representation on the NFL pension fund committee is expected to reach a showdown next weekend at the meeting of th association's negotiating of the association's negotiat- NFL owners will meet next month in Palm Springs, Calif.

Gillman Credits Victory To Over-All Team Effort

By B. F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP) — "It was a real over-all team effort," a smiling Coach Sid Gillman said following his West team's 38-14 victory over the East Saturday in the American League All-Star game.

Gillman went from player to player in the dressing room slapping each on the back and saying: "Nice going — a swell job."

Gillman refused to single out individual players, although he did have praise for the West's defensive line.

He said if there was a turning point in the victory — the West's fourth in four years — it was Keith Lincoln's 80-yard run for a touchdown early in the second half for a 24-14 lead.

"Lincoln's run blew it open," Gillman said of the San Diego halfback.

Lou Saban of the champion Buffalo Bills, coach of the East, agreed.

"Lincoln's two runs broke the ice," he said.

"You have to give credit to their front four," Saban added.

Quarterback Babe Parilli of the East said "We had some bad breaks and we didn't get a good break, and they got three easy touchdowns."

Lincoln, nursing a rib injury suffered in the AFL title game with Buffalo, credited great blocking for his touchdown gallop.

Lenny Dawson, Kansas City quarterback who started the game, was forced to leave early because of a nose injury.

He suffered a broken nose during regular season play in a game here with the Houston Oilers.

The only other serious game injury was suffered by Boston fullback Larry Garron, who received a jammed left hip. He was taken to a hospital, but Saban described the injury as nothing serious.

Parilli had been pressed into service as the team's punter. He had punted in only one other game this season, and said "I don't want to ever punt again."

He and Saban agreed the wind, which gusted to 22 miles per hour, was an important factor in the kicking game.

Gillman was high in his praise of Houston for taking the game on short notice after it was transferred from New Orleans because Negro players complained of racial discrimination and refused to play there.

Saban said he was pleased with the crowd of 15,446, attracted to 35,000-seat Jeppesen Stadium with only five days notice.

The three previous AFL All-Star games in San Diego had drawn a little over 20,000.

A crowd of about 60,000 had been predicted for the game in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

St. Mary's Wrestlers Post Win

Under the direction of Coach Ed Kintz, the St. Mary's wrestling team defeated Mullen of Denver Saturday afternoon, 21-20.

This is the first year the Pirates have a full slate in wrestling, after Kintz started a team last season but the Bucs only wrestled three matches.

The following is the results of Saturday's match:

95—Danny Spits (M) dec. Merle Dobson, 4-0; 103—Barry Walsh (M) dec. Indiana Stops Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana's twin seniors, Tom and Dick Van Arsdale, contributed 36 points Saturday as the Hoosiers defeated Ohio State 84-72 in a Big Ten Basketball game. It was the first victory for Indiana on the Buckeye Court since 1959.

The Ohioans dropped into the Big Ten cellar with an 0-2 record and 6-6 over-all. The Hoosiers, beaten only by Illinois, climbed to a 12-1 record, with 3-1 in the league.

Tom Van Arsdale led the scoring with 21 points. Dick had 15, with John McGlocklin contributing 17. Ron Sepic led the losers with 19.

Hill Rise Cops San Fernando Race

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Hill Rise, thundering down the stretch on the outside, won the $61,550 San Fernando Stakes for four-year-olds Friday over 1⅛ miles at Santa Anita race track.

Pelegrin, front running leader most of the way, was second and Canadian B., a non-stakes winner from Canada was third. Duel was fourth in the 12-horse field.

Time was 1:48 2-5.

Hill Rise picked up the winner's share of $39,050, second-place Pelegrin got $10,000 and $7,000 went to Canadian B. for third.

Hill Rise returned $6.40, $4 and $3 at the mutuel window. Pelegrin paid $6.60 and $5 and Canadian B. $13.

Hill Rise, under the gentle urging of jockey Donald Pierce, hung back in the pack until the turn into the stretch. Then Pierce went to his whip and Hill Rise, runner-up at the Kentucky Derby, responded with a surge of power. Pierce guided his horse around the field and moved to the outside in a sprint to the wire, winning by two lengths.

Pelegrin moved into an early lead as the field raced past the grand stand packed with 51,794 fans. Maker's Mark and Canadian B. moved up to challenge as the field, closely bunched, swung into the first turn.

As the horses raced across the backstretch Maker's Mark took command, closely challenged by Pelegrin and Canadian B.

Illinios Runs Past Minnesota

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Illinois, after leading by as much as 11 points, checked a closing Minnesota rally and defeated the Gophers 75-72 Saturday for their third Big Ten basketball victory in four starts.

Illinois was ahead 36-33 at halftime but Minnesota took the lead at 37-36 on shots by Mel Northway and Lou Hudson. In the next three minutes, the Illini bounded in front 47-37 as Bogie Redmon and Skip Thoren hit two baskets and Jim Vopicka one.

The loss gives Minnesota a 1-1 conference mark.

NFL Players' President Seeks End to Dispute

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ordell Braase, president of the National Football League Players Association, called Saturday night for a "return to the basic issues" in the growing dispute between association leaders and Pete Rozelle, the league commissioner.

Braase, defensive end for the Baltimore Colts said he agrees with Bernie Parrish's statement the players are dissatisfied with treatment by Rozelle.

But Braase stopped short of supporting the suggestion by Parrish, vice president of the association, that Rozelle be ousted and replaced by Paul Brown. Parrish is a defensive back for the Cleveland Browns, formerly coached by Brown.

"The dissatisfaction with Rozelle," said Braase, "stems from lack of player representation on the pension committee. The failure of the commissioner to recognize this is very serious as far as the Players Association is concerned and brought about the recent criticism."

Braase said th association's campaign for representation on the NFL pension fund committee is expected to reach a showdown next weekend at the meeting of th association's negotiating of the association's negotiat- NFL owners will meet next month in Palm Springs, Calif.

West Team Wins AFL All-Star Tilt

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON (AP) — Keith Lincoln caught a 73-yard touchdown pass and scored on an 80-yard run and John Hadl threw three TD passes Saturday in a 38-14 West romp over the East in the transplanted American Football League All-Star Game.

A slim crowd of 15,446 watched the game at Jeppesen Stadium.

The game was moved from New Orleans on short notice last Monday after 21 Negro players claimed racial discrimination.

It was close in the first half when the West took a 17-14 edge, but it turned into a runaway in the second half.

Hadl, San Diego quarterback who played most of the game after Len Dawson of Kansas City suffered a nose injury in the first period, had three touchdown passes but it was Dawson who tossed the bomb to Lincoln, fleet San Diego running back, on the very first scrimmage play of the game.

It was a spotty game, marred by frequent fumbles, played in bright sunshine in 43-degree temperature with a strong 22-mile an hour wind.

Lincoln's run was an 80-yard sprint in the third period after taking a pitchout from Hadl. The former Washington State star broke around his right end and simply ran away from the field. It was a fine comeback for Lincoln, who was knocked out of San Diego's losing Championship game with Buffalo on Dec. 26 with a broken rib.

Hadl hit Clem Daniels of Oakland with a five-yard TD pass in the second period and tossed an eight-yard scorer to Lance Alworth of San Diego and a 17-yard TD pass to Art Powell of Oakland in the second half rout.

Tom Brooker of Kansas City, star of the overtime victory by Dallas in the 1962 AFL title game at this same stadium, kicked a 46-yard field goal for the West. He also added the five conversions.

The East came to life momentarily in the second period on the passing of Jack Kemp of the champion Buffalo Bills. After two fine passes by Kemp to Ernie Warlick of Buffalo and Larry Garron of Boston set it up, Sid Blanks of Houston crashed home from the five.

On the last play of the first half Abner Haynes of Kansas City fumbled after catching a Hadl pass. Nick Buoniconti of Boston grabbed the fumble and ran 17 yards for a touchdown.

Gino Cappelletti of Boston, the league scoring champion, missed four field goal attempts from 45, 52, 42 and 25 yards and had a fifth blocked.

The victory made it four out of four for the West in the series, this was the most lopsided score. Almost every play was announced as an All-Star record.

Lincoln was voted the outstanding offensive player in the game and Willie Brown of Denver, who intercepted a pass and did a fine job as a cornerback was voted the top defensive player in a press box poll.

The West line, led by big Earl Faison of San Diego, climbed over the East's passers and threw them six thems for 63 yards. The overmatched East made only a net of seven yards rushing.

The one-sided game ended the long, long football season that opened way back in late June with the All-America game at Buffalo, N.Y.

The winning West players got $700 each and the losing East team $500 each. A share of the receipts and the $75,000 television money went into the pension fund.

Gillman Credits Victory To Over-All Team Effort

By B. F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP) — "It was a real over-all team effort," a smiling Coach Sid Gillman said following his West team's 38-14 victory over the East Saturday in the American League All-Star game.

Gillman went from player to player in the dressing room slapping each on the back and saying: "Nice going — a swell job."

Gillman refused to single out individual players, although he did have praise for the West's defensive line.

He said if there was a turning point in the victory — the West's fourth in four years — it was Keith Lincoln's 80-yard run for a touchdown early in the second half for a 24-14 lead.

"Lincoln's run blew it open," Gillman said of the San Diego halfback.

Lou Saban of the champion Buffalo Bills, coach of the East, agreed.

"Lincoln's two runs broke the ice," he said.

"You have to give credit to their front four," Saban added.

Quarterback Babe Parilli of the East said "We had some bad breaks and we didn't get a good break, and they got three easy touchdowns."

Lincoln, nursing a rib injury suffered in the AFL title game with Buffalo, credited great blocking for his touchdown gallop.

Lenny Dawson, Kansas City quarterback who started the game, was forced to leave early because of a nose injury.

He suffered a broken nose during regular season play in a game here with the Houston Oilers.

The only other serious game injury was suffered by Boston fullback Larry Garron, who received a jammed left hip. He was taken to a hospital, but Saban described the injury as nothing serious.

Parilli had been pressed into service as the team's punter. He had punted in only one other game this season, and said "I don't want to ever punt again."

He and Saban agreed the wind, which gusted to 22 miles per hour, was an important factor in the kicking game.

Gillman was high in his praise of Houston for taking the game on short notice after it was transferred from New Orleans because Negro players complained of racial discrimination and refused to play there.

Saban said he was pleased with the crowd of 15,446, attracted to 35,000-seat Jeppesen Stadium with only five days notice.

The three previous AFL All-Star games in San Diego had drawn a little over 20,000.

A crowd of about 60,000 had been predicted for the game in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

Ellis Fires Pair of 71's To Lead San Diego Open

By BOB MYERS

SAN DIEGO, Calif (AP) — Wes Ellis Jr. shot a par 71 Saturday and held onto a one-stroke lead as the $34,500 San Diego Open Golf Tournament developed into a cliffhanger.

The 32-year-old club pro from West Caldwell, N.J., shot 36-35—71 for a 54-hole total of 202 over the par 35-36—71 Stardust Country Club course.

Five dangerous pros were one stroke behind — Gene Littler, Bill Casper, Jr., Johnny Pott, Charley Sifford and Australia's Bruce Devlin.

Tied at 204 were Bud Holscher and Jay Dolan.

George Knudson, Dudley Wysong and Ken Still were deadlocked at 205.

Tony Lema and Rex Baxter Jr. were knotted at 206.

In the 207 bracket was defending champion Art Wall Jr., who got back into the running with a 66.

Ellis began the round one shot Saturday and said:

"I'd like to win before the home folks."

Casper missed only one green ahead of Littler, two in front of Lema and Wysong and three over Dolan, Sifford, Holscher and Doug Ford. Wall was 10 strokes back and improved his position, just as he had taken the lead and went on to win last year's tournament.

Casper had a round of 32-33 and had 30 putts for the afternoon. His longest putt for a birdie was 53 feet for a deuce on No. 7.

Littler, with a 71, admitted the struggle for the $4,850 winner's prize would be lively.

Ray Botts of Los Angeles matched Casper's 65 and was tied in the 207 group.

Devlin shot a 67 to move into the runner-up ranks. Sifford had a 69.

Ref Refuses Eye Test

WON'T TAKE EYE TEST — National Hockey League linesman George Hayes stoutly refuses to take an eye test and has been on suspension since last Thursday when the deadline for his examination passed. "It's a rotten slap at an official's integrity," says Hayes, 44, an employee of the NHL for 19 years.

Canadiens End NHL Slump

MONTREAL (AP) — Claude Larose and Ralph Backstrom collaborated on a pair of third-period goals that gave the Montreal Canadiens a slump-ending 3-2 National Hockey League victory over Boston Saturday night.

The come-from-behind victory snapped a three-game skid for the Canadiens on their home ice. They had lost three straight, all at Montreal.

Larose set up Backstrom's tying goal midway in the final period and fired the game-winner moments later on an assist by Backstrom.

Gump Wrosley, called up from Quebec of the American League to replace regular Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge, blanked the last-place Bruins in the second and third periods for his second victory in two NHL starts this season. The 35-year-old veteran stopped 24 Boston shots, including 15 in the first period.

Boston's Johnny Bucyk beat Worsley in the game's opening minute and, after defenseman J. C. Tremblay tied the score at the eight-minute mark, Murray Oliver put the Bruins ahead again.

Boston goalie Ed Johnston protected the margin until 10:31 in the finale, when Backstrom converted passes from Larose and All-Star defenseman Jacques Laperriere.

Larose broke the tie at 14:15 after a Backstrom feed. It was his 12th goal of the season. Backstrom has caged 15.

Rookie Wayne Rivers assisted on Bucyk's 14th goal and Oliver's 10th. Oliver also drew an assist on the first Boston tally.

Tremblay hit for his second goal of the campaign on a pass from Henri Richard three seconds after Rivers returned to the ice after serving a penalty.

WEIRD FUMBLES—East All-Star gridder George Byrd (42) picked off a West pass in the third period and tried to lateral when the West's Clemon Daniels (36), on the ground, got his hands on him. Byrd fumbled the ball instead of lateraling. East's Buck Buchanan (85) went up and got his hands on it, but couldn't hold onto the ball. The ball ended up in the hands of West's Art Powell, who carried it to the East 11-yard line. The West won the American Football League All-Star game in Houston, 38-14. (AP Wirephoto)

Boston Upsets Olympic Hurdlers

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Lanky Ralph Boston, world record holder in the broad jump, scored an upset over two Olympians and won the 45-yard high hurdles Saturday night in 15.6 seconds in the Knights of Columbus Games.

Boston, who competed in four events in San Francisco last week, also was entered in the broad broad jump.

Boston got off to an excellent start, had a slight edge by the first of three hurdles and won by about one yard over Pete Whitehouse of the New York A.C.

Olympic hurdlers Billy Hardin of Baton Rouge, La. and Harvard's Aggrey Awori, who competed for Uganda in Tokyo, were well back. Awori was fourth and Hardin fifth in the six-man final.

The games, first major Eastern indoor meet of the season and the first since the National Collegiate Athletic Association voted to allow collegians to run in Amateur Athletic Union sanctioned events unit March 1, was plagued by a heavy snow that forced several major athletes to withdraw.

Among them were Marine Lt. Billy Mills, surprise winner of the 10,000-meter run in Tokyo, and several Canadian entries. They were unable to get flights into Boston.

Mel Pender of the U.S. Army, a 100-meter finalist at Tokyo, beat Paul Drayton, also of the Army, in a lunge at the tape in the 50-yard dash, finishing in 5.4 seconds.

In an afternoon field event, Bob Backus of the New York A.C. won the 35-pound weight throw with a toss of 62-4¼.

Mays First Giant Into Fold in '65

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays, No. 1 man on the San Francisco Giants' hit parade, became the first player on the club to sign for the 1965 baseball season Saturday and will receive the same $105,000 salary he collected last year.

Now 34, the All-Star center fielder goes into his 14th season with the Giants. He is the only player remaining on the club among those who made the switch from New York in 1958.

He led major league home run sluggers with 47 last year, finishing the year with a .296 batting average after hitting above .400 early in the season.

St. Joseph's Cagers Top Lafayette

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Joseph's fourth-ranked Hawks with four starters scoring in double figures easily defeated Lafayette 82-68 Saturday night for their 14th victory in 15 starts.

Temple and Villanova met in the second game of a double-header at Penn's Palestra.

St. Joseph's was slow starting and led its Middle Atlantic Conference rival only 34-30 with 3:08 to go in the first half. But slick passing by 6-foot-5 Matt Guokas and rebounding by Cliff Anderson helped the Hawks to a 15-6 surge that made it a comfortable 39-36 at halftime.

In the second half, Lafayette lost the range and failed to score for the first seven minutes as the Hawks ran the lead to 61-39.

Tom Duff with 17, Anderson with 16 and Guokas' 14 led the St. Joseph's offense. Dave Brown's 22 topped Lafayette.

Beavers Turn Back O-State

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State University turned back Oregon State 64-53 Saturday afternoon. It was the Beavers' second Pacific Athletic Conference basketball defeat in two days.

Friday night, Washington upset Oregon State 79-70 at Seattle.

It was the Cougars' first win against the Beavers in 14 starts.

Cougar center Ted Werner got 17 of the 50 WSU rebounds. OSU recovered 24.

Kansas Topples Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP) —Kansas remained a prime contender for the Big Eight Conference basketball title by whipping Iowa State Saturday night 72-60.

The Jayhawks shot into a 10-point lead at halftime, 36-27, and increased their margin to 12 before the Cyclones came back to give Kansas a scare.

Iowa State climbed to within one point, 43-42, midway of the second half. However, Kansas, led by the 26-point shooting of Walt Wesley, outscored the Cyclones 12-1 over the next four minutes to make it 67-54.

Iowa State used a zone defense in an attempt to stop the 6-foot 11 Wesley. The Cyclones had held the big center to 12 points in 72-55 Big Eight tournament game in December.

Both teams had four men in double figures. In addition to Wesley the Jayhawks had Riney Lochmann with 15, Del Lewis with 12 and Al Lopes with 11. Iowa State was led by Bob Ziegler with 15. Al Koch had 13, Don Ziegler 11 and Ron Millik 10.

Kansas has a 3-1 conference record and is 11-4 overall. Iowa State is 1-3 in Big Eight play and 4-10 for the season.

David Paper of Minneapolis gave former jockey John H. Adams his first horses to train.

Braves Ink Young Slugger to Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Adrian Garrett, a 22-year-old outfielder, signed a 1965 Milwaukee Braves contract Saturday. He batted 2.80 with Austin of the Texas League last season.

Blatchford Leads Skating Meet

MILWAUKEE. (AP) — Defending U.S. champion Neil Blatchford of Northbrook, Ill., won the 220 and finished second and third in other events Saturday to take the lead in the two-day Great Lakes Speed Skating Championships.

Blatchford picked up 10 points with his victory and a second in the three-quarter mile and a third in the mile. He had a one-point lead over Bud Campbell of Demorra, Calif., who won the three-quarter, was second in the mile and fourth in the 220.

Remaining events in the championships will be completed Sunday.

In the senior women's division, Diane White of St. Paul, Minn., won the 440 and was second in the 880 to take the lead with eight points. Second with six was Lu Whitney of Minneapolis, who won the 880 and was fourth in the 440.

Miss Whitney established a meet record in winning the 880 in 1:29.4. The old mark of 1:31.2 was posted in 1963 by Jeanne Omelenchuk of Detroit.

The first of three other meet records was posted by intermediate boys entrant Pete Cefalu of West Allis, Wis., with a time of 2:11.7 in the three-quarter mile. The old standard of 2:14.7 was established last year by J. Crowe of St. Louis.

Mary McClure of Minneapolis claimed the other records in midget girls, winning the 440 in 46.7 and the one-sixth mile in 30.5. The former 440 mark of 46.7 and the one-sixth mile in 47.0 was posted in 1952 by Audrey Ames of Chicago.

Duke Cagers Storm Past Wake Forest

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke's 10th-ranked basketball team hit on 46 of 91 shots to bury Wake Forest 105-88 Saturday afternoon in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

The victory gave the Blue Devils a 5-1 league record and first place, with North Carolina State in position to gain a tie with a victory over Maryland Saturday night.

Five Duke players scored in double figures, with Steve Vacendak getting 10 times in 16 shots for 22 points and Jack Marin hitting 9 of 14 for 20 points.

Bob Leonard scored 34 points, hitting 15 of 30 shots and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Wake Forest.

The Deacons stayed with Duke for 10 minutes when the score was 17-all, but the Blue Devils then romped to a 48-34 halftime lead.

The margin grew to 65-44 with under 12 minutes left of the second half before Wake Forest cut it slightly.

Restrve Brent Kitching kept the Duke attack rolling by coming off the bench to hit five successive shots in the closing minutes.

Nation's Top Leaders Pay Tribute to Athletes

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital turned aside briefly from pre-inaugural festivities Saturday night to honor football heroes and other outstanding athletes of 1964.

Despite snowy weather, a crowd estimated at about 2,000 turned out for the 30th annual awards banquet of the Washington Touchdown Club. Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey topped the list of celebrities.

Olympic gold medal winner Marine Lt. Billy Mills caught much of the early attention.

Mills, first American to win the 10,000-meter run in the Olympics, received an award for his feat.

He had planned to fly to Boston after getting his award in order to run the mile in the Knights of Columbus games but the snowstorm caused him to cancel his plans.

Professional football was represented by Coach Don Shula and halfback Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts, honored as coach and player of the year.

AMES, Iowa (AP) —Kansas remained a prime contender for the Big Eight Conference basketball title by whipping Iowa State Saturday night 72-60.

The Jayhawks shot into a 10-point lead at halftime, 36-27, and increased their margin to 12 before the Cyclones came back to give Kansas a scare.

Iowa State climbed to within one point, 43-42, midway of the second half. However, Kansas, led by the 26-point shooting of Walt Wesley, outscored the Cyclones 12-1 over the next four minutes to make it 67-54.

Iowa State used a zone defense in an attempt to stop the 6-foot 11 Wesley. The Cyclones had held the big center to 12 points in 72-55 Big Eight tournament game in December.

Both teams had four men in double figures. In addition to Wesley the Jayhawks had Riney Lochmann with 15, Del Lewis with 12 and Al Lopes with 11. Iowa State was led by Bob Ziegler with 15. Al Koch had 13, Don Ziegler 11 and Ron Millik 10.

Kansas has a 3-1 conference record and is 11-4 overall. Iowa State is 1-3 in Big Eight play and 4-10 for the season.

Canadiens End NHL Slump

MONTREAL (AP) — Claude Larose and Ralph Backstrom collaborated on a pair of third-period goals that gave the Montreal Canadiens a slump-ending 3-2 National Hockey League victory over Boston Saturday night.

The come-from-behind victory snapped a three-game skid for the Canadiens on their home ice. They had lost three straight, all at Montreal.

Larose set up Backstrom's tying goal midway in the final period and fired the game-winner moments later on an assist by Backstrom.

Gump Wrosley, called up from Quebec of the American League to replace regular Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge, blanked the last-place Bruins in the second and third periods for his second victory in two NHL starts this season. The 35-year-old veteran stopped 24 Boston shots, including 15 in the first period.

Boston's Johnny Bucyk beat Worsley in the game's opening minute and, after defenseman J. C. Tremblay tied the score at the eight-minute mark, Murray Oliver put the Bruins ahead again.

Boston goalie Ed Johnston protected the margin until 10:31 in the finale, when Backstrom converted passes from Larose and All-Star defenseman Jacques Laperriere.

Larose broke the tie at 14:15 after a Backstrom feed. It was his 12th goal of the season. Backstrom has caged 15.

Rookie Wayne Rivers assisted on Bucyk's 14th goal and Oliver's 10th. Oliver also drew an assist on the first Boston tally.

Tremblay hit for his second goal of the campaign on a pass from Henri Richard three seconds after Rivers returned to the ice after serving a penalty.

Braves Ink Young Slugger to Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Adrian Garrett, a 22-year-old outfielder, signed a 1965 Milwaukee Braves contract Saturday. He batted 2.80 with Austin of the Texas League last season.

WEIRD FUMBLES—East All-Star gridder George Byrd (42) picked off a West pass in the third period and tried to lateral when the West's Clemon Daniels (36), on the ground, got his hands on him. Byrd fumbled the ball instead of lateraling. East's Buck Buchanan (85) went up and got his hands on it, but couldn't hold onto the ball. The ball ended up in the hands of West's Arf Powell, who carried it to the East 11-yard line. The West won the American Football League All-Star game in Houston, 38-14. (AP Wirephoto)

Blatchford Leads Skating Meet

MILWAUKEE. (AP) — Defending U.S. champion Neil Blatchford of Northbrook, Ill., won the 220 and finished second and third in other events Saturday to take the lead in the two-day Great Lakes Speed Skating Championships.

Blatchford picked up 10 points with his victory and a second in the three-quarter mile and a third in the mile. He had a one-point lead over Bud Campbell of Demorra, Calif., who won the three-quarter, was second in the mile and fourth in the 220.

Remaining events in the championships will be completed Sunday.

In the senior women's division, Diane White of St. Paul, Minn., won the 440 and was second in the 880 to take the lead with eight points. Second with six was Lu Whitney of Minneapolis, who won the 880 and was fourth in the 440.

Miss Whitney established a meet record in winning the 880 in 1:29.4. The old mark of 1:31.2 was posted in 1963 by Jeanne Omelenchuk of Detroit.

The first of three other meet records was posted by intermediate boys entrant Pete Cefalu of West Allis, Wis., with a time of 2:11.7 in the three-quarter mile. The old standard of 2:14.7 was established last year by J. Crowe of St. Louis.

Mary McClure of Minneapolis claimed the other records in midget girls, winning the 440 in 46.7 and the one-sixth mile in 30.5. The former 440 mark of 46.7 and the one-sixth mile in 47.0 was posted in 1952 by Audrey Ames of Chicago.

Duke Cagers Storm Past Wake Forest

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke's 10th-ranked basketball team hit on 46 of 91 shots to bury Wake Forest 105-88 Saturday afternoon in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

The victory gave the Blue Devils a 5-1 league record and first place, with North Carolina State in position to gain a tie with a victory over Maryland Saturday night.

Five Duke players scored in double figures, with Steve Vacendak getting 10 times in 16 shots for 22 points and Jack Marin hitting 9 of 14 for 20 points.

Bob Leonard scored 34 points, hitting 15 of 30 shots and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Wake Forest.

The Deacons stayed with Duke for 10 minutes when the score was 17-all, but the Blue Devils then romped to a 48-34 halftime lead.

The margin grew to 65-44 with under 12 minutes left of the second half before Wake Forest cut it slightly.

Restrve Brent Kitching kept the Duke attack rolling by coming off the bench to hit five successive shots in the closing minutes.

Nation's Top Leaders Pay Tribute to Athletes

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital turned aside briefly from pre-inaugural festivities Saturday night to honor football heroes and other outstanding athletes of 1964.

Despite snowy weather, a crowd estimated at about 2,000 turned out for the 30th annual awards banquet of the Washington Touchdown Club. Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey topped the list of celebrities.

Olympic gold medal winner Marine Lt. Billy Mills caught much of the early attention.

Mills, first American to win the 10,000-meter run in the Olympics, received an award for his feat.

He had planned to fly to Boston after getting his award in order to run the mile in the Knights of Columbus games but the snowstorm caused him to cancel his plans.

Professional football was represented by Coach Don Shula and halfback Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts, honored as coach and player of the year.

Boston Upsets Olympic Hurdlers

BOSTON (AP) — Lanky Ralph Boston, world record holder in the broad jump, scored an upset over two Olympians and won the 45-yard high hurdles Saturday night in 15.6 seconds in the Knights of Columbus Games.

Boston, who competed in four events in San Francisco last week, also was entered in the broad broad jump.

Boston got off to an excellent start, had a slight edge by the first of three hurdles and won by about one yard over Pete Whitehouse of the New York A.C.

Mays First Giant Into Fold in '65

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays, No. 1 man on the San Francisco Giants' hit parade, became the first player on the club to sign for the 1965 baseball season Saturday and will receive the same $105,000 salary he collected last year.

Now 34, the All-Star center fielder goes into his 14th season with the Giants. He is the only player remaining on the club among those who made the switch from New York in 1958.

He led major league home run sluggers with 47 last year, finishing the year with a .296 batting average after hitting above .400 early in the season.

St. Joseph's Cagers Top Lafayette

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Joseph's fourth-ranked Hawks with four starters scoring in double figures easily defeated Lafayette 82-68 Saturday night for their 14th victory in 15 starts.

Temple and Villanova met in the second game of a double-header at Penn's Palestra.

St. Joseph's was slow starting and led its Middle Atlantic Conference rival only 34-30 with 3:08 to go in the first half. But slick passing by 6-foot-5 Matt Guokas and rebounding by Cliff Anderson helped the Hawks to a 15-6 surge that made it a comfortable 39-36 at halftime.

In the second half, Lafayette lost the range and failed to score for the first seven minutes as the Hawks ran the lead to 61-39.

Tom Duff with 17, Anderson with 16 and Guokas' 14 led the St. Joseph's offense. Dave Brown's 22 topped Lafayette.

White Sox Boast Strong Bull Pen This Season

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago White Sox had the strongest pitching in the American League last year and Manager Al Lopez can look to even stronger pitching in 1965. The biggest reason is 21-year-old Bruce Howard.

The slender, baby-faced right-hander had a remarkable record in the Pacific Coast League where he posted a 15-8 mark with a 2.20 earned run average. But he was even more of a sensation with the White Sox in the final 12 days of the season after reporting from Indianapolis.

In three starts, Howard won two and lost one. The defeat was 1-0. He beat Los Angeles 2-1 and shut out Kansas City on two hits in the season finale. He allowed only 10 hits in 22 innings, struck out 17 and registered a brilliant 0.82 ERA.

"This youngster has everything it takes to win in the majors," said Lopez. "He throws a sinking fast ball, curve, slider and also uses a slip pitch for his changeup. There's no doubt in my mind he'll be my No. 4 starter in 1965."

Howard, a native of Norfolk, Va., was signed in 1962 while attending Villanova University. The 6-foot-2, 175-pounder is one of 14 rookies on the White Sox roster. Six are pitchers, not including Bob Locker, a right-hander whose 16 victories at Indianapolis led the PCL. Ineligible for the draft, Locker was left at Indianapolis but will get a good book at the Sox' training camp in Sarasota, Fla., this spring.

Marv Staehle, a second baseman, and Ken Berry, an outfielder, are rated excellent chances to make the varsity. Staehle, a pepperpot of the Nellie Fox type comes well recommended as a hitter. After leading the Sally League with a .337 batting average in 1963, he was promoted to Indianapolis last year and hit .301.

The major concern regarding this 22-year-old product from Oak Park, a Chicago suburb, is his fielding. The 5-foot-9 southpaw swinging slap hitter began as an outfielder and still has much to earn defensively.

Berry, another Indianapolis graduate, is excellent defensively but there is some question concerning his hitting. Lopez looks upon this 23-year-old from Topeka, Kan., as the heir to Jim Landis' job in center field.

Berry batted only .255 at Indianapolis last year but revealed unmistakable power with 20 home runs and 83 runs batted in. Brought up late last season, Berry hit .375 in a dozen games, including a home run and double.

"I'm going to give this kid every possible chance to make it," said Lopez. "The youngster has speed, a strong arm and power."

Of the three new catchers, Bill Heath, a 25-year-old from Modesto, Calif., appears to have the best chance. Acquired in a deal with Philadelphia, Heath batted .293 at Chattanooga and .298 at Little Rock. Duane Josephson, .267 at Clinton, and Ed Herrmann, an 18-year-old who batted .288 in his rookie year at Sarasota, need more experience.

Missouri Defeats K-State

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri got some revenge, Saturday on Kansas State, taking the lead midway of the first half and then going on to win 80-68.

It was the first basketball victory for Missouri over K-State in 24 straight games.

Kansas State had not lost at Columbia since 1950.

Missouri held a 37-29 lead at the half, and at one time in the final half was in front 67-48.

Ned Monsees and George Flamank led the Tigers with 21 points each. Flamank had 16 rebounds. Royce Smith was high for the losers with 16.

Pirates Faced With Must-Win in DPL Tilt Today Against Machebeuf

BY CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Dan Wright's defensive-minded Buccaneers, presently lodged in second place behind the undefeated and torrid-scoring Mullen Mustangs, are faced with another must-win situation this afternoon.

The St. Mary's cagers, title seekers of the Denver Parochial League, will be under pressure again when Machebeuf's Buffs invade the Pirates Gymnasium today with only one thought in mind — beat the Bucs. If Wright's chargers falter against the Buffs this afternoon, it would all but eliminate the local Parokes chances for the DPL championship, unless of course, the undefeated Mullen five should fall. But the chances of someone defeating Mullen, whose 83.2-points per game average make the Mustangs unbeatable unless the Pirates do the job in the second DPL round.

Today's Machebeuf-St. Mary's game is set for 2:30 p.m. at the Pirates gym.

Prior to Friday night's DPL games, Wright indicated that the defending co-champion Regis could stop the run-gun Mullen aggregation when the two teams tangle this afternoon to highlight the loop slate. But Regis succumbed to Annunciation Friday, 51-49, and even though the Cardinals are highly respected, the Raiders' second loss makes the Mustangs a shoe-in favorite to record their sixth successive victory today.

Even though Wright will be looking to Denver for the possible upset by Regis, the St. Mary's cage boss will have his hands full attempting to pick up his fifth DPL victory over Machebeauf.

The Pirates were nearly knocked out of the pennant race Friday night in Denver as the St. Mary's roundballers had to go into overtime before they eked out a slim 59-58 victory over last year's league co-champion Holy Family.

Tom McCarthy, who leads the Bucs in scoring via 193 points in five league games, pumped in 22 points including three points in the overtime period to pace St. Mary's win over Holy Family. Sam Zavatti contributed 15 points to the winning cause. The Friday victory gave the Pirates a 4-1 won-loss record for undisputed second place standings in DPL play.

Machebeuf is 3-2 in loop competition.

WRIGHT MAPS OUT STRATEGY—St. Mary's head basketball coach maps out the strategy with his varsity players as the Pirates plan for today's Denver Parochial League outing with Machebeuf in Colorado Springs. The St. Mary's-Machebeuf game is set for 2:30 p.m. today at the Pirates Gymnasium and the Bucs will be seeking their fifth DPL victory. Vols Crush Cats

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — With A. W. Davis pouring in 24 points, Tennessee crushed Kentucky Saturday afternoon in a Southeastern Conference basketball game 77-58.

The 19-point spread was Tennessee's biggest over Kentucky in their long series. The Vols' widest margin previously was 66-53 in 1950.

A capacity crowd of 7,100 saw Tennessee jump off to a lead and maintain it throughout.

The Wildcats rallied just before the half and cut Tennessee's margin to 35-31 at the intermission. But Tennessee came back strong after the rest and quickly widened the gap.

The triumph gave Tennessee a 3-1 record in the SEC and 10-2 over-all. Kentucky is now 2-2 in the league and 7-6 on the season.

Wichita Topples St. Louis

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita took undisputed lead in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race Saturday with a 75-64 victory over St. Louis.

The victory gives Wichita, third ranked in the nation, a 5-0 conference record. St. Louis is now 4-1.

All-America Dave Stallworth, who graduates at mid-term, and Dave Leach each scored 19 points for Wichita, but Bill Beckemeier of St. Louis was high point man with 22.

Stallworth grabbed 12 rebounds and was credited with 10 assists. Rich Parks of St. Louis also got 12 rebounds.

St. Louis pulled to a 29-29 tie with 1:19 left in the first half, but Wichita hit six straight points, with Stallworth getting four of them, to lead 35-29 at intermission.

Cheyenne Tankers Dump Arapahoe

Despite a brilliant performance by double - winner, sophomore Ralph Butcher, the visiting Arapahoe tankers went under to Coach Bob Holdren's Indians as the Cheyenne Mountain swim team scored its sixth victory of the season Saturday in a dual meet over Arapahoe, 59-36.

Butcher established two new Cheyenne pool records as the sophomore ace won the 100 - yard Freestyle and the 200 - yard Individual Medley.

The Indians are scheduled to tangle with Denver Manual and North Denver, Jan. 28 in a three-way meet at the Cheyenne gym. Cheyenne has a 6-2 won-loss record this season, losing those two decisions to Wasson and Cherry Creek.

AFL Rebuffs NFL-NCAA Meeting

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League's proposal for a joint meeting with the National Football League and the National Collegiate Athletic Association on premature signings of college players was rebuffed Friday by the AFL.

Commissioner Joe Foss had announced at the AFL meetings that his league would make no commitments on an NCAA recommendation on pro-college relations until all parties concerned had a joint meeting.

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle said in New York "the National Football League already has taken unconditional action regarding premature signing of college players and we feel we already have worked out our problem no matter what others may do."

The NFL announced Tuesday it would sign no college player until the player's team had completed its schedule, including post-season bowl games.

Foss' statement was included in an announcement to newsmen while he was attending a closed league meeting. He called for "a full airing of the recommendations and mutual consideration of all.

"For one league or association to make promises of independent action is not the solution to problems that are equally disturbing to all. The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest," he said.

The furor arose when it became known that three Oklahoma players had signed with the Minnesota Vikings and a fourth had signed with Houston of the AFL before the gator Bowl game.

At its Chicago meetings, the NCAA Committee on Pro-College Relations, headed by Athletic Director Jim Corbett of Louisiana State, made several recommendations.

Corbett's report called for an end of the practice of college coaches serving as scouts and agents for the pros; recommended the pro draft be held after the last bowl game; that the pros do away with future draft picks; that no player be signed while still eligible for college competition, and that any information of violations be turned over to the NCAA.

Houston May Get '66 AFL 'Stars

HOUSTON (AP) — The American League awarded its 1966 All-Star game to the new domed stadium at Houston provided proper financial arrangements can be made.

The new stadium will be opened by the Houston Astros baseball club in April and will be used by the Houston Oilers during the 1965 AFL season.

Commissioner Joe Foss said the 1967 All-Star game would be played in the new stadium now being constructed at Oakland if proper financial arrangements are made.

Barron Hilton, owner of the San Diego Chargers, was elected president of the league, succeeding Bill Sullivan, president of the Boston Patriots. Assistant Commissioner Milt Woodard was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the league.

The AFL completed its annual meetings shortly before the start of Saturday's All-Star game. It did not take up the several requests made by the player association that will be considered at the spring meeting, probably in Buffalo, N.Y., in June.

The league signed a new contract Friday night with the National Broadcasting Co. for television rights to its next five championship games and All-Star games. Foss said the league would receive $8.75 million from NBC on a sliding scale with the fee increasing from about $750,000 the first year to about $2 million in the fifth year.

NCAA May Approve Unrestricted Platooning

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Most of the college football coaches who want to lower all the bars against free substitution will be satisfied with a new rule to be adopted Sunday.

After another five-hours of debate Saturday, the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association still was torn between the only two proposals left before it.

Rule 1 would yield to the demands of the coaches for the unrestricted platooning allowed before 1953. No. 2 would permit platoon substitution between quarters, after a score and whenever the ball changes hands, and the replacement of two men on any play.

The committee almost never gives the coaches exactly what they want, and it appeared that the latter rule would be the one passed.

But either one, said Coach Jack Curtice of Santa Barbara, Calif., "will please the great majority of the coaches."

"We have made some gains in the committee every year," Curtice said, "and with the adoption of either one of these rules we will be happier than ever before.

"The rule was all right last season, except that in a punting situation we had to pay the price of a penalty to get in the defensive unit.

"The offensive team will still have to do the punting, but the change of units on first down should be satisfactory."

Coach Len Casanova of Oregon said a rule similar to No. 2 was used in the coaches All America game at Buffalo and "worked out very, very well."

The rule against ramming the helmet into an opponent's neck face or head was enlarged to make ramming any part of the body a personal foul.

Howie Pollet can live at home when the Houston Colt .45s play in their new domed stadium next season. The team's new pitching coach lives in Houston.

Academic All-America Team Named by Sports Director

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tulsa, Kansas and Houston players were named Saturday to the 1964 Academic All-America Football team sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors.

To qualify for the nomination, the 121 players cited must be "B" or better students and be outstanding football players. Nine players on the first team were "A minus" students and their majors included business, commerce, pre - dental, pre-medicine, pre-law and engineering.

The first team included halfback Ken Hatfield of Arkansas, ends Harold Twilley of Tulsa and Horst Paul of Houston, guard Newton Burton of Oklahoma and tackle Fred Elder of Kansas.

Twilley and Burton were among five players receiving heavy support from the sports-Jim Grabowski and Washington guard Rick Redman.

Others on the first team include tackle Mel Carpenter of Utah, center Gaylon McCollough of Alabama and back Ken Willard of North Carolina.

The second team included writers who made the selections. The other three were Michigan quarterback Bob Timberlake, Illinois fullback end Knox Nunnally of Texas and quarterback Fred Marshal of Arkansas, while the third team included guard Carl Schreiner of Oklahoma and back Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

The idea of an academic team was originated in 1952 by Lester Jordan of Southern Methodist to honor outstanding scholars among the nation's top football players.

Those receiving honorable mention included:

Ends Audie Long of North Texas, Rick McCurdy of Oklahoma, Dan Mauldin of Texas and John Dowler of Wyoming.

Tackles Tommy Mankin of Texas, Butch Metcalf of Oklahoma, Conrad Meyer of Tulane, Adon Sitra of TCU and Pierre DesJardino of Wyoming.

Guards John Anderson of New Mexico, Steve Garmon of TCU and Mickey Kennedy of Baylor.

Centers Jim Click of Oklahoma State, Bill Goss of Tulane, Bob Sanders of North Texas State, Dave Velles of Oklahoma and C.C. Willis of Texas Tech.

Backs Glen Baxter of Oklahoma State, Timmy Doerr of Texas, Rau Oelschager of Kansas, White Graves of LSU, Jeff Jordan and Jack Suggs of Tulsa, Chuck Latourette of Rice and Tony Waters of West Texas State.

White Sox Boast Strong Bull Pen This Season

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago White Sox had the strongest pitching in the American League last year and Manager Al Lopez can look to even stronger pitching in 1965. The biggest reason is 21-year-old Bruce Howard.

The slender, baby-faced righthander had a remarkable record in the Pacific Coast League where he posted a 15-8 mark with a 2.20 earned run average. But he was even more of a sensation with the White Sox in the final 12 days of the season after reporting from Indianapolis.

In three starts, Howard won two and lost one. The defeat was 1-0. He beat Los Angeles 2-1 and shut out Kansas City on two hits in the season finale. He allowed only 10 hits in 22 innings, struck out 17 and registered a brilliant 0.82 ERA.

"This youngster has everything it takes to win in the majors," said Lopez. "He throws a sinking fast ball, curve, slider and also uses a slip pitch for his changeup. There's no doubt in my mind he'll be my No. 4 starter in 1965."

Howard, a native of Norfolk, Va., was signed in 1962 while attending Villanova University. The 6-foot-2, 175-pounder is one of 14 rookies on the White Sox roster. Six are pitchers, not including Bob Locker, a righthander whose 16 victories at Indianapolis led the PCL. Ineligible for the draft, Locker was left at Indianapolis but will get a good book at the Sox' training camp in Sarasota, Fla., this spring.

Marv Staehle, a second baseman, and Ken Berry, an outfielder, are rated excellent chances to make the varsity. Staehle, a pepperpot of the Nellie Fox type comes well recommended as a hitter. After leading the Sally League with a .337 batting average in 1963, he was promoted to Indianapolis last year and hit .301.

The major concern regarding this 22-year-old product from Oak Park, a Chicago suburb, is his fielding. The 5-foot-9 southpaw swinging slap hitter began as an outfielder and still has much to earn defensively.

Berry, another Indianapolis graduate, is excellent defensively but there is some question concerning his hitting. Lopez looks upon this 23-year-old from Topeka, Kan., as the heir to Jim Landis' job in center field.

Berry batted only .255 at Indianapolis last year but revealed unmistakable power with 20 home runs and 83 runs batted in. Brought up late last season, Berry hit .375 in a dozen games, including a home run and double.

"I'm going to give this kid every possible chance to make it," said Lopez. "The youngster has speed, a strong arm and power."

Of the three new catchers, Bill Heath, a 25-year-old from Modesto, Calif., appears to have the best chance. Acquired in a deal with Philadelphia, Heath batted .293 at Chattanooga and .298 at Little Rock. Duane Josephson, .267 at Clinton, and Ed Herrmann, an 18-year-old who batted .288 in his rookie year at Sarasota, need more experience.

Missouri Defeats K-State

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri got some revenge, Saturday on Kansas State, taking the lead midway of the first half and then going on to win 80-68.

It was the first basketball victory for Missouri over K-State in 24 straight games.

Kansas State had not lost at Columbia since 1950.

Missouri held a 37-29 lead at the half, and at one time in the final half was in front 67-48.

Ned Monsees and George Flamank led the Tigers with 21 points each. Flamank had 16 rebounds. Royce Smith was high for the losers with 16.

Pirates Faced With Must-Win in DPL Tilt Today Against Machebeuf

BY CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

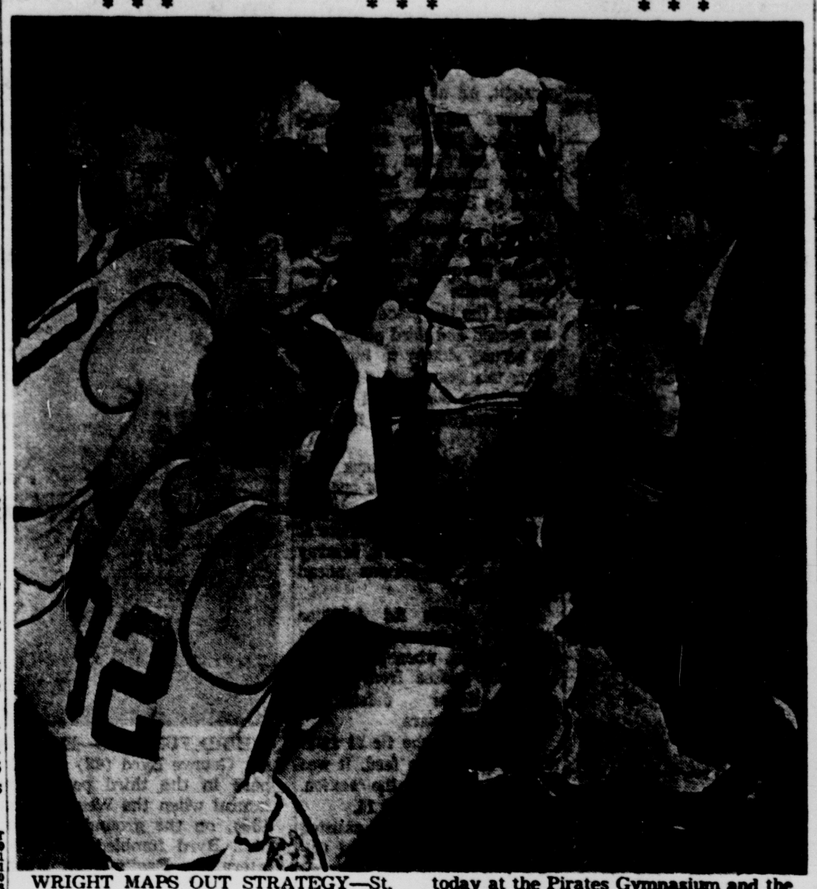
Dan Wright's defensive-minded Buccaneers, presently lodged in second place behind the undefeated and torrid-scoring Mullen Mustangs, are faced with another must-win situation this afternoon.

The St. Mary's cagers, title seekers of the Denver Parochial League, will be under pressure again when Machebeuf's Buffs invade the Pirates Gymnasium today with only one thought in mind — beat the Bucs. If Wright's chargers falter against the Buffs this afternoon, it would all but eliminate the local Parokes chances for the DPL championship, unless of course, the undefeated Mullen five should fall. But the chances of someone defeating Mullen, whose 83.2-points per game average make the Mustangs unbeatable unless the Pirates do the job in the second DPL round.

Today's Machebeuf-St. Mary's game is set for 2:30 p.m. at the Pirates gym.

Prior to Friday night's DPL games, Wright indicated that the defending co-champion Regis could stop the run-gun Mullen aggregation when the two teams tangle this afternoon to highlight the loop slate. But Regis succumbed to Annunciation Friday, 51-49, and even though the Cardinals are highly respected, the Raiders' second loss makes the Mustangs a shoo-in favorite to record their sixth successive victory today.

Even though Wright will be looking to Denver for the possible upset by Regis, the St. Mary's cage boss will have his hands full attempting to pick up his fifth DPL victory over Machebeuf.



WRIGHT MAPS OUT STRATEGY—St. Mary's head basketball coach maps out the strategy with his varsity players as the Pirates plan for today's Denver Parochial League outing with Machebeuf in Colorado Springs. The St. Mary's-Machebeuf game is set for 2:30 p.m. today at the Pirates Gymnasium and the Bucs will be seeking their fifth DPL victory. Pictured from left ((clockwise) are Ray Floyd (32), Tom McCarthy, Tom Socha, Jerry Knauf (14) and Coach Wright. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Pirates were nearly knocked out of the pennant race Friday night in Denver as the St. Mary's roundballers had to go into overtime before they eked out a slim 59-58 victory over last year's league co-champion Holy Family.

Tom McCarthy, who leads the Bucs in scoring via 133 points in five league games, pumped in 22 points including three points in the overtime period to pace St. Mary's win over Holy Family. Sam Zavatti contributed 15 points to the winning cause. The Friday victory gave the Pirates a 4-1 won-loss record for undisputed second place standings in DPL play.

Machebeuf is 3-2 in loop competition.

Vols Crush Cats

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — With A. W. Davis pouring in 24 points, Tennessee crushed Kentucky Saturday afternoon in a Southeastern Conference basketball game 77-58.

The 19-point spread was Tennessee's biggest over Kentucky in their long series. The Vols' widest margin previously was 66-53 in 1950.

A capacity crowd of 7,100 saw Tennessee jump off to a lead and maintain it throughout.

The Wildcats rallied just before the half and cut Tennessee's margin to 35-31 at the intermission. But Tennessee came back strong after the rest and quickly widened the gap.

The triumph gave Tennessee a 3-1 record in the SEC and 10-2 over-all. Kentucky is now 2-2 in the league and 7-6 on the season.

Wichita Topples St. Louis

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita took undisputed lead in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race Saturday with a 75-64 victory over St. Louis.

The victory gives Wichita, third ranked in the nation, a 5-0 conference record. St. Louis is now 4-1.

All-America Dave Stallworth, who graduates at mid-term, and Dave Leach each scored 19 points for Wichita, but Bill Beckemeier of St. Louis was high point man with 22.

Stallworth grabbed 12 rebounds and was credited with 10 assists. Rich Parks of St. Louis also got 12 rebounds.

St. Louis pulled to a 29-29 tie with 1:19 left in the first half, but Wichita hit six straight points, with Stallworth getting four of them, to lead 35-29 at intermission.

Cheyenne Tankers Dump Arapahoe

Despite a brilliant performance by double - winner, sophomore Ralph Butcher, the visiting Arapahoe tankers went under to Coach Bob Holdren's Indians as the Cheyenne Mountain swim team scored its sixth victory of the season Saturday in a dual meet over Arapahoe, 59-36.

Butcher established two new Cheyenne pool records as the sophomore ace won the 100 - yard Freestyle and the 200-yard Individual Medley.

The Indians are scheduled to tangle with Denver Manual and North Denver, Jan. 26 in a three-way meet at the Cheyenne gym. Cheyenne has a 6-2 won-loss record this season, losing those two decisions to Wasson and Cherry Creek.

AFL Rebuffs NFL-NCAA Meeting

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League's proposal for a joint meeting with the National Football League and the National Collegiate Athletic Association on premature signings of college players was rebuffed Friday by the AFL.

Commissioner Joe Foss had announced at the AFL meetings that his league would make no commitments on an NCAA recommendation on pro-college relations until all parties concerned had a joint meeting.

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle said in New York "the National Football League already has taken unconditional action regarding premature signing of college players and we feel we already have worked out our problem no matter what others may do."

The NFL announced Tuesday it would sign no college player until the player's team had completed its schedule, including post-season bowl games.

Foss' statement was included in an announcement to newsmen while he was attending a closed league meeting. He called for "a full airing of the recommendations and mutual consideration of all.

"For one league or association to make promises of independent action is not the solution to problems that are equally disturbing to all. The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest," he said.

The furor arose when it became known that three Oklahoma players had signed with the Minnesota Vikings and a fourth had signed with Houston of the AFL before the gator Bowl game.

At its Chicago meetings, the NCAA Committee on Pro-College Relations, headed by Athletic Director Jim Corbett of Louisiana State, made several recommendations.

Corbett's report called for an end of the practice of college coaches serving as scouts and agents for the pros; recommended the pro draft be held after the last bowl game; that the pros do away with future draft picks; that no player be signed while still eligible for college competition, and that any information of violations be turned over to the NCAA.

Houston May Get '66 AFL 'Stars

HOUSTON (AP) — The American League awarded its 1966 All-Star game to the new domed stadium at Houston provided proper financial arrangements can be made.

The new stadium will be opened by the Houston Astros baseball club in April and will be used by the Houston Oilers during the 1965 AFL season.

Commissioner Joe Foss said the 1967 All-Star game would be played in the new stadium now being constructed at Oakland if proper financial arrangements are made.

Barron Hilton, owner of the San Diego Chargers, was elected president of the league, succeeding Bill Sullivan, president of the Boston Patriots. Assistant Commissioner Milt Woodard was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the league.

The AFL completed its annual meetings shortly before the start of Saturday's All-Star game. It did not take up the several requests made by the player association that will be considered at the spring meeting, probably in Buffalo, N.Y., in June.

The league signed a new contract Friday night with the National Broadcasting Co. for television rights to its next five championship games and All-Star games. Foss said the league would receive $8.75 million from NBC on a sliding scale with the fee increasing from about $750,000 the first year to about $2 million in the fifth year.

NCAA May Approve Unrestricted Platooning

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Most of the college football coaches who want to lower all the bars against free substitution will be satisfied with a new rule to be adopted Sunday.

After another five-hours of debate Saturday, the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association still was torn between the only two proposals left before it.

Rule 1 would yield to the demands of the coaches for the unrestricted platooning allowed before 1953. No. 2 would permit platoon substitution between quarters, after a score and whenever the ball changes hands, and the replacement of two men on any play.

The committee almost never gives the coaches exactly what they want, and it appeared that the latter rule would be the one passed.

But either one, said Coach Jack Curtice of Santa Barbara, Calif., "will please the great majority of the coaches."

"We have made some gains in the committee every year," Curtice said, "and with the adoption of either one of these rules we will be happier than ever before.

"The rule was all right last season, except that in a punting situation we had to pay the price of a penalty to get in the defensive unit.

"The offensive team will still have to do the punting, but the change of units on first down should be satisfactory."

Coach Len Casanova of Oregon said a rule similar to No. 2 was used in the coaches All America game at Buffalo and "worked out very, very well."

The rule against ramming the helmet into an opponent's neck face or head was enlarged to make ramming any part of the body a personal foul.

Howie Pollet can live at home when the Houston Colt .45s play in their new domed stadium next season. The team's new pitching coach lives in Houston.

Academic All-America Team Named by Sports Director

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tulsa, Kansas and Houston players were named Saturday to the 1964 Academic All-America Football team sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors.

To qualify for the nomination, the 121 players cited must be "B" or better students and be outstanding football players. Nine players on the first team were "A minus" students and their majors included business, commerce, pre - dental, pre-medicine, pre-law and engineering.

The first team included halfback Ken Hatfield of Arkansas, ends Harold Twilley of Tulsa and Horst Paul of Houston, guard Newton Burton of Oklahoma and tackle Fred Elder of Kansas.

Twilley and Burton were among five players receiving heavy support from the sports-Jim Grabowski and Washington guard Rick Redman.

Others on the first team include tackle Mel Carpenter of Utah, center Gaylon McCollough of Alabama and back Ken Willard of North Carolina.

The second team included writers who made the selections. The other three were Michigan quarterback Bob Timberlake, Illinois fullback end Knox Nunnally of Texas and quarterback Fred Marshal of Arkansas, while the third team included guard Carl Schreiner of Oklahoma and back Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

The idea of an academic team was originated in 1952 by Lester Jordan of Southern Methodist to honor outstanding scholars among the nation's top football players.

Those receiving honorable mention included:

Stout Pair of Shoes and Strong Legs Needed to Enjoy Stock Show

By ANN BROOKS
Farm and Ranch Editor

If you have a stout pair of shoes, strong legs and ample determination, you will enjoy the National Western Stock Show in Denver.

Some 500 persons from the Colorado Springs area who attended the show and 12th annual special train arranged by the Agriculture Committee of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce discovered this Friday.

Entertaining those on the 17-car train were accordian and guitar players, including Pres Seeley, Ron Eisenhower, John Paul Jones, Bob Bishop, and Chick Kegin. Between songs, those headed for the stock show enjoyed coffee, milk, rolls and doughnuts.

Noting the perfect weather, Ray Kranz, who arranged for the music, said, "It's a far cry from two years ago, when the train was 40 minutes late, and the temperature was 15 degrees below zero."

On the train were two persons from Atkins, Ark.

Upon arrival of Denver, the passengers were greeted and directed to the buses by about 30 "Denvoys" (members of the Denver Chamber of Commerce).

Once inside the stock show grounds, many visited the horse show barn. Others toured the rabbit and poultry exhibits.

One of the most popular attractions at the Kiddies' Ranchland was the poodle exhibit. Children also enjoyed the many puppies, and the burros. Kittens were relaxing in a tiny replica of a living room, three of them sound asleep in a furry gray ball on the biggest chair.

Others attending the stock show went to the swine and sheep exhibits, where a sheep was being sheared. Downstairs from the old Coliseum, visitors wandered among the cattle exhibits, while some exhibitors busily groomed their stock, and other cattle dozed in the high-piled hay.

Persons also circulated among the exhibits and souvenir stands in the Coliseum building, and children nibbled at pink and blue cotton candy.

Pivot riders from the Pikes Peak Range Riders participated in opening ceremonies at the initial performance of the 33rd National Western Stock Show Rodeo at 2 p.m.

Attending were 750 persons from Colorado Springs, Pueblo, and the Arkansas Valley. The total crowd was estimated at 5,000.

In the first contest of the rodeo, Billy Willcoxson, Waynoka, Okla., led with 64 points for bareback bronc riding.

In bull riding, Dallas Chartier, 25, Bankelman, Neb., led by picking up 65 points for his ride on a rough black Brangus.

The crowd also watched Tater Decker, a frequent contestant in the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo, Clayton, Okla., down his steer in 4.8 seconds, to win the day's steer wresting event.

In calf roping, Ted Smalley, Burkburnett, Tex., placed first with 12.6 seconds.

Two girls tied with 15.8 seconds for barrel racing. They were Florence Youree, Addington, Okla., and Margaret Clemons, Lafayette, Colo.

Black Magic, caught by an Englewood youth in last year's National Western Stock Show, won first place Friday in the "catch-it steer contest" at the show's junior event. The steer, an Aberdeen Angus weighing 1,253 pounds, is owned by Jim Larrick, 15. Second place went to a Hereford steer owned by Gary Ramey, 16, Sterling. Forty calves caught last year were entered in Friday's event.

One of the first private livestock sales made at this year's show involved 17 Hereford bulls from Winthrop Rockefeller's Win-Rock Farms of Morrilton, Ark. Frederick Drummond of Pawhuska, Okla., purchased the 17 bulls for $1,000 each.

It was a long day, but it was a lot of fun, sighed stock show goers as they sank into their seats on the train for the trip home.

Firemen Answer Four Alarms

James R. Smith, 3531 Hamilton St., was injured in a motorcycle accident Saturday at 29th and Uintah St. The accident set fire to the motorcycle and the fire department was called at 11:17 a. m. Company 5 put out the fire. Smith was taken to St. Francis Hospital. His condition was believed not to be serious.

A mattress fire smoked up a house at 1010 E. Cimmarron St. Saturday. The fire department was called at 11:24 a. m. Companies 1 and 4 responded and put out the fire. Dmage was limited to the mattress, a window and smoke damage. Occupant of the house was Kitty Davis.

An overheated washing machine smoked up the residence of Warren Bouder, 3047 W. Platte Ave. Company 5 of the Fire Department responded to a 10:47 a. m. alarm and fanned the smoke from the house.

Company 2 at 1:02 p. m. went to the residence of Jeane Davis, 1101 N. Weber St. A gas pipe connecting the kitchen range had become disconnected. The firemen stood by until workmen of the Utilities Department arrived.

Nap Can Kill

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walk, don't nap—after a hearty meal. You might pay for the nap with a fatal heart attack, warns a German doctor.

Complete repose after a rich, hearty meal can set up an accumulation of fatty chycle — a fluid produced during digestion —in the thoracic duct, explains Dr. Gerhard Volkheimer, of Humboldt University Medical School. Upon awakening any sudden movement may propel enough chycle into the blood stream to cause a fat embolism, blocking a vital artery. Dr. Volkheimer's theory was reported in Medical World News, a magazine for doctors.

Republican Roundtable To Hear Reagan's Address

The Republican Women's Roundtable will hear a post-election speech made by Ronald Reagan, film star and prominent Republican spokesman, during the group's regular meeting at 9:30 a.m., Monday, Jan. 25, in the downstairs meeting room of the Northern National Bank, 229 E. Fillmore St.

According to Mrs. Bruce Todd, owner of the taped speech, Reagan's talk could be titled "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Aside from being a film favorite for years, Reagan is a past president of the Film Actors' Guild and is rumored to be a possible candidate for governor of California.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and ample free parking is available. Coffee will be served preceding the meeting which begins at 10 a.m. The meeting program will also include a brief session of political education and current events.

The Roundtable has been in the process of selecting committee heads. Those which have thus far been named to chair various committees are Mrs. Paul Guthner, telephone; Mrs. Victor S. Laushine, membership; Mrs. George Kinzler, program (Mrs. Don Higby, co-chairman); Mrs. John Torrence, parliamentarian; Mrs. John Cole, hospitality; Mrs. Sam Turner, auditor; Mrs. Joseph Jelinek, historian; Mrs. John Hays and Mrs. Don Higby, advisory members - at -large; and Mrs. Don La Mora, publicity.

New officers of the group include Mrs. Roy W. Long, 2105 Downing Dr., president; Mrs. Don La Mora, 1215 La Paloma Way, first vice president; Mrs. Harrie Hart, 1260 Mesa Ave., second vice president; Mrs. Richard Pearl, 624 N. Cascade Ave., recording secretary; Mrs. Claude Thompson, treasurer; and Mrs. Spencer Allen, 517½ E. Pikes Peak Ave., corresponding secretary.

The Roundtable board members voted recently to amend the by-laws (with the consent of the membership) to include a new committee called "campaign activities." This new committee will be explained during the Jan. 25 meeting and the amendment will be read at that time. The amendment will be read again in February and voted upon by the membership at that meeting.

Child Logic

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Little Lisa Golob came home from kindergarten and handed her mother a piece of paper on which she had made a "painting." Running from side to side of the sheet were wide lines of violet, blue, green, yellow and red. She explained that it was a rainbow. Her mother admired the art work but asked why it was not curved like a rainbow. The youngster looked up quickly and replied. "Well, all we had was straight paper."

The regular PTA meeting for Whittier School will take place at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in the school auditorium. The theme for January is "Let's Vote for International Friendships," and the speaker will be a foreign exchange student who will tell about elementary education in his homeland. Also with the oncoming use of television in the school, there will be a speaker from the Department of Audio-visual Education to explain this area of teaching and learning. An added extra will be the performance of skits by Whittier Cub Scouts. Hostesses will be the second grade mothers. Board of Managers will be held at 6:45 p.m.

Past Presidents to Be Guests of Mrs. Steigner

The Past Presidents Club of Lt. Marion L. Willis Post 101 auxiliary will hold its monthly party at 8 p.m. Tuesday with Agella Steigner, 1012 E. St. Margaret Martin will assist.

APPEARING HERE—LeRoy Van Dyke will bring his orchestra, "The Auctioneers" and complete company to Colorado Springs Tuesday. The Mercury recording artist, who has just completed filming a series of television programs in Canada which will be seen domestically next season, will present his singing group, "The Auctionettes" as part of his company.

The bridge career of my friend Richard Frey of New York City dates back to the early 1930s. For some years he has devoted a great portion of his time to conducting a daily bridge column in association with Howard Schenken, but this does not prevent him from making occasional sallies into the tournament world. Today's hand was taken from a national team of four event where Mr. Frey chalked up a substantial swing for his team by a smooth manipulation of the cards in a vulnerable slam contract.

Frey, seated South, elected to make an immediate jump shift response. Despite the apparent misfit, he wished to exert a strong effort to reach slam with his 21 point holding. After North's three diamond rebid, South showed his second suit. The spade preference with a doubleton is not to our taste. North would have done better at this point to slow down the proceedings by bidding three no-trump. Mr. Frey was certainly well within himself then he jumped to six spades.

West opened the jack of hearts and dummy's queen won the trick. A second heart was led, for it was declarer's intention to ruff a third round of the suit and then play the high spades in the hope that only one trump trick need beost. When East showed out on the second heart, discarding a club, South saw that he would have to revise his plans.

In view of West's extreme length in hearts as well as East's failure to trump in, it seemed reasonable to play the latter for long spades, probably at least four headed by the queen-ten. The only hope was to find East with four clubs so that declarer could cash his high cards.

A diamond was led to the ace and a small one ruffed in the closed hand. Three rounds of clubs were played ending in dummy, and fortunately East was obliged to follow. Another diamond was ruffed by South with the eight of spades and West's failure to overruff proved most enlightening. A heart was returned and trumped with the king of spades. Now a trump was led and, when East played low, Frey successfully finessed the nine. He exited from his hand with the ace of hearts and East was obliged to ruff in and surrender the last two tricks to declarer's ace and jack of spades.

...Can Kill

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walk, don't nap—after a hearty meal. You might pay for the nap with a fatal heart attack, warns a German doctor.

Complete repose after a rich, hearty meal can set up an accumulation of fatty chycle — a fluid produced during digestion —in the thoracic duct, explains Dr. Gerhard Volkheimer, of Humboldt University Medical School. Upon awakening any sudden movement may propel enough chycle into the blood stream to cause a fat embolism, blocking a vital artery. Dr. Volkheimer's theory was reported in Medical World News, a magazine for doctors.

Republican Roundtable To Hear Reagan's Address

The Republican Women's Roundtable will hear a post-election speech made by Ronald Reagan, film star and prominent Republican spokesman, during the group's regular meeting at 9:30 a.m., Monday, Jan. 25, in the downstairs meeting room of the Northern National Bank, 220 E. Fillmore St.

According to Mrs. Bruce Todd, owner of the taped speech, Reagan's talk could be titled "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Aside from being a film favorite for years, Reagan is a past president of the Film Actors' Guild and is rumored to be a possible candidate for governor of California.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and ample free parking is available. Coffee will be served preceding the meeting which begins at 10 a.m. The meeting program will also include a brief session of political education and current events.

The Roundtable has been in the process of selecting committee heads. Those which have thus far been named to chair various committees are Mrs. Paul Guthner, telephone; Mrs. Victor S. Laushine, membership; Mrs. George Kinzler, program (Mrs. Don Higby, co-chairman); Mrs. John Torrence, parliamentarian; Mrs. John Cole, hospitality; Mrs. Sam Turner, auditor; Mrs. Joseph Jelinek, historian; Mrs. John Hays and Mrs. Don Higby, advisory members - at -large; and Mrs. Don La Mora, publicity.

New officers of the group include Mrs. Roy W. Long, 2105 Downing Dr., president; Mrs. Don La Mora, 1215 La Paloma Way, first vice president; Mrs. Harrie Hart, 1260 Mesa Ave., second vice president; Mrs. Richard Pearl, 624 N. Cascade Ave., recording secretary; Mrs. Claude Thompson, treasurer; and Mrs. Spencer Allen, 517½ E. Pikes Peak Ave., corresponding secretary.

The Roundtable board members voted recently to amend the by-laws (with the consent of the membership) to include a new committee called "campaign activities." This new committee will be explained during the Jan. 25 meeting and the amendment will be read at that time. The amendment will be read again in February and voted upon by the membership at that meeting.

Child Logic

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Little Lisa Golob came home from kindergarten and handed her mother a piece of paper on which she had made a "painting." Running from side to side of the sheet were wide lines of violet, blue, green, yellow and red. She explained that it was a rainbow. Her mother admired the art work but asked why it was not curved like a rainbow. The youngster looked up quickly and replied. "Well, all we had was straight paper."

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

It Shouldn't Be!

DEAR ABBY: I am a preacher's wife with small children. I want to know if, when people invite my husband to their home for social events and exclude me, he should go. This has happened quite often, but instead of getting used to it, it is getting harder for me to take. I can understand why some people wouldn't want the children, but why shouldn't they want a clergyman's wife? He must go many places in the line of duty where he can't take me, so I am left home alone with the children much of the time. This I accept. But when he is invited to a strictly social gathering shouldn't he remind the hostess that he has a wife? Or are preachers supposed to go to social gatherings alone? My husband says he can't decline their invitations if they just ask him alone because he might hurt their feelings. How about MY feelings? —PREACHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A Catholic priest is the only clergyman who, with impunity, can go to social gatherings without his wife. And any man, clergyman or layman who evidences a lack of respect for his wife's feelings shall win no respect for himself.

DEAR ABBY: Please pass this on to "Wants To Learn," whose husband laughed at her because, at age 32, she wanted to go back to school and complete her education.

I am a dentist, 48 years old. My children are just beginning to take Algebra in school. Algebra was never one of my best subjects, and besides, I had forgotten almost everything I knew about it, so I found myself unable to help my children. I solved the problem by enrolling in a night adult education class. I intend to learn enough Algebra to stay a little ahead of my children. I hope this is an incentive to "Wants To Learn." —A DENTIST IN LINCOLN

DEAR DENTIST: You are to be admired. It's a rare man who voluntarily goes back to the same old grind.

DEAR ABBY: This is for that 32-year-old woman who wants to go back to school because she felt "dumb" when her 8th grade son asked her to help him with his homework: I have had six years of college, hold a bachelor's degree and a master's degree, have taught elementary grades, served as mentary principal and as super-superintendent of schools, and I can't help my children who are in the second, fourth, sixth and seventh grades with their homework, either. Neither can my wife help them, and she graduated from college magna cum laude.

Tell WANTS TO LEARN not to feel "dumb" just because she got only as far as the sixth grade. I know people who have had much more formal education but they don't have enough sense to know how "dumb" they are. —A VOICE FROM THE NORTH

DEAR ABBY: I would like to have my say about cat controversy. Maybe that woman's home did smell to high heaven's, but it couldn't have been because of the cats because cats are usually very clean in their habits.

If there was cat hair all over the furniture, why didn't the neighbor buy a good clothes brush and go visit the lonely old lady anyway? I love cats, I dislike the two-legged kind intensely. The complaining neighbor should read PROVERBS 26:17. It says, "HE THAT PASSETH BY' AND MEDDLETH WITH STRIFE BELONGING NOT TO HIM, IS LIKE ONE THAT TAKETH A DOG BY THE EARS." —SCRATCHING BACK FROM OREGON

DEAR SCRATCHING:: Your letter is wonderful. But I'd rather not discuss politics in this column.

CONFIDENTIAL TO: "K" And "B". You can live on love —until it's time for breakfast.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

It Shouldn't Be!

DEAR ABBY: I am a preacher's wife with small children. I want to know if, when people invite my husband to their home for social events and exclude me, he should go. This has happened quite often, but instead of getting used to it, it is getting harder for me to take. I can understand why some people wouldn't want the children, but why shouldn't they want a clergyman's wife? He must go many places in the line of duty where he can't take me, so I am left home alone with the children much of the time. This I accept. But when he is invited to a strictly social gathering shouldn't he remind the hostess that he has a wife? Or are preachers supposed to go to social gatherings alone? My husband says he can't decline their invitations if they just ask him alone because he might hurt their feelings. How about MY feelings? —PREACHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A Catholic priest is the only clergyman who, with impunity, can go to social gatherings without his wife. And any man, clergyman or layman who evidences a lack of respect for his wife's feelings shall win no respect for himself.

DEAR ABBY: Please pass this on to "Wants To Learn," whose husband laughed at her because, at age 32, she wanted to go back to school and complete her education.

I am a dentist, 48 years old. My children are just beginning to take Algebra in school. Algebra was never one of my best subjects, and besides, I had forgotten almost everything I knew about it, so I found myself unable to help my children. I solved the problem by enrolling in a night adult education class. I intend to learn enough Algebra to stay a little ahead of my children. I hope this is an incentive to "Wants To Learn." —A DENTIST IN LINCOLN

DEAR DENTIST: You are to be admired. It's a rare man who voluntarily goes back to the same old grind.

DEAR ABBY: This is for that 32-year-old woman who wants to go back to school because she felt "dumb" when her 8th grade son asked her to help him with his homework: I have had six years of college, hold a bachelor's degree and a master's degree, have taught elementary grades, served as mentary principal and as superintendent of schools, and I can't help my children who are in the second, fourth, sixth and seventh grades with their homework, either. Neither can my wife help them, and she graduated from college magna cum laude.

Tell WANTS TO LEARN not to feel "dumb" just because she got only as far as the sixth grade. I know people who have had much more formal education but they don't have enough sense to know how "dumb" they are. —A VOICE FROM THE NORTH

DEAR ABBY: I would like to have my say about cat controversy. Maybe that woman's home did smell to high heaven's, but it couldn't have been because of the cats because cats are usually very clean in their habits.

If there was cat hair all over the furniture, why didn't the neighbor buy a good clothes brush and go visit the lonely old lady anyway? I love cats, I dislike the two-legged kind intensely. The complaining neighbor should read PROVERBS 26:17. It says, "HE THAT PASSETH BY' AND MEDDLETH WITH STRIFE BELONGING NOT TO HIM, IS LIKE ONE THAT TAKETH A DOG BY THE EARS." —SCRATCHING BACK FROM OREGON

DEAR SCRATCHING:: Your letter is wonderful. But I'd rather not discuss politics in this column.

CONFIDENTIAL TO: "K" And "B". You can live on love —until it's time for breakfast.

Palisade Youth Shot In Hunting Accident

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—James C. Hoisington, 16, of Palisade, is recovering in a Grand Junction hospital from a bullet wound in the head suffered in an odd accident while hunting with two Palisade friends Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Sloane said Hoisington, William Everhart, 16, and William E. Anderson, 17, were rabbit hunting south of Palisade.

He said Everhart and Hoisington fired with a .22 caliber rifle into a piece of plastic pipe to see if it would shatter.

The bullet traveled the length of the pipe and came out the end, striking Hoisington above the eye.

Surgeons at Grand Junction removed the bullet but some fragments of Hoisington's eyeglasses, which were shattered, could not be extracted. However, doctors said his sight would not be impaired.

Benet Hill Academy Sets Entrance Exams Saturday

Eighth grade students planning to apply for entrance to Benet Hill Academy, in September 1965, will be given an entrance test Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Academy Library at 2556 Chelton Rd. The battery will consist of tests in reading, literature, general aptitude and ability for learning languages, mathematics and science. Test results will be returned and students be notified of acceptance within a month following the testing.

For the first time Benet Hill Academy offers scholarships to one student of each parish within the city, and to students from the Air Force Academy area. These scholarships will be awarded on the basis of test results, grade school record and appropriate recommendations. Each scholarship will consist of one - half tuition for one year. Two scholarships are available to students of any religion wishing to apply to Benet Hill Academy.

As part of the same scholarship program, students in each class presently enrolled at Benet Hill will have an opportunity to compete for a similar scholarship for the year 1965-66. Achievement test scores will be the basis for these three scholarships.

Service grants to students who need financial help are available. A personal letter of application accompanied by recommendation are required.

Benet Hill Academy, conducted by the Bendictine Sisters of Benet Hill Priory, Colorado Springs, opened September 1963 with two classes, ninth and tenth grades. In 1964-65 the school was expanded for the third year; in 1965-66 the senior year will be added. The first graduation will be held in June of 1966. Opening with a faculty of four, the Academy now has four Sisters, three lay teachers and Rev. Bonaventure Schwinn as instructors.

By limiting its enrollment, the Academy strives to better achieve the goals of religious, social and intellectual formation characteristic of Benedictine education. However, with the increasing enrollment there is need for an enlarged faculty, a broader curriculum and a building program.

Students transferring to Benet Hill from other schools in their sophomore, junior or senior years must present transcripts at time of registration which will be held in late February.

Easier Equal Time Ruling Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission wants to ease the controversial equal tie law governing political campaign broadcasts by changing the requirement that minor party candidates be granted as much free radio-television time as major party candidates.

In a speech to the Commonwealth Club of California at San Francisco Friday, Henry also urged that broadcasters be required to grant major party candidates free air time equal to the amount they buy.

Henry proposed minor party candidates receive some free air time and he suggested that the present equal time rule be left untouched so far as paid political broadcasts are concerned.

The equal time law — section 315 of the Communications Act — requires broadcasters who carry campaign programs of one candidate to give an equal opportunity — free or paid — to all other candidates for that office.

Drifter Is Jailed For Threatening LBJ

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — A drifter who was arrested at Williamson on Wednesday on a charge of threatening the life of President Johnson was jailed here Thursday to await action of the federal grand jury.

He is James Nugeon, 43, who is named in a federal complaint charging that he pointed to a picture of the President and said, "I will kill him if I get the chance."

Nugeon, dressed in an ill-fitting topcoat and in need of a shave, was brought here by Secret Service agents for an appearance before U.S. Commissioner Walter Parker.

He waived a preliminary hearing and was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

He reportedly was hitchhiking through Williamson. The alleged threat was made after he asked the Red Cross for food and was told it did not provide such service.

Family Doctors to Convene Today for Week-Long Meet

More than 300 family doctors from Colorado and nearby states will converge on Denver today for Family Doctor Week and seven days of intensive brush-up postgraduate education at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

The week of Jan. 17-23 has been proclaimed by Gov. John A. Love as Family Doctor Week in salute to the personal physicians throughout the state who are, he said in his executive order, "central to the modern systemem of medical arts and sciences by which health is conserved and protected, illness prevented, and life and well-being extended."

The doctors will be coming to Denver to attend the 11th annual General Practice Review presented by the CU School of Medicine through its year-round postgraduate education program for practicing physicians.

Gov. Love noted in his proclamation that the healthof Colorado citizens is a "basic resource" and the "continuing education of the physician is a life-long process." He counseled all Coloradans to take the opportunity of Family Doctor Week "to enlist the services of a personal or family physician, thus insuring for themselves and their loved ones in this New Year a full measure of the benefits of medical and scientific progress."

Dr. C. Wesley Eisele, CU associate dean for postgraduate medical education, said invitations to participate in the general preactice review have gone out to all Coloraod physicians. He said interns, residents and other young physicians interested in becoming associated with established general practitioners especially are invited to attend the course.

Observance of Family Doctor Week will opne today with a special Symposium on Medical Aspects of Marriage and Family Life beginning at 9 a.m. in the Cosmopolitan Hotel. The symposium is sponsored jointly by the Colorado Academy of General Practice and the CU School of Medicine with the cooperation of Lederle Laboratories.

Dr. James G. Price of Brush, president of the Colorado Academy of General Practice, will preside over a Sunday luncheon wives. Dr. Howard A. Bronson of Denver, former president of the Academy, and Dr. Charles Pennington of Colorado Springs, president - elect, will serve as moderators of the morning and afternoon professional sessions.

Principal speakers for the symposium will be:

Dr. Edward L. Bortz of Philadelphia, associate professor of of Pennsylvania School of Medicine; Dr. Richard Klemer, Seattle, clinical psychologist, University of Washington School of Medicine; Dr. Leon Levine, practicing pediatrist and gynecologist in New York City; Dr. Edward M. Litin, Rochester, Minn., head of the Department of Psychiatry, Mayo Clinic; Dr. Robert N. Rutherford Seattle, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology, University of Washington School of medicine; Dr. Peter P. Musser Jr., Washington, D. C., director of adolescent medicine and Hospital; and Dr. Edgar S. Gordon, Madison, Wis., professor and chief of the Division of School of Medicine.

Following the symposium, activities for the week will shift to the Humphreys Postgraduate Center at the CU School of Medicine for sessions Monday through Saturday morning and afternoon. Fifty-five members of the CU medical faculty will serve as lecturers, discussion leaders and demonstrators.

Dr. Eisele said the review will devote a day to new developments and practical training in each of six major fields of medicine and surgery — internal medicine, pediatrics, surgery, urology, obstetrics and gynecology, and dermatology. Doctors may enroll for the entire refresher course, he said, or for any individual day of sessions of particular importance to his personal practice.

During the afternoon on Thursday, course registrants will be divided into small groups and will spend about four hours in the private offices and clinics of about 20 Denver urologists, seeing patients, discussing treatment and observing the methods of their volunteer preceptros-for-a-day.

The general practice review course is one of more than 15 offered to practicing physicians by the CU Medical Center each year. During 1964, registration for the courses totaled more than 3500. The CU postgraduate program directed by Dr. Eisele also includes monthly "post-seminars and clinical studies in the fields of pediatrics, internal medicine, obstetrics - gynecology, and orthopedic surgery.

Two general practice reviews are offered annually, one in the winter and the second in the summer. Registration at the winter course a year ago totaled 318 doctors from Colorado and 30 other states.

Boy Kills Brother For Pestering Him

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A freckled 13-year-old told police he strangled his 11 - year - old brother for pestering him and for tearing up a Bible.

Detectives said Kenneth Nixon broke down and told his story Friday as they questioned him about the disappearance of his brother Billy Dean Nixon.

"Billy kept pestering me and I hit him and he ran out in the street and he tore up a Bible," the teen-ager told newsmen as he puffed on a cigarette.

"We had a fight and an argument — then I choked him."

Kenneth told officers that after choking his brother he wrapped the body in a bedspread and dragged it from the house and into a small garage room.

"Then I dumped him out the window," he said.

A city juvenile officer said the boy, slightly over five foot tall, will be turned over to county juvenile authorities and they will file a delinquency complaint.

Under Texas law a boy under 17 cannot be tried for murder.

Family Doctors to Convene Today for Week-Long Meet

More than 300 family doctors from Colorado and nearby states will converge on Denver today for Family Doctor Week and seven days of intensive brush-up postgraduate education at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

The week of Jan. 17-23 has been proclaimed by Gov. John A. Love as Family Doctor Week in salute to the personal physicians throughout the state who are, he said in his executive order, "central to the modern systemem of medical arts and sciences by which health is conserved and protected, illness prevented, and life and well-being extended."

The doctors will be coming to Denver to attend the 11th annual General Practice Review presented by the CU School of Medicine through its year-round postgraduate education program for practicing physicians.

Gov. Love noted in his proclamation that the healthof Colorado citizens is a "basic resource" and the "continuing education of the physician is a life-long process." He counseled all Coloradans to take the opportunity of Family Doctor Week "to enlist the services of a personal or family physician, thus insuring for themselves and their loved ones in this New Year a full measure of the benefits of medical and scientific progress."

Dr. C. Wesley Eisele, CU associate dean for postgraduate medical education, said invitations to participate in the general preactice review have gone out to all Colorado physicians. He said interns, residents and other young physicians interested in becoming associated with established general practitioners especially are invited to attend the course.

Observance of Family Doctor Week will opne today with a special Symposium on Medical Aspects of Marriage and Family Life beginning at 9 a.m. in the Cosmopolitan Hotel. The symposium is sponsored jointly by the Colorado Academy of General Practice and the CU School of Medicine with the cooperation of Lederle Laboratories.

Dr. James G. Price of Brush, president of the Colorado Academy of General Practice, will preside over a Sunday luncheon wives. Dr. Howard A. Brunson of Denver, former president of the Academy, and Dr. Charles Pennington of Colorado Springs, president - elect, will serve as moderators of the morning and afternoon professional sessions.

Principal speakers for the symposium will be:

Dr. Edward L. Bortz of Philadelphia, associate professor of of Pennsylvania School of Medicine; Dr. Richard Klemer, Seattle, clinical psychologist, University of Washington School of Medicine; Dr. Lena Levine, practicing psychiatrist and gynecologist in New York City; Dr. Edward M. Litin, Rochester, Minn., head of the Department of Psychiatry, Mayo Clinic; Dr. Robert N. Rutherford Seattle, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology, University of Washington School of Medicine; Dr. Peter P. Rudd Jr., Washington, D. C., director of of adolescent medicine and Hospital; and Dr. Edgar S. Gordon, Madison, Wis., professor and chief of the Division of School of Medicine.

Following the symposium, activities for the week will shift to the Humphreys Postgraduate Center at the CU School of Medicine for sessions Monday through Saturday morning and afternoon. Fifty-five members of the CU medical faculty will serve as lecturers, discussion leaders and demonstrators.

Dr. Eisele said the review will devote a day to new developments and practical training in each of six major fields of medicine and surgery — internal medicine, pediatrics, surgery, urology, obstetrics and gynecology, and dermatology. Doctors may enroll for the entire refresher course, he said, or for any individual day of sessions of particular importance to his personal practice.

During the afternoon on Thursday, course registrants will be divided into small groups and will spend about four hours in the private offices and clinics of about 20 Denver urologists, seeing patients, discussing treatment and observing the methods of their volunteer preceptros-for-a-day.

The general practice review course is one of more than 15 offered to practicing physicians by the CU Medical Center each year. During 1964, registration for the courses totaled more than 3500. The CU postgraduate program directed by Dr. Eisele also includes monthly "post-seminars and clinical studies in the fields of pediatrics, internal medicine, obstetrics - gynecology, and orthopedic surgery.

Two general practice reviews are offered annually, one in the winter and the second in the summer. Registration at the winter course a year ago totaled 318 doctors from Colorado and 30 other states.

Boy Kills Brother For Pestering Him

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A freckled 13-year-old told police he strangled his 11 - year - old brother for pestering him and for tearing up a Bible.

Detectives said Kenneth Nixon broke down and told his story Friday as they questioned him about the disappearance of his brother Billy Dean Nixon.

"Billy kept pestering me and I hit him and he ran out in the street and he tore up a Bible," the teen-ager told newsmen as he puffed on a cigarette.

"We had a fight and an argument — then I choked him."

Kenneth told officers that after choking his brother he wrapped the body in a bedspread and dragged it from the house and into a small garage room.

"Then I dumped him out the window," he said.

A city juvenile officer said the boy, slightly over five feet tall, will be turned over to county juvenile authorities and they will file a delinquency complaint.

Under Texas law a boy under 17 cannot be tried for murder.

'Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp' to Be Children's Theatre Presentation

Colorado Springs children have a treat in store this month. One of the best-loved children's classics, "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," will be the Children's Theatre presentation by the Junior League. For many years the Junior League and the Fine Arts Center have presented a play aimed primarily at appealing to young people of the Pikes Peak Area. However, as many parents and scout leaders agree, the appeal of these fairy tales is so charming and universal that adults become equally as entranced as the children!

"Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," dramatized by Elizabeth Brown Dooley and based on the tale, "A Thousand and One Nights," will be given at the Fine Arts Center Auditorium at 4 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21; 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22 ;and at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23.

Reserved tickets are on sale at the Fine Arts Center, 634-5581. Reservations should be made early to avoid disappointment.

Mrs Donald L. Higginbotham is chairman of this season's play. She is assisted by Orvis Grout who is supervising all staging, Bishop Nash who is designing the exotic sets, and Ursula Gray, in charge of choreography.

Other League members important in the production and not pictured include Mrs. John W. Barrett, who has helped design the beautiful costumes; Mrs. Robert Gordon, in charge of lighting effects; and Mrs. Jack Cartwright, who with Bishop Nash, is constructing and painting all scenery.

All cast members are pictured with the exception of Scheherazade, Mrs. William O. Fielder; the Genie of the Lamp, Mrs. Lloyd Smith; the Genie of the Ring, Mrs. C. L. Foushee, Jr., Mrs. James J. May, and Mrs James B. Maytag; the Ladies-in-Waiting, Mrs. R. B. Dickson, Mrs. Robert Kinsey, and Mrs. James Green; and a soldier, Mrs. O. U. White.

This year's presentation definitely promises to be full of thrills and excitement, as well as providing an opportunity for plenty of good laughter. All proceeds from the benefit will go to the Fine Arts Center.

"Halt!" cries the Wazier, (Mrs. John Kanas) to the Soldiers, Mrs. Thomas Bloom, Mrs. Don Robertson and Mrs. Mel Kensinger.

There are always behind-the-scenes workers. Mrs. F. A. Blanchard, left, is in charge of costumes, all of which were made by members of the Junior League. Carrying out other assignments are, from left, Mrs. George Otto, sound; Mrs. Leo Nasimbene, favors; Mrs. William Perry, publicity; and Mrs. John Alexander, props.

Aladdin, played by Mrs. K. G. Freyschlag, is pictured holding the Magic Lamp, while the sinister magician from Morocco, played by Mrs. Michael Ross, peers over his shoulder.

The Princess of Badrulbadur, played by Mrs. Robert Padgett, left, expresses amazement that a "peddler" would want to trade new lamps for old, as she talks with Aladdin's mother, (Mrs. Wesley W. Bradley Jr.) and Nuphsad, the camel, played by Mrs. W. A. Wills Jr.

Miss Elizabeth Howbert, left, who is in charge of the Fine Arts Center Theatre, Mrs. William P. Weber, center, chairman of the Junior League arts committee and also one of the dancers in the cast, and Mrs. Donald L. Higginbotham chairman of the Children's Theatre, admire one of the posters advertising the play.

C. C. Morris has returned from a 15,000 mile trip to the South Seas, aboard the Matson Liner, Monterey, with some 350 passengers. He left San Francisco Nov. 5, and returned to that port on Dec. 17.

The trip included visits to Bora Bora, Tahiti, Rarotonga, New Zealand, Australia, Noumea, Samo, Fiji, Pago Pago, and Hawaii.

In Honolulu he visited Bishop Kennedy, former rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Kennedy, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Roberts, Miss Catherine Morton, and Cecil Seavey, all formerly of Colorado Springs.

Mr. Morris observed that Australia and New Zealand are having business booms, with many people from England and Canada moving there. He was impressed by the beauty of the islands of the South Pacific, covered with luxuriant vegetation and producing wonderful crops of sugar, fruits and vegetables.

He was also impressed that the natives are quite civilized and friendly, and while they maintain their native costumes and many customs, the work of the missionaires is obvious. Even though they still live in grass huts, they appear to be clean and comfortable, and schools are numerous and well-attended. He says they have few automobile but many bicycles.

Mr. Morris reported that the weather, as they crossed the Equator was delightful, both going and coming.

MRS. DONALD LEE COCKROFT
—Nee Dianna Gayle Heikes

Dianna Gayle Heikes Is Bride of Donald Cockroft

The Trinity Church of the Nazarene was the setting Dec. 19 for the marriage of Miss Dianna Gayle Heikes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Heikes of Fountain, and Donald Lee Cockroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Cockroft also of Fountain. The Rev. Eugene R. Verbeck of Neodesha, Kan. officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception.

A fifteen arch candelabrum formed the background with tree candelabra of nine candles on either side and a leather covered brass-trimmed kneeling bench forming the altar scene. Two baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums with red bows were at the altar rail. The windows were lighted with candles, and a white aisle carpet was used.

The nuptial music included the traditional wedding marches; "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of nylon rochelle lace featuring a petaled neckline, long pointed sleeves and a sequin-trimmed bodice, a skirt of ruffled tiers and chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl crown, and she carried carnations centered with an orchid on a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Jerry Amor Weaver was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Maudene Heikes and Linda Oegerle, cousins of the bride. Miss Linda Gayle Fasse, another cousin, was junior bridesmaid. The bride's niece, Sheri Lynn Heikes, and the groom's niece, Tara Lee Cockroft, were flower girls.

The bride's attendants wore red velveteen street length dresses with long sleeves, fitted bodices and bell-shaped skirts. Their headdresses were white fur hats with matching red bows and veils. They carried white fur muffs adorned with red carnations and streamers.

The flower girls were dressed similarly, but wore white fur headbands and carried white baskets with red bows and streamers.

Best man was Donald Alley. Richard J. Heikes, the bride's brother was an usher with Harold Burns. Groomsmen were Robert Cockroft and Dennis Cockroft.

Gary and Jary Cockroft, twin brothers of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Assisting at the reception were Judy Oestmann, Marcella Cockroft, Betty Fasse, Mildred Estes, Nola Cox and Sharon Lindsey.

The bride's mother wore a two piece sheath dress of blue green brocade with matching jacket. Her headdress was a pillbox with veil, and she carried roses and carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a two piece suit of pink lurex. Her corsage was also of roses and carnations.

Following a honeymoon in Denver, Glenwood Springs and other skiing areas, the newlyweds are living in Alamosa.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Ralph Heikes, and Leona of Longford, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martin and Marita, of Clay Center, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Irl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oestmann Johnson, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cockroft, of Delta; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Babcock, of Greeley, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Fasse with Linda and Gregory, Junction City, Kan. and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fasse of Hallenbeck, Kan.

The bride attended Alamosa College. Her husband attends Alamosa State College, where he is on the varsity football team.

Clark D. Russell Weds Miss Peggy Jo Brassfield

A wedding of interest here took place in Pueblo Dec. 27 when Miss Peggy Jo Brassfield of 2831 Colfax, Pueblo, became the bride of Clark D. Russell of Colorado Springs. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Radok Jr. of Pueblo. Mr. and Mrs. James D. Russell of 6 Plainview Rd., Broadmoor, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The ceremony took place at 2:30 p.m. in the Adrian Methodist Church, the Rev. Leonard Sammons officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore formal gown of peau de soie trimmed at the neckline with alencon lace and seed pearls. Appliques of matching lace trimmed the skirt, which swept into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of illusion flowed from a high pearl crown, and her flowers were stephanotis surrounding a white orchid, which she carried on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Tom Wager of Colorado Springs as matron of honor wore a dress of gold peau de soie, styled with short, full skirt. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Russell, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Sue Wise of Pueblo. Both wore dresses like that of the matron of honor, but in emerald green peau de soie.

Tom Wager acted as best man and ushers were Ross Palm of Colorado Springs and Riley Brassfield, brother of the bride.

William King of Pueblo was ring bearer and Pamela Stringer, Pueblo, was flower girl.

A reception for some 100 guests was held in the Top of The Town, where Miss Patricia Carpenter was in charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Robert Drake, Miss Pamela Cox and Miss Linda Trafton assisted in serving.

The couple left for Fairfield, Iowa, where the bridegroom is a student at Parsons College. He is a graduate of The Gow School in New York State.

The bride was graduated from Centennial High School and King Business College.

Guests from other cities were Mrs. Karl Lang, grandmother of the bridegroom from Louisville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ahrens and children, Andrew and Amy of Trenton, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drake of Los Alamos, N.M.

Apples and pears make a great combination for a winter deep-dish fruit pie. Serve with plain thick cream!

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED—Mr. James Dinwiddie of Lafayette, Calif., announced the engagement of his daughter, Nancy, to Edward W. Stabler son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stabler of Colorado Springs, at a cocktail-buffet, for members of the families. Mr. Stabler is serving with the U. S. Navy in Honolulu. Miss Dinwiddie is the daughter of the late Mrs. Julia Swobe Dinwiddle, and sister of Mrs. Ralph Stokes of Concord, Calif. She was graduated from Acalanes High School and attended Colorado Woman's College, Denver and the University of Honolulu, where the couple met. Mr. Stabler's father, Dr. Stabler, is head of the Zoology Department of Colorado College, and his sister is Mrs. Helen Grinsted of Pleasant Hill. Prior to enlisting in the Navy, Mr. Stabler attended Colorado State University. Plans are for a summer wedding.

The Trinity Church of the Nazarene was the setting Dec. 19 for the marriage of Miss Dianna Gayle Heikes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Heikes of Fountain, and Donald Lee Cockroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Cockroft also of Fountain. The Rev. Eugene R. Verbeck of Neodesha, Kan. officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception.

A fifteen arch candelabrum formed the background with tree candelabra of nine candles on either side and a leather covered brass-trimmed kneeling bench forming the altar scene. Two baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums with red bows were at the altar rail. The windows were lighted with candles, and a white aisle carpet was used.

The nuptial music included the traditional wedding marches; "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of nylon rochelle lace featuring a petaled neckline, long pointed sleeves and a sequin-trimmed bodice, a skirt of ruffled tiers and chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl crown, and she carried carnations centered with an orchid on a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Jerry Amor Weaver was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Maudene Heikes and Linda Oegerle, cousins of the bride. Miss Linda Gayle Fasse, another cousin, was junior bridesmaid. The bride's niece, Sheri Lynn Heikes, and the groom's niece, Tara Lee Cockroft, were flower girls.

The bride's attendants wore red velveteen street length dresses with long sleeves, fitted bodices and bell-shaped skirts. Their headdresses were white fur hats with matching red bows and veils. They carried white fur muffs adorned with red carnations and streamers.

The flower girls were dressed similarly, but wore white fur headbands and carried white baskets with red bows and streamers.

Best man was Donald Alley. Richard J. Heikes, the bride's brother was an usher with Harold Burns. Groomsmen were Robert Cockroft and Dennis Cockroft.

Gary and Jary Cockroft, twin brothers of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Assisting at the reception were Judy Oestmann, Marcella Cockroft, Betty Fasse, Mildred Estes, Nola Cox and Sharon Lindsey.

The bride's mother wore a two piece sheath dress of blue green brocade with matching jacket. Her headdress was a pillbox with veil, and she carried roses and carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a two piece suit of pink lurex. Her corsage was also of roses and carnations.

Following a honeymoon in Denver, Glenwood Springs and other skiing areas, the newlyweds are living in Alamosa.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Ralph Heikes, and Leona of Longford, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martin and Marita, of Clay Center, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Irl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oestmann Johnson, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cockroft, of Delta; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Babcock, of Greeley, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Fasse with Linda and Gregory, Junction City, Kan. and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fasse of Hallenbeck, Kan.

The bride attended Alamosa College. Her husband attends Alamosa State College, where he is on the varsity football team.

Pi Beta Phi Alums Plan Initiation

A model initiation ceremony will be presented for members of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club Thursday at the home of Mrs. John E. Cunning, 2750 Chelton Rd. The meeting will begin with dessert at 12:30 p.m.

Program chairman, Mrs. J. W. Foutch, will direct the initiation, planned in accordance with the club's annual program on constitution and history. Alumnae participating will be Mrs. David Lee Collier, Mrs. J. H. Plimpton, Mrs. James E. Sipe and Mrs. Thomas Thompson. Mrs. John W. Dawson will take the part of the initiate.

Mrs. Walter E. Bond, president, will conduct the business meeting which will include the appointment of the nominating committee for 1965-66 officers. A report of the club's holiday benefit tea will be given by Mrs. William T. Greer, ways and means chairman.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Cunning will be Mrs. A. Richard Christlieb, Mrs. Richard Inman, Mrs. Anders Rasmussen, Mrs. J. D. Schlatter and Mrs. Richard N. Todd.

Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi who are new to the region are invited to attend the meeting and may call Mrs. Cunning at 635-4333.

TO BE APRIL BRIDE — Mrs. Walter Miller of 419 E. Bijou St., announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Charlene, to James Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lawrence of Sacramento, Calif. Miss Miller is the corresponding secretary of the Pikes Peak Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International), and is also a member of the Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Mr. Lawrence is a member of the Order of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and is serving with the United States Air Force at Peterson Field. After their wedding on Apr. 3, the couple will reside in Sacramento, Calif.

MRS. CLARK D. RUSSELL

A wedding of interest here took place in Pueblo Dec. 27 when Miss Peggy Jo Brassfield of 2831 Colfax, Pueblo, became the bride of Clark D. Russell of Colorado Springs. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Radok Jr. of Pueblo. Mr. and Mrs. James D. Russell of 6 Plainview Rd., Broadmoor, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The ceremony took place at 2:30 p.m. in the Adrian Methodist Church, the Rev. Leonard Sammons officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore formal gown of peau de soie trimmed at the neckline with alencon lace and seed pearls. Appliques of matching lace trimmed the skirt, which swept into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of illusion flowed from a high pearl crown, and her flowers were stephanotis surrounding a white orchid, which she carried on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Tom Wager of Colorado Springs as matron of honor wore a dress of gold peau de soie, styled with short, full skirt. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Russell, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Sue Wise of Pueblo. Both wore dresses like that of the matron of honor, but in emerald green peau de soie.

Tom Wager acted as best man and ushers were Ross Palm of Colorado Springs and Riley Brassfield, brother of the bride.

William King of Pueblo was ring bearer and Pamela Stringer, Pueblo, was flower girl.

A reception for some 100 guests was held in the Top of The Town, where Miss Patricia Carpenter was in charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Robert Drake, Miss Pamela Cox and Miss Linda Trafton assisted in serving.

The couple left for Fairfield, Iowa, where the bridegroom is a student at Parsons College. He is a graduate of The Gow School in New York State.

The bride was graduated from Centennial High School and King Business College.

Guests from other cities were Mrs. Karl Lang, grandmother of the bridegroom from Louisville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ahrens and children, Andrew and Amy of Trenton, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drake of Los Alamos, N.M.

Apples and pears make a great combination for a winter deep-dish fruit pie. Serve with plain thick cream!

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED—Mr. James Dinwiddie of Lafayette, Calif., announced the engagement of his daughter, Nancy, to Edward W. Stabler son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stabler of Colorado Springs, at a cocktail-buffet, for members of the families. Mr. Stabler is serving with the U. S. Navy in Honolulu. Miss Dinwiddie is the daughter of the late Mrs. Julia Swobe Dinwiddle, and sister of Mrs. Ralph Stokes of Concord, Calif. She was graduated from Acalanes High School and attended Colorado Woman's College, Denver and the University of Honolulu, where the couple met. Mr. Stabler's father, Dr. Stabler, is head of the Zoology Department of Colorado College, and his sister is Mrs. Helen Grinsted of Pleasant Hill. Prior to enlisting in the Navy, Mr. Stabler attended Colorado State University. Plans are for a summer wedding.

Former Iowa Governor To Address Republicans

A tea and installation of officers will be held on Monday, Jan. 25 at 1:30 p.m. at the Woman's Club House, 20 Mesa Rd., by the El Paso County Republican Women's Club. President Mrs. L. T. McCauley will present an outstanding speaker, former Governor of Iowa, Mr. Leo A. Hoegh, now of Denver, where he has a Law and Consulting firm.

LEO A. HOEGH

Mr. Hoegh was born in Iowa on March 30, 1908 and earned his B.A. and J.D. degrees at the University of Iowa. He is a lawyer and business executive, having served as a director for several midwestern companies.

During Word War II, he rose from a lieutenant to a lieutenant colonel within four years, the latter being a battlefield promotion, and was awarded five decorations and three battle stars.

Mr. Hoegh served three terms as Iowa State Representative and Attorney General. Under President Eisenhower he was National Director of Civil and Defense Mobilization and was on the National Security Council and Cabinet.

He is married to the former Mary Louise Foster and has two daughters, Kristin, a junior at CSU and Janis, a junior at Cherry Creek High School.

New officers include: president, Mrs. William C. Bailey; vice president, Mrs. Griffin Caldwell; secretary, Mrs. Frank Tucker; treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Trego; auditor, Mrs. Helen Broadbent.

'Bal Romantique' to Be Staged in Valentine Theme

A glow of excitement is gathering these days, as elaborate plans unfold for this season's "Bal Romantique".

In previous years, the Symphony Guild's annual ball has ushered in the holiday social season. This year however, the "Bal Romantique" will lend a Cupid's theme for St. Valentine's Eve, bringing a romantic interlude of gaiety betwixt winter and spring.

Saturday, Feb. 13 has been chosen as the date for this gala event — the 11th annual Symphony Ball, always sponsored by the Symphony Guild for the benefit of the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra Association.

The Broadmoor ballroom and dining room will lend elegance and glamour for guests to dine, dance and be entertained.

The Guild announces as it's co-chairman for the "Bal Romantique", Mrs. Kenneth Gloss and Mrs. Walter Freudenberg who, with their combined talents and capabilities, promise to make this year's party one of the most fabulous social events staged in Colorado Springs.

(Cupid says: Mrs. Gloss and Mrs. Freudenberger are the busiest women in town! But just watch for coming news from the art studio of Mrs. Gloss, where the decorations committee workshop is creating fantastic decorations and favors.)

ESA Chapter Meets With Mrs. Sutton

Eta Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held their first business meeting of the year in the home of Mrs. Helen Sutton. Besides the usual business, there was a group discussion of colleges.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mrs. Georgia Kelly, Mrs. Marilyn Patterson, Mrs. Dorothy Bauer, Mrs. Joyce Jensen, Mrs. Coleen Waldron, Mrs. George Coupens and Mrs. Estella Dale. Three members were absent Mrs. Phoebe Hoffaker, Mrs. Joan Koch and Mrs. Leanna Hazlett.

Luella Jensen Heads Sunshine Rebekah Lodge

Sunshine Rebekah Lodge 92 held installation of officers Jan. 8 in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Bell-McAdoo Vows Recited At Circle Baptist Church

Miss Juda Marilyn Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wentford C. Bell, 2437 E. St. Vrain St., became the bride Dec. 29 of Lt. Patrick Gibson McAdoo, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey G. McAdoo of New Orleans, La., in the Circle Drive Baptist Church. The Rev. George E. Ray officiated.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and carnations with green satin bows and candelabra decorated the altar. Mrs. Malin Carver, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. George E. Ray, who played the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath of embroidered silk peau de soie trimmed with crystals and white beads and styled with a chapel train flowing from a bow at the back waistline. The bodice was made with a sabrina neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her veil fell from a white rose crown, and she carried carnations and stephanotis centered with an orchid, on a Bible.

Miss Kathy Brown was maid of honor, in a shamrock green satin sheath. She carried a white muff trimmed with red carnations.

Miss Nita Jane Bell, Miss Rita Angelyn Bell and Miss Dale McAdoo were bridesmaids, dressed like the maid of honor.

The Misses Darlene and Ruth Ann Cook were flower girls. John and James Bell were ring bearers.

Best man was Lt. A. G. Rawlin III of Texas. Lt. Le Roy Nauton, Garry K. Bell and George Thomas Foster were ushers.

Assisting at a reception in the church parlor were Miss Janet Ramer, Miss Carol Ann Cook, Miss Alice Bell, Miss Teresa Bell, and Miss Barbara Cook.

After a honeymoon trip to the mountains, the couple are living in Selma, Ala., where the bridegroom is stationed. He is a 1964 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy. The bride attended Colorado University.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Rhoda Bell, and Tom Foster of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Hervey G. McAdoo, Bob Mc Adoo, Dale McAdoo of New Orleans; Lt. and Mrs. A. C. Rawlins III, from Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell K. Bell and family of Milton, Kan.

Hislop-Dolan Ceremony Held in Bible Chapel

Miss Pahela Kay Dolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Dolan, 2024 Snyder Ave., and William Lindsay Hislop, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hislop of Ontario, Canada, exchanged marriage vows Jan. 1. in the Southside Bible Chapel, the Rev. Henry Van Ryan of Denver officiating.

The church was decorated with evergreens and red and white poinsettias. Mrs. Don Morgret of Denver was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk velvet with Mouton fur at the neck and wrists. The gown was designed simply, with chapel train. Her veil was caught to a pillbox headdress, and she carried white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Judy Parker, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor, in a floor length gown with green velvet bodice and a green brocade skirt. Her green velvet hat was trimmed with poinsettias.

Misses Kathy Dolan, Martha Cook and Debbie Larson were bridsmaids, in alternating red and green gowns like that of the maid of honor. The flower gil, Vonnie Plant, was dressed like the maid of honor.

Ring bearer was Vernie Plant. Candelighters were David Hislop, the bridegroom's brother, and Doug Dolan, the bride's brother.

Best man was James Hislop, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Elmer Shacklette, Jerry De Renzo, Carol Fagerlous, Robert Von Spiegel Jr., Al Lagerway, and Rodney Parr.

Assisting at the reception at the Southside Bible Chapel were Mrs. John Wilkinson, Mrs. Raymond Nelson, Mrs. Max McCotter, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. D. Lagerway, Mrs. Carl Fagerlous, Mrs. Elmer Shacklette, Mrs. Jerry Essendrop, Mrs. Everett Rambo, Grace Watson, Sherri and Becky Plant, Kathie Nelson, and Dorothy Nick.

Following a honeymoon trip to Florida, the couple will live in Eau Gallie.

The bride and bridegroom attended the Emmaus Bible School, Oak Park, Ill. The groom attended schools in Scotland, Canada and the United States She is a 1962 graduate of Palmer High School.

Rosen-Frost Rites Held In Episcopal Chapel

A wedding of interest here took place in Pueblo when Miss Stephanie Jean Frost became the bride of Terry Leon Rosen. The following account of the ceremony is taken from the Pueblo Star Journal and Chieftan:

Marriage vows were recited before family members by Miss Stephanie Jean Frost and Terry Leon Rosen.

The Rev. Donald VanSplinter performed the Episcopal wedding Jan. 3 in Chapel of St. Peter the Apostle.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jefferson Frost, 724 W. Grant, wore a pretty gown and short train of peau de soie, beaded at the neckline edge. A mantilla of Spanish lace was draped gracefully over her head and shoulders. She carried an orchid arranged with roses.

Miss Mary Sterret of Denver was maid of honor and the the bride's cousins, Martha, Mary and Jane Dooley, all of Greeley, were the bridesmaids.

Terry Anna of Albuquerque, N. M., was best man and groomsmen were Wayne McCloskey of Los Alamos, N.M., Dennis Faulk of Colorado Springs and Jefferson Frost Jr.

The bride's brother, John Frost, served as acolyte.

A family dinner was served at the Frost home following the vows.

The newlyweds are junior students at Colorado College. The bride is an alumna of Central High School.

The bridegroom attended high school in Paris, France, and in Los Alamos.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Rosen of Los Alamos, N.M., were here for the wedding. Dr. Rosen is alternate leader of the physics division of Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory of the University of California, and is the author of scientific papers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John C. Stephens of Colorado Springs and the late Mr. Stephens, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth Frost. The three bridesmaids, the Misses Martha, Mary and Jane Dooley, are the granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dooley of Colorado Springs.

Johnson-Gay Vows Read In Evangelical Church

Miss LeEllen Claire Gay and Aldin William Johnson were married at 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 2, at the Evangelical Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Gay of 1309 Mt. View Ln. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldin Johnson of Paonia, Colo.

The Rev. William B. Leonard Jr., officiated at the single ring ceremony before an altar banked with evergreens and decorated with baskets of white and gold chrysanthemums and white gladioli, and tall white tapers in candelabra. The family pews were marked with swags of holly and gold ribbon, with decorations of evergreen and gold ribbon carrying the bridal colors of green and gold throughout the church.

Traditional nuptial music was played by Miss Beverly Lovelace, organist. Soloist was Mrs. Brian Martin of Olympia, Wash. cousin of the bride, who sang "One Heart, One Hand" and "Whither Thou Goest".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of imported transparent ivory velvet styled with a basque bodice, long pointed sleeves, bell skirt and a detachable chapel train. Her bouffant waist length ivory veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls and she followed the tradition of something old, something new complete with a sixpence in her shoe. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and white orchids.

Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Donna Lynn Gay, who wore a full-length gown of hummingbird velveteen designed with a basque bodice, sabrina neckline, elbow sleeves and modified bell skirt with a matching coronet and shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade of white and gold carnations and word a jade lavalier.

Little Miss Michelle Prince of Leadville, was flower girl, in a full-length empire gown of hummingbird velveteen with high pointed yoke accented with satin streamers and long sleeves with a matching coronet and shoulder veil and jade lavalier. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with gold ribbon. The bridal gown and attendants gowns were fashioned by the bride's mother.

Lewis C. Weaber of Beulah, served as best man. Ushers were David Gay, brother of the bride, and Robert Johnson, brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride selected a ruby-red brocade suit dress with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in a blue brocade sheath with taupe accessories. Both paternal grandmothers were present, with the grandmother of the bride wearing an aqua silk sheath with bone accessories and the bridegroom's grandmother in navy. All wore corsages of carnations, in colors to complement their gowns.

At the reception in Seamans Hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony the traditional three tier wedding cake was served by Mrs. Dean Harrington of Olympia, Wash., the bride's aunt, assisted by Mrs. Richard Kendrick. Mrs. Katherine Dee Browing, aunt of the bride, presided at the coffee and tea service with Miss Marsha Fitch of Rawlings, Wyo. serving punch. They were assisted by Mrs. Wilbur Wright, Mrs. Jack Hutte, Mrs. Allen Young, and Mrs. Larry Sappenfield. Miss Patty Arnold had charge of the guest book, with Mrs. Brian Martin at the gift table.

A buffet dinner was served at the bride's home after which the newlyweds left for a brief ski-honeymoon at Estes Park before returning to Ft. Collins where the bridegroom is a senior at CSU. They are at home at 7K. Aggie Village, Ft. Collins. For her going away costume the bride chose a beige wool suit with bronze-green accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Palmer High School and graduated with honors from Colorado State University in June, 1964. She has been a substitute teacher in Districts 11 and 12.

Patricia Harp Becomes Bride of Patrick Felts

Miss Patricia B. Harp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Harp, 1600 N. Cascade Ave., became the bride Dec. 4 of Patrick G. Felts, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clifton Felts, of Grand Junction in the First Baptist Church, Colorado Springs. The Rev. Ward B. Hurlburt officiated, and a family dinner reception followed at the Embers.

The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums and candelabra on both sides.

The bride, dressed in a three piece white silk suit trimmed with silk roses and rhinestones, wore a yellow rose corsage.

Miss Sharon A. Swim was maid of honor, in a yellow and white knit suit, with yellow corsage. Best man for the bridegroom was Max J. Wheeler.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue silk dress with blue and black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a bright blue two piece wool suit with white and black accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Clifton Felts of Grand Junction and Mrs. Evelyn Harp and children, Tony and Tanya, of La Junta.

After a honeymoon weekend, the couple lives at 409 Prairie Road. They plan to go to Hawaii in March.

Mrs. Felts, who was graduated from Cheyenne Senior High School, Cheyenne, Wyo., attended Otero Junior College, La Junta. Mr. Felts who was graduated from Western High School, Silver City, N. M., attended Western New Mexico University, Silver City.

Johnson-Gay Vows Read In Evangelical Church

Miss LeEllen Claire Gay and Aldin William Johnson were married at 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 2, at the Evangelical Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Gay of 1309 Mt. View Ln. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldin Johnson of Paonia, Colo.

The Rev. William B. Leonard Jr., officiated at the single ring ceremony before an altar banked with evergreens and decorated with baskets of white and gold chrysanthemums and white gladioli, and tall white tapers in candelabra. The family pews were marked with swags of holly and gold ribbon, with decorations of evergreen and gold ribbon carrying the bridal colors of green and gold throughout the church.

Traditional nuptial music was played by Miss Beverly Lovelace, organist. Soloist was Mrs. Brian Martin of Olympia, Wash. cousin of the bride, who sang "One Heart, One Hand" and "Whither Thou Goest".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of imported transparent ivory velvet styled with a basque bodice, long pointed sleeves, bell skirt and a detachable chapel train. Her bouffant waist length ivory veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls and she followed the tradition of something old, something new complete with a sixpence in her shoe. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and white orchids.

Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Donna Lynn Gay, who wore a full-length gown of hummingbird velveteen designed with a basque bodice, sabrina neckline, elbow sleeves and modified bell skirt with a matching coronet and shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade of white and gold carnations and word a jade lavalier.

Little Miss Michelle Prince of Leadville, was flower girl, in a full-length empire gown of hummingbird velveteen with high pointed yoke accented with satin streamers and long sleeves with a matching coronet and shoulder veil and jade lavalier. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with gold ribbon. The bridal gown and attendants gowns were fashioned by the bride's mother.

Lewis C. Weaber of Beulah, served as best man. Ushers were David Gay, brother of the bride, and Robert Johnson, brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride selected a ruby-red brocade suit dress with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in a blue brocade sheath with taupe accessories. Both paternal grandmothers were present, with the grandmother of the bride wearing an aqua silk sheath with bone accessories and the bridegroom's grandmother in navy. All wore corsages of carnations, in colors to complement their gowns.

At the reception in Seamans Hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony the traditional three tier wedding cake was served by Mrs. Dean Harrington of Olympia, Wash., the bride's aunt, assisted by Mrs. Richard Kendrick. Mrs. Katherine Dee Browing, aunt of the bride, presided at the coffee and tea service with Miss Marsha Fitch of Rawlings, Wyo. serving punch. They were assisted by Mrs. Wilbur Wright, Mrs. Jack Hutte, Mrs. Allen Young, and Mrs. Larry Sappenfield. Miss Patty Arnold had charge of the guest book, with Mrs. Brian Martin at the gift table.

A buffet dinner was served at the bride's home after which the newlyweds left for a brief ski-honeymoon at Estes Park before returning to Ft. Collins where the bridegroom is a senior at CSU. They are at home at 7K. Aggie Village, Ft. Collins. For her going away costume the bride chose a beige wool suit with bronze-green accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Palmer High School and graduated with honors from Colorado State University in June, 1964. She has been a substitute teacher in Districts 11 and 12.

Spear-Cavender Rites Held in Lehmberg Chapel

Miss Claudia Jeanne Cavender became the bride of Howard T. Spear Sunday Jan. 3, at 2 p.m. The double ring ceremony took place in Lehmberg Chapel of the First Methodist Church, Dr. Ben Lehmberg officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cavender of Colorado Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Marc Spear of Ft. Morgan, are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Verda Lawrie played nuptial selections that were played at the weddings of the couple's parents. These selections were "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning," and "Jeanne With The Light Brown Hair." George Garriques sang "I Love Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The chapel was decorated with two large bouquets of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli. Seven branch candelabra held white tapers which were lighted by Gregory Issitt of Abilene, Kan., cousin of the bride

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin Du Charme floor length gown with scoop neckline and long sleeves. Appliques of Alencon re-embroidered lace with pearls and sequins accented the bodice and skirt. The gown featured a deep pleated bustle back with a sweep train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was shirred to a pillbox of Alencon lace with seed pearls. A single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and pearl earrings completed her attire. She carried a cascade of white tea roses accented with pink sweetheart roses and ivy. The bridegroom wore a white rose as his boutonniere.

The couple knelt at the altar while Mr. Garriques sang "The Wedding Prayer," and recited the Lord's Prayer with Dr. Lehmberg, who presented the memory candle, which was lighted while Dr. Lehmberg interpreted the symbolism.

Miss Lise Leveille of Hull, Quebec, Canada was maid of honor. She was gowned in a floor length gown of American beauty de-lustered satin. The sleeveless bodice had a scoop neckline. The full skirt, gathered on the sides, reached the floor with a straight sweep and was covered with a jacket styled with elbow length sleeves and a high round neckline.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Elder of Denver, roommate of the bride, and Miss Gay Spear of Fort Morgan, sister of the groom. Their gowns were like that of the maid of honor.

Miss Susan Cavender as junior bridesmaid wore a floor length gown of deep rose de-lustered satin, with scoop neckline, three-quarter sleeves and a pleated skirt. All attendants wore bouffant circlets of silk net gathered onto a satin rose that matched their gowns, and pearls which were gifts from the bride. Nosegays of pink carnations with deeper pink ribbon roses were their flowers.

John Frame of Ft. Morgan was best man. Groomsmen were Terry Spear brother of the bridegroom of Ft. Morgan, and Roger Cavender, brother of the bride. Junior groomsman was Stanley Issitt of Abilene, cousin of the bride. Jeffrey Leigh and Clifford Taylor were ushers. All wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose a pastel pink silk shantung costume with matching shoes, and hat of pink rosebuds and veiling. Mrs. Marc Spear, mother of the bridegroom wore a pastel-blue two piece wool suit with white hat and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Guests were received in the church parlor where they were served cake and cranberry pink punch. The cake was formed by two large hearts joined by a miniature stairway rising to a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Vivian Ashbaugh and Miss Marie Major. Miss Debra Ann Carson had charge of the guest book, and Miss Sheryl Bradley, the gifts. Each wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Cheyenne Mountain High School and is attending Western State College where she is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ft. Morgan High School and is a senior at Western State College. Mr. and Mrs. Spear returned to Gunnison where they will resume their schooling.

James E. Sallee Weds Miss Carol Ann Lutes

The marriage of Miss Carol Ann Lutes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville K. Lutes, 2247 N. Bennett, and James Edward Sallee, 1544 E. 21st St., Pueblo was solemnized Dec. 27 in the Park Hill Baptist Church, Pueblo, the Rev. Fred Brewer officiating.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations and candelabra adorned the altar. Ralph Otte of Boulder at the organ played Henry Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary in D. Major" and Bendetto Marcello's "Psalm 19" on the organ for the processional. Larry Kalb of Pueblo sang three selections by Bach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of peau de soie accented with lace appliques and seed pearls. The gown featured elbow length sleeves and a chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls and crystals. and she carried a white orchid and a red rose on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Lutes, the bride's sister-in-law from Bryan, Tex. She wore a floor length gown of red satin with matching circular illusion veil held in place by a white fur crown accented with a red satin bow. She carried a white fur muff adorned with a red cabbage rose.

Flower girl was Miss Tracy Vining, the bridegroom's cousin, in a floor length dress of white satin with a red sash. She wore a red rose in her hair and carried red rose petals in a white fur basket.

Bridesmaids dressed like the bride were Miss Pat Heaton of Pueblo and Miss Connie Chandler of Denver.

Best man for his brother was Dock Sallee. Usher with the groom's cousin, Joseph Montgomery, was Robert Williams. Groomsmen were Lt. Kenneth Lutes, the bride's brother, and Robert Smith.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Kenneth Hallmark, Miss Judy Chandler and Miss Jane Plant.

Following the reception in the church fellowship hall, the couple left for a honeymoon at the Denver Hilton Hotel and Estes Park. They will live at 1203 17th St., Apt. 3, Boulder.

Guests attended from Colorado Springs, Denver, Woodland Park, Boulder and Hudson, Colo; Illinois, Wisconsin, Texas, Calfiornia and Kansas.

The bride is a senior voice major at the University of Colorado School of Music. The bridegroom, who attended Bethany College and the University of Colorado, has received his bachelor of music and bachelor of music education degrees.

Spear-Cavender Rites Held in Lehmberg Chapel

Miss Claudia Jeanne Cavender became the bride of Howard T. Spear Sunday Jan. 3, at 2 p.m. The double ring ceremony took place in Lehmberg Chapel of the First Methodist Church, Dr. Ben Lehmberg officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cavender of Colorado Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Marc Spear of Ft. Morgan, are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Verda Lawrie played nuptial selections that were played at the weddings of the couple's parents. These selections were "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning," and "Jeanne With The Light Brown Hair." George Garriques sang "I Love Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The chapel was decorated with two large bouquets of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli. Seven branch candelabra held white tapers which were lighted by Gregory Issitt of Abilene, Kan., cousin of the bride

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin Du Charme floor length gown with scoop neckline and long sleeves. Appliques of Alencon re-embroidered lace with pearls and sequins accented the bodice and skirt. The gown featured a deep pleated bustle back with a sweep train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was shirred to a pillbox of Alencon lace with seed pearls. A single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and pearl earrings completed her attire. She carried a cascade of white tea roses accented with pink sweetheart roses and ivy. The bridegroom wore a white rose as his boutonniere.

The couple knelt at the altar while Mr. Garriques sang "The Wedding Prayer," and recited the Lord's Prayer with Dr. Lehmberg, who presented the memory candle, which was lighted while Dr. Lehmberg interpreted the symbolism.

Miss Lise Leveille of Hull, Quebec, Canada was maid of honor. She was gowned in a floor length gown of American beauty de-lustered satin. The sleeveless bodice had a scoop neckline. The full skirt, gathered on the sides, reached the floor with a straight sweep and was covered with a jacket styled with elbow length sleeves and a high round neckline.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Elder of Denver, roommate of the bride, and Miss Gay Spear of Fort Morgan, sister of the groom. Their gowns were like that of the maid of honor.

Miss Susan Cavender as junior bridesmaid wore a floor length gown of deep rose de-lustered satin, with scoop neckline, three-quarter sleeves and a pleated skirt. All attendants wore bouffant circlets of silk net gathered onto a satin rose that matched their gowns, and pearls which were gifts from the bride. Nosegays of pink carnations with deeper pink ribbon roses were their flowers.

John Frame of Ft. Morgan was best man. Groomsmen were Terry Spear brother of the bridegroom of Ft. Morgan, and Roger Cavender, brother of the bride. Junior groomsman was Stanley Issitt of Abilene, cousin of the bride. Jeffrey Leigh and Clifford Taylor were ushers. All wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose a pastel pink silk shantung costume with matching shoes, and hat of pink rosebuds and veiling. Mrs. Marc Spear, mother of the bridegroom wore a pastel-blue two piece wool suit with white hat and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Guests were received in the church parlor where they were served cake and cranberry pink punch. The cake was formed by two large hearts joined by a miniature stairway rising to a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Vivian Ashbaugh and Miss Marie Major. Miss Debra Ann Carson had charge of the guest book, and Miss Sheryl Bradley, the gifts. Each wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Cheyenne Mountain High School and is attending Western State College where she is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ft. Morgan High School and is a senior at Western State College. Mr. and Mrs. Spear returned to Gunnison where they will resume their schooling.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marc Spear and Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Spear from Ft. Morgan and Margaret Spear of Canon City. From Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Issitt, Stan and Greg and Mrs. Wesley Watson and Kristi. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elder and Patsy of Denver. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, Me. and Mrs. Robert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gettman, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Quillan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dickenson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muir, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Frame and John, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lindell, all from Ft. Morgan. Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kerner of Gunnison and Cadet Terrell W. Work of the Air Force Academy, and Miss Lise Leveille from Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Marc Spear, parents of the bridegroom, gave the rehearsal dinner Saturday evening, in the Anchor room of the Village Inn.

Miss Cavender was honored at several pre-nuptial showers. The most unusual was one that arrived by mail on Nov. 28 from her many relatives in Abilene, Kansas.

Complexion Beauty

The secret of beautifying the complexion is said to lie in the saturation of the skin with a new type of tropical moist oil. The skin takes on an immediate healthy bloom as the tiny lines and blemishes are gently smoothed away. This saturation treatment with the moist oil of olay is recommended by beauty care consultants, who advise its daily use as a powder base to give the complexion day-long beauty. Your druggist will help you to obtain a little for your personal needs.

Bolte-Ingraham Nuptials Held in Episcopal Chapel

Miss Susan Hart Ingraham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ingraham of 24 Cragmor Village was married in a double ring ceremony to George Bolte, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bolte of 3822 Panorama Rd., at 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 2, at the Episcopal Chapel of the Holy Spirit. The Rev. Arthur Pierpoint was the officiating clergyman.

The altar was decorated with white mums and a brides candle, and flanked by candelabra. Dr. J. Julius Baird was in charge of the music. Miss Rhoda Ingraham, sister of the bride, played Bach's staccato and Fugee in D Minor for Organ immediately preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown, an original design of floor length ivory satin with a train and a double over-skirt of ivory marquisette with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace. The sweetheart neck and long sleeves were edged with marquisette rushing. Her full length veil was of ivory tulle with an elbow length double tulle over-veil caught into a pearl crown designed to include her grandmother's pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet arranged in a cascade of gardenias and ivy.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Paul Reddin of Baker, Ore., sister of the bride. She wore a street length red brocade gown with a full skirt, high neck and long sleeves, and matching shoes. Her hat was a fitted half-crescent of white feathers. She carried gold carnations and ivy in a cascade arrangement.

The bridesmaid was Miss Rhoda Ingraham, sister of the bride, who wore a gold brocade gown and shoes with a white feather hat. Her bouquet was a cascade of red carnations and ivy.

William Bashor of Colorado State University, was best man. Charles Bolte, brother of the bridegroom and Rodger Holmes of the University of Colorado, uncle of the bride, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a green silk dress with black and gold velvet shoes and a black mink hat and black elbow length gloves. Her corsage was of gold carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a royal blue wool knit suit with a matching hat, and a corsage of gold carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, for members of the wedding party, relatives and families of the couple. Mrs. Walter Weber was in charge of the reception and was assisted by her daughter Rye Weber. The table was decorated with white candles and a circle of ivy around the cake. Assistants at the reception were Miss Mary Ann Bolte, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a winter white wool suit and gold accessories, and Miss Phylis Selvig from Adams State College, Alamosa, who wore a blue-gray fitted wool gown.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keefer and their two daughters from Boulder; Miss Holly Roberts, cousin of the bride from Santa Fe, N. M. Denis Selvig of the University of Colorado, and John Beeler from Adams State College.

For her traveling costume the bride wore a Vogue Couturier design suit of yellow fleece wool with a corsage of gardenias.

The bride attended Ft. Lewis College in Durango, and the University of Colorado. She was graduated from Palmer High School in 1962 and is at present employed at Hope House with the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center in Colorado Springs. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ft. Lewis College, Durango, with majors in Biological Science and Education, and is a 1960 graduate of Wasson High School.

After a two week honeymoon in California the couple will be at home at 229½ Lilac St. in Colorado Springs.

Holiday Hills Ski Area Open at Woodland Park

The Rocky Mountain Region's newest ski facility, the Holiday Hills Ski Area, is now open, according to an announcement by the owners, Harlan and Kay Nimrod.

Located three miles west of Woodland Park on U.S. Highway 24, the ski area development was started in the fall of 1962. Signs on the highway direct enthusiasts to the easily accessible area. There is ample parking space provided at the site.

Nimrod, who developed the Holiday Hills subdivision, and is now selling acreages for mountain homes in the area, describes the area as easily accessible, being only three miles off the highway on a good country road.

Ski trails have been bulldozed and hand raked to clear rocks and stumps from the skiing area.

The Ski tow at the site is a J-bar type nearly 2,000 feet in length, and is enhanced by a nearly complete A-frame lodge equipped with a large moss rock fireplace. It is planned to serve refreshments in the lodge.

The area when complete, will feature nearly two miles of ski trails with the addition of two more tows next summer. Approximately half of this area is now ready for use, Nimrod said.

The property borders the Colorado Springs watershed at an altitude of 9,600 feet. Vertical rise of the ski run is nearly 400 feet and the rise of the tow line is 280 feet. The other tow services will extend to the lower area next season.

The owners have announced that Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bleam of Woodland Park will help with the operation and supervision of the facility.

The price of tow tickets at the site is $3.00 per day, $1.75 for half day. The ski area will be open at 9 a.m. and will close at 4:40 p.m. All are cordially invited to inspect the new area.

Armit Jr. Joins Father in Insurance Work

John Lees Armit Jr. recently became associated with the Armit Insurance Agency, Inc., owned by his father, John Sr. The 40-year-old agency, located at 24 E. Kiowa St., handles all types of insurance.

Armit's credits include a year at the University of Colorado in Boulder and a year at Colorado College. He also served in the U.S. Air Force and is presently part of the Air Force Reserve with the 413th Medical Service Flight at the Air Force Academy.

Previous to college, he attended Colorado Springs High School and Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Ill.

Armit, who is 22, plans to gain some experience with his father's firm and then attend an agent's training school, for further education in the insurance field.

Future plans at the agency include an expansion of the life insurance business, following his completion of his insurance education.

The Armit agency was located for many years in the Mining Exchange Building, until moving to its present location more than a year ago. Armit sites the agency's "personal service" as one of the main reasons for the firm's long history in Colorado Springs.

Armit who is a member at the Broadmoor Gold Club, lives with his parents at 1615 Culebra Ave.

Emerich Will Attend NAHB Market Meetings

Howard Emrich, vice president of Smartt Construction Co. has announced plans to attend all of the marketing meetings presented by the National Association of Home Builders.

These will consist of a marketing seminar starting today through Wednesday at the Cherry Hills Inn in Cherry Hills, N. J. This will be to learn the unique ways and the important advantages that builders in different sections of the country are finding in helping each other to market their homes cooperatively while still maintaining their independent organizations.

The second meeting will be the Marketing Workshop, March 14 through March 17 at the National Association Home Builders Housing Center, Washington, D. C. This will be discussion dealing intensively with the continuing day-to-day problems in marketing. Each small group will be guided by an outstanding and experienced marketing executive in the building field.

The third and final meeting will be a sales management skill clinic, May 2 through May 5 at the Knickerbocker Hotel, Chicago, Ill. This meeting is a new and outstanding training course especially tailored to the needs of the home building industry.

It is designed to improve the personal effectiveness of those responsible for increasing sales of new homes and to raise their professional competency in making better decisions in carrying out their work.

A registrant may be the builder himself, sales manager, subdivision manager, or realtor.

Registration for the meetings is limited so to allow each registrant an opportunity to personally participate.

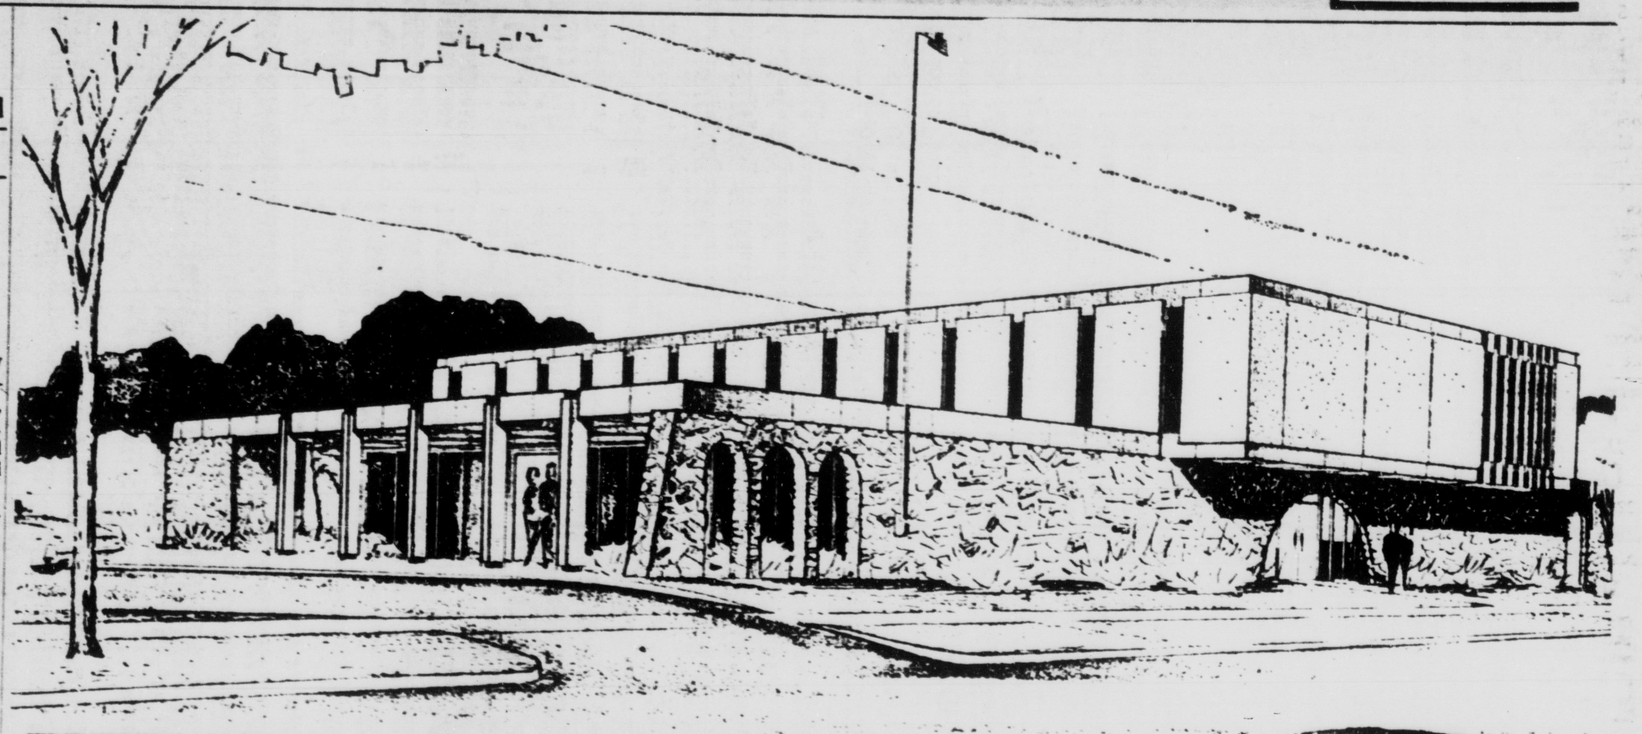
Intermountain Mortgage Moves To New Location

Intermountain Mortgage has recently occupied new office space at 2812 E. Bijou St. at Circle Drive South. According to Vice President, Eldon Pritz they have about four times as much space and have increased their staff from four people to seven.

Intermountain closed over $500,000 of mortgages in December and should finish the fiscal year with the biggest volume in the history of the company.

Intermountain is seven years old and has over 500 mortgages for a total portfolio of 10 million dollars. They make conventional, commercial, VA and FHA mortgages for institutional investors in several states.

Norman Peterson, loan supervisor says that the new office should help us to serve our customers better and more efficiently. Don Vogt has recently joined the company as head of the accounting department. Don formerly was with Riss & Co., Inc.



FIRST FEDERAL CENTER—The board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association announces the approval for the First Federal Center, which will create facilities for the Association's East-Side Branch. The above sketch is the architect's rendering of the new building to be located at 2502 East Pikes Peak Avenue. In addition to the Association's Branch office facilities, with spacious off-street parking, the Center will also contain 8,500 sq. ft. of rental area. Walter A. Miller, architect, expects the plans to be completed in February, with construction to start March 1st, and the building to be occupied during July, 1965.

Polly's Salon Offering One Stop Beauty Service

Complete, one - stop beauty treatments are now being offered at Merle Norman Cosmetics, 111 E. Bijou St., with the recent opening of Polly's Salon of Beauty in the rear of the attractively decorated shop. With the new addition, a woman may treat herself to one of the latest hair styles and have the most flattering cosmetics and make-ups applied, all under one roof.

Mr. Vic, formerly with Kaufman's for 18 months, serves as hair stylist at Polly's Salon of Beauty. A graduate of the Academy of Hair Design, 114 E. Cucharras St., he specializes in both styling and tinting.

Both the cosmetic shop and the salon are owned and operated by Mrs. Pauline Kronbach, a native of Arkansas. Before coming to Colorado Springs last March, she lived in Mountain Home, Idaho.

Shortly after arriving in the city, Mrs. Kronbach decided to open a Merle Norman franchised cosmetic outlet. It all started when she ran out of cold cream. "I have used Merle Norman Cosmetics for 20 years and had always found them in any city of any size until Colorado Springs.

"I ran out of cold cream," she continued, "and had to go all the way to Denver to get Merle Norman and that made me angry." Thus, the start of Merle Norman Cosmetics here the shop, Mrs. Kronback attended the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio in Denver to learn all about the cosmetic business.

Since opening the cosmetic shop, which she redecorated herself, Mrs. Kronbach has been asked time and again to open a beauty salon along with it. Two weeks ago she answered the wishes of customers by turning about one - third of the cosmetic shop into a fully equipped beauty salon

Interior decorating of both shops is of French Provincial decor, with reds used as the predominate colors.

During the Grand Opening of the beauty salon, Mr. Vic will feature a $20 permanent wave for $10. The offer is good until Jan. 31. Hours of operation for both shops are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., six days a week and is open evenings by appointment only.

The mother of two children, Mrs. Kronbach has a 19-year-old son, Henry, who is a sophomore at the Air Force Academy. Her daughter Paula, 17, is a senior at Wasson High School. They live at 2130 E. Boulder St.

Duco Cement Announce New White Glue

A new all-purpos glue for

A new all-purpose glue for use in the home, shop and school has been announced by Du Pont, makers of "Duco" cement.

Called White Glue, this latest addition to the company's adhesive line is packaged attractively in an unbreakable plastic squeeze bottle which features a new easy-action dispenser cap to prevent clogging.

It is available in both 2 oz. and 4 oz sizes.

Narrow Gauge Closing Is Being Probed

DENVER (AP) — State officials are investigating closure of Alamosa-Durango railroad service because of snow.

The narrow gauge freight route operated by the Rio Grande Railroad travels through southwestern Colorado and part of New Mexico, crossing Cumbres Pass where snow was reported up to 20 feet deep.

Railroad officials reported that the deep snow would make plowing unfeasible and travel dangerous to train crews.

Henry E. Zarlengo, chairman of the Colorado Public Utilities Commission, said he began looking into the situation at the request of railroad employes. The Durango Chamber of Commerce also sent the commission a letter protesting the closure, which it said began Dec. 23.

Zarlengo said the railroad appeared to be justified in temporarily closing the line but added, "we're going to watch it."

The Durango chamber's letter to the commission said:

"The shutdown of the train does create a harship on the people of Durango and the San Juan Basin area as freight rates by truck are considerably higher than the rates by train.

"If snow is the present reason for the shutdown, every attempt should be made to remove it from the track so train and freight service can continue.

"With the present day modern equipment and 'know how' snow removal should not create too great a problem."

Underwriters To Hear Quality Award Speaker

Thursday at 7:30 a.m., the Colorado Springs Life Underwriters Association will hold its regular breakfast meeting. Guest speaker will be Andrew J. Roy of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America.

Roy has qualified each year for many years for the National Quality Award and produces over $750,000 of insurance per year.

Roy came to the United States with just $60 in his pocket, and attributes everything he now has to the insurance business and the independence of thought and action that it allows.

He feels it is worth walking 6,000 miles to be in the United States.

His topic will be "The Independent Man." He will enlarge on two specific points, one the tremendous advantages of our way of life in the United States which encourages personal growth, and the other the use of the referred lead system in the life insurance business.

At the present time, Mr. Roy is in the process of writing an article for the February issue of the Life Association News.

The breakfast will be held at the Palmer House.

Former Perkins Motor Site To Become Parking Lot

Another parking lot will spring onto the downtown Colorado Springs scene following the demolition of the old Perkins Motor Co. building at 115 N. Cascade Ave. The 100-car lot, which should be open in early March, is being built primarily to service the Majestic Building, at 7 E. Bijou St.

Besides providing ample off-street parking for tenants and customers in the Majestic Building, the 28,500 square foot lot will serve retail outlets on the west side of the 100 block of North Tejon Street. The land, which covers about half the 100 block of North Cascade Avenue, is owned by Silver State Realty Co., with offices in the Majestic Building.

According to its president, R. D. Von Engeln, Silver State bought the former location of Perkins Motors about a year ago. The real estate firm purchased the Majestic Building last March.

When asked whether he thought the land was being put to its best use with the construction of a parking lot, Von Engeln replied, "We've made some very definite studies."

In the Majestic Building alone, the new lot will serve some 40 office on the second floor, plus 10 retail stores at ground level. Von Engeln went on to say that numerous real estate and financial firms moving into the Majestic Building have created an immediate need for more off-street parking in the area, making the lot almost a necessity.

Razing of the old Perkins structure is being done by Adams Excavating Co. Officials expect to have the land cleared by the second week in February. Von Engeln expects completion of the parking facility by March 1. His company has not yet decided on who will surface and line the lot.

The demolishing of Perkins Motors ends more than 10 years for that company at the Cascade Avenue location.

Entrance to the 150 by 190 foot lot, when completed, may be made from Cascade Avenue only.

Vehicle Output Total 248,402 Units for Week

Motor vehicle production in the U.S. last week totaled 248,402 units, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today.

The week's output included 213,346 passenger cars and 35,056 trucks and motor coaches. During the previous holiday-shortened week 119,454 cars and 23,656 commercial vehicles were produced, the AMA said.

The total vehicle figure of 248,402 so far this year compares with only 84,315 for the week ending January 4, 1964. But that included only two work days.

Connor given Okay For Commerce Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without a dissent, the Senate gave voice vote approval Friday to President Johnson's nomination of John T. Connor as Secretary of Commerce.

Connor, former president of the drug manufacturing firm Merck & Co., succeeds Luther H. Hodges who resigned.

The Senate vote followed approval by the Senate Commerce Committee of Connor's plan to place in trust his approximately $1.6 million of stock in Merck. The trust agreement prohibits Connor from knowing whether the trustees keep or sell the stock.

Goldwater Democrat Says He Will Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Albert Watson of South Carolina submitted his resignation from Congress to Gov. Donald Russell Thursday, effective the day Russell calls a special election to fill Watson's House seat.

But Russel said that under the Constitution he cannot call an election until Watson resigns unconditionally; "I think the language is pretty plain," the governor said.

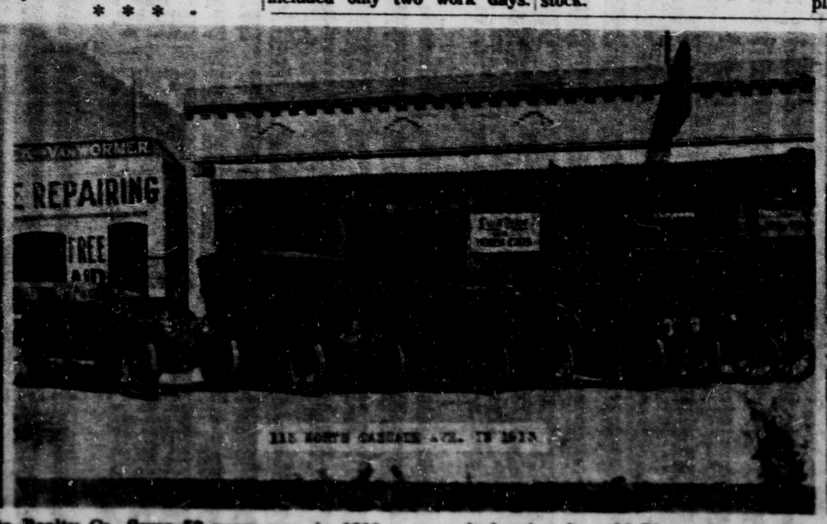
Watson was re-elected to the House last fall as a Democrat. He supported Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president, at the same time. House Democrats stripped him of seniority. So he became a Republican and as a Republican intends to win his seat again.

Russell's position casts considerable doubt on Watson's plan.

31 Soldiers Donate Blood at Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — Thirty-one soldiers from Ft. Devens came to Boston on Thursday to donate blood for a woman facing open heart surgery.

The group was headed by Sgt. David McStowe whose sister is scheduled to undergo surgery Monday. She is Mary Kemski, 32, of Boston's Dorchester section, and the mother of four.



END OF ANOTHER ERA — On the right is the old home of Perkins Motor Co., 115 N. Cascade. It was recently announced that the building site will be turned into a 100-car parking lot, owned by Silver State Realty Co. Some 52 years ago, in 1913, service tenants and customers of the Majestic Building (left), at the area at 115 N. Cascade Ave. (center) was used by another car dealer, but he sold Pierce Arrows. The lot is being built to 40 offices and 10 retail stores. It is also owned by Silver State 7 E. Bijou St. The building, which covers half a block, houses Realty.

A new all-purpos glue for A new all-purpose glue for use in the home, shop and school has been announced by Du Pont, makers of "Duco" cement.

Called White Glue, this latest addition to the company's adhesive line is packaged attractively in an unbreakable plastic squeeze bottle which features a new easy-action dispenser cap to prevent clogging.

It is available in both 2 oz. and 4 oz sizes.

Narrow Gauge Closing Is Being Probed

DENVER (AP) — State officials are investigating closure of Alamosa-Durango railroad service because of snow.

The narrow gauge freight route operated by the Rio Grande Railroad travels through southwestern Colorado and part of New Mexico, crossing Cumbres Pass where snow was reported up to 20 feet deep.

Railroad officials reported that the deep snow would make plowing unfeasible and travel dangerous to train crews.

Henry E. Zarlengo, chairman of the Colorado Public Utilities Commission, said he began looking into the situation at the request of railroad employes. The Durango Chamber of Commerce also sent the commission a letter protesting the closure, which it said began Dec. 23.

Zarlengo said the railroad appeared to be justified in temporarily closing the line but added, "we're going to watch it."

The Durango chamber's letter to the commission said:

"The shutdown of the train does create a harship on the people of Durango and the San Juan Basin area as freight rates by truck are considerably higher than the rates by train.

"If snow is the present reason for the shutdown, every attempt should be made to remove it from the track so train and freight service can continue.

"With the present day modern equipment and 'know how' snow removal should not create too great a problem."

Underwriters To Hear Quality Award Speaker

Thursday at 7:30 a.m., the Colorado Springs Life Underwriters Association will hold its regular breakfast meeting. Guest speaker will be Andrew J. Roy of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America.

Roy has qualified each year for many years for the National Quality Award and produces over $750,000 of insurance per year.

Roy came to the United States with just $60 in his pocket, and attributes everything he now has to the insurance business and the independence of thought and action that it allows.

He feels it is worth walking 6,000 miles to be in the United States.

His topic will be "The Independent Man." He will enlarge on two specific points, one the tremendous advantages of our way of life in the United States which encourages personal growth, and the other the use of the referred lead system in the life insurance business.

At the present time, Mr. Roy is in the process of writing an article for the February issue of the Life Association News.

The breakfast will be held at the Palmer House.

Goldwater Democrat Says He Will Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Albert Watson of South Carolina submitted his resignation from Congress to Gov. Donald Russell Thursday, effective the day Russell calls a special election to fill Watson's House seat.

But Russel said that under the Constitution he cannot call an election until Watson resigns unconditionally; "I think the language is pretty plain," the governor said.

Watson was re-elected to the House last fall as a Democrat. He supported Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president, at the same time. House Democrats stripped him of seniority. So he became a Republican and as a Republican intends to win his seat again.

Russell's position casts considerable doubt on Watson's plan.

31 Soldiers Donate Blood at Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — Thirty-one soldiers from Ft. Devens came to Boston on Thursday to donate blood for a woman facing open heart surgery.

The group was headed by Sgt. David McStowe whose sister is scheduled to undergo surgery Monday. She is Mary Kemski, 32, of Boston's Dorchester section, and the mother of four.

Vehicle Output Total 248,402 Units for Week

Motor vehicle production in the U.S. last week totaled 248,402 units, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today.

The week's output included 213,346 passenger cars and 35,656 trucks and motor coaches. During the previous holiday-shortened week 119,454 cars and 23,656 commercial vehicles were produced, the AMA said.

The total vehicle figure of 248,402 so far this year compares with only 84,315 for the week ending January 4, 1964. But that included only two work days.

Connor given Okay For Commerce Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without a dissent, the Senate gave voice vote approval Friday to President Johnson's nomination of John T. Connor as Secretary of Commerce.

Connor, former president of the drug manufacturing firm Merck & Co., succeeds Luther H. Hodges who resigned.

The Senate vote followed approval by the Senate Commerce Committee of Connor's plan to place in trust his approximately $1.6 million of stock in Merck. The trust agreement prohibits Connor from knowing whether the trustees keep or sell the stock.

Former Perkins Motor Site To Become Parking Lot

Another parking lot will spring onto the downtown Colorado Springs scene following the demolition of the old Perkins Motor Co. building at 115 N. Cascade Ave. The 100-car lot, which should be open in early March, is being built primarily to service the Majestic Building, at 7 E. Bijou St.

Besides providing ample off-street parking for tenants and customers in the Majestic Building, the 20,500 square foot lot will serve retail outlets on the west side of the 100 block of North Tejon Street. The land, which covers about half the 100 block of North Cascade Avenue, is owned by Silver State Realty Co., with offices in the Majestic Building.

According to its president, R. D. Von Engeln, Silver State bought the former location of Perkins Motors about a year ago. The real estate firm purchased the Majestic Building last March.

When asked whether he thought the land was being put to its best use with the construction of a parking lot, Von Engeln replied, "We've made some very definite studies."

In the Majestic Building alone, the new lot will serve some 40 office on the second floor, plus 10 retail stores at ground level. Von Engeln went on to say that numerous real estate and financial firms moving into the Majestic Building have created an immediate need for more off-street parking in the area, making the lot almost a necessity.

Razing of the old Perkins structure is being done by Adams Excavating Co. Officials expect to have the land cleared by the second week in February. Von Engeln expects completion of the parking facility by March 1. His company has not yet decided on who will surface and line the lot.

The demolishing of Perkins Motors ends more than 10 years for that company at the Cascade Avenue location.

Entrance to the 150 by 190 foot lot, when completed, may be made from Cascade Avenue only.

END OF ANOTHER ERA — On the right is the old home of Perkins Motor Co., 115 N. Cascade. It was recently announced that the building site will be turned into a 100-car parking lot, owned by Silver State Realty Co. Some 52 years ago, in 1913, service tenants and customers of the Majestic Building (left), at the area at 115 N. Cascade Ave. (center) was used by another car dealer, but he sold Pierce Arrows. The lot is being built to 40 offices and 10 retail stores. It is also owned by Silver State Realty. The building, which covers half a block, houses 7 E. Bijou St. (Stewart's Commercial Photos)

SWAP Club Set To Hear DeVois At Banquet

The SWAP (Salesmen With A Purpose) Club has started its campaign to sell 1000 tickets to the Annual Awards Banquet to be held in the Broadmoor International Center Feb. 18th.

Chairman Ray Johnson informed his team captains that their selling job ought to be easy this year for two reasons. First, the banquet speaker, Richard DeVos has an international reputation of outstanding success in private enterprise and his ability as a dynamic speaker matches his business ability.

Second, the businessmen and salesmen of the Pikes Peak region obviously realize the importance of "Right Attitude" and dynamic salesmanship, otherwise what accounts for the tremendous growth of this area in recent years.

"An event like this could be of terrific value in influencing sales-oriented businessmen and salesmen to put forth the extra effort to make our area the number one in economic progress this year," Johnson said.

He pointed out that community wide influence will come from the enthusiasm and determination of the many persons who attend the banquet and leave with the vision and dedication to put forth their greatest possible effort.

Johnson declared that with a goal of such magnitude at stake we can only hope that every person who does any selling at all in his job will consider themselves invited and welcome.

Our job is to make as many personal contacts as possible. Shortly before the committee meeting broke up chairman Johnson distributed tickets to the team captains.

In 1959 DeVois formed the Amway Corp. with Jay Van Andel, which manufactures and distributes a complete line of household cleaning and maintenance products.

He is a well-known speaker, having appeared before hundreds of groups from coast to coast.

His talk "Selling America" has been recorded by RCA Recording Services and distributed by E. R. Miller & Associates, Grand Rapids, Mich.

POSSESSION COUNTS

DENVER (AP)—John Benes, who works in The Denver Post composing room, is wild about the Denver Broncos footbal club While listening to a game on the radio, Benes had to run an errand in the basement.

He turned up the radio to full volume and started downstairs, slipped and tumbled all the way to the bottom. His wife, Wanda, ran to the doorway and cried, "Are you all right?"

Benes, lying on his back, held up his hand. "Sh-h-h! The Broncos have the ball."

Continental Air Traffic Hits High

Continental Airlines' domestic traffic hit a new high of more than 1.3 billion revenue passenger miles in 1964, a gain of 12 per cent over the previous record set in 1963, President Robert F. Six said today.

Continental's domestic cargo ton miles for 1964 were more than 27 million,, a 31 per cent increase over the previous year, including boosts of 39 per cent in freight, 14 per cent in air express, and 6 per cent in mail.

Also during the year Continental flew 75.5 million revenue passenger miles and 8.3 million freight ton miles in domestic and international contract operations.

"During 1965 we expect that our domestic passenger traffic will expand at a rate well in excess of the 8-10 per cent gain we anticipate for the industry," Six said.

SEEKS INTEGRATION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, of New York has begun a series of meetings with high-ranking officials in professional sports concerning racial integration in coaching and umpiring positions.

Powell met with American League President Joe Cronin, National League President Warren Giles, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and general counsel for the commission Paul Porter Thursday and plans similar meetings with officials of pro football and basketball.

Top Red Leaders Plan Meeting in Warsaw

MOSCOW (AP) — Top government and Communist party leaders of Eastern Europe will meet in Warsaw next Tuesday, possibly to discuss the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance.

A brief communique Thursday night said the political consultative committee of the Warsaw Treaty Organization would meet. This brings together leaders from Bulgaria, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania and the Soviet Union.

Sugar Beet Growers Turn Down Contract

DENVER (AP)—A 1965 purchase contract offered by the Great Western Sugar Co. was turned down Friday by sugar beet growers from five states.

A spokesman for the growers said the proposal was rejected because the field labor outlook for next season is still uncertain.

The law under which Mexican nationals entered the country as farm laborers expired Dec. 31.

Contract talks went on all day between growers from Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana, and Frank A. Kemp, president and other Great Western officials.

The growers were assured by Kemp that he would join them in an effort to obtain qualified workers from any source, but said that until the Department of Labor made known "the precise rules and costs that would be incurred by farmers and the company," he would be unable to forecast accurately the terms or conditions necessary to Great Western's operation.

The growers' statement was issued by Howard Hart, of Powell, Wyo., president of the Big Horn Basic Beet Growers Association.

GROWS WITH CITY—This is H&R Block's main location in Colorado Springs at 608 S. Nevada Ave. It was recently doubled in size to 3,000 square feet of floor space. Also, H&R Block opened a fourth office at 829 N. Union Blvd. In the short span of five years, the tax consulting firm, owned locally by Larry Beaudin, has grown to 16 times its original size. H&R Block Co. Grows 16 Times Its Original Size

A growth to 16 times its original size has marked five years of business in Colorado Springs for H&R Block. The local franchise, which now numbers four offices, is owned and operated by Larry Beaudin.

Originally, H&R Block had one office measuring 400 square feet on Institute Street, near the corner of Cache La Poudre. That office was later moved to a larger location just around the corner at 847 E. Cache La Poudre St., an office which is still in existence.

Later, in 1961, Beaudin opened another office at 608 S. Nevada Ave., which now serves as the local franchise's main office. In 1964, a third outlet was opened at 1619 W. Colorado Ave. and on Jan. 1, 1965, H&R Block expanded to include a fourth location at 829 N. Union Blvd.

Also, just recently the main office was expanded to double its original size, to its present 3,000 square feet. That first office on Institute Street, no longer used by H&R Block, which contained a mere 400 square feet of floor space, has blossomed into four offices, measuring 6,400 square feet.

The tremendous growth of the tax consulting firm has not been contained just in Colorado Springs, however. Beaudin and Dave Brewer, a Denver tax consultant, began a regional expansion. It began when each man had one office, Beaudin in Colorado Springs and Brewer in Denver. Now, the two men have franchises for H&R Block offices in seven states, numbering 71 and employing 1,000 persons. There are 35 offices just in Colorado.

Nationwide, H&R Block has kept pace with local progress. Started in 1946 by two brothers in Kansas City, Henry and Rickard Bloch (the "h" was changed to a "k" for easy recognition), the tax firm now has more than 800 offices in North America. The growth has even spread into Canada.

In the local seven state H&R Block operation, Brewer serves as president and Beaudin as vice president.

Beaudin's credits include five years at the University of Colorado, for which he received a BS degree with a major in accounting. He has worked for the past 10 years as a tax accountant.

Locally, 32 persons are employed by H&R Block. A payroll in excess of $30,000 is needed during the busy three and a half month period at the start of each year.

Through Beaudin's efforts, there are now more H&R Block offices in Colorado Springs than in any other city in the U. S. of comparable size. For example, Colorado Springs is now served by more Block offices than Wichita and the latter has been in business two years longer.

The chief reason for the Block chain's success in Colorado Springs, and for that matter many other cities, is the guarantee which accompanies every return. According to Beaudin, if the error is made by H&R Block and it costs a customer a penalty assessment or interest charge, his firm pays what is owed. No other tax consulting firm in the city backs its returns with this type of guarantee.

Other reasons for its success include double checking every return, no-charge for a customer's copy of the return, five day service and offices open seven days a week. Hours on weekdays are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during "income tax season."

The charge for service on most returns is usually less than $10 and averages $7.50. Charges are computed on the complexity of the return.

Employes of H&R Block, whether new or veteran, must attend an extensive income tax refresher course during November and December each year. The training course was instituted by H&R Block to keep employes up-to-date on the latest tax information and changes. This course, plus extensive literature, also enabled H&R Block to handle returns from all 50 states.

H&R Block's newest location on Union Boulevard contains 1,500 square feet and features ample parking at the front of the office. Three tax consultants are presently working at this location.

With income tax time nearing, Beaudin warns customers of the last minute rush to his offices. He estimates that his employes will work on 200 to 250 returns a day for the first 15 days of April. Another of Beaudin's estimates is that 15 per cent of all tax returns in this area will be figured at H&R Block.

Since its start locally in 1959, H&R Block has doubled the maximum volume that Beaudin ever thought could be done in this city. Figures have been projected to show that the tax consultants will do a volume of business this year which will exceed last year by some 35 per cent.

Beaudin lives with his wife, Polly, and their four children at 2911 Marilyn Pl.

No Progress Seen Over U.N. Debt Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant held additional private talks Thursday with U.N. delegates on the crisis over peacekeeping debts, but no progress was reported.

Thant was understood to be considering making a plea for voluntary financial contributions to erase a U.N. deficit of about $86 million, possibly at the reconvening of the General Assembly on Monday.

He would do so without mentioning the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over application of Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which says a member two years in arrears shall lose its assembly vote.

The assembly would continue general policy debate which was interrupted by the recess taken Dec. 30. While the debate proceeded, negotiations would continue on resolving the financial crisis.

France is two years in arrears on peacekeeping costs for the Congo. The Soviet Union and 16 others also are two years in arrears for peacekeeping costs. France and the Soviet Union contend the assessments are illegal because they were approved by the assembly instead of the Security Council.

The Soviet Union has agreed to make a voluntary financial contribution, provided it is not linked directly with peacekeeping or application of Article 19. There has been no commitment from France.

The United States was reported to be stressing the view that if the crisis over peacekeeping debts is not settled it will reassess its position as a major financial contributor to the United Nations.

Twenty-four per cent of medicial bills were paid through voluntary medical insurance programs last year compared with only 8 per cent in 1950, according to a Health, Education and Welfare Department report.

There are 3.5 million amateur musicians in the America compared with 19 million in 1947, Stanely W. Sorensen, president of the Hammond Organ Co., reported in a recent speech.

2 REASONS

Why all salesmen in the Pikes Peak Region should attend the SWAP (Salesman With A Purpose) Club's Annual AWARDS banquet.

1. Colorado Springs ranks 7th in growth in the nation. The reason for this growth can be attributed to the sales-oriented business leadership and outstanding effort on the part of our sales organizations. If we are to advance to a possible 1st place we will need to do a bigger and better job this coming year.

2. The SWAP Club is the one organization which puts the emphasis on salesmanship and it shares all with the whole community. The club believes in using all physical and human assets in every way possible to sell the advantages of our community to the world. Obviously it pays.

By attendance at the SWAP banquet February 2th at the International Center you join with other enthusiastic businessmen and salesmen in creating a right attitude and that attitude will influence greater growth in the region. Mark this date on your calendar and look upon it as the most important thing to do to insure your own financial success. The general attitude of a community as well as its economic position depends on the participation of every person. Your influence is vital. GROWS WITH CITY—This is H&R Block's main location in Colorado Springs at 608 S. Nevada Ave. It was recently doubled in size to 3,000 square feet of floor space. Also, H&R Block opened a fourth office at 829 N. Union Blvd. In the short span of five years, the tax consulting firm, owned locally by Larry Beaudin, has grown to 16 times its original size. There are 3.5 million amateur musicians in the America compared with 19 million in 1947, Stanely W. Sorensen, president of the Hammond Organ Co., reported in a recent speech.

H&R Block Co. Grows 16 Times Its Original Size

A growth to 16 times its original size has marked five years of business in Colorado Springs for H&R Block. The local franchise, which now numbers four offices, is owned and operated by Larry Beaudin.

Originally, H&R Block had one office measuring 400 square feet on Institute Street, near the corner of Cache La Poudre. That office was later moved to a larger location just around the corner at 847 E. Cache La Poudre St., an office which is still in existence.

Later, in 1961, Beaudin opened another office at 608 S. Nevada Ave., which now serves as the local franchise's main office. In 1964, a third outlet was opened at 1619 W. Colorado Ave. and on Jan. 1, 1965, H&R Block expanded to include a fourth location at 829 N. Union Blvd.

Also, just recently the main office was expanded to double its original size, to its present 3,000 square feet. That first office on Institute Street, no longer used by H&R Block, which contained a mere 400 square feet of floor space, has blossomed into four offices, measuring 6,400 square feet.

The tremendous growth of the tax consulting firm has not been contained just in Colorado Springs, however. Beaudin and Dave Brewer, a Denver tax consultant, began a regional expansion. It began when each man had one office, Beaudin in Colorado Springs and Brewer in Denver. Now, the two men have franchises for H&R Block offices in seven states, numbering 71 and employing 1,000 persons. There are 35 offices just in Colorado.

Nationwide, H&R Block has kept pace with local progress. Started in 1946 by two brothers in Kansas City, Henry and Rickard Bloch (the "h" was changed to a "k" for easy recognition), the tax firm now has more than 800 offices in North America. The growth has even spread into Canada.

In the local seven state H&R Block operation, Brewer serves as president and Beaudin as vice president.

Beaudin's credits include five years at the University of Colorado, for which he received a BS degree with a major in accounting. He has worked for the past 10 years as a tax accountant.

Locally, 32 persons are employed by H&R Block. A payroll in excess of $30,000 is needed during the busy three and a half month period at the start of each year.

Through Beaudin's efforts, there are now more H&R Block offices in Colorado Springs than in any other city in the U. S. of comparable size. For example, Colorado Springs is now served by more Block offices than Wichita and the latter has been in business two years longer.

The chief reason for the Block chain's success in Colorado Springs, and for that matter many other cities, is the guarantee which accompanies every return. According to Beaudin, if the error is made by H&R Block and it costs a customer a penalty assessment or interest charge, his firm pays what is owed. No other tax consulting firm in the city backs its returns with this type of guarantee.

Other reasons for its success include double checking every return, no-charge for a customer's copy of the return, five day service and offices open seven days a week. Hours on weekdays are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during "income tax season."

The charge for service on most returns is usually less than $10 and averages $7.50. Charges are computed on the complexity of the return.

Employes of H&R Block, whether new or veteran, must attend an extensive income tax refresher course during November and December each year. The training course was instituted by H&R Block to keep employes up-to-date on the latest tax information and changes. This course, plus extensive literature, also enabled H&R Block to handle returns from all 50 states.

H&R Block's newest location on Union Boulevard contains 1,500 square feet and features ample parking at the front of the office. Three tax consultants are presently working at this location.

With income tax time nearing, Beaudin warns customers of the last minute rush to his offices. He estimates that his employes will work on 200 to 250 returns a day for the first 15 days of April. Another of Beaudin's estimates is that 15 per cent of all tax returns in this area will be figured at H&R Block.

Since its start locally in 1959, H&R Block has doubled the maximum volume that Beaudin ever thought could be done in this city. Figures have been projected to show that the tax consultants will do a volume of business this year which will exceed last year by some 35 per cent.

Beaudin lives with his wife, Polly, and their four children at 2911 Marilyn Pl.

No Progress Seen Over U.N. Debt Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant held additional private talks Thursday with U.N. delegates on the crisis over peacekeeping debts, but no progress was reported.

Thant was understood to be considering making a plea for voluntary financial contributions to erase a U.N. deficit of about $86 million, possibly at the reconvening of the General Assembly on Monday.

He would do so without mentioning the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over application of Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which says a member two years in arrears shall lose its assembly vote.

The assembly would continue general policy debate which was interrupted by the recess taken Dec. 30. While the debate proceeded, negotiations would continue on resolving the financial crisis.

France is two years in arrears on peacekeeping costs for the Congo. The Soviet Union and 16 others also are two years in arrears for peacekeeping costs. France and the Soviet Union contend the assessments are illegal because they were approved by the assembly instead of the Security Council.

The Soviet Union has agreed to make a voluntary financial contribution, provided it is not linked directly with peacekeeping or application of Article 19. There has been no commitment from France.

The United States was reported to be stressing the view that if the crisis over peacekeeping debts is not settled it will reassess its position as a major financial contributor to the United Nations.

Twenty-four per cent of medicial bills were paid through voluntary medical insurance programs last year compared with only 8 per cent in 1950, according to a Health, Education and Welfare Department report.

2 REASONS

Why all salesmen in the Pikes Peak Region should attend the SWAP (Salesman With A Purpose) Club's Annual AWARDS banquet.

1. Colorado Springs ranks 7th in growth in the nation. The reason for this growth can be attributed to the sales-oriented business leadership and outstanding effort on the part of our sales organizations. If we are to advance to a possible 1st place we will need to do a bigger and better job this coming year.
2. The SWAP Club is the one organization which puts the emphasis on salesmanship and it shares all with the whole community. The club believes in using all physical and human assets in every way possible to sell the advantages of our community to the world. Obviously it pays.

By attendance at the SWAP banquet February 2th at the International Center you join with other enthusiastic businessmen and salesmen in creating a right attitude and that attitude will influence greater growth in the region. Mark this date on your calendar and look upon it as the most important thing to do to insure your own financial success. The general attitude of a community as well as its economic position depends on the participation of every person. Your influence is vital. If a member of the SWAP Club, who could be your best friend, does not call and deliver tickets to you and the members of your organization may we suggest that you beat him to the punch and call him or this number—635-3507.

Your Freedom Newspaper

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Financial Seat Belts

The indications available in the market now establish that our money is about to take a very rapid journey. Financial seat belts are in order.

The government has been releasing, through various news media, stories calculated to allay fears and to quell the search for profits on the part of speculators.

These efforts, to lull us into a sense of false security, or actually to deceive us, will of course fail, in terms of reality. Our money is in trouble. The dollar is in a shaky condition the world around.

The fact that when it is compared to other currencies, it is still relatively strong merely casts a baneful light on the condition of other currencies and does nothing at all to build confidence in our own medium of exchange.

The reason for the problem relates to gold. The likelihood of a devaluation of currency in relation to gold is now more probable than it has been in the past. Many a man who has suggested that such a re-pricing would occur in the past when similar warnings were apparent has possibly placed too large a faith on the idea that the government WOULD do what OUGHT to be done. Actually, gold should have been permitted to seek a market level price for years. And as pressures have mounted, pundits have suggested that surely the time had come.

But right now it is beginning to be unlikely that this long anticipated move can be postponed any more. The matter has become so urgent that pressures on the London exchange have neared the rim of panic twice in recent weeks.

Let's review the situation.

In the United States we have the largest single government gold reserve in the world. It stands today right at $15.5 billion. This gold is actually used in two ways. 1. It stands as a means of redeeming foreign claims against this nation. In international dealings, most nations demand and expect gold for they well know that governmental promises are no better than governmental currencies.

At the moment there are in existence some $26.1 billion in potential gold claims against us. These claims have not been presented. By threatening to withhold foreign aid and other financial acts of reprisal, our government has held at bay some of the claims that could be made and that yet may be made. It is entirely possible that this is one of the real reasons why various administrations of our government have been so unwilling to even discuss the matter of stopping foreign aid. It has been a lever by means of which economic threat can be summoned to prevent the "calling" of our gold in response to promises we made long ago.

2. In addition to using the gold as a reserve against foreign claims, there is a law that requires an approximate 25 per cent backing in gold for the Federal Reserve notes in circulation and held as reserves in various banks. We have about $54 billion in Federal Reserve notes in circulation and held in banks. This means that approximately $13.6 billion is held in reserve as the 25 per cent backing of these notes.

Since our total gold reserve is some $24.2 billion SHORT of what would be required to back our currency and to redeem foreign claims against us, we are in a precarious position. At any moment, foreign claimants can completely wreck our money system by simply submitting their claims.

Were they to do this, we would have to either 1) repudiate the cliams. 2) revalue the gold, or 3) declare ourselves to be bankrupt. A combination of these three avenues might eventuate.

As things stand, with the law demanding a 25 per cent backing to our own domestic Federal Reserve notes, we have only $1.9 billion available with which to meet foreign claims.

In 1964 the U.S. deficit in terms of balance of payments with foreign nations, according to estimate, came close to $2 billion. A similar deficit at the end of 1965 would wipe our our slender $1.9 billion in foreign reserve gold and bring us to the point where, by law, we could not meet a single foreign claim.

Some economists are now pointing out that if foreign aid alone were cancelled this would go a long way toward halting this imbalance and placing us in a more favorable balance of payments position. And this is true so far as it goes.

But a halting of foreign aid could very will trigger a demand on the part of all foreign governments in the dollar area, to insist on having their claims, some $26.1 billion in all, met at once.

And such a situation could not be met, and probably not even temporized in view of our gold reserve position.

Question Box

Question No. 638: "The Gazette Telegraph some time back quoted Madison in 'The Federalist' papers as saying the 'general welfare clause' of the Constitution did not grant broad powers to the Congress. I have been unable to locate this in 'The Federalist.' Can you tell me where this is found?"

Answer: No. 41 of "The Federalist" by James Madison explains the thinking of Madison, Hamilton, Jay and other writers of the Constitution on the so-called general welfare clause. On Pages 282-3 of the 1942 edition of "The Federalist," by Tudor Publishing Co., New York, with introduction by Edward Gaylord Bourne, professor of history, Yale University, Madison wrote, in reference to section 8 (Powers of Congress):

"It has been urged and echoed, that the powers to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States, amounts to an unlimited commission to exercise every power which may be alleged to be necessary for the common defense or general welfare. No stronger proof could be given of the distress under which these writers labor for objections, than their stooping to such a misconstruction.

"Had no other enumeration or definition of the powers of the Congress been found in the Constitution, than the general expressions just cited, the authors of the objection might have had some color for it; though it would have been difficult to find a reason for so awkward a form of describing an authority to legislate in all possible cases. A power to destroy the freedom of the press, the trial by jury, or even to regulate the course of descents, or the forms of conveyances, must be very singularly expressed by the terms 'to raise money for the general welfare.'

"But what color can the objection have, when a specification of the objects alluded to by these general terms immediately follows, and is not even separated by a long pause than ought to be so expounded, as to give meaning to every part which will bear it, shall one part of the same sentence be excluded altogether from a share in the meaning; and shall the more doubtful and indefinite terms be retained in their full extent, and the clear and precise expressions be denied any signification whatsoever? For what purpose could the enumeration of particular powers be inserted, if these and all others were meant to be included in the preceding general power? Nothing is more natural nor common than first to use a general phrase, and then to explain and qualify it by a recital of particulars. But the idea of an enumeration of particulars which neither explain nor qualify the general meaning, and can have no other effect than to confound and mislead, is an absurdity, which as we are reduced to the dilemma of charging either on the authors of the objection or on the authors of the Constitution, we must take the liberty of supposing, had not its origin with the latter."

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Gold Question

In view of the foregoing (see above editorial) the government is casting about for ways and means to temporize BEFORE foreign aid is cancelled of necessity, and before foreign claimants can submit their demands.

Thus, the government is now considering two moves: 1) A repeal of the law which artifically prices gold at $35 per ounce 2) A repeal of the law which demands a 25 per cent gold backing for Federal Reserve notes in circulation or held in banks.

If the law requiring this percentage of backing were repealed, then we would be in the position of using nothing but fiat money in this country. The silver which served as a backing to our $1.00 (some $5.00) silver certificates, has now been released. A removal of the gold backing of the Federal Reserve notes would mean that all our currency is nothing but so much paper.

It has been suggested that the percentage rate of reserve be changed so that about $5 billion would be left to back domestic Federal Reserve notes, thus freeing about $18.5 billion in an effort to bolster our foreign exchange position. It has also been suggested that the reserve be cancelled entirely.

If either of these moves occurs, the government could proceed to increase the amount of currency in circulation by many billions of dollars. This would be immediately followed by a run-away inflation in which prices would rise, probably within a few days, to about a third above where they now are.

If, instead, gold were revalued, say, at $70 per ounce rather than $35 per ounce, a similar situation would be faced. Since, in this case, it would take twice as many dollars to buy an ounce of gold, the government would use this as an excuse to print more money. It would, and already has claimed, that business activity demands more currency in circulation, which is a patent falsehood. But in any case, an increase in Federal Reserve notes, probably to the extent of about $50 billion, could be anticipated. This figure is already hinted as being the "right" one. Or it is possible that both these laws would be repealed or modified in some respect. The result, in general, will be the same, and will vary specifically according to whatever modifications are made.

In sum, the government, because of its own excesses, promises, policies and so on, is about to tamper with our money or face a showdown at international level.

Now, it is obvious that these repeals won't prevent a showdown. If, for instance, a re-evaluation of gold ensues to, say, $70 per ounce, it would follow that the foreign claims against us, in the sum of $26.1 billion, would only be able to draw off $13.05 billion in terms of gold ounces at the new evaluation. It would be reasonable for foreign claimants to feel that they had been defrauded of the corresponding amount of gold ounces. In a sense, this would be equivalent to 50 per cent repudiation.

However, to offset this likelihood, the prediction is made that the American government will move to re-evaluate the gold, not in America but on the world market. And since other currencies are, in general, more shaky even than our own, it is likely that nations in the dollar camp will join hands in such re-evaluation, and the charge of repudiation may be avoided.

But the damage to our own industry, business, the economy in general, will be enormous. A gradual inflation is bad enough, but a sudden spurt in the supply of money will be a disaster of monstrous proportions.

If the government, by law, removes all gold backing of our currency, the chances are excellent that the money presses will be summoned into service and that we'll have to go through one of these run-away inflations such as occurred in Germany prior to Hitler, and in China following the establishment of the Sun Yat-sen regime.

What we are facing relates squarely to our folly of permitting the government to have anything at all to do with our medium of exchange. Properly, money is a market place commodity, and its management and control must be left to men in the market, and never made the plaything of states and politicians.

FOR GOD AND COUNTRY

To the Editor:

I would like to answer Evangelist I. H. Smith's recent article asking that I quote passages from the Bible to substantiate my belief that Sundays should be kept holy.

My use of the Bible, compiled and written by the only Christian Church in existence at the time, is primarily to convince myself that of all of the Christian Churches in the world today, I belong to the one which, to me, is the one established by Jesus Christ when He was on this earth.

First of all, I want to be convinced that Jesus Christ did, in fact, establish a church when He was here, and I believe that He came to this earth. I can read a reliable encyclopedia and the universally recognized books known to us as the Bible and come to the conclusion that He did found a church, naming Peter as the first temporal head of this church, and the other apostles as Peter's helpers and ministers of the gospel.

I could quote numerous biblical quotations that established this fact in my mind. Now, even without the assurances and references in the Bible, it just stands to reason to me that Jesus Christ, being Almighty God, would not establish a church for the purpose of going forth and teaching all men what He had said to them and then would allow them to go out and preach falsehoods that would mislead men in such an important task in man's life as the salvation of his soul. Also, God being Infinitely wise, I don't think He would establish a living teaching body and not expect that living body (His church) to spell out in detail His commandments and desires.

As for me, I am convinced that the church I belong to is the one which He established when He was here on this earth, and I believe Jesus Christ when he said that He would protect that church from error until the end of time. Having this confidence, I refer to my church when I want to know the definition and meaning of any of the things that have been written and spoken about my relationship to Almighty God. This confidence I have in the reliability of my church to teach me the truth about the things of God is similar to my trust in the Webster Dictionary to give me the correct spelling and meaning of a word; or, in the World Book Encyclopedia or Encyclopaedia Britannica to give me a reasonably accurate account of anything I read in it. We MUST have some authority for what we believe if we are sincere in what we attempt to learn.

Since I have found what, to me, is an indusputable authority on Christ's teachings, I need not go through countless lines of quite often difficult reading to try to find out what I want to know. Instead, I can and do go to a book which is approved by my church as being an authoritative teaching on the subject, or to my pastor. Now, take this question of whether or not I should keep Saturday or Sunday holy, and if so, what I should do to keep it holy. I find in the Bible that I should keep holy the Sabbath day. I refer to one of the books officially recognized by my church, known as, "The New Baltimore Catechism No. 3," and on Page 151, among several other explanations of the meaning of the Third Commandment (in my religion), "Remember thou keep holy the Sabbath day," it says, "Besides servile work, public buying and selling, markets and fairs, and also the conducting of court are forbidden on Sunday."

Now, in checking Webster's Dictionary, I find that one of the meanings of "Sabbath" is: "Sunday, among Christians, a day of rest and worship." Going back to the authority I am using for spelling out the reasons and meanings of things, they say, "The Church commands us to keep Sunday as the Lord's day because on Sunday Christ rose from the dead, and on Sunday the Holy Ghost descended upon the apostles."

If I personally were to go to the Bible and try to figure out what Jesus Christ wanted me to do on either Saturday or Sunday, and I asked 100 of my friends to tell me what they thought I should do and on which day I should do it, I feel sure I would get many, many different interpretations of exactly what I should do, because we were merely commanded to "Keep holy the Sabbath day" by God personally. His church, however, has done its duty and outlined in detail for all who want to know what is meant by this commandment; what I should and should not do; and how I should worship my God on this day. It also tells me which of the two days in dispute I should use.

I realize that my source of authority may not be acceptable to some people, but God gave you and me a free will to choose what we want to accept as our authority and, thank God, our beloved United States upholds this right for us.

Let's save our Sundays for God and country!

OPPORTUNITY COSTS

To the Editor:

Costs of any enterprise, large or small, private or public, falls into one or both of two categories. The first one, accounting costs (do not confuse accounting costs with the mechanics of bookeeping), consists of taxes, rent, utilities, labor, insurance, advertising, transportation, interest, loss, profit, depreciation, obsolescence, etc. These costs can be directly tabulated by proper accounting procedures and are universally acceptable. The second one, opportunity costs, which are recognized by economists and many businessmen but not by accounting methods and accountants, deals with alternative choices in the most efficient uses of capital, labor, production, and governmental expenditures.

Accounting costs are fairly easy to understand and are easily recognizable, but opportunity costs may be quite obscure and unrecognizable. Outside of economic circles and some business circles, opportunity costs are little known, yet they are extremely important. Recently, business and industry have been becoming more conscious of opportunity costs of doing business, and some firms have spent large sums of money in making occupational surveys, time and motion studies, efficiency programs, etc. to uncover and eliminate or reduce opportunity costs. In many cases some opportunity costs may eventually be better understood so that they may be reduced to a tangible form for accounting procedures.

Many individuals give little or no thought to opportunity costs, and when they do they may be misguided by many factors that may lead to higher opportunity and accounting costs. Some simple examples will suffice to make this clear. A shopper spent an hour riding a bus across town to save two cents on a bunch of carrots. More inane things have actually been done by shoppers. A shopper ordered merchandise from a mail order house, paid postage, a money order fee, and express charges, and didn't get a local warranty. He thought he got a bargain. He could have bought the same merchandise at the same price locally, saved shipping costs, and gotten a local warranty. Another man invested some money at 4 per cent interest, but later discovered that he could have gotten 4.2 per cent. His opportunity cost was 0.2 per cent in interest. Labor unions fix wages. A carpenter with cabinet experience was paid the same hourly wage as a rough-work carpenter. What was the opportunity cost to the more proficient carpenter?

Small businesses are less conscious of opportunity costs than is industry. Industry has made great strides in reducing both opportunity and accounting costs by automating production. Where automation is not yet feasible, mass-production techniques have accomplished similar results. Industry must do these things to keep abreast of an increasing demand and to keep ahead of growing tax bites.

But the government. . .? Oh, no! I doubt if government, its bureaus, and its representatives have ever heard of opportunity costs! The gigantic accounting costs of government are shrouded in political bafflegab, smoke screens, smog, fog, and clouds. What are the opportunity costs of foreign aid, welfare, subsidies, the public debt and its interest, slum clearance, war on poverty, etc? No one knows, but they are astronomical! Who pays this gigantic bill? The taxpayers, of course!

The government and its Keynesian advisors are just beginning to learn that a tax reduction can reduce accounting costs, but they have not yet learned that opportunity costs may be reduced by the same method. If the billions of dollars of our tax money, which is wasted by the government on dubious give-away programs, were directed into constructive private enterprise, we would have prosperity of a degree never before experienced by man.

Let's get the government out of business, and curtail its powers.

The Advantages of Diversification

By RUFUS L. PORTER

During the Roosevelt depression many large corporations suddenly realized they had all their eggs in one basket, and most of them were being crushed in the economic squeeze. Many of those companies that survived the depression went in for diversification so that they would not be caught in such a vulnerable position the next time.

The theory of diversification is that if you have more than one product, say several different ones, the demand for one or more of them may continue, even though the bottom might fall out of the market on the others. Thus you will be enabled to keep your nose above water and ride out the economic storm where you might be sunk if you were stuck with only one product. This is the same reason a farmer diversifies his crops, or used to before the government started telling him what, and how much he could raise.

The Anaconda Copper Company was one of the many huge corporations that nearly went "belly-up" during the depression because it was almost entirely dependent on copper, and copper went a-begging for quite a few years. When the company did get back in the money, its officials sent out scouts in all directions to all points of the earth to seek out new investments in things other than copper.

Gold was one of the items they became interested in, and they bought up gold mines in South America and South Africa. Gold, up until very recently, has always been considered the most stable commodity, and the most sought after one on the face of the earth. But Anaconda also went into many other ventures in many countries. The Kennecott Copper Company followed suit, although I do not believe they ever were in great danger of going broke. They also went for gold, especially in Africa. I understand Kennecott sold its South African gold mine a year or two ago.

These are only two examples of the hundreds of corporations that went in for diversification after the depression. And most of them are so solidly based now that they could ride out most any kind of a depression, except a world-wide panic.

But now the shoe is on the other foot. The gold producers, who were always envied because they were in the "safest" business known to man, are finding themselves faced with the same dilemma during prosperous times that confronted the others in the depression. The gold mines have had to shut down, due to the discrepancy between price and cost, and the gold producers that survived are looking for other forms of investment.

Among these is the Golden Cycle Corporation of Colorado Springs. This company has always had a few side businesses, but its dependence was chiefly on gold. When it become unprofitable to mine gold, the company officials started looking for other investments that had a chance of turning a profit and keeping the company alive. Luckily, it has been able to realize some profit from its vast real estate holdings in the area and it has some first-class housing developments going.

But it extended its range and sought going businesses that needed new capital and bought up controlling interests where possible. It has recently purchased control of the Smyth World Movers Incorporated, of Seattle. The sale also included the Rossoe Home Heating, a fuei oil company. The newly purchased company has offices and operations in Tacoma; San Francisco; Long Beach; Honolulu; Anchorage, Alaska; Okinawa, Guam, Japan and Hong Kong.

Plans are already being made for expansion in both the moving and the oil fields. So, it looks as though the Golden Cycle Corporation, one of the oldest in the Pikes Peak Region, will be around a while yet, and may yet live to mine more gold from its fabulous mines in the Cripple Creek-Victor gold district — and to produce more gold bricks in its two million dollar Carlton Mill midway between Cripple Creek and Victor. As others have learned, it pays to diversify.

But, if you do all your diversifying in the United States, you had better keep one eye on the government with its penchant for prosecuting big business under the Sherman Anti-trust Act. Look what happened to DuPont. It was forced to sell all its General Motors stock. According to the attorney general, it is naughty for a corporation to own stock in more than one company, even though diversification might save it from going under in a government-sponsored depression.

The Golden Cycle, of course, isn't big enough for the politicians to start harrying, yet.

Involuntary Servitude

GEORGE BOARDMAN

Slavery, with a parasitical state playing the part of the overseer, is certainly as immoral as the enslavement of one private person by another. While all adult people in various types of business are forced to labor for the state as tax collectors, males who are not yet adult according to law, face another form of involuntary servitude because of the draft laws.

Letters I receive from young men who are intellectually in revolt against this situation would make me feel guilty but for the fact that I have not given my sanction to the system. As a matter of absolute fact, I want no man to place his life in jeopardy because of me, either in defense of my life or property.

At the present time, with only a limited knowledge of what draft boards may do tomorrow or the day after, I would, if I had a son just graduating from high school or approaching 18, urge him to look for a job, any kind of a job or a variety of jobs, and to generally keep himself busy until the age of 21, at which time he could begin to worry about more education if such a thing is available by that time. With four years of college to go, this would leave him with only one year during which his liberty would be in extreme jeopardy since only a very few, if any, young men, are drafted at age 26.

I agree that a young man who is busily occupied from the age of 18 until he becomes 21 may not, by that time, be particularly interested in going back to school but the entire subject of the importance of what may laughingly be termed higher education needs some thought.

If you want to surprise yourself, some evening when the boob tube begins to bore you, begin to make a list of all the positions you can think of for which a college education is required or even helpful. After you finish that long list, go to work with the yellow pages of your phone book and all of the classified advertising in your newspaper and list jobs, positions, the various fields of endeavor which require experience, experience and more experience.

Sure, we know about the professions for which schooling is required, from attorney to teacher, but what about those millions served by the professional people? From whence comes their income?

True, a large percentage of professional people may be classed in the upper middle class group but this is a relatively small percentage of the total population and when a person trained for a profession is unable to make the grade, financially, real trouble begins. In other words, the schooling is no guarantee of success, financially or otherwise.

So, again, if I had a son of 18, I would take a chance on what he might want to do by the time he reached the age of 21, and at the same time shorten the odds against being pressed into involuntary servitude, just as a matter of common sense. As things stand right now, you can't find anything resembling a sure thing no matter what you do because you don't know what the future has in store for us.

A few days ago I received a letter from a good friend who holds a managerial position. His letter is full of resentment at the fact that the youngsters he encounters simply do not want to work. They want to put in their time, they want to be paid for that time and they work very hard to be sure they don't burn up much energy in return for the pay they receive.

If I had a son who might learn to work, who might learn to understand a few things about trading labor for pay or board and room or whatever, for the next three years, I would feel that four more years of schooling might do him some real and lasting good. The schooling itself teaches no one to want to EARN but working does inspire a good many young people to want to learn and for this, it's never too late.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Payola

From Chicago Tribune

The Federal Communications Commission, with great hoopla, initiated an investigation last month into "payola" and "plugola" in the broadcasting industry. The allegation is that disk jockeys, in return for a payoff, play selected records and put in plugs for them.

Chairman Henry of the FCC threatens, "Anyone caught with excess profits from payola or plugola will find himself dealing with the Department of Justice and facing a possible one-year jail term, or $10,000 fine, or both."

You can see that this is considered very serious business, but we wonder that the federal policing agencies are able to close their eyes to a flagrant abuse of political payola, containing their indignation without difficulty. We refer to Washington reports that President Johnson has sent word to a defeated Republican senator, Kenneth Keating of New York, that he may take his pick of a variety of cushy government jobs. Keating was beaten by Bobby Kennedy, the Democratic carpetbag candidate.

During the campaign Keating refused to indorse the Republican national tickets, turning his back on Barry Goldwater and William Miller. He and others of the "moderate" Republican stripe thus contributed to scuttling the party's chances. In the circumstances, the job offer from the White House looks very much like payola, but nobody is investigating Keating and Johnson. The sleuths prefer hot pursuit of the disk jockeys, although we fail to see any great difference in the nature of the offense.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Financial Seat Belts

The indications available in the market now establish that our money is about to take a very rapid journey. Financial seat belts are in order.

The government has been releasing, through various news media, stories calculated to allay fears and to quell the search for profits on the part of speculators.

These efforts, to lull us into a sense of false security, or actually to deceive us, will of course fail, in terms of reality. Our money is in trouble. The dollar is in a shaky condition the world around.

The fact that when it is compared to other currencies, it is still relatively strong merely casts a baneful light on the condition of other currencies and does nothing at all to build confidence in our own medium of exchange.

The reason for the problem relates to gold. The likelihood of a devaluation of currency in relation to gold is now more probable than it has been in the past. Many a man who has suggested that such a re-pricing would occur in the past when similar warnings were apparent has possibly placed too large a faith on the idea that the government WOULD do what OUGHT to be done. Actually, gold should have been permitted to seek a market level price for years. And as pressures have mounted, pundits have suggested that surely the time had come.

But right now it is beginning to be unlikely that this long anticipated move can be postponed any more. The matter has become so urgent that pressures on the London exchange have neared the rim of panic twice in recent weeks.

Let's review the situation.

In the United States we have the largest single government gold reserve in the world. It stands today right at $15.5 billion. This gold is actually used in two ways. 1. It stands as a means of redeeming foreign claims against this nation. In international dealings, most nations demand and expect gold for they well know that governmental promises are no better than governmental currencies.

At the moment there are in existence some $26.1 billion in potential gold claims against us. These claims have not been presented. By threatening to withhold foreign aid and other financial acts of reprisal, our government has held at bay some of the claims that could be made and that yet may be made. It is entirely possible that this is one of the real reasons why various administrations of our government have been so unwilling to even discuss the matter of stopping foreign aid. It has been a lever by means of which economic threat can be summoned to prevent the "calling" of our gold in response to promises we made long ago.

2. In addition to using the gold as a reserve against foreign claims, there is a law that requires an approximate 25 per cent backing in gold for the Federal Reserve notes in circulation and held as reserves in various banks. We have about $54 billion in Federal Reserve notes in circulation and held in banks. This means that approximately $13.6 billion is held in reserve as the 25 per cent backing of these notes.

Since our total gold reserve is some $24.2 billion SHORT of what would be required to back our currency and to redeem foreign claims against us, we are in a precarious position. At any moment, foreign claimants can completely wreck our money system by simply submitting their claims.

Were they to do this, we would have to either 1) repudiate the cliams. 2) revalue the gold, or 3) declare ourselves to be bankrupt. A combination of these three avenues might eventuate.

As things stand, with the law demanding a 25 per cent backing to our own domestic Federal Reserve notes, we have only $1.9 billion available with which to meet foreign claims.

In 1964 the U.S. deficit in terms of balance of payments with foreign nations, according to estimate, came close to $2 billion. A similar deficit at the end of 1965 would wipe our our slender $1.9 billion in foreign reserve gold and bring us to the point where, by law, we could not meet a single foreign claim.

Some economists are now pointing out that if foreign aid alone were cancelled this would go a long way toward halting this imbalance and placing us in a more favorable balance of payments position. And this is true so far as it goes.

But a halting of foreign aid could very will trigger a demand on the part of all foreign governments in the dollar area, to insist on having their claims, some $26.1 billion in all, met at once.

And such a situation could not be met, and probably not even temporized in view of our gold reserve position.

Question Box

Question No. 638: "The Gazette Telegraph some time back quoted Madison in 'The Federalist' papers as saying the 'general welfare clause' of the Constitution did not grant broad powers to the Congress. I have been unable to locate this in 'The Federalist.' Can you tell me where this is found?"

Answer: No. 41 of "The Federalist" by James Madison explains the thinking of Madison, Hamilton, Jay and other writers of the Constitution on the so-called general welfare clause. On Pages 282-3 of the 1942 edition of "The Federalist," by Tudor Publishing Co., New York, with introduction by Edward Gaylord Bourne, professor of history, Yale University, Madison wrote, in reference to section 8 (Powers of Congress):

"It has been urged and echoed, that the powers to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States, amounts to an unlimited commission to exercise every power which may be alleged to be necessary for the common defense or general welfare. No stronger proof could be given of the distress under which these writers labor for objections, than their stooping to such a misconstruction.

"Had no other enumeration or definition of the powers of the Congress been found in the Constitution, than the general expressions just cited, the authors of the objection might have had some color for it; though it would have been difficult to find a reason for so awkward a form of describing an authority to legislate in all possible cases. A power to destroy the freedom of the press, the trial by jury, or even to regulate the course of descents, or the forms of conveyances, must be very singularly expressed by the terms 'to raise money for the general welfare.'

"But what color can the objection have, when a specification of the objects alluded to by these general terms immediately follows, and is not even separated by a long pause than ought to be so expounded, as to give meaning to every part which will bear it, shall one part of the same sentence be excluded altogether from a share in the meaning; and shall the more doubtful and indefinite terms be retained in their full extent, and the clear and precise expressions be denied any signification whatsoever? For what purpose could the enumeration of particular powers be inserted, if these and all others were meant to be included in the preceding general power? Nothing is more natural nor common than first to use a general phrase, and then to explain and qualify it by a recital of particulars. But the idea of an enumeration of particulars which neither explain nor qualify the general meaning, and can have no other effect than to confound and mislead, is an absurdity, which as we are reduced to the dilemma of charging either on the authors of the objection or on the authors of the Constitution, we must take the liberty of supposing, had not its origin with the latter."

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Gold Question

In view of the foregoing (see above editorial) the government is casting about for ways and means to temporize BEFORE foreign aid is cancelled of necessity, and before foreign claimants can submit their demands.

Thus, the government is now considering two moves: 1) A repeal of the law which artificially prices gold at $35 per ounce 2) A repeal of the law which demands a 25 per cent gold backing for Federal Reserve notes in circulation or held in banks.

If the law requiring this percentage of backing were repealed, then we would be in the position of using nothing but fiat money in this country. The silver which served as a backing to our $1.00 (some $5.00) silver certificates, has now been released. A removal of the gold backing of the Federal Reserve notes would mean that all our currency is nothing but so much paper.

It has been suggested that the percentage rate of reserve be changed so that about $6 billion would be left to back domestic Federal Reserve notes, thus freeing about $10.5 billion in an effort to bolster our foreign exchange position. It has also been suggested that the reserve be cancelled entirely.

If either of these moves occurs, the government could proceed to increase the amount of currency in circulation by many billions of dollars. This would be immediately followed by a run-away inflation in which prices would rise, probably within a few days, to about a third above where they now are.

If, instead, gold were revalued, say, at $70 per ounce rather than $35 per ounce, a similar situation would be faced. Since, in this case, it would take twice as many dollars to buy an ounce of gold, the government would use this as an excuse to print more money. It would, and already has claimed, that business activity demands more currency in circulation, which is a patent falsehood. But in any case, an increase in Federal Reserve notes, probably to the extent of about $50 billion, could be anticipated. This figure is already hinted as being the "right" one. Or it is possible that both these laws would be repealed or modified in some respect. The result, in general, will be the same, and will vary specifically according to whatever modifications are made.

In sum, the government, because of its own excesses, promises, policies and so on, is about to tamper with our money or face a showdown at international level.

Now, it is obvious that these repeals won't prevent a showdown. If, for instance, a re-evaluation of gold ensues to, say, $70 per ounce, it would follow that the foreign claims against us, in the sum of $26.1 billion, would only be able to draw off $13.05 billion in terms of gold ounces at the new evaluation. It would be reasonable for foreign claimants to feel that they had been defrauded of the corresponding amount of gold ounces. In a sense, this would be equivalent to 50 per cent repudiation.

However, to offset this likelihood, the prediction is made that the American government will move to re-evaluate the gold, not in America but on the world market. And since other currencies are, in general, more shaky even than our own, it is likely that nations in the dollar camp will join hands in such re-evaluation, and the charge of repudiation may be avoided.

But the damage to our own industry, business, the economy in general, will be enormous. A gradual inflation is bad enough, but a sudden spurt in the supply of money will be a disaster of monstrous proportions.

If the government, by law, removes all gold backing of our currency, the chances are excellent that the money presses will be summoned into service and that we'll have to go through one of these run-away inflations such as occurred in Germany prior to Hitler, and in China following the establishment of the Sun Yat-sen regime.

What we are facing relates squarely to our folly of permitting the government to have anything at all to do with our medium of exchange. Properly, money is a market place commodity, and its management and control must be left to men in the market, and never made the plaything of states and politicians.

FOR GOD AND COUNTRY

To the Editor:

I would like to answer Evangelist I. H. Smith's recent article asking that I quote passages from the Bible to substantiate my belief that Sundays should be kept holy.

My use of the Bible, compiled and written by the only Christian Church in existence at the time, is primarily to convince myself that of all of the Christian Churches in the world today, I belong to the one which, to me, is the one established by Jesus Christ when He was on this earth.

First of all, I want to be convinced that Jesus Christ did, in fact, establish a church when He was here, and I believe that He came to this earth. I can read a reliable encyclopedia and the universally recognized books known to us as the Bible and come to the conclusion that He did found a church, naming Peter as the first temporal head of this church, and the other apostles as Peter's helpers and ministers of the gospel.

I could quote numerous biblical quotations that established this fact in my mind. Now, even without the assurances and references in the Bible, it just stands to reason to me that Jesus Christ, being Almighty God, would not establish a church for the purpose of going forth and teaching all men what He had said to them and then would allow them to go out and preach falsehoods that would mislead men in such an important task in man's life as the salvation of his soul. Also, God being Infinitely wise, I don't think He would establish a living teaching body and not expect that living body (His church) to spell out in detail His commandments and desires.

As for me, I am convinced that the church I belong to is the one which He established when He was here on this earth, and I believe Jesus Christ when he said that He would protect that church from error until the end of time. Having this confidence, I refer to my church when I want to know the definition and meaning of any of the things that have been written and spoken about my relationship to Almighty God. This confidence I have in the reliability of my church to teach me the truth about the things of God is similar to my trust in the Webster Dictionary to give me the correct spelling and meaning of a word; or, in the World Book Encyclopedia or Encyclopaedia Britannica to give me a reasonably accurate account of anything I read in it. We MUST have some authority for what we believe if we are sincere in what we attempt to learn.

Since I have found what, to me, is an indusputable authority on Christ's teachings, I need not go through countless lines of quite often difficult reading to try to find out what I want to know. Instead, I can and do go to a book which is approved by my church as being an authoritative teaching on the subject, or to my pastor. Now, take this question of whether or not I should keep Saturday or Sunday holy, and if so, what I should do to keep it holy. I find in the Bible that I should keep holy the Sabbath day. I refer to one of the books officially recognized by my church, known as, "The New Baltimore Catechism No. 3," and on Page 151, among several other explanations of the meaning of the Third Commandment (in my religion), "Remember thou keep holy the Sabbath day," it says, "Besides servile work, public buying and selling, markets and fairs, and also the conducting of court are forbidden on Sunday."

Now, in checking Webster's Dictionary, I find that one of the meanings of "Sabbath" is: "Sunday, among Christians, a day of rest and worship." Going back to the authority I am using for spelling out the reasons and meanings of things, they say, "The Church commands us to keep Sunday as the Lord's day because on Sunday Christ rose from the dead, and on Sunday the Holy Ghost descended upon the apostles."

If I personally were to go to the Bible and try to figure out what Jesus Christ wanted me to do on either Saturday or Sunday, and I asked 100 of my friends to tell me what they thought I should do and on which day I should do it, I feel sure I would get many, many different interpretations of exactly what I should do, because we were merely commanded to "Keep holy the Sabbath day" by God personally. His church, however, has done its duty and outlined in detail for all who want to know what is meant by this commandment; what I should and should not do; and how I should worship my God on this day. It also tells me which of the two days in dispute I should use.

I realize that my source of authority may not be acceptable to some people, but God gave you and me a free will to choose what we want to accept as our authority and, thank God, our beloved United States upholds this right for us.

Let's save our Sundays for God and country!

OPPORTUNITY COSTS

To the Editor:

Costs of any enterprise, large or small, private or public, falls into one or both of two categories. The first one, accounting costs (do not confuse accounting costs with the mechanics of bookeeping), consists of taxes, rent, utilities, labor, insurance, advertising, transportation, interest, loss, profit, depreciation, obsolescence, etc. These costs can be directly tabulated by proper accounting procedures and are universally acceptable. The second one, opportunity costs, which are recognized by economists and many businessmen but not by accounting methods and accountants, deals with alternative choices in the most efficient uses of capital, labor, production, and governmental expenditures.

Accounting costs are fairly easy to understand and are easily recognizable, but opportunity costs may be quite obscure and unrecognizable. Outside of economic circles and some business circles, opportunity costs are little known, yet they are extremely important. Recently, business and industry have been becoming more conscious of opportunity costs of doing business, and some firms have spent large sums of money in making occupational surveys, time and motion studies, efficiency programs, etc. to uncover and eliminate or reduce opportunity costs. In many cases some opportunity costs may eventually be better understood so that they may be reduced to a tangible form for accounting procedures.

Many individuals give little or no thought to opportunity costs, and when they do they may be misguided by many factors that may lead to higher opportunity and accounting costs. Some simple examples will suffice to make this clear. A shopper spent an hour riding a bus across town to save two cents on a bunch of carrots. More inane things have actually been done by shoppers. A shopper ordered merchandise from a mail order house, paid postage, a money order fee, and express charges, and didn't get a local warranty. He thought he got a bargain. He could have bought the same merchandise at the same price locally, saved shipping costs, and gotten a local warranty. Another man invested some money at 4 per cent interest, but later discovered that he could have gotten 4.2 per cent. His opportunity cost was 0.2 per cent in interest. Labor unions fix wages. A carpenter with cabinet experience was paid the same hourly wage as a rough-work carpenter. What was the opportunity cost to the more proficient carpenter?

Small businesses are less conscious of opportunity costs than is industry. Industry has made great strides in reducing both opportunity and accounting costs by automating production. Where automation is not yet feasible, mass-production techniques have accomplished similar results. Industry must do these things to keep abreast of an increasing demand and to keep ahead of growing tax bites.

But the government. . .? Oh, no! I doubt if government, its bureaus, and its representatives have ever heard of opportunity costs! The gigantic accounting costs of government are shrouded in political bafflegab, smoke screens, smog, fog, and clouds. What are the opportunity costs of foreign aid, welfare, subsidies, the public debt and its interest, slum clearance, war on poverty, etc? No one knows, but they are astronomical! Who pays this gigantic bill? The taxpayers, of course!

The government and its Keynesian advisors are just beginning to learn that a tax reduction can reduce accounting costs, but they have not yet learned that opportunity costs may be reduced by the same method. If the billions of dollars of our tax money, which is wasted by the government on dubious give-away programs, were directed into constructive private enterprise, we would have prosperity of a degree never before experienced by man.

Let's get the government out of business, and curtail its powers.

The Advantages of Diversification

By RUFUS L. PORTER

During the Roosevelt depression many large corporations suddenly realized they had all their eggs in one basket, and most of them were being crushed in the economic squeeze. Many of those companies that survived the depression went in for diversification so that they would not be caught in such a vulnerable position the next time.

The theory of diversification is that if you have more than one product, say several different ones, the demand for one or more of them may continue, even though the bottom might fall out of the market on the others. Thus you will be enabled to keep your nose above water and ride out the economic storm where you might be sunk if you were stuck with only one product. This is the same reason a farmer diversifies his crops, or used to before the government started telling him what, and how much he could raise.

The Anaconda Copper Company was one of the many huge corporations that nearly went "belly-up" during the depression because it was almost entirely dependent on copper, and copper went a-begging for quite a few years. When the company did get back in the money, its officials sent out scouts in all directions to all points of the earth to seek out new investments in things other than copper.

Gold was one of the items they became interested in, and they bought up gold mines in South America and South Africa. Gold, up until very recently, has always been considered the most stable commodity, and the most sought after one on the face of the earth. But Anaconda also went into many other ventures in many countries. The Kennecott Copper Company followed suit, although I do not believe they ever were in great danger of going broke. They also went for gold, especially in Africa. I understand Kennecott sold its South African gold mine a year or two ago.

These are only two examples of the hundreds of corporations that went in for diversification after the depression. And most of them are so solidly based now that they could ride out most any kind of a depression, except a world-wide panic.

But now the shoe is on the other foot. The gold producers, who were always envied because they were in the "safest" business known to man, are finding themselves faced with the same dilemma during prosperous times that confronted the others in the depression. The gold mines have had to shut down, due to the discrepancy between price and cost, and the gold producers that survived are looking for other forms of investment.

Among these is the Golden Cycle Corporation of Colorado Springs. This company has always had a few side businesses, but its dependence was chiefly on gold. When it become unprofitable to mine gold, the company officials started looking for other investments that had a chance of turning a profit and keeping the company alive. Luckily, it has been able to realize some profit from its vast real estate holdings in the area and it has some first-class housing developments going.

But it extended its range and sought going businesses that needed new capital and bought up controlling interests where possible. It has recently purchased control of the Smyth World Movers Incorporated, of Seattle. The sale also included the Rossoe Home Heating, a fuel oil company. The newly purchased company has offices and operations in Tacoma; San Francisco; Long Beach; Honolulu; Anchorage, Alaska; Okinawa, Guam, Japan and Hong Kong.

Plans are already being made for expansion in both the moving and the oil fields. So, it looks as though the Golden Cycle Corporation, one of the oldest in the Pikes Peak Region, will be around a while yet, and may yet live to mine more gold from its fabulous mines in the Cripple Creek-Victor gold district — and to produce more gold bricks in its two million dollar Carlton Mill midway between Cripple Creek and Victor. As others have learned, it pays to diversify.

But, if you do all your diversifying in the United States, you had better keep one eye on the government with its penchant for prosecuting big business under the Sherman Anti-trust Act. Look what happened to DuPont. It was forced to sell all its General Motors stock. According to the attorney general, it is naughty for a corporation to own stock in more than one company, even though diversification might save it from going under in a government-sponsored depression.

The Golden Cycle, of course, isn't big enough for the politicians to start harrying, yet.

Involuntary Servitude

GEORGE BOARDMAN

Slavery, with a parasitical state playing the part of the overseer, is certainly as immoral as the enslavement of one private person by another. While all adult people in various types of business are forced to labor for the state as tax collectors, males who are not yet adult according to law, face another form of involuntary servitude because of the draft laws.

Letters I receive from young men who are intellectually in revolt against this situation would make me feel guilty but for the fact that I have not given my sanction to the system. As a matter of absolute fact, I want no man to place his life in jeopardy because of me, either in defense of my life or property.

At the present time, with only a limited knowledge of what draft boards may do tomorrow or the day after, I would, if I had a son just graduating from high school or approaching 18, urge him to look for a job, any kind of a job or a variety of jobs, and to generally keep himself busy until the age of 21, at which time he could begin to worry about more education if such a thing is available by that time. With four years of college to go, this would leave him with only one year during which his liberty would be in extreme jeopardy since only a very few, if any, young men, are drafted at age 26.

I agree that a young man who is busily occupied from the age of 18 until he becomes 21 may not, by that time, be particularly interested in going back to school but the entire subject of the importance of what may laughingly be termed higher education needs some thought.

If you want to surprise yourself, some evening when the boob tube begins to bore you, begin to make a list of all the positions you can think of for which a college education is required or even helpful. After you finish that long list, go to work with the yellow pages of your phone book and all of the classified advertising in your newspaper and list jobs, positions, the various fields of endeavor which require experience, experience and more experience.

Sure, we know about the professions for which schooling is required, from attorney to teacher, but what about those millions served by the professional people? From whence comes their income?

True, a large percentage of professional people may be classed in the upper middle class group but this is a relatively small percentage of the total population and when a person trained for a profession is unable to make the grade, financially, real trouble begins. In other words, the schooling is no guarantee of success, financially or otherwise.

So, again, if I had a son of 18, I would take a chance on what he might want to do by the time he reached the age of 21, and at the same time shorten the odds against being pressed into involuntary servitude, just as a matter of common sense. As things stand right now, you can't find anything resembling a sure thing no matter what you do because you don't know what the future has in store for us.

A few days ago I received a letter from a good friend who holds a managerial position. His letter is full of resentment at the fact that the youngsters he encounters simply do not want to work. They want to put in their time, they want to be paid for that time and they work very hard to be sure they don't burn up much energy in return for the pay they receive.

If I had a son who might learn to work, who might learn to understand a few things about trading labor for pay or board and room or whatever, for the next three years, I would feel that four more years of schooling might do him some real and lasting good. The schooling itself teaches no one to want to EARN but working does inspire a good many young people to want to learn and for this, it's never too late.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Payola

From Chicago Tribune

The Federal Communications Commission, with great hoopla, initiated an investigation last month into "payola" and "plugola" in the broadcasting industry. The allegation is that disk jockeys, in return for a payoff, play selected records and put in plugs for them.

Chairman Henry of the FCC threatens, "Anyone caught with excess profits from payola or plugola will find himself dealing with the Department of Justice and facing a possible one-year jail term, or $10,000 fine, or both."

You can see that this is considered very serious business, but we wonder that the federal policing agencies are able to close their eyes to a flagrant abuse of political payola, containing their indignation without difficulty. We refer to Washington reports that President Johnson has sent word to a defeated Republican senator, Kenneth Keating of New York, that he may take his pick of a variety of cushy government jobs. Keating was beaten by Bobby Kennedy, the Democratic carpetbag candidate.

During the campaign Keating refused to indorse the Republican national tickets, turning his back on Barry Goldwater and William Miller. He and others of the "moderate" Republican stripe thus contributed to scuttling the party's chances. In the circumstances, the job offer from the White House looks very much like payola, but nobody is investigating Keating and Johnson. The sleuths prefer hot pursuit of the disk jockeys, although we fail to see any great difference in the nature of the offense.

NEW BANK BUILDING—This architectural drawing prepared by Bunts-Kelsey, depicts the new East National Colorado Springs Bank building to be erected at 500 N. Circle Dr. The two-level structure will feature modern facilities for customer service, including several drive-up windows, a spacious community room and Georgian colonial design motif.

Dollar Flow Tops Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flow of dollars abroad in 1964 may exceed the previously estimated $2.3 billion because of a sharp increase in the final three months, a Treasury official said Friday.

Since the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments was about $1.5 billion in the first nine months of the year, this prediction means the deficit in he final figures for the year will not lion or more.

The acting assistant secretary, Merlyn N. Trued, said final figures for the year will not be available for two or three more weeks.

The dollar outflow in the last three months of 1964 is expected to be the largest since the April-June period of 1963, when it jumped to about $1.3 billion or an annual rate of $5.2 billion. That quarter was the highest ever and a number of measures have held the deficit down since that time.

Treasury officials had been hoping that the 1964 deficit would be held to around $2 billion and they had estimated before the start of the final quarter that the deficit for the year would be from $2 billion to about $2.3 billion.

The November crisis in Britain's pound sterling played a part in the increased outflow of dollars late in the year.

Ground Breaking Marks Start of Bank Building

The new East Colorado Springs National Bank Building got off to a start Thursday when ground was broken at 500 N. Circle Dr., location of the site.

The bank has been doing business in a mobile unit, and will move into the 6,363 square foot permanent quarters approximately the first of June, according to Henry E. Heyser, executive vice president.

Plans for the spacious financial facility have been prepared by the firm of Bunts and Kelsey, architects. General contractor for the project will be Charles M. Loughrey, of Loughrey Custom Homes, who has already completed work on a 40 - car customer parking lot on the site.

The two - level lay-out incorporates the latest ideas for improved customer service. In addition to several drive - up windows, the plans provide for a handsome community room on the lower level which will be available to groups meeting in the East Colorado Springs area.

The design of the exterior of the bank has been developed from the architecture of the later colonial (Georgian) period and inspired by the country mansions in Williamsburg, Va. This rich heritage, indicative of the depth of background and solidity of the bank, will be expressed in a contemporary manner, using the best of today's techniques and materials.

This motif will be carried out by means of mellow, imperfect red-brown face brick and solar bronze glass in the exterior walls, and a warm, richly carpeted, walnut - panelled interior.

In addition to Heyser, other operating officers of the new bank, which is an affiliate of the pioneer downtown Colorado Springs National, include Robert L. Bishop, Cashier, and William L. Perry, assistant cashier.

Armin B. Barney, president of the Colorado Springs National, also is president of the East bank. Directors in addition to Heyser and Barney, include John W. Armstrong, L. M. Bildstein, Robert Hendee, R. G. Hibbard, Homer Jones, F. G. Monck, William Robison, and R. L. Spurgeon.

A CONFUSED LINEMAN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Paulie Miller, who coached Paul Hornung in prep football, tells this one about his early coaching days:

He was at Ormsby Village, a small school with only 21 players. In a game with a big Louisville high school one play called for a lineman to block out a tackle.

When Miller's team got to the line of scrimmage, the unnamed lineman noticed the other team was in a different defense than the one Miller had his team practice against.

"Okay," the puzzled lineman said, "which one of you is the tackle?"

Fashion Coiffures Opens Under New Ownership

Two former graduates of the Colorado Springs Academy of Hair Design recently purchased their second beauty salon. Paul J. Branch and Vernon W. Chilton, owners of the Ent Beauty Salon, recently became owners of Fashion Coiffures, 2117 W. Colorado Ave., formerly Eddei's House of Beauty.

The two former servicemen attended the hair design Academy shortly after their discharge from the military. Following the nine month course, they decided to go into business for themselves.

They bought the Ent Beauty Salon, at Ent Air Force Base, after their graduation from school, more than a year ago. Former owner of the salon was Earl Anderson, who also formerly owned the Academy of Hair Design.

Eddie's House of Beauty was formerly owned and operated by Eddie Clayton, a woman who has been in the hair styling business for the past 20 years. She hasn't left the business, nor her old location, however, as she is employed now at Fashion Coiffures as an operator.

Branch, who served for two years with the Army in Germany, is now managing Beauty Coiffures, while his partner Chilton, who spent four years in the Air Force at Ent, heads the Ent Beauty Salon. Both shops have four operators.

At the new salon, the four hair dressers, including Branch, are specialists in all types of hair styling, tinting, bleaching and permanent waving.

Only top brand name beauty aids are used including: Realistic Permanent Waves, along with Clairol, Wella and Loreal Hair Colorings. The new shop has four "wet" booths and two "comb-out" stations in its spacious interior. It also has continuous FM music throughout the day.

Hours at both shops are from 8 a.m.. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, by appointment only.

Branch, his wife, Shirley, and their one child, live at 2541 W. Adams Dr. Chilton lives with his wife, Margaret, and their two children at 30 S. Brentwood Dr.

Dollar Flow Tops Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flow of dollars abroad in 1964 may exceed the previously estimated $2.3 billion because of a sharp increase in the final three months, a Treasury official said Friday.

Since the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments was about $1.5 billion in the first nine months of the year, this prediction means the deficit in he final figures for the year will not lion or more.

The acting assistant secretary, Merlyn N. Trued, said final figures for the year will not be available for two or three more weeks.

The dollar outflow in the last three months of 1964 is expected to be the largest since the April-June period of 1963, when it jumped to about $1.3 billion or an annual rate of $5.2 billion. That quarter was the highest ever and a number of measures have held the deficit down since that time.

Treasury officials had been hoping that the 1964 deficit would be held to around $2 billion and they had estimated before the start of the final quarter that the deficit for the year would be from $2 billion to about $2.3 billion.

The November crisis in Britain's pound sterling played a part in the increased outflow of dollars late in the year.

Coah Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots of the American Football League was an All-American at Boston College. He played as a pro for the Los angeles Rams and Chicago Bears.

Ground Breaking Marks Start of Bank Building

The new East Colorado Springs National Bank Building got off to a start Thursday when ground was broken at 500 N. Circle Dr., location of the site.

The bank has been doing business in a mobile unit, and will move into the 6,363 square foot permanent quarters approximately the first of June, according to Henry E. Heyser, executive vice president.

Plans for the spacious financial facility have been prepared by the firm of Bunts and Kelsey, architects. General contractor for the project will be Charles M. Loughrey, of Loughrey Custom Homes, who has already completed work on a 40 - car customer parking lot on the site.

The two - level lay-out incorporates the latest ideas for improved customer service. In addition to several drive - up windows, the plans provide for a handsome community room on the lower level which will be available to groups meeting in the East Colorado Springs area.

The design of the exterior of the bank has been developed from the architecture of the later colonial (Georgian) period and inspired by the country mansions in Williamsburg, Va. This rich heritage, indicative of the depth of background and solidity of the bank, will be expressed in a contemporary manner, using the best of today's techniques and materials.

This motif will be carried out by means of mellow, imperfect red-brown face brick and solar bronze glass in the exterior walls, and a warm, richly carpeted, walnut - panelled interior.

In addition to Heyser, other operating officers of the new bank, which is an affiliate of the pioneer downtown Colorado Springs National, include Robert L. Bishop, Cashier, and William L. Perry, assistant cashier.

Armin B. Barney, president of the Colorado Springs National, also is president of the East bank. Directors in addition to Heyser and Barney, include John W. Armstrong, L. M. Bildstein, Robert Hendee, R. G. Hibbard, Homer Jones, F. G. Monck, William Robison, and R. L. Spurgeon.

A CONFUSED LINEMAN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Paulie Miller, who coached Paul Hornung in prep football, tells this one about his early coaching days:

He was at Ormsby Village, a small school with only 21 players. In a game with a big Louisville high school one play called for a lineman to block out a tackle.

When Miller's team got to the line of scrimmage, the unnamed lineman noticed the other team was in a different defense than the one Miller had his team practice against.

"Okay," the puzzled lineman said, "which one of you is the tackle?"

Fashion Coiffures Opens Under New Ownership

Two former graduates of the Colorado Springs Academy of Hair Design recently purchased their second beauty salon. Paul J. Branch and Vernon W. Chilton, owners of the Ent Beauty Salon, recently became owners of Fashion Coiffures, 2117 W. Colorado Ave., formerly Eddei's House of Beauty.

The two former servicemen attended the hair design Academy shortly after their discharge from the military. Following the nine month course, they decided to go into business for themselves.

They bought the Ent Beauty Salon, at Ent Air Force Base, after their graduation from school, more than a year ago. Former owner of the salon was Earl Anderson, who also formerly owned the Academy of Hair Design.

Eddie's House of Beauty was formerly owned and operated by Eddie Clayton, a woman who has been in the hair styling business for the past 20 years. She hasn't left the business, nor her old location, however, as she is employed now at Fashion Coiffures as an operator.

Branch, who served for two years with the Army in Germany, is now managing Beauty Coiffures, while his partner Chilton, who spent four years in the Air Force at Ent, heads the Ent Beauty Salon. Both shops have four operators.

At the new salon, the four hair dressers, including Branch, are specialists in all types of hair styling, tinting, bleaching and permanent waving.

Only top brand name beauty aids are used including: Realistic Permanent Waves, along with Clairol, Wella and Loreal Hair Colorings. The new shop has four "wet" booths and two "comb-out" stations in its spacious interior. It also has continuous FM music throughout the day.

Hours at both shops are from 8 a.m.. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, by appointment only.

Branch, his wife, Shirley, and their one child, live at 2541 W. Adams Dr. Chilton lives with his wife, Margaret, and their two children at 30 S. Brentwood Dr.

Springs Residents Get Driving Awards

Colorado Springs residents who last week won commendations from the State Highway Patrol for safe driving, and who will compete for the January Highway Safety Award of the Denver Post and the Denver U.S. National Bank, are:

Carl A. Tracy, 408 E. Espanola St.; Robert D. Warner, 3715 W. Colorado Ave.; Raymond G. Hewes Jr., 18 E. Mill St.; Joseph Perry, 710 Castle Rd.; Andrew Huffsmith, 2044 S. Corona St., and Jesse B. Bickford, 701 Hallam St.

State Highway Patrolman Paul H. Cornell of Colorado Springs issued commendations to Nicholas Rougas, 1239 Pine St., Pueblo, and Josephine M. Spitzer, 751 S. Santa Fe St., Pueblo.

TREMENDOUS TILE EXPANSION

Total market demand for ceramic tile has expanded tremendously in this country since World War II, according to the Tile Council of America, trade association for the nation's leading ceramic floor and wall tile manufacturers. Domestic tile production for 1964 will exceed 300,000,000 square feet, a new record, the Tile Council predicts. In 1946 production was less than the 50,000,000 feet.

17 'B' Students From Area In CSU Honors Program

Colorado State University's honors program for the fall quarter, which just ended, lists 17 Colorado Springs area students who maintained a 3.0 (B) grade average or better in this work.

Only 153 students of the more than 10,000 at CSU participated. Qualifications for doing work in this program are set by the individual department instructors involved and students are in the program by invitation.

Professor Willard O. Eddy, director of the program, states that it "is designed to attract the student whose intellectual interests and ambitions are unusually strong. Specifically, it fosters high standards by facilitating close intellectual association with the faculty and other students of a like mind. The program also urges the student to exercise independence, initiative, self-education and challenges his maximum ability."

Listed below are the students, their class, major and parents' name and address:

Dale D'Ercole Named Canon Junior Rotarian

President Eddie Meese of the Canon City Rotary Club announced today that Dale D'Ercole, senior at Canon City High School has been selected by the faculty of CCHS to represent their school as Junior Rotarian for the month of January, 1965. Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D'Ercole of 101 Macon Ave.

Dale D'Ercole has a busy schedule at Canon City High as he is a three sport letterman, having participated in football for four years, of which this past season was elected as tri-captain. He has been a member of the Tiger Track Team for three years, and is currently in his fourth year as a Tiger Wrestler. He is currently wrestling on the varsity squad at 138 pounds. He is a very active member of M.O.T.A.C. and was one of the most ardent workers in their annual Halloween "Safe - Night" program. He is a good member of the Future Teachers of America Club, and is one of a select group of eight students that are working in the grade schools teaching physical education one hour per day. He has been on the ROTC Rifle team for one year and served as the Drum Major for the ROTC Military Marching Band for two years. He was also a member of the Tiger Marching and Concert Band for two years.

Dale is a splendid leader and an outstanding example to the grade school youngsters of Canon City. He is morally sound and lends a great deal of spirit and enthusiam to Canon City High School.

Three From City Named to Head Local J. A. Drive

J. D. Ackerman, Norman A. Coleman, and Donald F. McMahon were appointed Junior Achievement's 1965 campaign co-chairmen in the Colorado Springs area, it was announced Saturday by Rodger Earley, chairman of J. A.'s finance committee and associated with Hewlett-Packard Co.

Ackerman, president of The Exchange National Bank, Coleman, president of Bennett-Shellenberger, Ltd., and McMahon, director of industrial development for Colorado Interstate Gas Company, have previously served Junior Achievement as directors, officers, and committee chairmen. McMahon has served on the J.A. National Executive Committee and is presently a Director of the National J.A. Program.

At the same time the Junior Achievement Finance Committee comprised of Rodger Earley, Paul B. Loux Jr., and Robert R. Victoreen announced the goal of $19,500 for this year's campaign to be activated in conjunction with National Junior Achievement Week, January 24 through January 30. Funds raised through this Junior Achievement campaign will allow the program to gain a sound financial footing and provide for adequate operating funds to successfully continue its economic education process.

In preparation for the drive, Richards A. F. Ballou, Western Regional Representative, will be present next Tuesday morning to conduct a Training Meeting on "how to solicit effectively for J.A." This breakfast meeting will be hosted by Leo R. Smentowski, Certified Public Accountant, Tullis & Craig Law Firm, and Western National Bank. Some 60 local businessmen will be attending this meeting in preparation for the campaign.

The J.A. program in Colorado Springs has grown from two companies and thirty achievers in 1954 to 18 companies and 220 achievers at the present time. There are presently 56 adult advisers representing 17 different organizations and firms working with these miniature business enterprises and their teenage managers.

Gruening Says Casualties in Viet Nam Bad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, said Friday that the number of American casualties in South Viet Nam "is a national disgrace."

In a Senate speech, Gruening said "it is extremely unfortunate when a single American military man is killed in the steamy jungles of South Viet Nam fighting in a civil war for a people most reluctant to fight in a cause which cannot be settled by arms, but can only be settled politically, and cannot in any event be settled by the United States acting unilaterally.

"But to suffer almost 1,800 casualties there is a national disgrace. Even worse, the killings and the woundings continue almost daily."

Gruening said the United States can keep its pledge to South Viet Nam by seeking to bring peace through a conference as well as by the use of arms.

"I can well see the United States military forces taking part in peace-keeping efforts in South Viet Nam under the aegis of the United Nations," he said. "That is the only way American men and American arms should be used there."

In any event, Gruening said, "get out we must, and stop both our killing and the killing of American boys."

Gruening also was critical of reports that the United States was trying to induce Latin American countries to send token forces to Viet Nam.

AFCEA Sets Meeting Here for Thursday

The Rocky Mountain Chapter of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association (AFCEA) will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at the Ft. Carson Officers' Club. Dinner will be served at 8:00 p.m.

Following dinner, Dan Belknap, Executive Director of the Community Planning & Research Council will speak on "Joining The Gang" relating his own personal experiences as a welfare worker in New York who actually became a member in one of these gangs.

Before coming to Colorado Springs, Belknap was the Executive Director of Welfare planning in Santa Barbara, California. He holds a Master of Science Degree from Columbia University, a Master of Arts Degree from New York University, and a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Cornell University.
